EARLY ELECTION LOOMS FOR B.C.

June Date, Possibly May Hinted—Five Political Groups In Fray

VICTORIA, April 8—(CP)—Five political groups are expected to contest all or a majority of the 48 British Columbia Legislature seats when the Liberal Government of Premier T. D. Pattullo goes to the electorate this spring.

Although the actual polling date has not been set, Mr. Pattullo said yesterday an early election is planned and the date would be fixed before April 22. A June date is considered probable with late May a possibility.

The Liberal Government has 33 members in the House, Social Constructive four, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation three, Independent Non-Partisan two, Independents two, Unionist one, Labor one and two are vacant.

Conservatives did not take official part in the election of November, 1933 when the Liberals were swept into power, defeating the Unionist Government of Dr. S. F. Tolmie, former Conservative leader. Liberals refused to join the Unionist group and several Conservatives followed the Independent Non-Partisan banner.

Liberals won 34 seats, C.C.F. seven, Independent Non-Partisan two, Independents two, Unionists one and Labor one. Recreation of the constituency of Columbia, abolished by the Tolmie government, gave the Liberals another seat. By-elections and three by-elections made no change in the standing.

Seven C.C.F. members formed the official opposition under the House leadership of Rev. Robert Connell, Victoria, until differences arose last summer between him and the Provincial C.C.F. executive. He and three other C.C.F. members of the Legislature were either expelled or resigned from the party. They took the name of Social Constructive Party and are recognized as the official Opposition.

Liberal, Conservative, Social Constructive, C.C.F. and Social Credit groups have announced they will contest all or most seats.

HUBBY BADLY WOUNDED

Long Gash In Toronto Man's Side Believed Inflicted By Wife.

TORONTO, April 8—(CP)—Cyril Waller, 32, was in critical condition today in hospital with a deep gash in his side, believed inflicted by a carving knife. His wife, Catherine, is being held on a charge of wounding.

An anonymous telephone call sent police to the Waller's Ontario Street home where they found the husband sitting on a bed. A doctor had been called and given emergency treatment.

At hospital examination revealed a gash almost six inches long in the man's left side under the ribs. The landlord told police he had heard sounds of quarrelling in the second-floor flat occupied by the Wallers.

and—oh, you know the sort of thing I mean. All this wandering about Europe, pinching and scraping, living in third-rate hotels, hurrying past the office in case we've asked to pay our bill, fearing that the waiters and the chambermaids and the porters all know we haven't paid—it's all so humiliating."

"You've such a sensitive nature, Jacqueline. I have never felt in the least humiliated. You just imagine all this nonsense."

READ THIS FIRST:

Charles Stuckey, senior member of a London law firm with a questionable reputation is informed by cable from America that Miss Jacqueline Smith, daughter of one of his few respectable clients, now on the continent with her mother, has inherited $1,500,000 from an American uncle, Colonel Alec Lutman, who has a hold over Stuckey, learns of the inheritance and proposes a scheme to which Stuckey reluctantly agrees. The plan calls for Jim Asson, an ex-convict, to marry Jacqueline, having her assign her property—before Stuckey informs her of the inheritance—to her new husband. Lutman plans to take three-fifths of the inheritance, Stuckey and Asson each one-fifth. Lutman and Asson go to Cobenzl to cultivate Jacqueline and her mother, stopping at the same hotel where Mrs. Smith finds herself in dire financial straits.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 7

"I HAVE never, Jacqueline failed to pay my hotel bill," Mrs. Smith told her daughter.

"Oh, no. I don't say you have," the girl admitted. "It's rather wonderful, the way you always manage to find the money somehow. But there was that time at Munich when the bank wouldn't meet your check."

"It isn't nonsense, mother. I know you've tried to keep it all from me, and I've said nothing because—well, you tried so hard not to let me know and it seemed kindest to pretend I didn't see what was going on. I realized that you were doing it for my sake, and I didn't want to seem ungrateful. But today, when I saw a dirty little foreign hotelkeeper insulting you on the terrace . . ."

"My dear, he wasn't insulting me."

"Well, it looked like it to me."

"No! he was only asking me—quite politely—when he might expect payment, and I told him—just as politely—that he would be paid in due course, but not in full view of the whole of Cobenzl. He was quite satisfied. And he didn't seem dirty, dear. Only his finger nails."

"It was hateful. He shook his fist at you. To have to put up with that sort of thing from a dirty little foreigner . . ."

"And if he was just a little dirty, Jacqueline, you couldn't really blame him. The bath water is never really hot."

The girl seated herself in the chair beside her mother's.

"I'm serious about this, mother," she said, "and it's no use trying to put me off. The sort of life we've been leading—it's humiliating, for both of us. If you don't feel humiliated, I do. All this grubbing along in cheap hotels, keeping up appearances, pretending we're something we aren't, and aren't ever likely to be—it's all rather contemptible."

Mrs. Smith sighed.

"I'm sure I've always done my best for you . . ."

"Oh, yes, I know. But if you're doing it for me, mother, the sooner you stop the better. I don't want you to do it. I hate your doing it."

"And if your uncle Alan Redfern weren't a miserly skinflint, we shouldn't have to live in cheap hotels. If you want to do something really useful, Jacqueline, persuade your uncle that a man who is supposed to be a millionaire and allows his only sister a miserable fifteen hundred a year is a miserly skinflint. I used to write regularly and tell him so, and the only time he answered he sent me an unstamped letter to say that if I ever wrote again he would stop the allowance. And he certainly wouldn't increase it, he said, because it he did I should only spend it." She sighed again. "Alan never was very intelligent, and living in America doesn't seem to have improved him. But where's Jim Asson? I thought you were to play tennis with him this afternoon?"

Jacqueline shook her head.

"I haven't seen him since lunch."

"Nice of him, I thought, to invite us to lunch with him."

"Yes, it knocked a bit off our bill, I suppose."

Mrs. Smith made no reply to that, except that she gave her daughter just such a disapproving look as she had bestowed on the Danube. And her daughter seemed to have impressed by it than the river had been.

"Why on earth can't we cut it all out, mother?" she said. "You've $1,500 a year from Uncle Alan, and that's plenty to live on quite comfortably in England."

"Comfortably—in England?" Mrs. Smith shook her head. "Even $20,000 a year, Jacqueline, couldn't make an English winter comfortable."

"We could have a little flat somewhere," continued the girl. "Not in Park Lane, perhaps, but somewhere a little way out—like Ealing."

"My dear, Jacqueline! Ealing! Lack at me, my dear, and tell me if you can really picture me living in a little flat in Ealing."

"Oh, well, somewhere, anyway. And I could help. I could get a job and earn enough to keep myself."

Her mother smiled.

"You would have to eat very little, Jacqueline, and you have naturally quite a healthy appetite. And what sort of a job do you imagine you could get?"

"I suppose I could get a job as a typist."

Her mother shook her head.

"What all girls think who can't do anything else," she said. "No, my dear, typists have to know how to typewrite—unless they're quite extraordinarily pretty. And you're not that. You're pretty, of course, but the competition for that sort of job is very keen, I believe. And I'm sure you'd hate being in an office—catching the omnibus at half-past 8 every morning and lunching on a Cambridge sausage."

"I couldn't hate it more than I hate being hawked round the cheap hotels of Europe and lunching on tick, mother."

Mrs. Smith chose not to pursue that line of conversation.

"Besides, Jacqueline," she said, "a typist in a London office has nothing like the chances you have. You would never meet a man like Jim Asson, for instance. Jim Asson is a very wealthy young man."

The girl glanced at her sharply.

"Is he?"

Her mother nodded.

"Colonel Lutman told me. He's Jim's trustee or something of the sort, and he was telling me only yesterday that it's quite a heavy responsibility because Jim is a very wealthy young man indeed."

"Then I wonder he stays in a hotel like this."

Mrs. Smith smiled.

"I dare say he has his reasons, Jacqueline. The Colonel told me that this isn't at all the type of hotel Jim usually stays at—I was telling him about the bath water—and if they'd had any idea what sort of place it was they would never have come here."

"I dare say Colonel Lutman has never won prizes for tact, mother."

"He wanted to leave at once," added Mrs. Smith, "but Jim wouldn't hear of it. I think Colonel Lutman has a shrewd idea why, and doesn't in the least disapprove. So long as Jim chooses a lady, he said, he could marry anyone he liked as far as he was concerned, and money fortunately wouldn't enter the question at all."

"Wouldn't it?" Jacqueline rose. "Colonel Lutman has a lot to learn yet, by the sound of it, mother. I should start teaching him if I were you."

"He was rather surprised, I fancy," added Mrs. Smith, "to find people like ourselves staying in a hotel like this, but of course I put that right. I told him that we came here because we'd been told it was quite one of the best hotels in Cobenzl, and were upset when we discovered what it was really like. But I had paid for a month in advance, I said, we were seeing the month through here, and—oh, you know the sort of thing I mean."

93 COMMISSIONS

All Named In 18 Months Since Present Regime Took Office.

OTTAWA, April 8 (CP) (CP)—months since the present government took office. 93 commissions, ranging in size from an inquiry into a single charge of political partisanship to the lengthy textile investigation, have been appointed, according to returns tabled in the House of Commons today by State Secretary Rinfret. In five years of power, the Bennett government established 101 commissions of equally wide variety, it was shown.

HORN SUGGESTS EARLIER CLOSING

Lindsay Alderman Would Have Beverage Rooms Shut At 10 o'Clock

LINDSAY, April 8—Ald. Horn at Monday night's council meeting, gave notice of motion that at next meeting of that body he would introduce a motion recommending earlier closing of the local beverage rooms at 10 o'clock. At present they close at eleven o'clock each evening.

Must Accept Job.

Hon. David Croll, Minister of Welfare, has notified Lindsay council that the municipality should see that all single men accepted positions on farms where work was available at current wages. Refusal of single men to accept positions should be met by striking their names from the relief rolls.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S HAPPINESS.

"Mrs. Longears! Mrs. Longears! Will you please come out to the kitchen for a moment or two?"

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy called thus to Uncle Wiggily's wife, who had just gone to the front door to take the mail which the postdog brought.

"Is anything the matter, Janie?" asked the rabbit lady. "I hope you haven't burned the carrot pudding nor spilled the beans."

"Oh, no. It's about Uncle Wiggily!" said the muskrat lady housekeeper, still whispering.

"I hope Mr. Longears isn't bothering you in the kitchen," spoke Mrs. Longears severe like and anticipating. "If he is——"

"Why, of course, he isn't!" laughed Nurse Jane. "Who should you think such a thing? But Uncle Wiggily is acting in a very strange manner and I thought you should know about it. Come here and look at him."

Well, Look!

"But I thought you said he wasn't in your kitchen, Janie."

"He isn't. But he's down in the orchard but you can easily see him from the kitchen window. Come and look."

Mrs. Longears, who was now as curious as was Nurse Jane, hopped to the kitchen. From the window she could look down the garden where the trees were beginning to spring into new life. Near an old apple tree Mrs. Longears and Nurse Jane saw Uncle Wiggily standing on a little pile of stones to look down into a hole of the tree.

"What is he looking for, Nurse Jane?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"For his Happiness," said the muskrat lady.

"For his Happiness!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears giving it a capital letter just as Nurse Jane had done. "How can he find Happiness in an old apple tree hole?"

"That's what I wondered and why I told you to come here and look," squeaked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, that being her manner of speaking.

"How do you know Mr. Longears

What is he looking for?

is looking for Happiness in an old apple tree?" asked the rabbit lady.

"Because he told me," answered Nurse Jane. "He was doing the same thing yesterday. I went down to meet him as he hopped away and when I asked him what he was looking for he said it was his Happiness."

"This is very strange," said Mrs. Longears in a troubled voice.

"I thought so," agreed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "And it thought you had better be told. Do you think Uncle Wiggily has an secrets from you, Mrs. Longears?"

Seems Like One

"Certainly not!" said the rabbit lady speaking with dignity.

"But this seems to be a secret," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"It certainly does," agreed the rabbit wife. "And I am going to find out about it."

"How?" asked Nurse Jane.

"I am going down in the garden where Wiggy is," said Mrs. Longears. "I am going to ask him to show me his Happiness. It's too bad if he can't be happy in his hollow stump bungalow, but must go out to look for Happiness in an old apple tree. I'll see about this!"

Twinkling her pink nose very fast Mrs. Longears hopped out of the bungalow kitchen door and down the garden path. Uncle Wiggily was still on the pile of stones looking down the hole in the apple tree.

"Wiggy!" called Mrs. Longears sharply.

"Hush! Hush!" whispered her husband. "My Happiness is here. Oh, how beautiful! Happiness is here!"

Mrs. Longears was surprised. So will you be when you read the next story. It will be about Uncle Wiggily in a puddle.

And I hope the nut cracker doesn't pick dates off the calender to make a fig pudding.

and then, of course, we should be making a change."

Jacqueline tossed away her cigarette.

"Yes, a month's about our usual limit," she said. "If only you'd check this whole wretched business. But I suppose it's no use talking."

Her mother smiled.

"About Ealing, dear?" She shook her head. "No use at all, Jacqueline. Why don't you go and play tennis with Jim?"

Pie-Slinging, Beer Keg Battle Just An Old English Custom

Three Over-Stream Charges Essential Before Victors May Drink Contents

RECTOR PROVIDES IT

By I. Norman Smith
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, April 8 (CP).—Two village teams kicking a beer keg around a muddy field after chucking slices of veal and ham pie in one another's face seems rather a daft pastime even in this country bf quaint customs. But it's an old Easter Monday sport in the Leicestershire village of Hallaton.

The game has come down from so long ago that its origin is as vague as its pursuit is fantastic.

It seems the "battle of Hare Pie Bank" (veal and ham now replace the hare) is to Hallaton and Medbourne as the boat race to Oxford and Cambridge. Folks come from miles around to witness this bit of hurly-burly.

Adult males of both villages stage an irregular game of footer with the keg—the object being to push, pull or carry the keg over a stream at either end of a sloping field. The winner must win two of three games and so many have generally fallen in the stream by half time that kegs are opened before the finish.

By way of a blessing on the game there is a service in Hallaton Church beforehand and, indeed, it is the rector who supplies the pie and beer. The pie scramble comes first, open to all. The idea is to catch as much as you can and he who catches may either eat or hurl it at the nearest face.

The Battle Begins

This preliminary skirmish finished, the players take their positions for the keg-kicking event while the crowd lines up on Hare Pie Bank.

Hallaton had its day again this year but the 20th century is beginning to frown on such goings on. The Times pointed a scolding finger by quoting a certain authority on Leicestershire who declared "Hallaton is best known throughout the shire for certain preposterous Easter Monday festivities which attract the vulgar from near and far."

Concluded The Times: "It cannot be too strongly emphasised that this country requires an ordered, efficient, logical national life. That ideal is unattainable so long as sections of the community continue periodically to scramble for pie without knowing why; and it is to be hoped there will be no repetition at Hallaton of occurrences which must strike all advanced thinkers as puerile, degrading, obnoxious—as, in short, practically everything except un-English."

But Hallaton, which sometimes gets the more informative dateline of Hallaton-near-Market Harborough, Leicestershire, will undoubtedly carry on. For at the end of each Easter Monday's activity the hardy ones refill the kegs for next year's battle.

Hallaton-near-Market Harborough has revelled too long on Hare Pie Bank to be stumped by the two-word question "why pie?"

12-Year-Old Boy Is Chess Champion

Winnipeg, April 5.

STILL a little pale from the 12-hour battle that gave him the Manitoba chess championship Monday night, 12-year-old Abie Yanovsky today gave a play-by-play account of his last and what he called his "toughest" victory.

"I had to win it to stay in the running," he said with an embarrassed smile. "You see, I had lost one game before that, while A. Helman, my opponent, hadn't dropped any. That gave him a half-point lead on me for the championship. A draw wouldn't have been any good."

MOUNTIES TO HAVE AVIATION BRANCH

Start With Four Planes — Enough Fliers Already In Force

OTTAWA, April 7 (CP).—An aviation section is being created within the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, it was learned here today. It will start with four planes, each manned by a pilot and observer.

For some years the Mounted have been operating an air patrol on the Atlantic coast, but its personnel were officers and mechanics secured from the Royal Canadian Air Force. The new service will be administered and manned by the Mounted.

The force has sufficient qualified pilots and observers, since quite a number of airmen who were let out of the R.C.A.F. when the economy axe fell in 1932 went to the Mounted. Also many of the constables possess commercial flying certificates.

The R.C.M.P. Air Force will be based in Halifax, but in due course the hope is to have some planes operating also on the Pacific coast and in the north country.

Sawing bees are the order of the day in and around the village and the merry hum of the saw seems to be one of the very sure signs of spring. FORESTRY STATION REQUEST MADE

Eastern Counties Also Want Ottawa To Subsidize Planters

KEMPTVILLE, Ont. April 8 (CP).—Representatives of Eastern Ontario counties at a conservation meeting here yesterday decided to ask the Ontario Government to establish one or more provincial forestry stations in the district for the propogation of trees.

The government will also be asked to subsidize individual planters and municipalities for the cost of planting trees up to two-thirds of the cost of planting.

Among other recommendations were that a conservation committee be established within the government made up of representatives of the Departments of Forests, Agriculture, Game and Fisheries, Education, Municipal Affairs and Highways.

It was further recommended that the province be zoned and a forester be installed in each zone to survey the territory as to conservation requirements.

W. H. Porter, of London, described conditions in Western Ontario and what had been accomplished along organization lines. He said some 6,000,000 trees would be planted in Western Ontario during 1937.

The following counties were represented: Carleton, Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry, Grenville, Leeds, Prescott and Russell.

HARA-KIRI CASE STARTS LAWSUIT

Montreal Jap Sues One-Time Friend For Alienating Wife's Affections

MONTREAL, April 8. — (CP). — Hara-Kiri by the wife of a Montreal Japanese resident was the basis of a lawsuit to-day which was presented to Mr Justice Purcell in Superior Court.

Although Shinzaburo Koga's young wife Reiko Naorio, left a suicide note in 1935 attributing her despair to her husband's brutality, Shinzaburo claims in his action for $10,000 that his wife was betrayed by the knowledge her infidelity had spread to the ears of the Japanese colony.

Shinzaburo sues Shimaoka Kobayashi, a one-time friend, for damages for humiliation and loss of honor. Shimaoka, he claims, alienated the affections of his wife over a period of years after 1928 and the illicit relationship became notorious among Japanese here and the shame led Reiko to suicide.

The defendant alleges the dead woman always was unhappy with Shinzaburo and only remained his wife because it was established at a Kobe family conference she should do so until her son reached the age of 17.

Agitators Seen Ready To Expand

Aiming At Lumber Mills, Pulp Camps, Mines And Must Be Stopped Says Hepburn

"RAISE ARMY IF NEEDED"

No Relief For Oshawa Strikers —Union Demands Leading To Impossible

TORONTO, April 9 — (C.P.). — Invasion of Ontario industry by paid agitators will be prevented by every resource at the Ontario Government's command. In statements following start of the General Motors strike at Oshawa, Premier Mitchell Hepburn stressed his administration's determination to fight "these agitators."

"We know what these agitators are up to," he said last night. "We were advised only a few hours ago that they are working their way into the lumber camps, the pulp mills and our mines. Well, that has got to stop—and we are going to stop it. If necessary we'll raise an army to do so."

His government was opposed to domination by professional labor profiteers from the United States, Mr. Hepburn foresaw an imminent showdown.

"The entire resources of this province will be utilized, if the occasion warrants, to prevent anything in this country resembling that which is taking place at the present time across the line, due to failure on the part of constituted authority to take adequate action."

No Relief To Be Given.

The Premier announced if the Oshawa strike continued indefinitely strikers would be barred from relief assistance. However, the workers in the Windsor General Motors plant, forced to close down because of the Oshawa tieup, will receive assistance.

He considered the Oshawa strike first effort by John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization to dictate to Canadian labor and he announced the Government's support of General Motors' attitude against "domination of professional labor profiteers of the C.I.O."

Premier Hepburn has always shown a friendly attitude towards labor and its problems. The Premier mentioned legislation to help the workingman, such as the men's minimum wage and plans for machinery to aid mediation between worker and employer.

Assurance was given to those wishing to return to work they would receive adequate protection with

HEPBURN ANARCHY CHARGE RESENTED

N. Y. Publisher, ex-Fenelon Falls Boy, Suspects New Deal Won't Like Statement

NEW YORK, April 9 (C.P.).—The New York Sun, published by a native of Ontario, in its leading editorial to-day generally applauded the stand taken by the Premier of that Province in the General Motors strike at Oshawa, but predicted his allusion to anarchy in the United States almost certainly will provoke protests from the New Deal.

The newspaper, anti-Roosevelt in politics and published by William T. Dewart, native of Fenelon Falls, Ontario, said Premier Hepburn's assertion of last night that John L. Lewis "agitators" have brought the United States "almost into a state of anarchy" may bring representation from the Secretary of State in addition to protests from elsewhere in pro-Roosevelt ranks.

It contended Mr. Hepburn spoke "more broadly than he should," but hastened to add:

"Yet it cannot be denied that if anarchy may be defined as a territorial defiance of law and order there are parts of the United States along to Canada where anarchy has prevailed."

The editorial concluded with the wish that some of the Premier's "honest anger had smuggled itself across the border and into the hearts of American officials before Lewis proved himself superior to the laws of an American state."

Last Minute News Flashes

Decree By Moscow Doubles Birth Rate

Moscow, April 9—(AP)

MOSCOW'S birth rate for the first three months of 1937 today was reported virtually double that of the corresponding period last year.

The increase was attributed largely to the "big family" decree of last June, which prohibited operations for the prevention of childbirth and made divorces more difficult to obtain. Births for the first three months of the year were 32,625 compared with 18,346 for the same period in 1936. A decline of 61 per cent was reported in divorces. (Moscow's population was estimated at 3,572,000 in 1923.)

Plumbing Pay Schedule Said Ultra Vires

First Test Case Of 1936 Act Upholds Firm Paying Wages Below Rate

POWERS EXCEEDED

TORONTO, April 9 — (C.P.). — Wage schedules fixed for the plumbing and heating trade under the Ontario Industrial Standards were declared ultra vires to-day in a judgment by Mr. Justice J. A. McEvoy of the Ontario Supreme Court.

A stated case, in which Belyea Bros. of Toronto were charged with contravening the act in paying to an employee wages under those fixed, was placed before Mr. Justice McEvoy. Magistrate Jame Cowan of Toronto, who tried the case, had decided the act was valid.

Under the act minimum wages and hours of work were stabilished at a conference within an industry. In the case of plumbing and heating trades the resultant agreement was forwarded to the government, which gave approval in orders-in-council dated September 3, 1936.

In his stated case to the Supreme Court Judge, Magistrate Cowan asked:

"Was I right in holding that the order-in-council bringing to force scale of wages and hours and days of labor by the plumbing and heating trades in Toronto zone as laid, and does not exceed the powers conferred by the Industrial Standard Act?

"Was I right in holding that in the circumstances stated I must reserve for judgment, it was ineffective under the order-in-council of the Industrial Standards Act to Belyea Bros. Ltd., to charge the employees 15 cents per hour for use of trucks owned by Belyea Bros., and paid by its employees in the conduct of its business?"

Mr. Justice McEvoy rot the schedule ultra vires as it exceded powers granted by the statu.

RENEWS CHALLENGE

Hepburn Continues Offensive Against Charges of Arthurlite.

TORONTO, April 9 (C.P.). — Premier Hepburn to-day renewed his challenge to Arthur Ellis Conservative member of the Legislature for South Ottawa, to take his seat on charges that members of the House had influenced the voting of beer and wine authorities.

Before the session ends Mr. Ellis said in the House that he had "retarding information" which he was prepared to lay before the Premier and Mr. Hepburn promised if the information warranted he would appoint a commissioner to investigate.

The Premier to-day wrote Mr. Ellis, asking him to amplify his charges and offering, if Mr. Ellis would stake his seat on the sue, to order the investigation.

Ottawa Will Take a Hand If Necessary

Lapointe Reveals Mounties Sent To Toronto After Three Calls From Hepburn

HOUSE DISCUSSES CASE

Woodsworth Attacks Ontario Premier For Siding With Company

OSHAWA, Ont., April 9 (CP).—The first attempt to resume operations at the strike-paralyzed General Motors plant here was promised for tomorrow, when company officials said the parts department would be opened for business.

The parts building was picketed today by a small group of strikers, but Hugh Thompson, committee for industrial organization leader, in charge of union activities, said decision would be made later on whether strikers would permit reopening of business in the parts department.

"We have made an agreement with General Motors that parts necessary for ambulances, trucks, milk trucks and other utilities' transport machines may be taken from the plant without interference," Thompson said. "This does not cover parts for passenger cars."

Whether a crisis in the walkout, which went into effect yesterday when 3,700 workers left the plant, would be reached tomorrow apparently depended upon the decision of the strike committee.

OTTAWA TO HELP

OTTAWA, April 9 (CP)—Services of the Dominion Labor Department will be available immediately to assist in a settlement of the Oshawa motor strike, Labor Minister Norman Rogers told the House of Commons today.

At the same time Justice Minister Lapointe revealed he had sent Mounted Police to Toronto after two telephone calls and a telegram from Premier Hepburn.

Mr. Hepburn had said violence was expected at any minute and at that time he had been told officials of the company had been forcibly prevented from entering their own offices.

The strike question was raised by J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, who put it, 100 per cent with the company against the workers but Liberal members declared he was wrong in his statement.

After reading a telegram received from Premier Hepburn requesting Mounted Police assistance, Mr. Lapointe said the action would have been taken had the request come from any other province.

No Intervention Unless Needed

It was the duty of the Dominion to lend assistance when requested and unless the necessity arose for enforcing the law the Mounted Police would not intervene.

Mr. Lapointe said he was pleased to hear Mr. Woodsworth's assurance no violation of the laws of Canada was contemplated at Oshawa.

"I hope both labor and employers will show to the world that disorder and illegality will never be used as an industrial weapon in Canada," said Mr. Lapointe.

Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East) said Premier Hepburn had definitely lined the Ontario government up with the company.

In the railway wage dispute a peaceful settlement had been negotiated with American unions. There was no reason the C.I.O.'s efforts to organize the hitherto unorganized automobile workers should cause objection.

Oshawa Factory Sees Canada's First C.I.O. Strike

Five minutes after they had filed in the General Motors Corporation plants at Oshawa, Ont., to begin work for the day, 3,700 men and women workers turned about and filed out again to begin the first strike called in Canada by the militant C.I.O. led by John L. Lewis. Production at the Windsor, Ont., plant of General Motors stopped shortly afterwards on orders of the general manager. Pickets under the leadership of 300 stewards and 52 chief stewards began an orderly picketing of the huge Oshawa factories. Though some workers remained within the plant, strikers said they would not go back after leaving the shops at noon. Company officials were barred from entering the plants by the strikers. In an effort to avoid any disorder the Ontario government closed all liquor stores and beverage parlors on the request of Mayor Hall of Oshawa and of C. H. Millard, C.I.O. agent in the motor city. The above photographs were taken following the walkout at the plant. The upper photograph was taken following the walkout at the walkout at the plant. Upper photograph shows a general scene as pickets began their march about the factories with some of the striking women employees of General Motors, getting ready for picket duty, pictured below.

Jarvis Loses 12 Year Fight To Clear Name

Ontario Appeal Court Refuses To Quash Conviction Or Grant Retrial

COMPLAINT TOO FLIMSY

TORONTO, April 9 (C.P.). — A 12-year battle by Aemilius Jarvis, Toronto financier, to clear his name of a criminal charge of which he was convicted in connection with the redemption in Great Britain of $5,000,000 in Ontario succession duty-free bonds, ended in failure to-day.

The Ontario Appeal Court refused either to quash the conviction or grant a retrial.

Jarvis was charged jointly with Peter Smith "and others" in the conspiracy. Both he and Smith were sent to prison.

The Appeal Court found Jarvis' complaint against the charge of Mr. Justice R. M. Meredith to the Jury was not sufficient to warrant either action be now sought or to warrant a review of the whole case.

Original charge was based on an accusation both Smith and Jarvis profited wrongfully at the expense of the Province in the redemption of the bonds.

SECOND ATTEMPT TO DERAIL TRAIN

Small Boulders Placed On Track But Engine Threw Them Aside

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., April 9 (C.P.)—Canadian National Railways Constable Ray Morden of Lindsay, Ont., disclosed last night a second unsuccessful attempt had been made Tuesday to derail a C.N.R. passenger and freight train near here.

Morden, here to investigate, indicated small boulders had been placed on the track but the engine pilot had brushed them aside.

An attempt was made previously to derail the train when two ties were propped across the track.

Company To Sign Or Build No More Cars Even if 50,000 Militia Sent In Says Thompson

Mayor Pledges Strikers No Outside Police To Be Called Unless Need Desperate

OSHAWA, Ont., April 9 (CP). — Strike of 3,700 workers at the giant General Motors of Canada plant entered its second 24 hours today, an impasse over the C.I.O. issue more pronounced.

As fresh pickets moved into the lines before the company's workshops there was no indication negotiations would be resumed. In nearby Toronto 300 police were ready to hurry to Oshawa should trouble arise.

Along with Premier Mitchell Hepburn's stand the Government centers in the attitude of the company. General Motors remained adamant in its position that the committee for industrial organization would not be dealt with.

Hugh Thompson, organizer for the organization that John L. Lewis built up in the United States, proclaimed the strikers aided by their demand for recognition of their union—the United Automobile Workers of America, affiliated with the C.I.O.

From the time the men walked from the plant yesterday there was a rapid series of developments:

Premier Hepburn in a statement at Toronto openly denounced the C.I.O. and "paid propagandists from the United States." He gave unqualified stand of the Government behind the company's position "to remain clear of the domination of professional labor profiteers of the C.I.O."

Ottawa Sends Mounties.

A special force of Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Ontario police, estimated at 300, was assembled at Toronto ready for any emergency. The Mounties were sent from Ottawa and passed through Oshawa last night.

A mass meeting of strikers last night heard Mayor Alex Hall declare that "enforcement of law and order is the duty of the municipality" and that a special force "cannot come into this city without civic request and they are not going to come in here until there is a emergency for them."

General Motors was tossed a challenge by Organizer Thompson at the mass meeting when he said: "Open your gates tomorrow with an invitation for men to go to work and see how many go." For Premier Hepburn he had this: "Send 50,000 militia in here but General Motors will sign an agreement before it builds another motor car in Canada."

H. J. Carmichael, vice-president and general manager of the automobile corporation, in a statement at Toronto said: "General Motors of Canada is not opposing organization by labor, but will not under any condition negotiate with any person or organization other than their own employees' committee, and with them they will confer at any time."

Five hundred workers at the General Motors plant in Windsor swelled the total of idle when they were laid off because of the Oshawa strike.

Anthropologists Point To Boston Yankees And Descendants Of Bounty Mutineers

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 9.—(AP)—A declaration that proceeding can and does produce healthy and vigorous descendants today offered anthropologists a fertile field of discussion.

Dr. Harry L. Shapiro of New York pointed yesterday to descendants of the famous mutineers of H.M.S. Bounty, living on Pitcairn Island in the mid-Pacific since 1790, and to Boston Yankees as "healthy, vigorous and free from stigmata of disadvantage" after generations of intermarriage.

Dr. Aleš Hrdlicka, curator of the United States museum, here for the meeting of the American Association of physical anthropologists, told a Boston audience the old Yankee stock represented by Boston's oldest families was "the tallest and largest of any group in America, and they're still growing."

"It's a pity that they can't be kept to an Eden and stay there forever," Dr. Hrdlicka added.

Great Year Upon Horizon Canadian Prairie Farmer

Rains Bode Well For Crop — Huge World Demand Boosts Prices

ACREAGE TO INCREASE

OTTAWA, April 9.—(CP)—Agricultural experts today scanned optimistically indications prairie farmers this year will increase their wheat acreage and that western grain fields so far have enjoyed more moisture precipitation that a year ago.

Rising prices, shrinking world supplies and growing needs of war-frightened European nations have given rise to belief barring unforeseen adverse factors the nation's grain growers should enjoy a more profitable season than last year.

Officials hoped prospect of increased demand would result in sowing this year of considerably more than the 28,362,000 acres that last summer produced 229,218,000 bushels, smallest crop since 1919.

Increased world demand for wheat was shown in figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics giving the average weekly world shipments as 12,500,000 bushels for the first 35 weeks of the crop year which started last August 1.

This compared with an average of 9,700,000 bushels in the corresponding period last year. North American shipments, almost exclusively Canadian, have averaged 4,400,000 weekly compared with 4,000,000 last year.

Greater average increases have been shown in shipments from two other important exporting areas. Argentina's average has risen from 1,800,000 to 3,500,000 bushels a week and those of the Danubian countries from 300,000 to 1,800,000 weekly. Australia's average, however, dropped from 2,500,000 to 2,000,000 bushels.

Canada exported up to April 2 a total of 142,082,804 bushels compared with 236,451,826 during the corresponding period last year. Overseas clearance at 208,439,000 were about 3,000,000 bushels higher than a year before.

Japs Fly To London 9,800 Miles, 94 Hours

London, April 9.—(AP)

THE Japanese monoplane Divine Wind landed at Croydon airdrome today, completing a record-breaking 9,800-mile flight from Tokyo in a little more than 94 hours.

The plane landed at Athens and Rome and flew over Paris on the last laps of the trip.

By their brilliant flight, Pilot Masaaki Iinuma, 26, and Kenji Tenkagoshi, 35, wireless operator, crowned with success one of Japan's first bids for international flying honors. The plane is entirely of Japanese make.

The Japanese fliers broke the record for a hop between Japan and Europe formerly held by the Frenchmen, Goste and Lebrix, who 10 years ago flew from Paris to Tokyo in six days, 20 hours.

They will have to serve only five days, however. With 13 Americans and seven men of other nationalities who also received 20-day terms, they had spent 15 days of their sentences in jail waiting to come to trial.

The Canadians were listed as William Gordon, Alexander Maclare, and Peter Ambrosiak of Montreal, and Sundsten Atuan and Johnny Dendy of Toronto.

Child Victims Of Pneumonia Saved By Cold Air Treatment

Wind Let Play On Patie's Face Irrespective Of Seam Or Weather

By Edwin Johnson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, April 9 (CP).—Literally hundreds of children suffering from acute primary pneumonia are believed to have been saved by a new cold air treatment introduced by H. L. Wallace of the Royal Edinburgh Hospital for Sick Children.

Writing in the current issue of the British Medical Journal, Dr. Wallace says:

"During recent years it has been the practice in one of the wards of the hospital to submit every case of pneumonia on admission to an intensive open-air regime.

"This is carried out irrespective of the season of the year or of weather conditions, with one exception, that each child being placed on the windward side of the ward beside a widely opened window so that a cold air without plays directly on the child's face.

An essential precaution, it is pointed out, is that the patient should be warmly clad to prevent chilling, the face being the only part of the body exposed to the air. All cases of pneumonia are thus treated, day and night, until the temperature falls and remains at a normal level.

Dr. Wallace says this new method of treatment has been thoroughly tested in more than 300 cases. The immersion of physicians and nurses attached to the ward, he says, is thus exposed to a constant current of cold air in the interests of saving lives in children of all ages afflicted with an acute, primary form of the disease. It brings some relief to the patient, aids appetite and helps to render unnecessary other forms of treatment which might prove distressing to a young child.

Madrid Army Out To Smash Siege

Madrid, April 8—(AP)

IN fighting such as Madrid has not seen since General Franco pounded his way to the city's gates five months ago, Spain's government armies slashed tonight at the fringe of insurgent positions about the capital.

A strange, new four-motored bomber, swift diving fighting planes and fleets of fast tanks backed the government's infantrymen—ready at last, they believed, to break the long and bitter siege.

Bailiffs ordered Clausen to undress.

France Ready Answer Italy

Has Enough Evidence Of Rome's Violations To Justify Demanding Troops Leave Spain

PARIS, April 9 (CP-Havas) — A "smashing" French dossier, listing Italian violations of the Spanish neutrality accord, will be presented to the London non-intervention committee if Rome formally charges France with bad faith, the newspaper Figaro reported today.

Evidence against Italy in the hands of the French government, the newspaper declared, is so overwhelming it would justify France in demanding "the immediate withdrawal of all Italian combatants from Spain."

Figaro said the dossier—described as containing "irrefutable" proof of Italian activity in Spain since March 10—would not be used unless the Rome delegate to the committee "brought official protest against alleged French intervention in Spain."

Meanwhile, official sources, denying Italian charges France has supplied arms and men to the Spanish government scored "some French newspapers which in a spirit of systematic opposition are lending comfort to certain foreign campaigns slandering their own country."

France's ridding to the 27-power "hands off Spain" pact is unapproachable in the face of developments in the Iberian Peninsula, a spokesman said.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., April 9—(AP)—Two Canadian women and another from Ireland, seeking to become United States citizens in July, plan to "borrow" one another's husbands—and Naturalization Court officials say it will be legal.

Before surprised court clerks today, Mrs. Katherine McConnell, Mrs. Mary K. Gordon and Mrs. Ellen Heffer announced each intended to meet the requirement of two character witnesses, who must not be relatives, with the husbands of the other two.

Thus Mrs. McConnell, 33 born in Bancroft, Ont., will have David M. Gordon and Robert C. Heffer as witnesses. Mrs. Gordon, 38, born in Maynooth, Ont., will have Wilfred V. McConnell and Heffer as her witnesses, while Mrs. Heffer, 37, born in Cranhaven, Ireland, will offer McConnell and Gordon as sponsors.

All three men are citizens. Gordon, a factory worker, was born in the United States, and Heffer and McConnell, shipping clerks, were naturalized in 1926 and 1933, respectively.

U.S. Clears Up Its Last Major Auto Dispute

Hudson Settlement Comes After Five Months Of Trouble In Motor Industry

AFFECTED OVER 225,000

DETROIT, April 9 (A.P.). — The United States was without a major automotive strike to-day for the first time since last November 18.

Settlement of the Hudson Motor Car Company strike last night brought an end to a series of tie-ups in the industry during the last five months that halted operations of four automobile producers, as well as many part suppliers, an daffected approximately 225,000 workers at various times.

"Our serious trouble in the motor industry is ended," stated Governor Frank Murphy in announcing at Lansing the signing of the Hudson agreement.

The terms, except for a few minor alterations, were the same as those which started 65,000 employees of the Chrysler Corporation back to work. The 11,000 workers of Hudson's Detroit plants have been idle since March 3, the day strikes started in the eDtroit Chrysler factories and the Reo motor car plant at Lansing.

The Chrysler strike settlement was signed on Tuesday; the Reo compact, also patterned after the Chrysler accord, on Wednesday. Reo workers paraded out of their plant last night.

A truce in the 44-day General Motors strike on February 11 sent back to work 135,000 of that corporation's employees and additional thousands on payrolls of dependent concerns. The G.M. final agreement was reached on March 12.

This week's three strike settlements opened the way for 9,200 Reo workers, the Chrysler and Hudson employees and those of several parts manufacturers to return to work.

RADIO INSPIRES KNITTING SOCKS

Mrs. McClung Tells Some Of Her Own Reactions To Varied Program

WINNIPEG, April 9—(CP)—"The middle-aged person doesn't like the amorous, glamorous love song on the radio—'I've Got You Under My Skin'—but the youngsters don't want book reviews, which we like, so it's a case of give and take," said Mrs. Nellie L. McClung, telling the Women's Canadian Club about her work as a governor of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

It was a "great democracy," pointed out Mrs. McClung, in which crooners must be tolerated by some in order that others could have travel talks and poetry on their radio.

Radio had brought entertainment back into the home. "The girls stay at home and get their needlepoint done while they listen to their favorite program, and I'll tell you my grandchildren have got some good socks out of me over the radio," admitted Mrs. McClung. She told of a woman who couldn't get her hooked rug finished all because she needed tubes for the radio; consequently with no music there were no young people in her rural home to hook with her.

MORE FURNITURE HAT PROTECTION ROUSES LIBERALS

Deachman Brands Jump In Tariff Enough To Make Anyone a Free Trader

ASKS RECONSIDERATION

OTTAWA, April 9 (CP).—With all Government measures disposed of and only some scattered tariff and estimate items standing in the way of prorogation, the brakes were jammed on in the House of Commons last night when low-tariff Liberals arose in protest against upward revision of the tariff on furniture.

A dozen bills, many of a nature that might provoke lengthy discussion if the objective of early prorogation were not in the minds of most members, were put through all stages in swift order at yesterday's session, and it seemed that only delay in the Senate would bar a week-end clean-up.

Numerous other non-controversial resolutions were carried out on the changes in tariff on hat shapes and parts. R. J. Deachman (Lib., Huron North) opened a spirited attack on what he called the Government's high tariff policy. Self-described as a Free-Trader, Mr. Deachman declared "items like this in the tariff would make almost any person on earth a free trader." Although there was some reduction in these items, Mr. Deachman said the protection given was far beyond reason when it amounted to 85 per cent. ad valorem against Italy and 126 per cent. against Japan.

"There is not the one man in the House who does not know these rates are too high, no matter who puts them on," he said. "It is even more ridiculous when put on by those who have stood shoulder to shoulder with me fighting for free trade at election time."

Mr. Deachman quoted from the statement of the Prime Minister after the victory at the polls in October, 1935, in which Mr. Mackenzie King referred to the need for free trade and altering the high

20 Mexicans Die In Rival Labor Scrap

Many Others Wounded During Half-Hour Fight In Barricaded Factory

TROOPS CALLED

MEXICO CITY, April 9 (AP)—Twenty or more workmen were reported today to have been killed and many wounded when rival labor groups barricaded themselves in a factory at San Martin Texmelucan, Puebla, and battled for half an hour.

Dispatches from San Martin, long the site of bitter strife between the confederation of workers of Mexico (CTM) and its older rival, the regional confederation of Mexican workers (CROM), said fighting broke out in the El Pilar textile factory yesterday.

Federal troops quickly surrounded the building, and the workers, at odds over whether to affiliate with the CROM or the CTM, locked and barred the doors. A farmer passing in front of the plant was killed by a stray bullet.

REBEL ACES CUT LINE TO FRANCE

Drop Eight Bombs On Mediterranean Port-Town—One Hits Church

PERPIGNAN, France, April 9 (AP)—Two Insurgent Spanish airplanes today bombed Portbou, on the Franco-Spanish frontier, cutting a section of the trunk railroad linking France and Spain. Eight bombs were dropped on the Mediterranean port-town during the raid, wounding at least one person.

Government reports declared that a church and one other building in the town had been struck by the explosives.

Shortly after the planes nosed out over the sea, after flying over French territory at Cerbere, workmen were rushed to the damaged section of the railroad to begin repairs.

AGITATORS ARE READY TO EXPAND

necessary police available to prevent disturbances within strikers' ranks.

United States came near a state of anarchy, but Ontario was bent on maintaining peace in labor spheres and prevent disruption of its export business.

"I counsel and request those Canadian employees who are ill-advised by outside propagandists that they should stop, look and listen before any serious trouble develops," said the Government Leader.

No Cause for Complaint.

Strike at Oshawa, instigated by C.I.O. sources, came when industry faced prosperity unknown since 1930, Mr. Hepburn said. Government information indicated such concessions were made by employers and workers and no cause for disagreement existed.

"It seems rather an anomaly that in the centres to be affected we have paid out millions of dollars of public funds keeping on relief those who to-day are enjoying an average wage of over $168 per month," Mr. Hepburn said.

He was satisfied after reviewing the situation that the policy of the "foreign agitators" would lead to impossible demands followed by great loss to the automobile industry.

Harry J. Carmichael, vice-president and general manager of General Motors, maintained the firm was not opposing organization by labor, but would not negotiate, under any condition, with any body excepting its own employees' committee. An "insidious influence" caused intimidation and coercion among workers, he charged.

An Illegal Act.

Plant officials had been prevented from entering the Oshawa plant, claimed both Mr. Hepburn and the company general manager. The Premier declared this to be "an illegal act."

"Rather than see any violence," Mr. Carmichael said in his statement, "no attempt is being made to operate the plant."

He also declared until Hugh Thompson, C.I.O. organizer, appeared in workers' ranks, "we had one of the happiest industrial plants in the Dominion of Canada, and ideal working conditions in every respect."

He added:

"Our office force in the Paris Department, who are responsible for the servicing of our cars and keeping same running from coast to coast, were refused admittance to their division, and when they later tried to enter they were forcibly prevent from doing so, which means that our products in the hands of consumers from coast to coast are being prevented from receiving proper service. Both of the above acts we consider illegal."

Absolute Freedom Of Thought Urged

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., April 9 (CP)—Absolute freedom of thought among undergraduates was urged last night by Dr. R. C. Wallace, principal of Queen's University.

Only true freedom of a university rested in permitting the winds to blow in from all sides, he said in an address to the local Queen's Alumnae Association annual dinner.

Real educationists would present facts to pupils and permit them to reach their own conclusions even if these were different from the popular viewpoint.

He denounced as class room propaganda the teaching method by which an instructor required pupils to mould facts to arrive at one particular point of view.

MUNICH, April 8.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, temporarily dropping their self-imposed seclusion, took a short sightseeing trip through Munich today.

The Royal Road to the Coronation

The Royal Engagement Was Enthusiastically Welcomed

ROMANCE came to Prince Albert at the close of his years of war service, a romance that was to receive a tremendously enthusiastic reception from the people of Great Britain.

Not considered at that time as the direct heir to the throne, the Duke of York perhaps was less governed by the dictates of state and politics than had he been the King's eldest son; he had, and used, the privilege of freely seeking the hand of the woman he loved.

Though they had met as children, the possibility that some day their paths would cross again, and that a great and enduring love would spring from the crossing, could hardly have occurred to this hard-working and conscientious prince and the cheerful and vigorous daughter of the house of Strathmore. It was not until the post-war years, when England and the world was seeking to forget the horror, in a new upswing of social enjoyment that their friendship began to draw comment from society.

Born at the family estate in Hertfordshire and educated almost entirely at home until she passed the Oxford examination, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon was making her first full-season bow to Britain's elite circles then. Prince Albert too was coming more and more into public notice.

In 1930 he paid a visit to Glamis Castle and the merry tongue of rumor had a new tithit of pleasurable gossip. When Lady Elizabeth became a bridesmaid for Princess Mary and then the duke paid a second visit to the Scottish estate accompanied by his mother rumor took on all the guise of fact in its tale of royal love.

On Jan. 16, 1923, any doubt was finally dispelled, for a court circular of that date announced that the King and Queen had consented to the engagement of their beloved son to the Scottish noblewoman. (Today's picture shows the couple just after that announcement).

To the revelation of the betrothal, Their Majesties, King George V and Queen Mary added their blessing "to which the King has gladly given his consent" read the announcement. The formal consent of the King was necessary under the Royal Marriage Act of 1772, but that the romance between

Then followed nine years in the House of Commons, four of which saw him as the Federal Minister of Labor. In 1928 he represented the Dominion at Geneva.

BENNETT TO GIVE ANSWER THIS YEAR

Make Known Decision As To Retiring On Return From Europe

OTTAWA, April 9 (CP).—Conservative members of Parliament were informed in caucus yesterday by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett that he would give them ample notice should he decide to relinquish the leadership of the party. This was the last caucus before prorogation.

The Conservative leader's statement is presumed to have been prompted by reports through the country that he was giving consideration to retiring. It is understood he told the members it would not do in the interests of the party to have uncertainty as to leadership continue indefinitely.

He expected to return from a trip to European countries following the Coronation at a reasonably early date and would then be ready to make known his decision.

Members of the party said they had not given up hope Mr. Bennett would see his way clear to continue as leader following the heart to heart talk he had with them as to his own and the party's future.

Gold Tumble Starts Panic In South African Exchange

Shares Slump Up To 45 Points Over Fears U.S. May Lower Price

WEAK CLIENTS SOLD OUT

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, April 9—(AP)—Frenzied crowds thronged the Johannesburg Stock Exchange as gold shares tumbled in some cases as much as 45 points as a result of rags the United States would lower the price of gold.

(A break in the French franc in Paris was partially attributed to the same rumors, which have been denied).

The slump in some shares was due chiefly to an overbought position in the market which led brokers to sell out weak clients.

KEENE

A kitchen shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Short in honor of the bride-to-be, Miss Winnifred Preston, on Tuesday.

The first part of the evening was spent in playing crokinole, Miss Reta Dickson getting the prize for the highest score. An address was read by Miss Zella Wilson, while the Misses Helen Clarkson and Helen Kempt carried in an Easter egg filled with many useful gifts from her friends. Miss Preston made a suitable reply after which "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung. A dainty lunch was then served by the hostess.

Miss Betty Gall, nurse-in-training in Orillia, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Gall, of Keene.

Bess destroyed the insulation on electric tires at the municipal swimming pool at Bulawayo, South Africa, permitting the current to travel in the wet banks of the pool which caused shocks to swimmers.

ENJOYABLE DANCE

Johnston's Orchestra supplied the music for round and square dancing which attracted a large number from Seymour Township as well as local patrons. Lunch was served by the Young People who plan to hold another dance in the near future.

CORNWALL CRASH FATAL TO WOMAN

Three Others Injured When Car Left Highway And Struck Tree

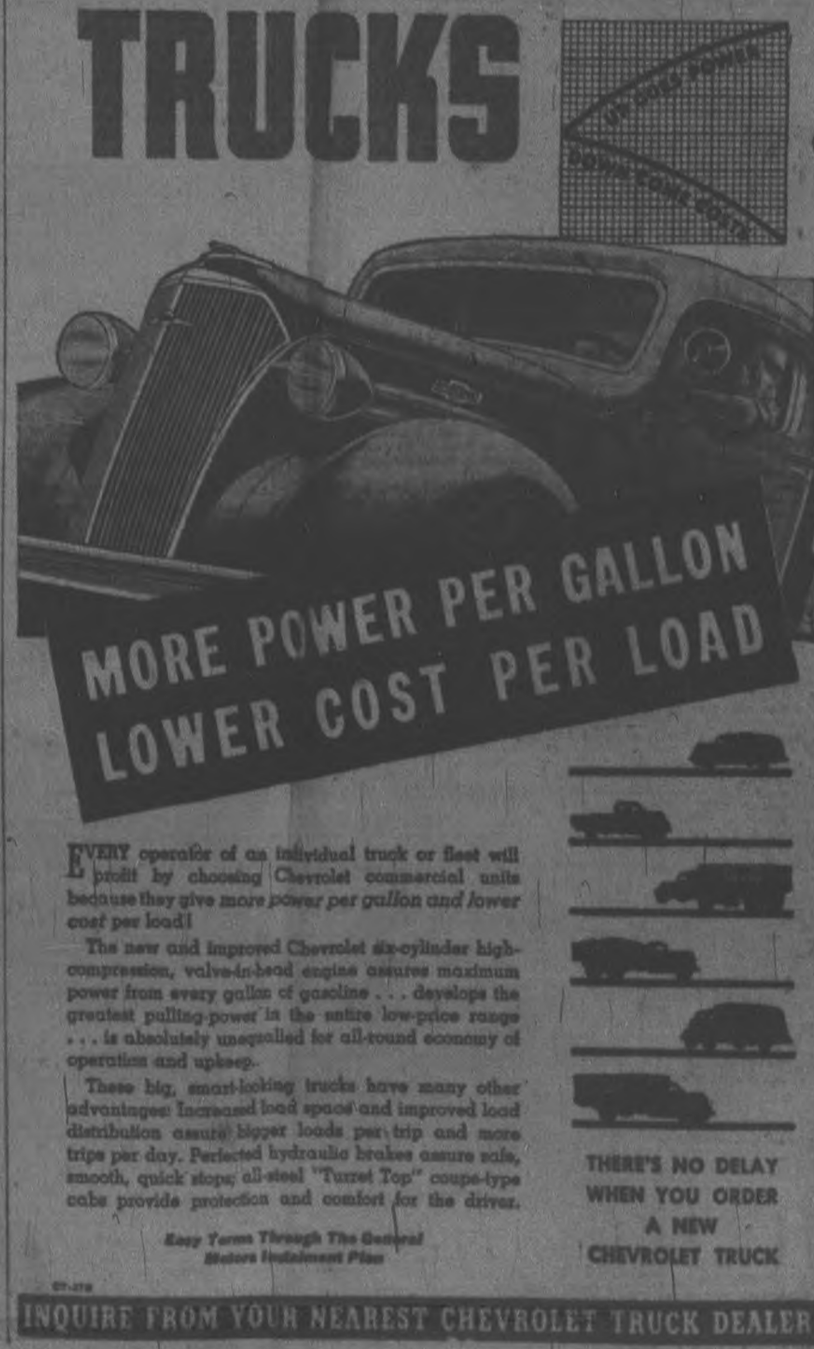
CORNWALL, Ont., April 9 (CP).—Mrs. Francis St. Louis died in hospital last night from injuries suffered in an automobile accident near here Saturday which claimed the life of her husband and Mrs. Lionel Masson.

Mrs. St. Louis, 18 years of age and mother of a one-year-old daughter, received severe head and facial injuries, fractured wrist and smashed hand.

Three others were injured in the accident. Mrs. Mamie Terriah, 51, lies in a critical condition. It was found necessary to amputate one of her legs yesterday. She suffered serious head and facial injuries besides.

The others, Leo Carriere and Alfred Bodway, alleged driver of the car which left the highway and crashed into a tree, were reported improving.

CHEVROLET TRUCKS



EVERY operator of an individual truck or fleet will profit by choosing Chevrolet commercial units because they give more power per gallon and lower cost per load!

The new and improved Chevrolet six-cylinder high-compression, valve-in-head engine assures maximum power from every gallon of gasoline . . . develops the greatest pulling-power in the entire low-price range . . . is absolutely unequalled for all-round economy of operation and upkeep.

These big, smart-looking trucks have many other advantages: Increased load space and improved load distribution assure bigger loads per trip and more trips per day. Perfected hydraulic brakes assure safe, smooth, quick stops; all-steel "Turret Top" coupe-type cabs provide protection and comfort for the driver.

Recent Decisions Making For Movement To Abolish Privy Council Appeals

EXPERTS' OPINIONS

OTTAWA, April 8 (CP)—The constitutional issue arising out of the recent decisions of the judicial committee of the privy council on Canada's social legislation is receiving consideration in many quarters in the capital.

If time is found for discussion of the matter before parliament prorogues the suggestion is almost sure to be made that appeals to the privy council be discontinued and the Supreme Court of Canada be made the final court of appeal.

Those who favor such a course contend that the privy council opinions on the Bennett reform legislation were so much in favor of the provinces in certain particulars that some action must be taken.

Legal authorities say that, with the decisions as a precedent, it would be almost impossible for Canada to make even an unimportant treaty without consulting all the provinces. This would be necessary because some of its provisions almost certainly would affect property and civil rights under the broad interpretation placed on them in the opinions expressed by the law lords.

It is understood the government has been advised by its law officers of the possibility of such an embarrassing situation but the government itself has given no indication that it takes so serious a view.

The British North America Act, Canada's only written constitution, empowered the federal parliament to make and carry out the provisions of treaties. It divided the law-making field between the federal parliament and the provincial legislatures. Laws relating to property and civil rights were left in provincial jurisdiction.

In three of the eight measures sponsored by the Bennett administration and referred to the supreme court and on to the privy council, the Dominion relied for jurisdiction on its treaty-making powers. The subjects in these measures had been included in the labor conventions arising out of the Treaty of Versailles—conventions ratified by Canada. These were hours of work, minimum wages and day of rest acts. A law providing for social insurance depended partly on the Treaty of Versailles. The Supreme Court divided on these acts and the privy council found them ultra vires the Dominion parliament. Some constitutional lawyers hold that the privy council went too far in favor of the provinces in their reasons for judgment.

U.S. Situation Different

Three courses are open to Canada—to trust to a swing of the privy council in the opposite direction in subsequent decisions, to amend the British North America Act or to make the Supreme Court of Canada the final court of appeal.

There is little parallel between the situation in Canada and that in the United States where President Roosevelt is urging legislation to "reform" the supreme court. Neither the privy council nor the supreme court can pass on whether a law is a just one. Parliament and the provincial legislatures are supreme as long as they keep within their jurisdictions. Therefore breaks in Canada between governing bodies and courts can never assume such proportions as in the United States where the supreme court can decide on the propriety of a statute.

As long as a parliament or a legislature keeps within the jurisdiction given it by the British North America Act no court can question whether a law is good or bad. A jurist once said: "An act of parliament can do no wrong though it may do several things that look pretty odd."

There is an exception to this in Canada in that B.N.A. Act guaranteed certain minority rights regarding schools and religious liberties. Any statute which might be considered as clashing with the guarantee of these minority rights would be a subject for adjudication by the courts.

Dated July 1, 1662, a receipt for part payment of the amount due to Charles II's goldsmith for making his crown jewels, some of which will be seen at the Coronation in May, has just been presented to the British Museum in London.

Dismissal Asked

Dismissal of Major Gladstone Murray, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, was asked by Conservative Leader R. B. Bennett in the House of Commons at Ottawa, Mr. Bennett's demand was based on a speech Mr. Murray had delivered at Montreal in which he said "The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is pledged to make Canada bilingual." Mr. Bennett declared that if Major Murray had spoken without the authority of the government he should be dismissed. Both Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Transport Minister Howe denied they had given the commission head authority to make the statement.

CROWNINGS COME PROBLEMS CLING IN UPSET WORLD

British Empire Has Changed Much Since Last Coronation

BUT HISTORY REPEATS

LONDON, April 9 (CP)—Empire problems this Coronation year are vastly different from those when George V. was crowned June 22, 1911, yet in many respects they offer a menacing similarity.

It is in the world outlook that the parallel with 1911 deepens. Then, the menace of a heavily-armed Germany was already disturbing the chancelleries of Europe. "It will be difficult to keep the peace for another five years," Viscount Grey, British Foreign Secretary, wrote despairingly in 1911. Four years later the Empire was at war with Germany.

The League of Nations introducing the principle of collective security, a vital force in international affairs collective security is already in the shadows. Once more the nations are arming to the teeth. One by one, continental countries have either fallen under the sway of dictatorships or their parliamentary systems have been diluted almost out of existence.

Rival forces of Fascism and Communism threaten at any time to burst their bonds.

Disarmament, started with such high hopes, has gone into the discard, on sea and on land and in the air. The navies of the world's great powers, so long kept balanced by the Washington and London naval treaties, are no longer restricted except in some extent as regards the sizes of vessels and their armaments.

Migrations Cease.

Twenty-six years ago, great migrations from the United Kingdom to the dominions and colonies were still in full swing. Now they have almost ceased. Then, Britain had still to give home rule to Ireland. Now, the Irish Free State is a dominion with the recognized status of Canada or Australia. Little by little the dominions, a quarter of a century ago, were strengthening their autonomy. The right to be complete masters in their own households has now been formally confirmed by the Statute of Westminster.

When George V. ascended the throne, the principle of Empire preference had still to be adopted by the United Kingdom. In the intervening years Britain has swung over from free trade to protection. Imperial preference, already enshrined in the Canadian tariff, has since spread to Empire nations of the seven seas.

New problems arise with the changing scene. The Irish Free State faces a general election on its new constitution. Indian provinces have elected their first legislature under a scheme of government with limited responsibility. A federated India lies in the offing. British military occupation of Egypt has ceased. Egypt is now an independent state and an ally of Great Britain.

TREK EVERY YEAR TO VIMY SHRINES

Belgian Legion To Make Annual Pilgrimage In Remembrance

BRUSSELS, April 9 (CP)—The Canadian Legion of Belgium has announced it would make annual pilgrimages to Vimy Ridge, the date for the first one being provisionally fixed for Sunday, July 25.

The legion is composed of Canadian ex-servicemen living in Belgium. Besides working on behalf of its members, the legion has been instrumental in keeping alive a memory of Canada in a country where so many Canadians lost their lives during the Great War. The little band of Canadians parade with their flag on Remembrance Days and like occasions.

The legion is anticipating being accompanied on its first pilgrimage by a number of Canadians in England and also Canadians and United States citizens who happen to be in Brussels at the time.

Arrangements are being made by the legion for the purchase and laying of flowers and wreaths on Canadian graves in response to any requests received from Canada.

TALK AFTER-CARE OF 'TB' PATIENTS

Experts In England For Coronation Will See Progress Of Work There

LONDON, April 9 (CP)—Recognizing the problem of "after-care" arising when the tuberculosis patient, cleared of tubercular infection, is discharged from the sanitorium, the Coronation period, with its influx from the Dominions, has been taken as opportune for an Empire-wide conference on the subject.

Under the auspices of the Overseas League and the Papworth Village Settlement, the conference will be held in London May 3-8 under the presidency of the Marquess of Willingdon, former governor-general of Canada. The announced theme is "The Care and After-Care of Tuberculosis."

The conference will provide a unique occasion for the exchange of views from all parts of the Empire. Speakers will include a number of distinguished medical men including Sir Kingsley Wood, minister of health; Professor S. Lyle Cummins, Lord Dawson of Penn, Lord Horder and Sir Pendrill Varrier-Jones. To these there will be added others from overseas.

Visitors will be enabled to inspect the Papworth settlement which is rapidly becoming a self-sustaining village. Former tubercular patients go there for care immediately after being discharged from sanitoria. They are given employment for a short period daily under medical supervision, and as occasion offers, returned to regular occupations and normal living.

Well to Read It All

There was something in the papers about a woman who had been married for 42 years seeking divorce, and that seemed to be entirely wrong. It made one feel uneasy and it ruffled the sense of justice and the fitness of things in general. Certainly the judge before whom such a case came for hearing would draw upon his experience and finer instincts to try and promote peace beneath the family roof.

Then a little later on it was stated this woman was the mother of six children and that made us groan. Divorce stalking through a home where a woman had been married for 42 years and where six children had been reared was too much like whacking away at the keystone in the arch of our entire civilization. We groaned three or four times.

Farther on we read the woman was asking for a divorce because the husband had packed up and left her 17 years ago and she had not seen him nor heard of him since. After which we groaned no more. All of which shows it is well to read a story in its entirety before forming opinions or starting to put them down on paper.

Not a General Custom

Judge Richard Hoskin of the Family Court, delivered an address in the Y. M. C. A. at Toronto, and it was with marriage he dealt. His text was in a general way that much trouble came in married life because people had not grown up emotionally. By way of making the thing clear it is reported that the judicial gentleman said:

> If your husband flies into a rage, begins to kick the furniture around, smash the dishes and so forth, don't let him get away with it. Pick up a plate and smash it too—give him some of his own medicine. And you will find he will weaken. And don't worry if he offers to commit suicide.

We do not know whether Judge Hoskin was thinking or speaking of some particular family which had come within the purview of his official investigations. One would hesitate to argue with him, for it may well be he has opportunity to judge on a wider scale than most folk. But from the more limited experience which the average individual possesses we doubt if many families are afflicted in the manner described. Just at the moment recollection produces a barren sheet on that point; we could not write down the names or addresses of families where the chief of the tribe kicks the furniture about or proceeds with the smashing of dishes from which he is accustomed to partake of his victuals. Nor can we just off-hand name the married women who when their husbands smash dishes reply by doing the same thing. None of the neighbors have ever done so, nor have we seen them carting out broken dishes and depositing them in the garbage can. Nor have we noticed pots and pans and vegetable dishes flying through the windows.

It may be a common enough practice in Toronto for that is where His Honor holds court. Fortunately the custom has not become general.

Russia a Strong Nation

Reference has been made several times in these columns to the presence of Italian, German and Russian forces in Spain, and particularly to the appearance of Russian planes. Foreign correspondents in Spain may or may not be military experts, but they probably know when one make of airplane is knocking others down that a good machine is at work. That is what is reported of the Russian fleet which is fighting for the loyalists or government forces.

Herbert Mattews of the New York Times sends word from Spain that the Russians using the snubnosed Chatos have been bringing down Junker bombers faster than they could be manufactured in Germany, and Matthews is also authority for the statement that these Russian planes have shot down on an average eleven rebel planes for every two the government forces have lost.

When the Italian army was in Ethiopia much use was made of bombing planes, but there was little or no opposition to them, and we suppose any plane could make an impressive and disastrous demonstration under such circumstances. It may have been the same all-victorious feeling was carried by the Italian forces when they enlisted with the rebels under Franco for the conquering of Spain. The German plane made the advance of Franco possible—until a better plane came in sight. And that better plane came from Russia. It is reported that foreign observers marvel at its speed and accuracy and also the manner in which it is being operated. It has been found to be far in advance of anything which Germany possesses.

For a good many years it has been known Russia has been at work. It has operated on a five-year plan and then another of similar duration. We have read a good deal, and probably printed a good deal telling of the blunders which Russia has been making in fields of industry and self equipment. But today Russia has its planes in the Spanish war and it is claimed for them they can knock down German Junkers faster than they can be assembled. It is also worth noting that Japan shows little inclination to provoke fresh conflict with her old enemy, Russia. It does appear to a layman that Russia has placed herself in so strong a position that most nations would think seriously before attacking her.

Trying It At Oshawa

The strike of 3,700 workers in the plant of General Motors of Canada located at Oshawa was hardly a surprise. During negotiations in recent days it became apparent that there might be agreement on several points, but the real test was the recognition of the United Automobile Workers, an affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization, now referred to as C.I.O. This organization is the same one which broke from the American Federation of Labor under the leadership of John Lewis, and has since waged successful battles with General Motors in Detroit and with Chrysler. The Ford plants, according to the organizers, are next in line. Ford has 150,000 workers and he states definitely he will recognize no union. The answer to that is that he will make no more cars unless he does so. The battle is not over yet.

Apparently there was little trouble in organizing the workers in Oshawa, as reports indicate that nearly all of the workers paid $2 as a fee to join the American union and agree to pay fees of $1 per month. Of this total collection it is recorded that $5,000 was sent to Detroit, where the head office is situated, as the money was needed there for purposes of organization and salary for officials. As we see it that is one of the weak spots in the new organization. Apart entirely from the merits of the case, and viewing it from the standpoint of tactics in an industrial battle, it means that several thousands of workers have cut off from the pay envelope of the factory without having another source of income as a substitute. The only weapon the workers have in that case is their decision to quit work and thus stop the output of the company plant. As we understand it there will be no strike pay, and the men and their families will have to depend on their own resources and in a good many cases any reserves which may have been accumulated may be quickly dissipated. Striking without the security of a strike fund behind the movement is likely to put the men at a disadvanage from the start. It could scarcely work otherwise.

The organizers have closed down on operations at the startegic moment, because the spring of the year is the time when the majority of new cars are sold. The highways leading from Oshawa have been clogged with cars for days, and General Motors has probably placed a sufficient stock to keep business going as usual as far as dealers are concerned.

There is no sit-down strike at Oshawa similar to that used by the C.I.O. in United States, and the reasons may be two in number: (1) the fact that nearly all employees were ready to walk out and join the strike at Oshawa, making a sit-down effort unnecessary; and (2) the plain-spoken warning of provincial and federal authorities that the sit-down strike had no place in this country and would not be tolerated.

Predictions are possibly dangerous things in which to indulge, but there may be trouble in Oshawa. On the first day the temper of the pickets was shown when they refused to allow trucks with parts to enter or leave the plant. That can readily lead to a clash between police and pickets, and such a clash will produce that feeling of tension where anything may happen. It has worked that way before in many places and there is no reason to believe Oshawa will prove any exception.

In the Sault Ste. Marie Star we read of a woman at Geraldton who put a bucksaw through a six-inch block of wood in 14 seconds, and the Star proceeds at once to say poo-hoo or its equivalent to all the men who were making records in Peterborough and other places. The Star says this lone woman did in 14 seconds what a lot of softies in the southern section of the province did in 56 seconds, overlooking the fact that our bucksaw men had to make three cuts in their contest.

Jim Curran in his paper does not even name the woman; he does not tell who kept time or whether the time was kept by some person counting or relying on the primitive idea that a normal person should breathe 15 times in a minute. In Jim's land they are not used to working to fine dimensions and like as not the stick referred to was dry cedar which one could cut with a bread knife.

Jim Curran's finest instincts should cause him to raise his voice or his pen in protest against a woman having a romp out in the back yard and straddle a saw horse. The man knows how hard it is to run a bucksaw, and has admitted and boasted that when he was a young fellow he and his brother ran a bucksaw together, one Curran being attached to either end. That was back in 1853 and they used to think nothing of knocking up 17 cords before breakfast. When they got into their stride by mid-day it was necessary to stop every hour to allow a team of horses and a large wagon to drive in and remove the sawdust. Before it was time for the evening meal the elder Curran used to come out and suggest that the boys better quit as they had enough wood to last for the next ten years. It's no work for a lady and we are surprised and a trifle disappointed that the Sault Star turns in boastful measure to what a lady with a bucksaw can do—or perhaa has to do in that wild north.

Better Leave It Alone

J. S. Woodsworth, leader of the C.C.F., suggested during a debate at Ottawa that there should be a higher tax on the profits made from mining. The money thus secured could be used for a work-with-wages plan which the government now considered too costly.

It may be contended and with truth that mineral resources belong to the country at large, but they are of no practical use until developed. The reason they are developed is because a number of people have gone forth to look for them; when they have found indications of minerals being present they have started work. In order to start work they have had to secure money, and at no time has it been possible to guarantee that results would be satisfactory. People keep on taking a chance; they are willing to speculate, and when a mine reaches the state where it pays dividends we hear much of that form of wealth. We hear little of the hundreds of attempts which failed; and where those who put in their money lost it all.

There is more: Each attempt to bring a mine into existence means that there has been the spending of money; there have been men engaged and wages paid; there have been expenditures for goods and supplies. There has been a direct creation of employment. A government which cannot perform this same service would be well advised not to interfere too much with those who can do so and who are willing to keep on doing it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Is an Eskimo an Indian is the question being asked in political circles. If he is it must be of the cold storage variety.

Humber Bay firemen had to turn out to extinguish a fire in their own hall. Please remind us to send the boys some of that Fire Prevention week literature.

Premier Hepburn says there will be no provincial election this year, but even so we imagine there will be plenty of political oratory along the concession lines before next fall.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police is to have an aerial squad equipped with four planes. That is a far departure from the old days when the Mounties depended upon horses and dog teams.

Whoever eventually wins the Oshawa strike it is obvious that the biggest loser will be the city of Oshawa, especially its merchants, if the tieup should prove of long duration.

Italy's foreign minister is to visit Albania shortly on a good will tour and it is to be hoped Mussolini will not consider it necessary to send a couple of bombing squadrons with him.

If the C.I.O. and Henry Ford lock horns in earnest then perhaps we will get an answer to that ancient problem of what happens when an irresistable force meets an immovable object.

Toronto Communists, Socialists and Laborites are having difficulty in securing a speaker for their May Day meeting. After all, however, there is always Ben Spence.

Considering that all the players, including those representing England and United States, hail from Canada the international hockey tournament to be held in Toronto will have a distinctly old-home-week atmosphere.

The King government has launched 93 probes by commissions since it took office 18 months ago. Just how many of these accomplished anything worth while it is impossible even to guess. There is less guess work when the bills come in.

TROUBLED

(By A. R. K.)

¶ The men who make our cars today, go on new strikes in vast array, they quit work here and there; they get strike wind inside their sail, take overalls and dinner pail, then sniff the outdoor air.

¶ Like any other humble man, I worry about my pink sedan, and I have fears within; the thing is very old I know, it rattles much and travels slow, and I may trade it in.

¶ They won't allow me much I fear, for I have stripped it clean of gear, strange noises too it makes; I cannot blow the horn at all, it quit some time along last fall, and it has feeble brakes.

¶ I don't think any other man, could really want my pink sedan, there is so much to know; I have to touch it here and there, and handle it with childish care, so I can make it go.

¶ But if the auto makers quit, it's going to trouble me a bit, I worry quite a lot; my neighbors pass me all the time, new cars they have that hum and shine, two months ago they bought.

¶ So I may keep my pink sedan, although it is an ancient can, I'll drive it now and then; if highways are too fast for me, why then there's lots of things to see—upon Concession Ten.

PRIVILEGE—MR. NEEDHAM

Mr. JOSEPH NEEDHAM (The Battlefords): On a question of privilege, I should like to make a correction in Hansard. At page 2656, with reference to dredging at Waskesiu lake, I am reported to have said:

It is in the national park north of Prince Albert. There is no traffic on that lake, so far as I know, not even pleasure boats . . . .

What I said was, "only pleasure boats."

Mr. SPEAKER: The correction will be made.

YES, GO ON

The CHAIRMAN: I do not like to interrupt the hon. member, but he has exceeded his time considerably.

Mr. GEORGE PERLEY (Argenteuil): If the hon. gentleman wishes to take a few minutes longer to finish I think the committee will be quite willing to have do so.

Mr. BLACKMORE: I should be pleased if the hon. member were permitted to finish. He has been doing very well.

The CHAIRMAN: He can do so only with unanimous consent.

JUDGES PREJUDICED?

Mr. ROGERS: I wonder if the leader of the opposition has placed side by side these provisions and those under the Inquiries Act, because there is no material difference between them.

Mr. BENNETT: Oh, yes.

Mr. ROGERS: We understand certainly that in connection with the appointment of commissioners under the Inquiries Act there is no requirement that a person so appointed shall be learned in the law.

Mr. BENNETT: No.

Mr. ROGERS: For some investigations it is desirable that we have a commissioner with legal training, but there are other investigations including, I submit, the type contemplated under this measure, which do not of necessity require legal training. Much has been said yesterday and today about the disadvantage under which a commissioner would labour if he did not possess wide legal knowledge. I am one who fully appreciates the advantages of legal training. On the other hand—

Mr. BENNETT: For a judge.

Mr. ROGERS: On the other hand, I also remember that Ramsay MacDonald once said that the most profound philosopher he had known was a shepherd in the highlands of Scotland, and I myself have met Sir John Simon on one occasion say that even judges were prejudiced and that their greatest prejudice was the belief that they were entirely free from prejudice. I think there is some truth in that statement. What we require here is not necessarily a legal mind. What we do require in a commissioner is a judicial mind, and I submit it is possible to find judicial minds even among those who have not had the advantage of legal training.

Mr. BENNETT: Quite.

Mr. ROGERS: Now, if I might turn—

Mr. BENNETT: The minister's observations prove our case.

Mr. THORSON: But not judicial in the narrow sense of the term.

Mr. ROGERS: Not judicial in the narrow sense at all.

Mr. BENNETT: I am glad the hon. member for Selkirk rushed in with that observation, because that changes the purport of it.

Mr. ROGERS: I had hoped the leader of the opposition would draw the natural inference. Let me refer to section 4 of the Inquiries Act:

The commissioners shall have the power of summoning before them any witnesses.—

And remember, this is not a commissioner with a legal training—at least, he may not be a judge or barrister.

Mr. BENNETT: But the minister knows the limitations the courts have imposed upon the Inquiries Act. Under that act one can deal only with such matters as the parliament of Canada might deal with. To that extent it is a creature of our own making, and its effect is negative.

Mr. ROGERS: In recent months we have carried out an inquiry under the Inquiries Act touching essentially the same kind of investigation as is contemplated under this bill.

Mr. CAHAN: Are you referring to the textiles commission?

Mr. BENNETT: I am referring to the coal inquiry.

Mr. BENNETT: That was an effort to investigate one year, and it cost between $25,000 and $30,000.

Mr. ROGERS: I think the amount is incorrect; it was $15,000.

SPEED LIMITS.

(Niagara Falls Review)

THE speed limit may be raised in Ontario and it may be of interest to note how the problem is handled in the other provinces. In Prince Edward Island, it is "careful and prudent"; in Nova Scotia, "reasonable and proper" forty miles an hour on the open highway; New Brunswick, forty; Quebec, thirty; Manitoba, "careful and prudent"; Saskatchewan "when passing thirty-five"; Alberta, thirty; British Columbia, thirty or rates noted on highway signs.

The Discoverer of Maple Syrup.

(From the Kitchener Record.)

ALONG about this time every year people take time out from the regular routine to pay tribute to the Indian brave, Woksis; and if you have never heard of Woksis you are in debt to him, just the same—for Woksis, according to legend, was the discoverer of maple syrup.

The Indian tale has it that Woksis, one crisp day in March, got up to make a hunting trip. He hefted his trusty tomahawk, tried its edge with his thumb, and whammed it into the trunk of a sugar maple beside his teepe while he had breakfast; then, yanking out the weapon, he went off to do his hunting, while his squaw sat by the fire to embroider a new pair of moccasins.

By and by it was time to prepare dinner, Woksis' squaw had a tasty shoulder of moose, or something, to boil, but she had forgotten to fill the water bucket and the spring was half a mile away. Glancing at the maple tree which Woksis had slashed with his tomahawk, she saw that sap had dripped from the wound right into an earthenware container that happened to be standing against the trunk. So she plopped the meat into this bucket of sap and put it on the fire to cook.

After a while Woksis came home, beset with hunger. Dinner was set before him. Behold! Instead of ordinary ragout of moose, he had a roast deliciously crusted with maple sugar. He ate his fill, congratulated his blushing squaw, and went down to the corner to chant his praises of the new confection which had descended from the trunk of the maple tree.

That, according to the Iroquois, was the start of the maple sugar and maple syrup business. And if Woksis (to say nothing of his squaw) has somehow missed the fame that ought to be his, it is to be hoped that he has at least fallen heir to one of the snuggest corners of the Happy Hunting Grounds. For maple syrup unquestionably is one of the New World's great boons to suffering humanity.

Selecting the Representatives.

(From the Niagara Falls Review.)

IT WOULD BE interesting to know just what is behind the selection of the troops to represent Canada at the coronation. Two famous regiments in the Niagara district now amalgamated, the Lincoln and Welland, are utterly unrepresented and there is not one infantryman selected in the whole of the Niagara peninsula. Strong protest also is being made over lack of representation for the Elgin regiment. Surely it does not mean that politics had anything to do with the choice of the men who will represent Canada's military force in London next month. If it is not yet too late, it is to be hoped that the made by the local regiment, but, appointments will be given careful consideration.

According to a letter from Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, recommendations were submitted by the various units to national defence headquarters, which "sought to have each branch of the service represented and also to distribute the total representation territorially." Recommendations were made by the local regiment, but, apparently, are ignored. How is it that the Niagara District and the Elgin regiment are completely overlooked.

The St. Thomas Times-Journal makes indignant protest and suggests "recommendations of units were disregarded and whole territories ignored, the Niagara peninsula being a glaring example. There is a preponderance of Lt.-Cols. as compared with other ranks of commissioned officers. The infantry is by far the largest arm of the service but one representative from each infantry battalion would have taken up only 80 places among the 273 allotted to the militia, exclusive of the Royal Canadian Navy and the R.C.M.P. All this, along with reports of activity on the part of professional politicians, has led to this talk of influence being brought to bear on those who made the final selections. It is an implication which requires more explanation than that offered by Hon. Mr. Mackenzie. We echo the hope for an explanation from Hon. Mr. Mackenzie.

Who Worries About Liberty?

(From the Financial Post.)

WE were unable to find, in several of our favorite daily newspapers, any reference to the fate of Bill 110 that came before the Ontario Legislature in the dying days of the late and turbulent session.

This fact is a commentary upon the decay of liberal idealism and upon the changing concept of private liberty in the modern state.

Bill 110 happened to be an outrageous attack upon the personal liberties of the subject.

Yet its well marshalled passage through the Legislature went practically unnoticed in the confusion of unparliamentary cat-and-dog fighting that marked the discussion of several other pieces of contentious legislation. There was perfunctory opposition on the floor of the Legislature but little of it was well directed. Of newspaper discussion there was almost none. And as we have pointed out many newspapers did not even bother to mention the passage of the bill.

Bill 110 had an innocuous enough label. It was an act to amend the Ontario Securities Act. But this mantle of gentility covered an ogre. The act gives the Cabinet power to investigate any transaction ever engaged in by any person under any circumstances and for any purpose. In a few tyrannical sentences, it sweeps away the personal privileges of the citizen, his rights to privacy in his personal affairs, to a fair trial by due process of law, to assurance against persecution on hearsay evidence, to protection against the third degree.

Such a bill should have shaken the legislative buildings to their foundations. The statues of great reformers would have turned in alarm. The voices of now-enshrined Liberals should have shouted out above the tumult of the chamber. The press of Ontario should have been rife with outraged righteousness.

The bill went through like an act to permit the diversion of Smith's Creek.

A little more personal liberty thinking, in these days of omniscient use of regimented business, of disciplined thinking, of the persecution of individualism and rewarding of indolence!

STILL UNSOLVED.

(Ottawa Journal)

FOR a time it seemed that Germany's Nazis had solved one of the world's great problems—what to do with used razor blades. It occurred to Herr Hitler's bright young men that a vast deal of steel was tied up in these blades, that when they had served their original purpose they might be turned into guns for further service, and it was so ordered. Having cut off whiskers, they were henceforth to cut off heads. So Taffy sharpened his old blades and turned them over to the Fatherland.

But like many other schemes, it didn't work. The official German News Agency announces that the value of the old steel was more than nullified by "the assistance caused in collecting" it, and hereafter blades are to be thrown into a dustbin "or otherwise removed useless."

Thus even one of the foremost exponents in dictatorship was impotent before the problem, there being upon the individuals. Actually there are lots of ways of disposing old blades. They can be dropped in deep water from a liner, or planted how the foundation wall of a new pile, or destroyed in a coal fire, or in case can be removed with a file. Other can be permitted to accumulate on a bathroom shelf, with an outlaw on the window sill. The old-fashioned method that stood on it solved the problem for many. Any accumulations of blades could be thrown under the tub, and no one done to anybody.

INCH BY INCH.

(Montreal Star)

SOME of the suggestions made to the Legislature by the organized motorists' associations and the Quebec Safety League will, if they are adopted, undoubtedly help to prevent at least some accidents. The trouble is to get them adopted. Year after year the old regime permitted so vitally important a safety measure as compulsory lights on all vehicles to be not merely defeated but made the excuse for gallery play and fishing for rural votes by some members to whom the latter are more important than the safeguarding of human life. This year there is, it appears, a better prospect of this essential reform's becoming law than ever before. When the measure comes up, as it is bound to do, it will furnish an excellent test of the sincerity of the Duplessis Government's desire for better road conditions in this Province.

SPEED AND SAFETY.

(Toronto Telegram)

THE relation of speed to safety is entirely dependent upon conditions. In a narrow street with parked cars, the motorist who drives at thirty miles an hour ought to be in the insane asylum. And the Legislature which permits it ought to keep him company. The sad fact is that too many motorists, once the legal limit is stepped up to thirty miles, in cities, will think that this rate is permissible under any circumstances. They will drive at thirty or a little more and consider that they are driving at what the Legislature has declared to be a safe rate of speed.

FILLING BREAD BIN.

(London Daily Express)

WHAT'S the good of a watch-dog on the doorstep if there's no food in the larder? Mr. Lloyd George indicts the Government for what he calls their neglect of the weakest front of all—the food front. We have fewer men on the soil, fewer acres under the plough, than in 1914. At the same time we are far more vulnerable to attack upon our ports and harbours. Mr. Lloyd George had charge of Britain when this nation had less than three weeks' supply in its bread bins. He deserves hearing when he advises "Grow more food at home."

INDIAN RIVER

When we were children, we used to play
By the Indian River, not far away;
We would all go down to the River to wade,
Some times we would carry a lunch along
And play by the River all day long.
Indian River we have come to play,
And you seem to be hurrying on your way.
Won't you rest just a little while,
After us walking nearly a mile?
We need you with us this summer day,
Slow down a little, and let us play.
The River was shallow, but nice and clear,
We splashed in the water—never knew fear;
Some times we took a little walk,
For the River bottom was solid rock;
After that, through the woods we'd rove,
And eat our lunch in the picnic grove.
On the opposite side was the Douglas slash,
But we were too young to remember the crash;
We often heard the old folks say,
A tornado had passed through there one day,
And felled everything right to the ground,
Not a tree left standing could be found.
Now here's to the River, where we used to play,
And may it ever flow on its way;
And here's to the grove to the Western wood,
Where we gathered mushrooms that were so good.
And into the River and test to rove,
Was a pair of my stockings, and also my shoe.
That I dropped one day as I waded through.

STRIKE SHOWDOWN

Will Come When Repair Parts Have To Be Moved Premier Thinks

TORONTO, April 9. — "Repair parts will have to be moved to-morrow or the next day from the General Motors plant," said Premier Hepburn, whose determination to throw his government's support behind the company was announced yesterday. "This is when the showdown will come."

Louis Fine, Ontario Industrial Standards Officer, was told yesterday by Hugh Thompson, committee for industrial organization lieutenant and organizer of the Oshawa strike, that strikers would prevent moving of parts from the factory, Premier Hepburn said.

"That, of course, would be illegal and if the company wants to ship parts they will get all the protection from this government that they require," he said.

He said General Motors had not requested protection with the idea of opening the plant before a settlement with the 3,700 striking workers was reached. Mr. Hepburn said yesterday the government would assure the safety of any workers who wished to return to their jobs when the shops were opened.

"The company has not expressed any desire to set the wheels going despite the strikers—but it may come," he asserted.

all legitimate labor organizations in this country.

Decentralization of industry was a plank in the Liberal platform, Mr. Woodsworth said. There was an opportunity to smash the stalemate attempted by the management by General Motors.

Under existing legislation it has been difficult for Canadian workers to organize, the C.C.F. Leader said. He was going on to discuss general labor laws, Federal and Provincial, when Premier King suggested he restrict his remarks to the Oshawa situation.

"This Government," Mr. Woodsworth said, "has a decided obligation to take some real part in this present situation in Canada and apparently all that has been done is to place police in large numbers at the disposal of the Provincial Government that has apparently placed itself behind the company."

"No," shouted some Liberal.

"Why make rash statement like that," Mr. Lapointe asked.

"Something better than repressive methods was necessary," Mr. Woodsworth said. The Federal Government should attempt mediation before the workers were crushed by force. In addition, the workers should be guaranteed the right to organize.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 9—(A.P.)—Wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, influenced by Chicago and Liverpool actions, recovered to-day from early losses to firm after an erratic session. At the close values were ⅛ to 1 cent higher with May at $1.45⅝, July $1.40⅝ and October at $1.34⅝ to ⅞.

Heavy selling sent prices a cent lower as brokers liquidated their holdings. It was expected a United States Governmens crop report, to be issued after the close at Chicago, would indicate excellent crop conditions.

Canadian wheat exported was placed at only 150,000 bushels since yesterday's close. Argentine shipments for the week totalled 7,534,000 bushels compared with 6,470,000 a week ago.

SHOTS IN DARK

Constable Escapes By Ducking Into Ditch Till Fusillade Over

MONTREAL, April 9 (CP) — A police dragnet was spread today for the gunman pal of Sam Wolman, killed by bullets intended for the policeman who caught the pair burglarizing a warehouse.

Bullets intended for Constable Clare Ball of the Canadian Pacific Railway force shot down Wolman, 28-year-old ex-convict, last night when Ball jumped into a ditch as the first of three shots rang out.

Ball surprised the pair as they were entering a grocery store warehouse on railway company property. He grappled with Wolman and before he had a chance to unholster his own gun, the officer said, Wolman's companion began shooting from the darkness.

MANITOBA TAXES ARE DEFENDED

Attorney-General Says Beer Levy Necessary To Combat Slave Labor In Ontario

WINNIPEG, April 9 (CP)—Manitoba imposed a tax of five cents a bottle on imported beer last summer as a measure of defence against the "slave labor" of eastern Canada, Attorney-General W. J. Major told the legislature yesterday.

Speaking on a motion of L. St. G. Stubbs (Ind., Winnipeg) censuring the government for "discriminating against outside beer, Mr. Major said the tax also was a defence against invasion of the province by a powerful and wealthy eastern brewing combine "which ruthlessly used its wealth to gather in profits regardless of the effect on the people."

The attorney-general said every other province in Canada adopted statutes restricting interprovincial trade in beer before Manitoba took action. Manitoba brewers had lost millions of dollars in the last few years and two breweries had to close because of restrictions Saskatchewan placed against Manitoba beer, he said.

Bread, Cakes Affected

The attorney-general said beer was not the only commodity on which interprovincial trade was affected by impeding statutes. He cited a case where Ontario government officers had attempted to keep Manitoba bread and cakes out of that province. A government permit was necessary, he said, in order to import bread and cakes from outside provinces and these permits were never granted.

Only after a merchant in Armstrong, Ont., appealed to him and he protested to the Ontario government, Mr. Major said, was the attempt to force the merchant to stop importing Manitoba bread stopped.

H. F. Lawrence (CCF, St. Boniface) defended the tax. He said the "so-called union labor of Labatt's at London, Ont." received 15% less than non-union wages of Manitoba brewers.

HOGS DOWN 25 CENTS

TORONTO, April 9 (CP)—Heavy steers moved against the general trend on the cattle division of the Toronto livestock market this week, dropping 25 to 50 cents while other grades were firm to strong, the Dominion Livestock Branch reported. Top grade calves held steady while common to medium vealers weakened. Hogs were down about 25 cents cwt., sheep and lambs were steady to strong.

A drop on United States markets slackened demand for weighty and heavy steers. Best heavies closed at $8 to $8.50 with medium to good grades from $6.25 to $7.50. Butcher cows ranged from $3.50 to $5 with canners and cutters from $2 to $3.25. Good bulls sold for export at $4.50 to $5, bolognas bringing $4 to $4.40. Fed calves held firm at $6 to $8.25 according to quality. A holdover of 1,200 from Monday was cleaned up by the close.

A few carloads of light western stockers sold at $4.50 to $5.50 cwt. with some culls as low as $4.15. Milkers and springers were steady at $65 top for untested kinds with good tested springers up to $75 each.

About 750 Canadian cattle sold at Buffalo at a top of $12.50 for three loads of heavy steers. Majority traded between $8 and $11 and some went as low as $7.50.

Good and choice veal calves brought $8.50 to $9.50 cwt., with about 900 head taken for export. Common and medium vealers sold slowly to the domestic trade at $5 to $7.50 with some sales 50 cents lower for the week.

Hogs dropped 25 cents cwt Monday but regained part of the loss by the close. Off-truck bacons closed generally at $8.75 with some long hauls reaching $9. Car hogs were quoted at $8.25 to $8.50 f.o.b. and at $9 to $9.25 off cars. Rail grades were priced on a delivered basis of $11.25.

Lamb receipts included 1,650 from the west. Good feedlot lambs went at $10.50, others from $8 to $9.75. A light supply of sheep were from $2 to $3 cwt., according to quality. The few spring lambs offered brought $7 to $10.50 each.

CALL TO PRAYER FOR CORONATION

Hope Expressed That Dominions Will Plan Services May 11

LONDON, April 9. — (CP)—In preparation for the forthcoming Coronation of George VI and in view of the widely-felt need for a revival of true and spiritual religion" in England, a day of united intercession and conference has been arranged for London, Tuesday, May 11, it is announced in the Bath and Wells Diocesan Gazette:

"The arrangements for this great occasion are being planned to influence and to secure the co-operation of overseas churches throughout the Empire," the announcement goes on, "and it is hoped that (as at the time of the Coronation of George V in 1911) united meetings similar to those at the Queen's Hall, may be planned in provincial cities, towns and villages at home, as they no doubt will be in some parts of the Dominions overseas.

"A copy of the form of prayer and intercession has been supplied to the Bishop of Norwich for use on the day at home, and throughout the Empire.

"The Archbishop of Canterbury allows it to be said that this form of prayer and intercession is being sent out with his knowledge and approval in the hope that with one voice all may approach the Throne of Grace on this solemn occasion. It will be printed in small size and type for distribution to and use in churches."

STRIKE SHOWDOWN

Will Come When Repair Parts Have To Be Moved Premier Thinks

TORONTO, April 9. — "Repair parts will have to be moved to-morrow or the next day from the General Motors plant," said Premier Hepburn, whose determination to throw his government's support behind the company was announced yesterday. "This is when the showdown will come."

Louis Fine, Ontario Industrial Standards Officer, was told yesterday by Hugh Thompson, committee for industrial organization lieutenant and organizer of the Oshawa strike, that strikers would prevent moving of parts from the factory, Premier Hepburn said.

"That, of course, would be illegal and if the company wants to ship parts they will get all the protection from this government that they require," he said.

He said General Motors had not requested protection with the idea of opening the plant before a settlement with its 7200 striking workers was reached. Mr. Hepburn said yesterday the government would assure the safety of any workers who wished to return to their jobs when the shops were opened.

"The company has not expressed any desire to set the wheels going despite the strikers—but it may come," he asserted.

all legitimate labor organizations in this country.

Democratization of industry was a plank in the Liberal platform, Mr. Woodsworth said. There was an opportunity to smash the dictatorship attempted by the management by General Motors.

Under existing legislation has been difficult for Canadian workers to organize, the C.C.F. Leader said. He was going on to discuss several labor laws. Federal and Provincial, when Premier King suggested he restrict his remarks to the shaws situation.

"This Government," Mr. Woodsworth said, "has a decided obligation to take some real party into present situation in Oshawa to apparently all that has been done to place police in large numbers at the disposal of the Provincial Government that has apparently aligned itself behind the company.

"No," shouted some Liberal.

"Why make rash statement like that," Mr. Lapointe asked.

Something better than massive organization of workers was needed, Mr. Woodsworth said. The Federal Government should attempt mediation before the workers were crushed by force. In addition, the were should be guaranteed the right to organize.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 9—(A.P.)—Wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, influenced by Chicago and Liverpool actions, recovered to-day from early losses to firm after an erratic session. At the close values were ⅛ to 1 cent higher with May at $1.45¾, July $1.40¾ and October at $1.24⅝ to ⅞.

Heavy selling sent prices a cent lower as brokers liquidated their holdings. It was expected a United States Government crop report, to be issued after the close at Chicago, would indicate excellent crop conditions.

Canadian wheat exported was placed at only 150,000 bushels since yesterday's close. Argentine shipments for the week totalled 7,534,000 bushels compared with 8,470,000 a week ago.

Net Spread Around City For Gunman

Officer Surprises Pair In Act Of Burglarizing Warehouse Premises

SHOTS IN DARK

Constable Escapes By Ducking Into Ditch Till Fusillade Over

MONTREAL, April 9 (CP) — A police dragnet was spread today for the gunman pal of Sam Wolman, killed by bullets intended for the policeman who caught the pair burglarizing a warehouse.

Bullets intended for Constable Clare Ball of the Canadian Pacific Railway force shot down Wolman, 28-year-old ex-convict, last night as Ball jumped into a ditch as the first of three shots rang out.

Ball surprised the pair as they were entering a grocery store warehouse on railway company property. He grappled with Wolman and before he had a chance to unholster his own gun, the officer said, Wolman's companion began shooting from the darkness.

MANITOBA TAXES ARE DEFENDED

Attorney-General Says Beer Levy Necessary To Combat Slave Labor In Ontario

WINNIPEG, April 9 (CP)—Manitoba imposed a tax of five cents a bottle on imported beer last summer as a measure of defence against the "slave labor" of eastern Canada, Attorney-General W. J. Major told the legislature yesterday.

Speaking on a motion of L. St. G. Stubbs (Ind., Winnipeg) censuring the government for "discriminating against outside beer, Mr. Major said the tax also was a defence against invasion of the province by a powerful and wealthy eastern brewing combine "which ruthlessly used its wealth to gather in profits regardless of the effect on the people."

The attorney-general said every other province in Canada adopted statutes restricting interprovincial trade in beer before Manitoba took action. Manitoba brewers had lost millions of dollars in the last few years and two breweries had to close because of restrictions Saskatchewan placed against Manitoba beer, he said.

Bread, Cakes Affected

The attorney-general said beer was not the only commodity in which interprovincial trade was affected by impeding statutes. He cited a case where Ontario government officers had attempted to keep Manitoba bread and cakes out of that province. A government permit was necessary, he said, in order to import bread and cakes from outside provinces and these permits were never granted.

Only after a merchant in Armstrong, Ont., appealed to him and he protested to the Ontario government, Mr. Major said, was the attempt to force the merchant to stop importing Manitoba bread stopped.

R. F. Lawrence (CCF, St. Boniface) defend the tax. He said the "so-called union labor of Labatt's at London, Ont." received 15% less than non-union wages of Manitoba brewers.

A drop on United States markets slackened demand for weighty and heavy steers. Best heavies closed at $8 to $8.50 with medium to good grades from $6.35 to $7.50. Butcher steers and heifers brought $6.75 to $8.25 with good heifers at $8, mediums at $6 and common kinds up to $4.50. Good cows made $4.75 to $5.50, with mediums from $3.50 to $4.50, while common butchers went from $2.75 to $3.50. Canners and cutters sold from $1.75 to $2.75, while bulls ranged from $3.25 to $5.

Good veal calves sold from $6 to $6.50 with medimium goods around $5 and lights as low as $4.

Spring lambs weighing around 50 pounds made $7.60, with those weighing 40 pounds selling at $6, while lighter kinds went down to $4. Sheep ranged from $3.50 to $5.50.

Bacon hogs, fed and watered, sold at $9.25, with selects at the usual $1 premium. Butchers and heavies were cut 50 cents a cwt., extra heavies $1 a cwt. and lights from 50c to $1 a cwt. Sows sold from $6.25 to $7.25, while 100 hogs were sold rail grade at $12.50 to $13.60 dressed weight.

Choice heifers and steers reaching $8 cwt. Common butchers sold downward to $3.25. Butcher cows ranged from $3.50 to $5 with canners and cutters from $2 to $3.25. Good bulls sold for export at $4.50 to $5, bolognas bringing $4 to $4.40. Fed calves held firm at $6 to $8.25 according to quality. A holdover of 1,200 from Monday was cleaned up by the close.

A few carloads of light western stockers sold at $4.50 to $5.50 cwt. with some culls as low as $4.15. Milkers and springers were steady at $65 top for untested kinds with good tested springers up to $75 each.

About 750 Canadian cattle sold at Buffalo at a top of $12.50 for three loads of heavy steers, the majority trading between $8 and $11 and some went as low as $7.50.

Good and choice veal calves brought $8.50 to $9.50 cwt., with about 900 head taken for export. Common and medium vealers sold slowly in the domestic trade at $6 to $7.50 with some sales 50 cents lower for the week.

Hogs dropped 25 cents yst. Monday but regained part of the loss by the close. Off-truck bacons closed generally at $8.75 with some long hauls reaching $9. Car hogs were quoted at $8.25 to $8.50 f.o.b. and at $8 to $8.25 off cars. Rail grades were priced on a delivered basis of $11.85.

CALL TO PRAYER FOR CORONATION

Hope Expressed That Dominions Will Plan Services May 11

LONDON, April 9 — (CP)—In preparation for the forthcoming Coronation of George VI and "in view of the widely-felt need for a revival of true and spiritual religion" in England, a day of united intercession and conference has been arranged for London, Tuesday, May 11, it is announced in the Bath and Wells' Diocesan Gazette.

"The arrangements for this great occasion are being planned to influence and to secure the co-operation of overseas churches throughout the Empire," the announcement goes on, "and it is hoped that (as at the time of the Coronation of George V in 1911) united meetings similar to those at the Queen's Hall, may be planned in provincial cities, towns and villages at home, as they no doubt will be in some parts of the Dominions overseas.

"A copy of the form of prayer and intercession has been prepared by the Bishop of Norwich, who on behalf of the Archbishops of Canterbury allows it to be said that this form of prayer and intercession is being sent out with his knowledge and approval in the hope that with one voice all may approach the Throne of Grace on this solemn occasion. It will be printed in small size and type for distribution to and use in churches."

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

HONEST men esteem and value nothing so much in this world as a real friend. Such a one is as it were another self, to whom we impart our most secret thoughts, who partakes of our joy, and comforts us in our affliction. Add to this, that his company is an everlasting pleasure to us.—Filpay.

Dear Friends:

A week or two ago I wrote you of the things I hated, and now I would like to tell you of some of my likes and dislikes in friends, some of the things I appreciate and some of the things I could do well without, and in the telling, please believe I am talking in general, and not hitting any particular person.

My memory goes back over the years to a neighbor of mine, who prided herself so much on her cleanliness, (yet always left bits of food clinging to her cooking utensils after washing.)

Always when she came to see me, which was about every day, she never committed a chance to look for something to find fault with in my way of keeping house. It didn't matter that everything was shining as far as one pair of a sick woman's hands could make it, her eyes would ferret out something to check me up on, and oh how tired I got over it all.

I had never kept house before I married, and she had worked as a maid, so I thought she was competent to tell me things, and that is why I tolerated it so long. But one day she spoke quite sharply to me about a dust-web which was swinging gaily from the ceiling, and that ended things.

I told her that maybe if her blinds were not down so low that you had to grope your way through her home, she might find lots in her own place. I also said that it was my dust-web, and if I wanted it there, there it would stay. So from then on, I tolerate no advice on how to keep house.

I love friends, but I like them to keep their place. I dislike the jealousy that some show towards my other friends, I cannot tolerate for them to be fair to my friend's face and run them down behind their backs, thinking they are pleasing me in doing so.

I like to know where I stand with them, and hate when they lead me to expect certain virtues from them by a lot of words, then find there is nothing but a lot of air to it all, for after all, there must be dependability, else there is no real friendship.

I like to let my friend live her own life, and let me live mine, and thank God I have several like that, and they are priceless. When you have to eat what your friend eats, dress as she dresses, or as she thinks you should dress, think along the same lines as her or be accounted wrong, then it is time to call it a day, and find another to take her place.

I dislike intensely when any friend promises faithfully to come and see me, then trumps up some trivial excuse at the last moment, and goes to see another. If she did not want to come in the first place, why not be frank and tell me so?

I do not look for perfection in my friends, and I only ask that the same thing be applied to me. It is too hard to live up to, that state of perfection, and I loathe it intensely.

But in the main, I take my friends as I find them, and I like for them to do the same with me. Not looking for cob-webs, nor any other webs, but for what they get in the way of personality, and help and comfort. Even the exchange of ideas is welcome, for they are seeing life from a different angle from me, and I can learn from them, and I hope they can from me.

I appreciate it if they like my cooking, or my sense of humour, or maybe the furnishings of my home. But I like to think it is me they want to see, and not my surroundings. And why cannot it be like that? Why do so many like a person, then start right in to correct them and make them over into their own pattern? Contrasts are necessary, so why try to mould us into something we will never be, and wouldn't be liked half as much if we were changed. So, learn to keep hands off your friend, and she will like you far more.

Your Friend.
ROBERTA.

This new peasant dirndl cotton challis print dress will make any little girl happy.

The fitted basque-like bodice and all-round gathered skirt are so child-like and smart. The front closing makes it easy even for tiny girls to put it on and fasten it unaided.

The sleeves puff-up entrancingly at the shoulders. The cunning sailor collar is white pique.

You'll want to make another in plain chambray. It's terribly smart in green, rose or deep blue with snowy white ric rac trim. For this one, the collarless vee-neck is fetching.

Mummy will enjoy sewing it. There's a Detailed Sewing Guide that accompanies the pattern. It shows step-by-step of the way.

Style No. 3145 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1¾ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 35-inch contrasting for belt and bow with ¾ yard of 39-inch contrasting for collar and 1¼ yards of braid.

MILTON DISCUSSED

Life and Works of Great Poet Subject of Paper.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, April 8. — "The Life and Works of John Milton" was the theme of the regular meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Lakefield, which was held here on Monday evening, April 5. Miss Jean Clark, literary convenor, was in charge of the program, and presented the topic, John Milton and his Poems, in an interesting manner. In writing "Paradise Lost," Miss Clark said Milton aimed to justify the ways of God to man. A spirit of profound reverence was preserved throughout; the tone of the poem was lofty, majestic, and pure.

Three of Milton's psalms "Let us with a gladsome mind, Praise the Lord for He is kind," "How lovely are Thy dwellings fair," and "God of our saving health and peace" were sung by the members. Mary Blewett gave an instrumental solo, and Mrs. S. H. Clark read Milton's "On His Blindness," as a conclusion to the program.

Vice Suppression Head Watches Strip Teasers and Decides They Leave Too Little On

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—John S. Sumner, practically tireless in his labors toward making this community of 7,000,000 souls more conscious of the better things in life, achieved another objective today and as a result the burlesque queens in 125th Street are going about their work in a less robust fashion.

Sumner, secretary of the society for the suppression of vice, preferred charges of indecency against a theatre on the fascinating edge of Harlem and practically enjoined the management from presentation of what is known in certain commercial circles as art.

He visited this theatre, he testified, and from a stage box watched a young woman divest herself of all her clothing save a bit of material which, withal, "fluttered" as she performed a dance.

Moreover, he went on, this performer and three who followed her were at certain moments during their appearances entirely bereft of covering.

The prosecution rested. From a counsel table was produced a cardboard box. As three learned justices looked on, the defence produced a cardboard box. As three learned justices looked on, the defence produced a large assortment of G-strings, described delicately as the "basic" costume worn by strip-tease artists.

One by one, performer-witnesses told the court they never, never had seen or participated in a nude act on the theatre's stage.

The justices found for the prosecution, and fixed April 16 as the date for sentence.

COMBINES BILL SLOWS SENATE

Prorogation May Be Delayed Week While Measure Is Studied

OTTAWA, April 9.—(CP)—Prospects the Senate would be ready for week-end parliamentary prorogation appeared none too bright today as the Red Chamber's banking committee gagged on a government bill to amend the Combines Investigation Act.

The Chamber viewed more brightly last night chances for compromise between its Conservative majority and a House Liberal majority on amendments to the Canadian National Railways Recapitalization Bill.

However, the banking committee failed to digest amendments to the Combines Act returning its administration to the Labor Department and authorizing appointment of a commissioner with wide powers which Conservative Leader Meighen felt menaced freedom of the citizen.

The Senate passed Bill 36, a Conservative sub-amendment to the C.N.R. Bill to append to the annual balance sheet a footnote saying the proprietor's equity in the road represented an "aggregate indebtedness of $1,337,527,414."

The Banking Committee was snagged on the contention of Conservative Leader Meighen that insufficient time remained to consider thoroughly the Combines Act amendment. He claimed the amendment followed a line which tended to vest in officials functions which should be properly those of the courts, thus jeopardizing the citizen's liberty as a private individual.

Senator Dandurand, however, told him the government was prepared to postpone prorogation till next week to enable the Senate to give proper consideration to the measure further.

Senator Meighen held it would take a week to study the measure carefully. The committee then agreed to meet this afternoon to consider the measure further.

tariff structure set up by the last administration.

Urges Reconsideration

Mr. Deachman urged Finance Minister Dunning to reconsider these items. It had not been proven that the Canadian hat industry needed such protection and he asked that the items be referred again to the tariff board.

The proposed changes were made, Finance Minister Dunning said, as a result of a report of the tariff board, the second report on this industry in two years. It had been shown to the board's satisfaction that the industry could not now stand a greater reduction than that proposed. It was argued that the Canadian consumer paid about the same for hats as consumers in other countries. This was a step toward lower tariffs and there would be a revision again later.

Mr. Deachman urged the minister to ascertain before next session "just what it cost to keep these industries in operation in Canada." There were many industries, he said, being protected at a rate of 50 per cent or more where labor costs did not take up 25 per cent of production costs. The item passed.

One of the final tariff items was that increasing rates on United States furniture from 30 to 37½ per cent. The minister said the old rate of 45 per cent was cut to 30 by the Canadian-American treaty with the effective rate 27 per cent because of the 10-per-cent reduction under the French treaty.

The rates were recommended by the tariff board, Mr. Dunning said, the board suggesting the increased rate not as final but temporary until a further inquiry was made. The board referred to the disorganized condition of the furniture industry and advised a further investigation after the manufacturers stabilized the industry.

Mr. Dunning said the effective rate of 27 per cent still would be 12 per cent less than the rate when the present government came into office.

Much Too High

Gordon Ross (Lib. Moose Jaw) said the effective rate would be 30 per cent because the three per cent excise rate should be added. He considered it too high, taking into account the need for new furniture in all parts of Canada.

The furniture industry should not need protection on the plea it was a new industry because it started in 1820, Mr. Ross continued. There were 404 plants in 1935 and, after its long history, it was not on its feet, "it should be in its grave."

In the late 20's and early 30's the average furniture worker in Canada was paid more than $1,000 a year, Mr. Ross said. When the industry hit bottom during the depression, the average wage was still $800.

When Canada was producing the most furniture in 1929, imports of American furniture were the highest, Mr. Ross said.

It often was argued, the Moose Jaw member continued, that the Canadian industry needed protection because of low wages paid negro workers in Southern factories in the United States. The tariff board found the average wage paid in the United States to be 42.6 cents an hour with the rate in the north 36-41 cents.

The average wage in Ontario in 1935 was 35 cents, in 1936, 35.25 cents. The average in Quebec was 26.9 for 1935 and 27.52 cents in 1936. This showed, Mr. Ross said, "the lowest wages in the United States to colored people in furniture factories in the south averaged three cents higher than the highest wage in the furniture factories of Canada on the average."

Mr. Dunning said recently wage increases were made in the Ontario furniture industry, one reason being a strike.

That might be true, Mr. Ross replied, but increases were made also at Grand Rapids, Mich. No increases were made in the industry in Quebec.

wealth Federation party leader and Member of Parliament, that "we are maintaining perfect discipline here." They asked he bring the situation to attention of parliament.

Oshawa's strikers swarmed to the mass meeting, cheered the Mayor and Organizer Thompson but were disappointed at the none-arrival of Homer Martin, union president. It was reported he had to abandon his airplane flight and could not reach Oshawa.

Coupled with Mayor Hall's statement that officers had not been requested by the city and would not be brought in unless there was real necessity, was a warning to the strikers that "there is a Communistic element in town, not in your association." If that element starts trouble, "consider yourself a customer of the law."

The Mayor declared he took no side in the dispute for if trouble arose he would have to call in special forces or resign his job if laws were broken. Then he told the strikers:

Asks Peaceful Picketing

The Mayor cautioned that picketing must be peaceful, and Organizer Thompson added assurance that picketing would be within the law.

The meeting cheered the organizer when he declared Premier Hepburn's support of General Motors had helped the workers more than anyone else.

The Premier's concurrence with General Motors' stand was "the most ridiculous statement possible," said Thompson, and "there is something wrong with democracy when the head of a government makes a statement like this."

Of the company's stand against union recognition he shouted, "You can't win if you bring 10,000 red coats in here," and then challenged General Motors to open its gates —"we won't touch them"—to see if anyone would respond to the work call.

Thompson promised the strikers that though the government refused relief, the union would see that no one lacked clothing food or necessities. He said President Martin gave assurance that American automobile workers would support Canadian workers "to the limit," and that the union would allow not a single car to be sent to Canada from the United States.

"GEORGE IN A JAM" ENJOYABLE PLAY

Comedy-Drama Is Successfully Staged By St. John's Y.P.U.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9. — "George In A Jam" a three-act comedy drama was presented by the St. John's Young Peoples Union on Wednesday evening in the basement of St. John's United Church.

A large crowd attended the play in which the opening scene was the living room of the home of Jim Gray a youthful guardian who is taking his ward Missy Brown to Paris because of what he considered an unfortunate love affair, which if allowed to continue unabated would cause her to be disinherited from the money which she was to inherit if she married Jim's other ward, George Forbes, which she refuses to do. Before leaving Jim informs George who is inclined to live beyond his means and run into debt that he might rent rooms in his guardian's spacious home while he is away which might have worked very successfully had not Missy who escapes from Jim on the way to the boat, returned to find Jack dressed as a German maid while four roomers, Ma and Pa Larkins, their daughter Sarah Jane who they have brought to the city to be polished by her tutor Nellie Morrow, are occupying the house with them. Finding his ward had escaped, Jim senses something is up and returns to the house disguised as a Frenchman while later Zeke Stebbins, a rural detective friend of the Larkins stops in at the Gray home to visit his friends the Larkins. "Ma", who handles the finances for the Larkins family, much to the sorrow of her husband and daughter who she refuses to give any money to spend, purchases a string of pearls for Sarah because she says "Heiress always have pearls". The first act ends when Mrs. Larkins rushes in to inform the others that the string of pearls has been stolen.

A Missing Necklace.

The second act opens one month later with the necklace still missing despite the fact that Ma Larkins has placed what she thought was an imitation string of pearls in a safety deposit box. Sarah Jane has fallen in love with George and Sarah finds herself courting the attentions of Jack Carson who refuses her proposal giving as his reason inability to support her. It develops that Sarah has stolen the pearls and tells Jack who finds them and collects the reward which enables them to marry. Dressed as a Frenchman Jim is able to talk to Missy and learns that she is in love with him. The play ends happily with Jim claiming Missy's hand while he at the same time hands over the fortune to George which enables him to marry Nellie.

Filled with humorous dialogue and amusing situations created by Zeke the cock-eyed detective and Jim, dressed as Lena the German maid, the play is filled with swift moving drama from start to finish and is supported by a well-known and capable cast of local talent as follows: Jim Gray, Arnold Bates; Missy Brown, Eileen Hall; George Forbes, Clarke McKelvie; Odessa, Velma Reynolds; Jack Carson, Fred Palliser; Nellie Morrow, Lillian Abernethy; Sarah Jane Larkins, Ruth Palliser; Ma Larkins, Nellie Hoerner; Pa Larkins, Hector Simpson; Lena, Jack Carson, Jim's friend suggests to him that he might rent rooms in his guardian's spacious home while he is away which might have worked very successfully had not Missy

General Motors In Oshawa Is Stilled By Striking Employees

Demanding recognition of the United Automobile Workers' of America, an affiliate of John L. Lewis's Committee for Industrial Organization, 3,700 employees of the General Motors plant at Oshawa yesterday went on strike a few minutes after they had walked into the buildings for the early morning shift. Although plans for negotiation have fallen through, the strike so far has been without violence or disturbance of any kind. Photos above show: Top left, a group at the workers' union headquarters, left to right, sitting, A. G. Parade Of Historical Floats Planned For Coronation Day

Military Display At Exhibition Grounds In The Afternoon

TO FIRE ROYAL SALUTE

Plans in connection with the city's observance of the Coronation of Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth were further advanced at another meeting of the Coronation Committee executive under chairmanship of Alderman James Dutlop on Thursday evening.

A feature of the observances is to be a biz parade of decorated historical floats and a military display at the Exhibition grounds in the afternoon, with a public gathering in the Armouries in the evening.

At the meeting in the Armouries a program of patriotic songs will be presented by school children, while massed choirs and the bands of the Prince of Wales' Regiment and the Salvation Army will also be heard.

Speakers will be Mayor George A. Macdonald, Bishop Denis O'Conner and the president of Peterborough Ministerial Association.

To Fire Salute

Major R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, M.C., second-in-command of the local regiment, assured the committee of the fullest co-oneration of the militia in connection with the civic celebrations. It was also intimated the local battery is to fire a royal salute of 21 rounds.

Ross L. Dobbin, manager of Peterborough Utilities Commission, briefly outlined plans in connection with gala illumination of the city, and said that pyramid lights are to be erected at the intersections of Charlotte and George; George and Hunter; and Water and Hunter, while illuminated signs probably of the royal monogram are to be erected at Charlotte and Park, and Hunter and Burnham.

An appeal is made to all citizens including merchants and manufacturers to decorate their homes, stores and manufacturing plants for the historic occasion, while a tree-planting program is also envisioned with Boy Scouts playing a prominent part in this latter connection.

Monster Bonfire

Coronation Day observance will be brought to a close with a monster bonfire and firework display. It will probably be staged at Burnham's Point.

Alderman Dutton outlined his proposals in connection with a chain of office and robes for the Mayor of the city as a means of commemorating the Coronation. The matter was discussed by the executive, but no definite action was taken.

In connection with the parade of decorated floats, the committee stresses it is desired to have them all representative of outstanding incidents in connection with local or national history. Mere advertising floats are not asked for, but rather floats which will lend some aspect of pageantry to the parade.

REPEAL TOO LATE TO SAVE HEPBURN E. F. REID CLAIMS

Battle Of Hastings Great Protestant Victory Grand Master Says

OPENS NEW HALL

PORT HOPE, April 8—Wednesday night was a red letter occasion for Port Hope L.O.L. No. 709. After many months of preparation and labor the new hall has been completed and in the presence of Orangemen from all parts of the district the building was dedicated in an impressive ceremony to "God and the Protestant Faith."

Wor. Bro. Ernest F. Reid, of Peterboro, Grand Master for Ontario East, was the chief speaker and presided at the dedication ceremony.

Arthur Mark acted as toastmaster for the occasion. Rev. J. W. Foote proposed the toast to the town of Port Hope. The reply was given by Bro. A. Mack. The latter took occasion to commend The Evening Telegram for the important part it played in the by-election just past, stating that "it stood alone in the interests of Protestantism and the public school supporters."

Ladies Complimented

Bro. William Shaver complimented the members of the Ladies' Lodge for their valuable assistance. Mrs. Daniel O'Connor replied. Tribute was also paid to Port Hope's oldest Orangeman, William Sedalister.

Wor. Bro. Fred Bowen, of B.P. for Durham County, proposed the toast to Port Hope L.O.L. No. 709, and a fitting reply was given by the ruling master, S. J. Pearse.

Douglas Millson presided at the piano and J. McMillan led in a sing-song as well as contributing a vocal solo.

Grand Master Ernest Reid of Peterboro brought greetings from Grand Lodge and referred to the work which was contributed by Wor. Bro. E. P. Sanders of Port Hope in his capacity as chairman of the Building Committee.

Does Not Mince Words

The Grand Master did not mince words when he attacked the Sopburn school legislation. "These are days when the Orangemen cannot be sidetracked on questions of interest to Protestants in Ontario and public school supporters. You are all conversant with what happened at Queen's Park a few days ago when Premier Hepburn humbled himself and acknowledged the act which he forced his followers to vote for and then made proper fools of them in making them vote for the repeal, was unworkable.

"He repealed the bill in the hope of saving his scalp at the next election, but people are not going to forget that soon. The victory in the Battle of Hastings was the greatest victory for the Protestant people and public school supporters since Confederation," he declared.

The Grand Master stated that Orangeism has had the best year in twenty years. "We have no fear for the future, and what we need is a Hepburn to come along. It has been the greatest boost that the L.O.L. has ever had," he declared.

TOOLMAKERS ABLE TO GET WORK HERE

Forced Out Of Work By Strike In Oshawa, Several Men Get Work In Peterborough

Serious embarrassment of the General Motors management through drift of its toolmakers and skilled machinists from Oshawa to jobs in other cities seemed likely in Peterborough to-day. At least a half dozen, forced from their jobs by Thursday's strike are reported to have gone to work at Peterborough plants this morning.

Several of the men who came here foresaw the strike several weeks ago and made applications at the Peterborough plants, it is understood. Due to the current shortage of toolmakers and skilled metal workers they had little trouble landing the jobs. Four were taken on in a group at one large plant and places for more are said to be available. It is believed General Motors will find difficulty replacing their staff when the plant again opens.

Stating he had not heard of any important movement of Oshawa workers to Peterborough during the past few hours, D. M. Douglas, Employment Services superintendent here, commented: "It is quite possible some have found places here as there is a steady demand for skilled men. Most of those seeking other jobs will likely go to Toronto."

The clerk recovered in time to direct the young man to the Chamber of Commerce.

Peterborough dealers in General Motors cars and parts reported today they had sufficient stocks that they are not worrying about the strike for the present. Apps said it was goaltending particularly that impressed him on entering professional hockey. His selection of the best goaler in the National League was Mike Karakas of Chicago Black Hawks.

POLICE SEIZED OVER 60 LOAVES

Underweight Bread Claimed To Have Been Found On Two Firms' Rigs

Prosecutions are to be launched by city police against the proprietors of Sloangi's Bakery, 557 Dundas Street West, Toronto, and Weston's Bread and Cakes, Limited, for allegedly offering for sale bread that was underweight.

Chief Constable Samuel Newhall declared that 63 loaves of bread were seized from a delivery van owned by Sloangi's Bakery, while a number of loaves were also seized from a delivery van owned by Weston's Bakery.

With the exception of a few loaves which are reportedly being kept as evidence, 60 loaves of bread were distributed to the Children's Shelter, the House of Providence and St. Vincent's Orphanage.

The Chief Constable declared that out of the 63 loaves taken from Sloangi's delivery rig, 15 is alleged, thirty-one are 1 ounce short; eight 1½ ounces short, nineteen 2 ounces short; two 2½ ounces short, and three 3 ounces short.

A check was made of loaves being retailed here by other local bakeries, police stated, and in all other cases bread was found to be up to weight.

The Rambling REPORTERS

UNITED'S ACE READER.

Patronage at the Armstrong-McIntyre "library" has been declining lately as quite a number of the regular readers have disappeared into the factories or wherever they are converting time into money. He's following five serial stories in magazines, according to our suspicions, and with the sustained interest on his mind naturally he can't concentrate on a job."

ROMANCE OF RADIO TOLD TO KIWANIS AT WEEKLY LUNCH

Donald Henshaw Outlines Development Of Broadcasting Over 16 Years

'Y' BOARD PRESENT

Radio is here to stay. But it will continue to change from day to day with the public as the arbiter of its destiny," asserted Donald Henshaw, originator of the "Forgotten Footsteps" weekly radio broadcast who featured as guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club luncheon at Empress Hotel this (Friday) noon.

A member of the advertising firm of A. McKim Limited, Mr. Henshaw presented a brief but masterly resume of the sensational development of radio broadcasting.

He traced the development over a period of sixteen years from the time when he and countless other radio enthusiasts first received feeble radio messages over their home-made crystal sets from the pioneer station KDKA up to the present time, when he declared radio has come to be considered as a utility."

During his connection with radio, first as an amateur and later as a professional announcer, Mr. Henshaw said he had met many fascinating people and had witnessed many stirring events.

He spoke of the attempt on the life of President Roosevelt and the slaying of Mayor Cermark of Chicago, which took place at Miami during the president-elect's pre-inaugural tour of the south as one of the most outstanding dramatic events in his own experience.

Scooped the Press

It was an event, he said on which the radio "scooped" the press and which gave rise to an outcry on the part of the newspaper publishers of the United States and resulted in organization of the Press Radio Bureau.

Mr. Henshaw recalled that five seconds after the last shot had been fired a member of the radio staff at Miami had a line connection with New York and the story was told as witnessed over a nation-wide radio hook-up forty minutes before the first flash reached a single newspaper.

He continued to speak of several personalities of the radio entertainment world, among them being Major Bowes Amos 'n Andy ("the pair of comedians who continue to go on and on"), Phillips Lord and others.

The speaker gave it as his opinion that recently-published figures bearing on the enormous remuneration Major Bowes is receiving from his numerous activities in the radio world, "are hardly adequate." He said that while Major Bowes is an interesting figure and a most kindly man, he is at the same time one of the most cool-headed of business men."

Despite the fact that Major Bowes has had to meet the opposition of countless people in the entertainment world who claim that he has virtually robbed them of their legitimate livelihood by paving the way for amateurs, he still continues to go forward and reach out to higher attainment.

Speaking from a personal knowledge of Amos 'n' Andy, the speaker said the two men were the direct opposites in private life from the characters they represented over the air waves. He spoke of Andy as being a generous lovable character who was the real genius of the team, and pictured Amos in anything but a favorable light, describing him "as the biggest braggart I have ever met."

Mr. Henshaw told the interesting story behind Phillip Lord's rise to fame as "Seth Parker," and originator of the radio program "Jonesport Neighbors," and he told of incidents connected with his subsequent downfall and his dramatic "comeback."

Dramatic Come-back

Declaring that after his much-publicized cruise in the Pacific ocean when he twice brought a British warship running to his aid, that Phillips Lord returned to New York and virtually descended to the level of a "bum." Mr. Henshaw stated, "Radio now does not believe in the gospel of a second chance and it looked as if 'Seth Parker' was all washed up. But he made his own chance and I say all hail to a man who can hit bottom and bounce to the top again as he has done."

The program was held under the auspices of the Attendance Committee with W. A. Richardson in the chair. Charles Shaw, who was present along with the members of the Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A. made a brief announcement relative to the "Y" financial campaign and introduced the speaker, while Bill McCreery ably moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Henshaw at the close of the program and to the guest artists. The entertainers were Andy Hutter and Harry Northrop, who both gave clever impersonations of stars of the radio.

RED-HOT RANGERS CHANGED COLOR JACK ADAMS SAYS

They Are Green Peppers Now According To Pilot Of Red Wings

PLAYERS INJURED

By ALAN NICKLESON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

DETROIT, April 9—(CP)—Built of a cigar in his smiling mouth, pudgy Jack Adams sailed into the Detroit Red Wing dressing-room last night at the head of his victorious team, yelled "they're down to their own level now," and plumped himself on a trunk.

"We got 'em on the run," he said to any one and every one. "Those red hot rookie Rangers are a bunch of green peppers now. Four goals to two and we outplayed them all the way."

Normie Smith, forced out of the Detroit nets through an aching arm, ran to Earl Robertson, his successor for this game at least, hugged him mightily and posed for pictures with his smiling face close to Robertson's persuring head.

"You were great, Kid," he said.

Goal-tenders Johnny Sorrell, Mud Bruneteau, Johnny Gallagher and Herbie Lewis posed for pictures grouped and singly, chewing on half-oranges and puffing cigarets. There wasn't a sour face to be seen.

Owner James Norris Sr., with visions of a second successive Stanley Cup triumph bustled wide-eyed and slightly dishelled into the dressing-room, made straight for the orange bowl and beamed on his warriors.

"We got 'em now," he said. "Nice going, boys."

On the other side of the liniment reeking, smoke-laden room Lewis and his centre mate, Marty Barry, talked the game over.

In the New York Ranger room Lester Patrick voiced fears Ott Heller, Kitchener defenceman, and Rookie Alex Shibicky had suffered slight head concussions.

"We'll take them to hospital in the morning to make sure, anyway," he said.

Shibicky went off in a dazed condition at the start of the second period after being dropped by a terrific body check from big Bucko McDonald. He did not return, and was still in a dazed condition, face drawn and pale, ten minutes after the game ended.

Heller fell to the ice after being struck accidentally with a stick with eight minutes of play remaining. He was half-carried off the ice, and showed a bump the size of a hen's egg on the back of his head to Manager Patrick at the end of the battle.

Melville Keating, the Owen Sound butcher boy, sat in a corner and shook his head in a vain attempt to clear the cobwebs after a mighty check from Ebbie Goodfellow near the conclusion of the game.

"They were better than we were to-night," he said.

"We'll get 'em," handsome Lynn Patrick yelled across to Butch, Smiling Chief Johnson, finishing up twenty years at the blue line, said nothing.

"They got the breaks," the silver-haired Patrick said, "but we're still hot and it's going to be a tough series."

Eastern Canada's Hopes In Allan Cup Race

Travelling down the road to the Allan Cup, with a powerful machine at full throttle, Sudbury Tigers, playing as Frood Mines, are now ready to engage North Battleford Beavers for the senior hockey honors of Canada. The men from Northern Ontario have swept aside all competitors in their drive to the Eastern Canadian championship and intend becoming Dominion champions—if Beavers don't object too strenuously. The team is an "all-star" aggregation, collected from different parts of the Dominion. This picture of Frood Mines was taken just prior to their departure for Calgary, Alta., where the finals will be played.

VETERAN FIGURE SKATER RETAINS ABILITY ON ICE

Saint John Oldtimer Still Capable Of Cutting Most Of Standard Figures

USED OLD CLAMP SKATES

SAINT JOHN, N.B., March 31.—(CP)—C. Wilford Campbell, former champion figure skater of Saint John, is 70 years old. So what? Well, he's still able to go out on the ice and do most of the 37 standard figures.

Slender, erect and comparatively youthful-looking, Campbell does the Philadelphia twist, Dutch roll and double eight with the greatest of ease. Last year he abandoned the clamp skates he had used since 1886 and cut 22 figures with modern blades. This winter he confined himself to 20, leaving out the "8 with loops" and the "8 with loops and 3's." But he hopes to go through the entire repertoire next year when he really gets his ice legs on the new skates.

Campbell was at the peak of his figure skating ability before the great fire of 1877 swept Saint John. He began practising at the age of 14 after watching a Maritime champion, Jack Cummings. He also became a well known speed skater but was finally defeated by Hughie McCormick, who later captured world honors.

Here's what Campbell thinks of the fancy skating of world champion Sonja Henie:

"That, of course has not much relation to what we called figure skating. She does what is known as fancy or acrobatic skating, which is prettier to watch. You can see one point of difference, for instance, in the fact that the figure skaters were not allowed to use their arms for balance. It would have disqualified them. Naturally, though, I realize that a skater of her skill doesn't need to use arm balance; rather she employs her arms to help create the picture of poise and grace."

Ranger Rookie Is Outstanding

Outstanding rookie of the National Hockey League playoffs is Walter "Bane" Pratt of New York Rangers. His first sensational showing in the play-offs came when he scored the goal in the second game that beat Walter "Turk" Broda, in the nets for Toronto Maple Leafs, to eliminate the Toronto team from further competition in the series. His second brilliant performance was against Montreal Maroons when he banged home the only goal in the first game, single-handed. Lester Patrick, manager of Rangers, has been playing Pratt on both the defence and forward lines. Pratt, whose regular position is on defence, is pictured here.

WITH MORE reason and less rhyme than yesterday—we'll give you the girls' basketball playoff layout for tonight at the Y.W. gym. At eight bells, C.C.I.E. and St. John's Juniors clash in the second struggle of their best-in-three series for the title. And around nine o'clock, C.G.I.E. Seniors and Westclox tackle each other in the second of their two-in-three playoffs. The Electrics won both junior and senior games last week and a pair of wins for 'em tonight will wind it up. That junior joust this e'en ought to be tighter than a No. 3 shoe on a No. 5 foot, and the senior setto should also be keen and close. The tariff is but a dime and you cage fans can see a lot of action and excitement for that amount.

UP AT the Y.M.C.A. this gloaming a classy swim meet will be staged in the pool with Orillia and local aquatic stars competing. They'll take part in 20 events, commencing at 8.15 o'clock, and some outstanding stylists and sprinters will be seen in the splash. Coach Gord Minty of the local "Y" has a smart crew all set to meet the first-rate Orillia outfit and water fans should not pass this meet up. Feature race, we figure, will be between Vern Janeway of this city and Ken McQuiggan, Orillia ace.

ST. PAUL'S and P.C.I. finish up their men's City Basketball Loop final playoffs at the Y.M.C.A. tomorrow p.m. and the Saints should cop the nod, having a comfortable lead from the first of the two-game serial. But it ought to be an interesting tilt between two good teams from start to finish. Don't let us discourage you if you want to see heaps of fast action and some classy cage play—we're merely mentioning that St. Paul's should emerge victorious on their previous showing. THE SATIRICAL story of "The Bishop's Jaegers" caused less comment than the sad tale of Lefty Bishop's transfer. Here's another clipping from Western Ontario: "Welland is not giving up the Bishop ghost without a real battle. Almost before Peck Ward had a night's slumber after the Oshawa annual, the county seat throng were on his trail to do something. So the genial Wilmyr, the fountain of Oratory, will commune with the powers that be and lay some hitherto unknown facts before the magnates in the hope of righting a great wrong. Without casting any aspersions, the answer to Tommy Morrison's query as to 'who did this to us' might be found in the C.O.H.L. It does not take a deal of deduction to opine that Napanee would not weep for joy over losing an ace hurler."

* * * * *

TCH, TCH, tch, how you do run on, as Scarlet O'Hara would say! What do you mean "without casting aspersions"? That has all the earmarks of an aspersion or else we've never ridden to work with one. And that one about "righting a great wrong" is enough to thaw the frozen heart of any but an officious O.R.A.A. official. We fear the Cataract Cicero—the silver-tongued Peck Ward—can talk himself a delicate blue in the face and Vernon (Lefty) Bishop will still be high and dry like a guy on the wagon. We do not think the C.O.H.L. had anything to do with it as Lefty was lost to that loop anyway and, furthermore, the Central Loop has quite a number of axes to be ground itself. Just looks like the gypsy strain in him has made an outcaster of the Napanee forkslider.

A SCOT sports scribe in the Sunday Mail (of Scotland) gets quite enthusiastic over hookey. He says: "Nowadays the public like their sport served hot so they go to the ice rink. There, daring highly trained young athletes battle for possession of the puck, six ounces of solid vulcanized rubber which is sent hurtling through the air at 80 miles an hour. That's just one aspect of the game described by a spectator as a crime-wave on the ice. At times, it does look like arms-fighting, rugby, football, golf and shinty all rolled into one, but usually it is conducted along scientific lines with each of the 12 players a cog in the smooth machinery. Let's visualize the scene at Crossmyfoot" (crossmywhat?) "when Glasgow's new 6,000-seater stadium is opened, etc."

BEAVERS DROP FIRST BATTLE TO TIGERS 4-1

Sudbury Smothers Westerners, Long-Passing Tactics All Night

First Allan Cup Tilt In Calgary Draws Crowd Of 5,000

CALGARY, April 9.—(CP)—The Allan Cup and the Canadian Senior hockey championship rested none too securely in the west to-day after a year's sojourn this side of the Great Lakes.

Sudbury Tigers, carrying the Eastern challenge, opened their bid for the trophy last night with a convincing 4-1 triumph over North Battleford Beavers, champions in the first game of the best-of-five series.

Combining a brilliant attack with a tight defence that throttled the usually-potent Beaver offence, Tigers overwhelmed the Saskatchewan warriors and set themselves up as favorites to win the second encounter here Saturday and also the cup, captured last year by Kimberley Dynamiters.

Limited to one goal in the first period due to the fine goal-tending of Ken Davis Sudbury Reeke out in the second with a three-goal splurge and then laid down a strong defence in the third.

Beavers' famed long-passing game was smothered all night and their only counter came late in the final session while the North Battleford team had every man on the ice. Joe Schwab, husky utility player, snared Cecil Burke's rebound about 10 feet out, pulled Charlie Reno out of the goal and slid the puck into the open net.

Trip Means Nothing.

Tigers, appearing little affected by their trip from Port Arthur to and the change of altitude, dominated the play throughout with a brand of hard and clever hitting that thrilled a crowd of almost 5,000 watching the first Allan Cup final ever played in Calgary.

The first two Sudbury goals came on blasting shots from just inside the blue line that sizzled into the net before Davis had a chance to move far from the nets. Both resulted from classy combination plays.

After turning aside a rain of pucks for more than 18 minutes in the first, Davis fanned on a long high drive that Jules Chalette, speedy right winger, unsnared from about 30 feet.

Mel Hill beat Davis again on an almost identical shot after seven minutes of the second.

Centre George Hastie and Chalette combined for Sudbury's other two. Hastie, a crafty playmaker, set the first after picking up Chalette's pass from the corner and faking Davis out of the net. Chalette counted the second 91 seconds later.

SYRACUSE STARS WIN 2ND BATTLE

5 To 2 Victory Evens Up Series With Ramblers In Int.-Am. Finals

SYRACUSE, N.Y., April 9 (AP)—International-American hockey fans in general and Philadelphia Ramblers in particular were assured today that the Quaker City outfit's playoffs with the Syracuse Stars for the loop championship isn't going to be the pushover many suspected.

After taking a 2-0 drubbing from the Ramblers in Philadelphia Tuesday night in the opening game of the three-out-of-five series, the Stars came back on home ice last night to even it up with a free-scoring 5-2 victory.

As a result, the odds against the Stars shortened today as the two teams moved back to Philadelphia for the third game of the series Saturday. The fourth contest is slated for Syracuse Sunday.

George Parsons, speedy left winger, and Murray Armstrong paced the Syracuse attack. Parsons scored the first goal, early in the opening session, and added another in the first five minutes of the second. Armstrong assisted in two of the second-period tallies and scored once himself on a solo dash for the third-frame counter.

Senators Better Ball Club This Year Harris Thinks Race Will Be Closer

Washington Hopefuls Include Many Castoffs from Rival Clubs

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

ORLANDO, Fla., April 9.—Bucky Harris, manager of the team that fooled all the experts last year and may fool them again this year, knows he has a good ball club. The Senators may be a better ball club in fact, than he is ready to admit.

"I'm not picking the club to win the pennant," said the former "Boy Wonder," who led Washington to its first championship in 1924, and followed with another in 1925. "I'm not picking it not to win, either. Last years the boys picked me for seventh place and we wound up in the first division, right with the Tigers and White Sox.

"We beat the Yankees last year more than any other team in the league. Won nine games out of 22 played with them. When the season closed we still had a game to play with the White Sox. If we had won it, we'd we tied for second place with the Tigers.

"This year the race is going to be a lot closer. Boston, Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland are improved. If it turns out to be close, you can look out for Washington to be in there."

Stanton Can Hit

Harris stood leaning against the dugout. On the bench Nick Altrock, baseball's veteran comedian, was explaining to Pitcher Jimmy DeShong the merits of a cannibal (raw hamburger) sandwich, if seasoned, properly with salt and pepper. The boys were having batting practice, and at the plate stood Freddie Stanton, former Alabama football star, a giant of a man with 215 pounds well distributed over his six-foot-two frame.

"Will Stanton make the grade?" Harris was asked.

"Watch him hit, and write your own answer," replied Bucky. "He puts an awful lot of power behind a drive, and a right-handed power hitter is what we want. Don't be surprised if he starts the season with us batting fourth, behind Chapman. Myer and Kuhel. He hit nearly .400 for Chattanooga.

"The way it shapes up now, Stone, Travis and Lewis will follow Sington in the batting order, with the catcher eighth. Cliff Bolton was in camp but he went home without signing a contract, so I guess Shanty Hogan (huge, former National League receiver) will start behind the bat. Hogan may catch 100 games for us. I expect Walter Millies to do the relief pitching for me. Will be used by Lynn Chadwick in the National League ball.

Myer in Shape

"Buddy Myer is back this year, and seems to be in good shape again. He has been bothered by a kink in his arm, but I think that will respond to treatments. He has recovered from the illness that kept him out a great deal last year. Myer is pretty important to us. If he comes up with another good year, look out for us."

A glance at the roster revealed the presence of many pitchers who had been with other teams, several of these last-named "kicked around"—not regarded very highly before they landed with Washington. Peter Appleton, Joe Cascarella, Jimmy DeShong, Jack Salvanon—other major league teams had tried these men and found them wanting.

Appleton is the former Jablonowski of Cleveland, who has changed not only his name but his style, to become effective with Washington. Cascarella is one Connie Mack sent away. DeShong was traded to the Yankees by Mack, and snatched by the Senators from a farm club. Salveson had trials with the Giants, Pirates and White Sox before he was picked up in the Pacific Coast league by Clark Griffith.

Cascarella Shines

"Some of the baseball writers have been poking fun at our pitching staff," said Bucky, "but look what some of those so-called castoffs did last year. Appleton won 14 games for us. DeShong won 16, and showed me he could beat any club in the league. The Red Sox didn't want Cascarella, but he won nine games for us, and I expect him to win just twice that many this year. Cascarella has forgotten his crooning and clowning and is down to business. For the first time in his life, he is taking his job seriously. He's going to be a regular starter. Salveson has been up a couple of times but he still has his best years ahead of him. He's only 25 and he won 21 games for Los Angeles.

"I figure Buck Newsom, Appleton, Cascarella and DeShong as sure starters. We'll pick up some help from Salveson, Weaver, Linke and one or two of the rookies. I know we'll have the power to produce plenty of runs for them to work on."

"That's good news for you, Jim," said Altrock, addressing DeShong, who sat next to him on the bench.

WINGS TIE-UP SERIES—TAKE RANGERS 4-2

Detroit Gets Its Break In First When Lynn Patrick Is Waved Off

BLAST IN THREE

Fear Ott Heller And Shibicky Suffering Slight Concussions

DETROIT, April 9 (CP)—The champion Detroit Red Wings skated back into hockey's Stanley Cup picture last night, whipping New York's amazing Rangers, 4-2, to even the five-game series at one victory apiece before 13,461 paid customers.

Wings were again the speedy, smooth team that won the National League title from Montreal Canadiens when they scored three goals in the first period last night. They played without Norm Smith, their regular neximinder, but substitute Earl Robertson was great.

The defeat broke the New Yorkers' string of five playoff victories during which they eliminated Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Maroons in straight games. It was the first time in the post-season play that their attacking lines failed to produce goals when they were needed.

Babe Pratt and Butch Keeling scored for the New Yorkers in the second period but Detroit's lead then was great enough for them to permit the brace of counters and still win handily. They threw up a great defence to keep Rangers' off the score sheet in the final period.

A Penalty Does It.

A penalty to Lynn Patrick, son of Coach Lester, started Detroit on the way to victory that was cheered by a crowd of 13,461. Lynn was waved off for highsticking in the first and while he was off Johnny Sorrell got a freak goal with a long shot from left wing that bounced in off Murray Murdoch of Rangers.

Manager Jack Adams refused to risk protecting the lead and sent his Wings out to improve it. Modere Reinhardt did that three minutes after Sorrell scored, driving home Syd Howe's rebound. Johnny Gallagher, Wing defenceman rushed in from left wing to drive a 25-footer past Dave Kerr for the third Detroit counter.

Midway through the second Herb Lewis clubbed a beautiful scoring play with Howe and Ebbie Goodfellow to blasting a sharp angle shot to the far corner of the net.

Detroit fell back on their defensive strength after that and time after time Earl Robertson saved them with spectacular blocking. Great backchecking and heavy body work at the blue line added in keeping the Ranger snipers within cooping.

Pratt finally put Rangers somewhere near in the running on a play with Neil and Mac Colville and three minutes later Keeling poked a quick past Kerr from close in to end the scoring.

After the game Patrick expressed fear that Ott Heller, Ranger defenseman, and Alex Shibicky had suffered slight concussions. Shibicky left the ice in a daze at the start of the second period after being dropped by a terrific bodycheck from Busko McDonald. He didn't return. Heller fell heavily to the ice in the third after being struck accidentally with a stick.

HEWITT REPLIES TO QUEBEC CHARGE

No Evidence Submitted Secretary Had "Only Rumors To Go On"

TORONTO, April 9.—(CP)—W. A. Hewitt, registrar of Canadian amateur Hockey Association, said today he had replied to charges from Montreal concerning eligibility of Copper Cliff Redmen, who start play April 10 against Winnipeg Monarchs for the Memorial Cup.

Hewitt said he had written Alphonse Therien, registrar and secretary-treasurer of the Q.A.H.A., that "everything was O.K. as far as we know." Therien had addressed an open letter to Hewitt and to the presidents of the C.A.H.A., Cecil Duncan. He charged the Redmen violated the "true ideals of junior eligibility."

Registrar Hewitt said Therien had "only rumors to go on" and that "no evidence had been provided" in any of the charges, which stated one player had once played under another name; that another did not comply with the residence rule and other accusations.

"I telephoned secretary W. A. Thompson of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association and he assured me everything was all right with the Copper Cliff players," Hewitt said.

REDMEN'S HOPES ARE FLYING HIGH FINALS AT HAND

Silvermen Keeps Squad Working Daily—Godfrey Definitely On Shelf

MONARCHS ARRIVE

TORONTO, April 9 — (C.P.) — Elated at the success of Sudbury Tigers in their first game in quest of the Allan Cup, Copper Cliff Redmen's hopes soared to-day as they visualized both amateur hockey's highest awards going to Northern Ontario's Nickel Belt for the first time.

The young Redmen made counters impossible that first game in quest of the Sudbury-North Battleford Beavers Senior final, contest at Calgary. When they learned Tigers had won the opener of the best-of-five series 4-1 there was a mild celebration but the kids were hustled off to bed by Coach Maxie Silverman.

Sure Tigers would continue their stride and take Beavers three straight, Redmen figured the same fate would befall Winnipeg Monarchs in the best-of-five series opening here Saturday. They were not underestimating the Western Junior champions but figured nothing could stop them in their drive to the Memorial Cup.

There was equally as much confidence in the ranks of the young Manitobans who arrived here early this morning. Because they had emasculated Western opposition so easily as Redmen had cast aside other Eastern teams, was no basis to judge the merits of the two clubs, Coach Harry Neil said.

Right On Their Toes

After a week's lay-off, Silverman pronounced the Miners in first-class shape. Daily one-hour ice bouts out, with the exception of yesterday, has kept the Redmen "right on their toes," said Percy Max, considered one of the East's smartest Junior mentors.

Silverman discarded plans to have his club appear in an exhibition game this week—he figured there was too much danger of injury to the players. Redmen will likely start their series minus Mick Perry, husky regular defenceman, still troubled with double vision due to an eye injury received during the playoffs. Johnny Godfrey, defenceman injured in practice three weeks ago, is definitely on the shelf for the series. The cast will not be removed from his broken wrist for a few days yet—but Johnny will be on the bench to cheer his mates.

Up at nine o'clock each day this week, Redmen have been taken one-half-hour physical training directed by Pergie Dowdall. Silverman's assistant. After showers, they had selected breakfasts, and started workouts in the afternoons. After that the boys were free until bedtime and a few rounds of Toronto, taking-in wrestling and hockey matches and picture shows.

Plenty of Filler Material

Although Redmen have relied chiefly on their great line of Pat McReavy, Red Hamill and Roy Hosie for goal-getting, Silverman said any one of his string could be moved up to the first rank in case of an injury. The team has been conditioned for all emergencies, he said.

Johnny Prentice and Jack Shewchuk will carry the defence burden, but little Eddie Tobin, a veteran, will also be used on the blueline. Understudy to Art Webster, Walter Tuke and Wilf Lamieux will be in harness for the first contest and Silverman considers the three capable enough to play an important part in the series.

Goaltending worries Redmen, had Eddie Oatman been available. Mel Albright has more than carved his place and the confidence of his teammates. Since obtaining goal-tending assistance from Albright, the famous Ice Chappelle of Montreal Mel's alma has improved. The pilots are not the shelter to unload by Lorne Chabot in the National League ball.

Remember When—

Toronto Maple Leafs won the Stanley Cup five years ago tonight when they defeated New York Rangers in three straight games. It was the first time the trophy had been won without a loss since the final series was put on a three-of-five game basis.

PRESTON GIRLS LACE OLYMPICS

Famed Riculettes Win 3-1 But Have No Walkover With 'Peg Squad

GALT, Ont., April 9.— (CP). — Winnipeg Olympic hopes for a Dominion women's hockey championship were scarcely dented to-day, despite a two-goal deficit. The westerners showed ability to come back last night even in dropping the opener of their title series with Preston Rivulettes.

The famed Rivulettes won 3-1 but the losers scored their lone goal in the third period and actually outskated Preston in that game. Olympics are expected to show more strength in the concluding game of the total-goal series at Galt Saturday, for they had less than a day's rest after their long trip East before the opener.

Winnipeg speed will be gifted against Preston experience in the second match. Rivulettes have won two Canadian titles in the past and include in their lineup players who took part in finals against Simonites in 1933 and Winnipeg Falcons in 30. It was their checking ability that drove back Olympians time after time in the first contest.

Two thousand saw the game. They marvelled particularly at the clever play of Rilda Marsonville and Marion Bentley, members of the skating process of Maureen Gault and the agility of Goalie Margaret Mohler of Winnipeg.

Rilda Ramsden scored twice for Preston, once in the first period and again in the second. Marion Schnurr added the third in the final session. Galt tallied for the "Peg."

Play roughened up a little in the second period, but it was never serious trouble. Only five penalties dotted the game.

CHINESE DROUGHT ENDS.

CHUNGKING, Czechwan Province, China, April 9 (AP)—Heavy, widespread rains today broke the great drought which has gripped Central China since August. Only a small fraction of the water needed to relieve the distress of the famine-area had fallen, but the parched countryside was beginning to revive and the Yangtse River was rising.

Remittances of immigrants from Europe to the United States to relatives back home are again increasing.

IN MEMORIAM

CHAMBERLAIN.—In loving memory of Esther Bernice Andrews, beloved wife of Harry Chamberlain, who fell asleep in Jesus, April 9, 1933.

Through the long lane of shadows
I am wandering alone;
But a hand is gently guiding me
Through the world unknown.
A voice keeps ever whispering,
"Be brave and be true.
At the end of the lane of shadows
I'll be waiting for you."

—Sadly missed by Husband.

LEBAR.—In loving memory of a dear Husband and Father, James E. Lebar, who passed away April 10, 1935.

Calm and peaceful he is sleeping
Sweetest rest that follows pain,
His memory is as dear to-day
As in the hour he passed away.

—Ever remembered by his Wife and Family.

THE MOUTHPIECE

By Edgar Wallace and Robert Curtis

(Copyright—Reased By Central Press Association)

READ THIS FIRST:

Charles Stuckey, senior member of a London law firm with a questionable reputation, is informed by cable from America that Miss Jacqueline Smith, daughter of one of his few respectable clients, now on the continent with her mother, has inherited $1,500,000 from an American Uncle. Colonel Alec Lutman, who has a hold over Stuckey, learns of the inheritance and proposes a scheme to which Stuckey reluctantly agrees. The plan calls for Jim Asson, an ex-convict, to marry Jacqueline, having her assign her property—before Stuckey informs her of the inheritance—to her new husband. Lutman plans to take three-fifths of the inheritance, Stuckey and Asson each one-fifth. Lutman and Asson go to Cobenzl to cultivate Jacqueline and her mother, stopping at the same hotel where Mrs. Smith finds herself in dire financial straits. Asson, in the role of a wealthy Englishman, already has impressed Mrs. Smith as an admirable catch for her daughter.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 8

JACQUELINE turned away and left her mother. But she did not go in search of Jim Asson; instead, she went up to her bedroom and flung herself into an armchair and thought about him. Jim Asson, had he but known it, was being paid a compliment. To no other man whom she had met during her "wandering about Europe" had Jacqueline accorded the honor of a few minutes' serious thought. And there had been quite a number of them whom her mother had deftly maneuvered into friendship and then, after satisfying herself as to their financial possibilities, had hopefully handed over to Jacqueline, stamped with her approval as prospective sons-in-law. But the girl had refused to take them seriously; the fat little German at Vienna, the tall, cadaverous Italian count at Naples, the chinless young Englishman in preposterous plus-fours in Paris. And her mother had sighed in secret over the rather too determined chin which Jacqueline had inherited from her father, and had tried to make her realize that in a husband who has a five or even a four-figure income, fatness or thinness or even chinlessness can easily be forgiven. Jacqueline's father, she pointed out, had been a very handsome man, but his good looks had not saved his widow from the discomforts of third-rate hotels.

But Jim Asson was sufficiently different from the general run of Mrs. Smith's selections to deserve at least a few minutes' serious thought. Jacqueline, since he had arrived at the hotel, had spent a good deal of time in his company and had found him a pleasant enough companion; but a partner for tennis or a dance, she told herself, and a partner for life, were two entirely different propositions, and she began to consider Jim Asson point by point in relation to the more permanent position.

He was quite good-looking; he dressed well—just a shade too well, perhaps; he was an expert dancer—once again, just a shade too expert, perhaps; and he was very attentive and considerate. He was inclined to talk if he couldn't have his own way, and although he pretended that he didn't mind, actually he hated it, when she pulled his leg and laughed at him. But Jacqueline decided that she must not count that against him, because if she waited for a husband who didn't want his own way and didn't mind being laughed at, she would probably die a spinster. He had, it seemed, quite a lot of money. She trusted her mother on that score. And although she was still young and romantic enough to believe that if she loved a man money wouldn't make the least difference, wandering about Europe and living in third-rate hotels had made her sophisticated enough to realize that if love fluttered into her life with the rustle of banknotes, it was none the worse for that.

All things considered, Jacqueline decided, Jim Asson would make quite a good husband except for the fact that she wasn't in the least in love with him.

Lolling in a deck chair on the hotel terrace, Colonel Lutman was gazing through his right eye at the "magnificent view of the Danube valley" mentioned in the hotel brochure. In his left eye, feeling that it would add the last convincing touch to his military appearance, and that in a matter of such moment no detail was too small for careful attention, he had fitted a monocle, with the result that at present he could see nothing through his left eye with any degree of clearness.

"That," he remarked, "is a most striking thought."

Jim Asson, sprawling in the adjoining chair, glanced at him inquiringly.

"All this," said the Colonel sweeping his cigar round the landscape. "It has just struck me that all this—just the same as it is now—was here a thousand years ago, and that a thousand years hence it will still be here. And the point of the profound reflection, my dear James, is this: that though the river Danube will no doubt be here in a thousand years' time, we most certainly shall not."

Jim frowned.

"What are you getting at, Lutman?"

"Simply this: that in view of the regrettable shortness of human life, it's time you got a move on. We've already been here a week, and the expensive engagement ring which I bought in Paris is still in my waistcoat pocket."

"I'm doing my best," he said sullenly. "But it's damn difficult. It's no use trying to rush things."

"I agree," said Lutman, with a nod. "But it's as well to remember that time is an important factor. I have satisfied myself that they know nothing at present, but there's always the risk that in some unforeseen way the girl or her mother may come to hear of Redfern's death, and in that case I'm afraid you might not seem quite so desirable as a husband."

"I know that as well as you do."

"That, my dear James, is very modest of you. It's also as well to remember that I am investing quite a lot of money in this little venture—our hotel bill for the week was quite a heavy one—and I'm naturally anxious to see you happily married as quickly as possible."

"I tell you I'm doing all I can. If you're not satisfied, try to marry the girl yourself."

"No, I don't say I'm dissatisfied," said Lutman. "Love is a tender plant, James, and won't stand too much forcing. I'm only anxious to know how matters are progressing. Have you, for instance, kissed her yet?"

"Mind your own confounded business, Lutman."

"But, my dear James..."

"And I wish you wouldn't keep calling me James. You do it only because you know it annoys me."

"What I was about to say, Jimmy, was that this kissing question is very much my business. A kiss is an indication of progress, the first definite step toward the altar; and as I have financial interest in your arrival there, I'm naturally anxious to know."

"All right. If you must know: no, I haven't kissed her."

"Not kissed her! But we've already been here a week!"

"I dare say we have. But Jacqueline isn't the sort of girl you can kiss in the first five minutes. It's difficult."

"Judging by appearances," smiled Lutman, "I should have imagined the difficulty would be to refrain from kissing her. Is it too optimistic to hope that you have held her hand?"

Asson made an impatient gesture.

"Not even a little hand-holding?" smiled Lutman. "We were more ardent in my young days. I think I'm entitled to feel a little aggrieved, James, that you haven't even held her hand. But perhaps you've gazed hungrily into her eyes? No? You should try that, James—a hungry, famished look—go without dinner if necessary and...."

"Oh, shut up, Lutman!" exclaimed Asson irritably. "If you're not satisfied you can do the job yourself."

mouth grew grim.

mouth grew wrinkled.

"I'm not satisfied," he snapped. "Time's everything, and I'm telling you that you've got to force the pace. You've been here a whole week and you've done nothing but hang around the girl and look as if you were waiting for a chance to pick her pocket. For Lord's sake do something."

"It's all very well to talk, Lutman, but it's no use rushing things."

"That's just where you're wrong. I've interrupted the Colonel. "You've got to rush things. You've got to sweep the girl off her feet and get her to marry you before she has time to realize what she's doing. You don't think she'll marry you if she realizes what she's doing, do you?"

"There's no need to be so offensive...."

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY IN A PUDDLE

All of a sudden Mrs. Longears began to cry.

"Oh, my dear wife! What is the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily, hopping off the pile of stones. He had been standing on them to look down a hole in the old apple tree.

"Boo hoo! Hoo hoo!" sobbed the rabbit lady, showing that she could cry backward and forward at the same time, which isn't easy to do! try it.

"Oh, tell me what is the matter!" beared Mr. Longears, picking up a bunch of dried grass, with which he wiped away his wife's tears.

"You—you promised you would never have any secrets from me, Wiggily," sobbed Mrs. Longears.

"I have no secrets from you," said her husband.

Aren't They

"Then why are you out here looking down a hole in the apple tree, as if you expected letters, or something like that?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"Letters are secrets, aren't they?" asked Uncle Wiggily, hopping around. "I wasn't looking in the tree for secret letters."

"I know—you were looking for Happiness!" said the rabbit lady, still crying. "You told Nurse Jane so."

"So I did, and so I was, and my Happiness is in the apple tree, and there it flies!" shouted Uncle Wiggily all of a sudden. "Look, my dear! There goes Happiness."

A flash of blue fluttered in the sunshine. A song was heard.

"The first Bluebird of Spring!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "He just flew up from the Southland, where he has been all Winter. Now, as before, he is going to make his nest in our old apple tree. For many days I have been watching for Bluebird to come back to his old nest. Now he is here and so is my Happiness."

Uncle Wiggily kissed his wife

"Your Happiness?" repeated Mrs. Longears.

"Yes," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Bluebirds make happiness, you know. It never fails. So I have found my Happiness and it shall also be your Happiness. Hurray!"

"Hurray!" laughed Mrs. Longears. "Oh, Wiggy," she said, "I am so sorry. I thought you had a secret in the old tree. Of course, the Bluebird makes Happiness in Spring! I should have remembered. Then Uncle Wiggily kissed his wife and Bluebird soared in the sunshine, which glinted on his blue wings and his breast, almost as red as a robin's. And the rabbit lady and gentleman were happy.

He Went Away

But as the Bluebird flew farther and farther away Uncle Wiggily said:

"Perhaps we have frightened him by trying to be a little bit unhappy. Bluebirds do not like unhappy persons. He may not make his nest here."

"Oh, Wiggy, that would never do!" said Mrs. Longears. "Please hop after the Happiness bird and beg him to come back. I'm afraid I frightened him away. Please bring him back."

"I shall!" said Uncle Wiggily, bravely twinkling his pink nose.

Away he hopped over the fields and through the woods. At first he could see, a long way ahead of him, the flashing blue of Bluebird's wings. Then they vanished from sight.

"Oh, dear!" cried Uncle Wiggily. He hopped along faster, not watching where he was going and, all of a sudden, into a mud puddle he fell "ker plop!" And what happened next you shall hear in the story after this. It will be about Uncle Wiggily's lost shoe.

But please ask the traffic cop not to arrest the police dog if he forgets his license.

LONDON—(CP)— Major P. C. Burton has been re-elected president of the English Golf Union which will join the proposed European Golf Association, subject to the approval of its draft constitution.

"I'm feeling offensive. I've spent a lot of money, and so far I've got nothing for it, and I can see that if I don't stand behind and look you, I never shall get anything."

2 British Warships Collect Apology For Bombing Incident

Very Regrettable Error Says Spanish Rebel Chiefs Of Air Raid

WILL TAKE MORE CARE

LONDON, April 9 (CP Cable) — The British cruiser Shropshire, accompanied by the destroyer Garland, today collected an apology from the Spanish insurgent authorities at Mallorca for the bombing of H.M.S. Gallant. The insurgents explained the bombing was a regrettable error.

The Gallant twice was bombed by insurgent aircraft while proceeding from Valencia to Alicante. On each occasion she opened fire on the attacking aircraft.

The Shropshire and the Garland arrived at Palma, Mallorca, last night. The captain of the Shropshire, accompanied by the British Vice-Consul, called upon the port admiral and Colonel Franco, commander of the air force in Mallorca.

The insurgent authorities explained that prior to the bombing of the Gallant they received a report from a seaplane that Spanish Government destroyers were in the waters through which the Gallant was passing. On receiving the report the insurgents sent out three land planes with the intention of bombing the Spanish destroyers.

Thought It Was a Spaniard.

The insurgents said it was conceivable their land planes had "unfortunately" mistaken the Gallant for a Spanish Government destroyer. A message also was conveyed from the military Governor of Mallorca expressing "very great regret if it were found that national aircraft were to blame for the episode."

Meanwhile, Colonel Franco has undertaken to issue instructions to his aircraft that great care shall be taken in future in examining identity marks on any craft in these waters before proceeding to take hostile action against them.

So far as they go, these assurances are considered satisfactory by the British authorities. But the commander of the Shropshire is to see the military governor of the Island later to-day.

In British circles the bombing of the Gallant is described as a piece of carelessness which might have had extremely unfortunate results. It is taken for granted that neither side in the Spanish War would be so foolish as deliberately to attack the British Navy.

Piloted Plane

Glen C. Moser (ABOVE), piloted the giant Douglas 21-passenger airliner which crashed near McNary, Arizona carrying 25. It is feared eight persons to their death. Though wreckage of the aeroplane was sighted by searching aeroplanes rescue parties found the wild country and snow-filled canyons a hindrance to reaching the scene.

OSHAWA STRIKERS ALLOW CAR PART SHIPMENTS

Hepburn's Strike Talk Collapses

Negotiations Run On Rocks Over Admitting Thompson, Lewis' Organizer

A ONE-MAN SNAG

Premier Flatly Refuses To Deal With C.I.O. Envoy Or Let Officials See Him

TORONTO, April 10.—(CP) — Negotiations initiated by Premier Mitchell Hepburn for settlement of the General Motors of Canada strike at Oshawa, affecting 3,700 workers, collapsed this afternoon.

Negotiations broke down, the Premier explained, on the question of admitting Hugh Thomson, organizer for John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization, to conferences. Thompson is acting as adviser to the strikers, members of the United Automobile Workers of America, affiliated with the C.I.O.

"The whole issue is Thompson at the present time," said the Premier. He refused to admit Thompson to his office when the strikers' committee appeared for a half-hour conference following the government leader's meeting with General Motors executives.

Mr. Hepburn flatly refused to confer in any way with the British-born organizer of the C.I.O. He not only refused to meet Thompson privately, but also refused to permit any Government official to deal with him.

"Thomson is the stumbling block and thousands of men are walking the street and likely to stay that way for some time," declared Mr. Hepburn. He said General Motors officials informed him they would have nothing to do with the organizer.

The Premier expressed the belief proposals from General Motors executives would have led to strike settlement. He did not disclose the proposals to strikers' representatives because they insisted he confer with Thompson first.

BEVERAGE ROOM BYLAW APPROVED

Beginning April 17 New Hours Will Come Into Effect

Beverage rooms in the city are to close at 10 o'clock p.m. on Saturdays and at 11 o'clock p.m. on other nights, beginning on Saturday next.

By-law No. 2344 enacted by the City Council on April 5 last to fix the closing hours for the sale of beer and wine in authorized premises has received approval of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, and in a letter to City Clerk S. R. Armstrong, Chief Commissioner E. O. Odette, states:

"I have approved of By-law 2324 fixing the closing hours for the sale of beer and wine in authorized premises in the City of Peterborough, and am returning herewith one copy of the by-law with my approval indicated therein. This approval means that beginning April 17, the new hours of closing will be in effect in your municipality."

The by-law provides for the closing of beverage rooms at 10 o'clock p.m. (Standard Time) on Saturdays and at 11 p.m. (Standard Time) on other nights of the week.

When the city goes on Daylight Saving Time the sale hours of closing will apply, that is 10 o'clock p.m. (D.S.T.) on Saturdays and 11 o'clock p.m. (D.S.T.) on other nights of the week.

Last Minute News Flashes

TORONTO—Five airplanes and a new hangar were destroyed in a $50,000 fire at the Toronto Flying Club today as only a strong north wind saved the entire airport from disaster.

Planes destroyed were a Customs Waco, valued at $12,000, and four civils, worth about $2,000 each. All were privately owned.

OTTAWA—An address of loyalty to King George VI. on the occasion of the Coronation was adopted today by both Houses of Parliament. It was read in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and in the Senate by Senator Raoul Dandurand, Government leader. Opposition leaders in both Houses joined in the sentiments expressed.

War-Seek'ng Financiers Backing Unions-Ford

Charges Agitations Worst Movement Ever to Hit World

Proposes To Demonstrate Wages, Production, Competition As Never Seen Before

WHEN STRIKES SUBSIDE

Charges Unions Take Away Man's Independence, Monopolize Trade, Reduce Incomes

WAYE, Ga., April 10.—(AP). — Henry Ford said to-day the Ford Motor Company will demonstrate "wages, production and competition such as never seen before" when current strike disturbances subside.

The 73-year-old Detroit manufacturer in an interview at his winter home here, reiterated charges war-seeking financiers are backing labor unions. He asserted also his company has been "holding down production so as not to take advantage" of strike beset competitors.

Ford said Wednesday he never would recognize the United Automobile Workers' Association or any other union for collective bargaining. He declined comment to-day on announced plans of the U.A.W.A. to unionize his plants despite this statement.

"When this strike mess is over," Ford said "we'll demonstrate some real competition in quantity production with new methods that will call for more skill, higher wages, and a larger number of employees."

Ford would not say whether he has a definite plan at this time to boost his minimum wage, now at $6 per day. He recalled that his minimum wage was $7 per day at one time. Prior to the depression.

"Labor union organizations are the worst thing that ever struck the earth because they take away a man's independence," Ford said. "Financiers are behind the unions and their object is to kill competitions so as to reduce the income of workers, and eventually bring on war."

Strike Starts Boom Whitby Beer Parlors

Whitby, April 10.

As a result of all beverage rooms in Oshawa being closed temporarily because of the strike in that city, beer parlors in Whitby have done a thriving business for the last two days.

This afternoon a special meeting of the Town Council was summoned to consider a request from Mayor Hall of Oshawa that Whitby beverage rooms be also closed for the duration of the strike. After some discussion, it was decided not to comply with the request.

Members stated that if the beverage rooms were closed it would open an avenue for bootleggers to do a profitable busine.

Toronto Club Fire Destroys 4 Or 5 Planes

Flying Officials Unable To Estimate Damage To Hangar And Machines

UNKNOWN ORIGIN

TORONTO, April 10.—(CP)—Officials of the Toronto Flying Club were unable to estimate damage caused today when four or five planes were destroyed completely by fire of undetermined origin.

A call for the fire brigade, shortly after the flames were discovered, proved useless as the flames were out of control by the time firemen arrived. Breaking out in the leader hangar, it was allowed to burn itself out as there was no danger of it spreading to other structures.

The last airport fire in Toronto occurred Nov. 12, 1933 when five planes, several spare motors and a hangar at Barker Airport went up in flames during the night. Damage to planes in that fire amounted to $45,000.

ONTARIO'S STAND INDUSTRY COAXER

Guarantee Of Fair Treatment For Capital Will Draw U.S. Firms Thinks N.Y. Tribune

NEW YORK, April 10.—(CP). — The Herald Tribune said in its financial section to-day it was the opinion in some New York circles that Canada stood to gain new United States' industries because of the firm stand taken by Premier Hepburn of Ontario in the General Motors' strike at Oshawa.

Among the Wall Street notes the Republican newspaper carried the following:

"Comment in New York was that Mr. Hepburn, by declaring for orderly conduct of industry and, indeed, guaranteeing fair treatment for capital, has given added inducement for more industries to move across the international boundary."

ORDER OF DEATH WAKENS HUSBAND

Decides It Time He Found Wife —Deserted Fifteen Years, She Takes Him Back

VANCOUVER, April 10.—(CP).—A 56-year-old war veteran, presumed dead by court order after being unheard of for 18 years, is alive.

Ralph Pearce, who disappeared from home here in 1922, turned up yesterday to tell of his wanderings through British Columbia in search of work. He stepped wherever he found odd jobs, he related, but failed to correspond with his wife and two daughters.

After 15 years, his wife applied for an order presuming his death. It was granted two weeks ago by Chief Justice Aulay Morrison.

Yesterday Pearce, in a west end building where he tended a furnace, read a newspaper account of his supposed death. He communicated with Mrs. Pearce's lawyer, P. C. Aubrey, who had entered the death-presumptive application.

Through Aubrey, Mrs. Pearce met the husband she had not seen for a decade and a half. She told to-day how he had changed, so much that but for the tone of his voice and his knowledge of family affairs she would not have recognized him.

Pearce beamed happily at the reunion with the woman he married in 1907. Together they signed an application to have set aside the order presuming death. It was granted.

Belgium Facing Crossroads, Democratic Or Fascist Rule

Sunday By-Election May Change Course Of Nation's Destiny

PREMIER STAKES SEAT

LONDON, April 10.—(CP Cable)—Three hundred thousand electors in Belgium go to the polls Sunday after one of the most bitter, strongest by-election fights of these modern days.

For it is a straight battle between parliamentary democracy and fascism, between Paul Van Zeeland, prime minister of Belgium, on the one hand, and Leon Degrelle, leader of the Rexists, or Belgian Fascists, on the other.

The result may have a vital bearing on the political future of Belgium. Van Zeeland is risking his popularity. It is a Fascist bid for power.

Degrelle forced the issue. He ordered that one of his Fascist members of parliament resign and had himself nominated for the vacancy. He had evidently calculated. The three parties of the government coalition — Socialist, Liberal and Catholic—would all run candidates and that he would slip through on the split vote.

Van Zeeland Accepts

Instead, Van Zeeland accepted the

Haliburton To Curb Main Street Cows

Lindsay, Ont., April 10—(CP)

THERE are going to be a lot of surprised cows in the village of Haliburton this Spring when green blades of grass start to crop up along the sidewalks on the main street. For years the cows kept by many of the villagers have had the privilege of roaming lawns and dwelling down the main street at will. This year it will be different. At the meeting of the village council Monday evening a by-law was passed forbidding cows to pasture on any of the streets of the village."

Cows in future will also be barred entirely from the main street "because they tend to tie up traffic and slow down business."

Nicholas Accepts Exile To Keep Commoner Wife

Rumania's King Carol Forces Brother To Give Up All Royal Rights

ENDS SIX-YEAR FIGHT

BUCHAREST, April 10.—(CP)—Shorn of his titles and prerogatives, former Prince Nicholas of Rumania prepared today to go into exile with his morganatic wife.

The 33-year-old brother of King Carol planned to assume the name of Brosteano upon his departure from Rumania, it was reported.

For nearly six years Nicholas had vainly sought recognition by the King of his marriage with a commoner—the former Joana Rumitrescu, once the wife of a diplomatic official. The long quarrel between the royal brothers reached a swift climax yesterday.

An official communique at midnight revealed the move to strip the Prince of his royal heritage had been delayed only in the constant hope he would renounce his morganatic union.

In a meeting with Vice-Premier Inculetz at Sbagov Castle, Nicholas was confronted with a final choice. He chose to go, and affixed his signature to a document renouncing his rights to the succession, together with his titles, military rank and decorations.

Accept By Council.

A crown council went into immediate session. Accepting Nicholas' gesture, the council solemnly "read" Carol's younger brother out of the royal family.

The prince thereby became a commoner, like his wife, whom he married, despite Carol's resistance, on October 20, 1931, only to see the union annulled by royal decree on December 7 of the same year.

Nicholas, however, continued his association with the woman.

Nicholas was next in line to the throne after King Carol's 16-year-old son Michael, and also held the rank of Inspector-General of the army, navy and air force.

MASKED PAIR ROB BLYTH MAN $800

Slug Him With Car Door Handle—Rip Pocket Out—Lost $3,000 Year Ago

BLYTH, Ont., April 10 (C.P.). — Two masked men entered the home of Joseph Coulter here last night and escaped in a waiting car with $800 in cash which Coulter had in his trousers pocket.

The bandits burst into the house and used a nickel-plated car door handle as a revolver. Coulter showed fight and he was struck by the bandits and knocked down. The trio ripped the pocket out of Coulter's trousers and fled with the roll of money.

About a year ago Coulter was "rolled" for $3,000 by a youth who was later arrested in Saint John, N.B., and is now serving three years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Nicholas Amnesty Proposed Coronation Gesture

London, April 10.—(CP)

AN amnesty for political prisoners in various parts of the British Empire as a Coronation gesture is suggested by the National Council for Civil Liberties.

A letter sent by the Council to Prime Minister Baldwin, the colonial secretary and the secretary for India, says there is a widespread feeling that on the occasion of the Coronation an amnesty should be granted political prisoners in Northern Ireland, British India, British Crown Colonies, Protectorates and Mandated Territories.

BRITISH TROOPS WALK INTO TRAP 6 OFFICERS DIE

Five Others Wounded In Ambush Set By Indian Fakir Of Ipi

REIGN OF TERROR

NEW DELHI, April 10 (CP-Havas) —Six British officers were killed and five wounded by rebellious natives who ambushed a military detachment in the Waziristan district, dispatches reaching here today said.

The attack occurred on the road from Manzai to Ouana, near the Afghanistan border. The troops were accompanying 45 trucks and armored cars equipped with machine guns when they fell into the ambush. Further details were lacking.

The leader of the tribesmen, the Fakir of Ipi, is reported to have organized a veritable reign of terror against British troops in the Banna area, warning tribesmen that banditry will be rigorously suppressed. Authorities have ordered aviators to attack all hostile groups discovered in the valleys of Khaloors, Shaktu and Aagad and in the Arsaklot region.

"Those desiring to save themselves, their children and their animals, should leave the area and not return until it is declared safe," the proclamations warn.

HOUSE MAY CLOSE TODAY

OTTAWA, April 10. —(CP)— It looked like the last business day of the session when members trooped into the House of Commons today. Only a few budget resolutions remained on the order paper and the Senate was right behind the House.

It was considered possible to prorogue late this afternoon or this evening, making it a comparatively short session. It opened January 14 with all parties co-operating to make it possible for the Canadian delegation to sail for the Coronation in London May 12.

Belgian Steamer Captain Refuses Aid for Ship Aground.

LONDON, April 10 (A.P.).—More than 150 passengers, including women and children, stood by boat stations in lifebelts to-day while a falling tide accentuated the heavy list of the Belgian steamer Anversville, aground in the English Channel.

Lifeboats and tugs awaited to assist the passengers to safety, but the captain from the bridge refused all offers of aid, declaring a belief the vessel would refloat.

The 8,433-ton boat ran aground in a fog last night off Dungeness Point.

Younger Teachers To Benefit Under Revised School Course

Inspector A. Mowat Has Seen Many Outstanding Changes

LIFE IS HAPPIER

Outlining some of the changes in the school system that are to go into effect in September next, Inspector Alexander Mowat who is shortly retiring after thirty years of service under the local Board of Education, believes there is a definite tendency to establish a closer bond of harmony between the home and the school.

In September next, the inspector declares, a new course of studies for the first six grades of public schools is planned. The Department of Education is to outline in detail the new courses, which Mr. Mowat considers will be of particular help to the younger teacher.

Changes in the high school course will be limited to the first year courses, which will thereafter be taken by all new students on entering high school. The first year high school course is designed with the primary intention of helping the pupil to judge for himself the particular branch of study for which he is best fitted. It will be a combination course of academic studies and vocational training, and it is

2 G.M.C. Heads Visit Hepburn, Smile Leaving

Premier Meets Strikers' Delegates At 1 p.m.—Joint Session After

BOTH STANDING FIRM

TORONTO, April 10.—(CP). — Premier Mitchel Hepburn's conference with representatives of the Oshawa strikers adjourned at 1.45 p.m. after a meeting of half an hour.

Strikers' representatives then met with Hugh Thompson, C.I.O. organizer, who, it was understood, had been refused admission to the meeting with the Premier.

There was no immediate statement either by Mr. Hepburn or by strikers' representatives. It was not known whether the conference would be resumed.

TORONTO, April 10 (C.P.). — Conference between Premier Mitchell Hepburn and two senior General Motors of Canada officials ended at 12.30 p.m. to-day with the understanding Harry J. Carmichael, vice-president and general manager, General Motors, and James R. Highfield, general plant manager, would return after Premier Hepburn meets a strikers' committee at one o'clock.

It was understood there was a possibility representatives of the two factions in the Oshawa strike would be brought together before the afternoon ends.

Premier Hepburn said he had no statement to make. Carmichael and Highfield came out of the Premier's office smiling.

It was understood the major point at issue now was the union's insistence that a contract at Oshawa must be in identical form to that negotiated between the parent General Motors Corporation in the United States and the United Automobile Workers of America. It was said General Motors of Canada might consider a contract with the union revised to meet conditions peculiar to Canada.

"In this respect things this morning were precisely where they were when the walk-out started," the Premier said.

The new troops, the agency declared, were rushed to vital points along the Cordoba-Penarroya road where the insurgent force was said to have been nearly cut off from the Cordoba City base and faced with annihilation.

He said that his countrymen, when they want to strike, often stay on the job, but work slowly "like a cow walks."

Sixty Office Workers, Non-Unionists Allowed In On Mayor's Plea For No Interference

NO HOSTILE MOVES

Moving Parts Only Drop In Bucket To Stopping Production Says Hall

OSHAWA, Ont., April 10.—(CP). —Operations at General Motors plant here ceased this afternoon when workers, permitted by strikers to pass through picket lines earlier to-day, left the building amid jeers and hooting.

About 100 strikers were in the picket line as the workers left at one o'clock. Strikers honked their auto horns and shouted: "Scabs—rats." The workers came from a side door in the plant in a group. When they had departed silence returned but pickets kept lines intact.

Workers at their jobs to-day were members of the parts department which supplies repairs to motorists and truck owners throughout the Dominion.

OSHAWA, Ont., April 10—(CP). —Striking employees of General Motors of Canada to-day decided against interfering if the firm ships auto parts out of the plant here to dealers throughout Canada. The parts are for repairs to private cars and trucks.

Strikers reached this decision after hearing Mayor Alex Hall urge them not to interfere with company trucks moving from the plant.

"I want each of you to consider yourself a deputy of the mayor and make passage for these trucks in and out of the plant," said the mayor. "Remember that passive obstruction is just as bad as active obstruction; make way for the truck. The company is not trying to [illegible] cars.

"Maybe the company is chiselling, maybe it is not, but whatever they bring out, even if they bring out all the parts in the building it is only a drop in the bucket to the fact that you have stopped all production."

Hugh Thompson, C.I.O. organizer, also urged the men to cause no outbreak.

"General Motors is trying to create a disturbance so it can get the Mounties in here," he said. "A few trucks coming in can't do any harm. Let a few in but I think we should examine them to see what they've got, to see there are no men in them."

A Police Guarantee

"I'll guarantee there'll be no men in trucks," said Chief of Police Owen D. Friend, standing beside the motor car from the roof of which Thompson and Hall addressed the gathering.

"Don't lay a hand on anybody," said Thompson. "If you have a personal grievance against anybody, don't take it out on them here."

"Will there be machine guns in the trucks?" asked one striker.

"If there are any machine guns being used for the company I'll be the first one in front of the guns," said Mayor Hall. "They'll be directed at me first."

Cheers from the 300 strikers greeted the announcement, and a group of the 50 special deputy constables appointed by the union started clearing the street of fellow union members, in order to facilitate the passage of trucks into the parts department where about 40 office employees and 20 manual workers returned to work today through the picket lines.

"I feel certain some good will come from the negotiations today in the office of Premier Hepburn," said Mayor Hall. "Premier Hepburn changed his mind about you people when he heard your side. You have established yourselves with the people of Oshawa and the province as law-abiding citizens.

Don't Force My Hand

Will Be Labelled As Strikebreakers Says Union Leader

Not Be Responsible For Accidents After They Leave Plant Says Thompson

THREAT, MAYOR THINKS

Hepburn Calls Parley With Company Heads—See Union Later

OSHAWA, Ont., April 10 (C.P.).—Picket lines about General Motors plants were open to-day to any who wished to walk through, while the fate of the 3,700 strike-idle employees appeared to hinge on two factors:

Whether plant executives would attempt to ship out passenger automobile parts or "emergency" parts—such as those for ambulances—to which the strikers take no objection.

Whether a two-day conference in Premier Mitchell Hepburn's office at Toronto would realize his hopes of a peaceful settlement.

From Hugh Thompson, organizer for John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, came announcement last night after a meeting with shop stewards that those wishing to enter the parts department would not be stopped, but would be considered strike-breakers.

Coupled with this announcement Thompson added: "But we, the union, will not be responsible for any accident that happens after he (a strike-breaker) has left the plant property."

Immediately Mayor Alexander Hall criticized Thompson's statement, terming it a "remark that sounds very much of a threat." He said if any man is hurt "the union marks itself a gangster organization."

Two hours later Thompson retracted his "suggestion regarding the possibility of accident to strikers," and said he feared his statement "might be interpreted as a threat."

Settlement To-night?

Meanwhile, in Toronto Premier Hepburn held hopes a settlement would be reached "by to-night." After a conference with a delegation of United Mine Workers from Oshawa last night the Premier announced he was calling General Motors executives to talk with him and said this gathering would be followed by a meeting between himself and union representatives.

Rank and file of the strikers here believe success of the conference may depend largely on what happens in Oshawa. General Motors officials have indicated the parts plant will be opened to-day and shipments made throughout the country.

Strikers' spokesmen replied that passenger automobile parts would not be allowed to pass the picket lines that have patrolled the factory

Madrid Out To Shake Off Siege Of City

3,000 Rebels Isolated In University Section As Socialist Wings Advance

BOTH LOSSES HEAVY

Insurgents Report Two Government Battalions Wiped Out Near Oviedo

MADRID, April 10 (AP) — The second day of the government's major counter-offensive to break the insurgent grip on Madrid province brought combat today at the very doors of the city.

While 3,000 of General Francisco Franco's men were reported isolated in University City, the northwestern suburb, the government opened an artillery and aerial strafing of the whole array of siege lines.

An Associated Press correspondent saw General Jose Miaja's government artillery plant five out of six six-inch shells squarely on the roof of one strategically located building on a hillside overlooking the Casa de Campo sector of the West.

If Miaja's militiamen hold the gains made in a counter-offensive to drive Insurgents from Madrid's outskirts, the 3,000 troops will face decimation.

A bridge over the Manzanres River, the communication link between Insurgents in University City and those in the adjoining Casa de Campo sector, was captured by the government in yesterday's drive to break the semi-circle of siege lines now five months old.

Both Lose Heavily

Official reports gave no estimate of government casualties but told of widespread insurgent losses.

(A communique from the Insurgent base at Salamanca asserted Miaja lost 2,800 men in the broad attack on the city's western front. Many were killed, according to the statements and numerous prisoners, mostly Russians, Czechoslovakians and Spanish Asturians, were captured. The communique added that two entire government battalions were annihilated in an action on the outskirts of Oviedo on the northwestern Biscay front.)

Indalecio Prieto, minister of air and navy in the Madrid-Valencia government, declared fighting in Spain would be intense and probably decisive in the next few weeks. After that, he added, the end "may be in sight." The war, he asserted, now will be carried to the enemy on an extensive scale.

INDIAN T.B. DEATH RATE ON INCREASE

Doctor Blames It On Lax Methods Of Care And Inexperienced Medical Men

OTTAWA, April 10 (CP).—While the death-rate from tuberculosis in Canada has decreased in the last 10 years from 88 to 60.5 for each 100,000 population, deaths from this cause among Indians has increased, the House of Commons was told last night.

Dr. J. J. McCann (Lib., South Renfrew) and H. J. Barber (Cons., Fraser Valley) called attention to this problem during consideration of a vote of $4,249,124 for administration of the Indian Affairs Branch.

Dr. McCann, showing the death-rate from tuberculosis among Indians in 1936 was 704 in a population of about 120,000, declared this high rate was due partly to lax methods in dealing with the problem.

Inexperienced, part-time doctors attending Indians were too often appointed because of their political affiliations, he held.

Treatment of tuberculosis was a task that required the highest skill and close application and Dr. McCann urged that it be not trifled with.

Indians were wards of the Dominion, and when their health interests were neglected their reservations became cess-pools of infection threatening adjoining communities.

Mr. Barber said that in British Columbia it was estimated 42 per cent. of the tuberculosis cases among Indians were never attended by a physician. He also urged greater attention to dental care of Indians and an improved method of distributing drugs and medicines.

Unless something was done to remedy the situation, Dr. McCann said, the good work done by the medical profession throughout the Dominion in stamping out tuberculosis would be nullified.

C.I.O. AND COMPANY CONFER AT DETROIT

Officials Mum As To Whether Oshawa Strike Will Be Discussed

DETROIT, April 10 (CP)—High officials of the United Automobile Workers' Association went into conference to-day with General Motors executives, but neither group professed to know whether a strike in the Oshawa, Ont., plant of General Motors of Canada would be discussed.

Primary purposes of the conference, a union spokesman said, was to discuss grievances of General Motors employees at Pontiac, Mich., where two strikes were settled last week.

Homer Martin, president of the U.A.W.A., and Wyndham Mortimer and Ed. Hall, vice-presidents, were meeting with H. W. Anderson, Director of Industrial Relations, and Floyd O. Tanner, Director of Manufacturing for the corporation.

A General Motors spokesman said all negotiations on the Canadian strike were being carried on at Oshawa, although, he said, corporation officials here were "very much interested" in the outcome.

With Queen Mary at Balmoral in 1934

IN our last article, the visit of Queen Mary to Glamis Castle, in Scotland, along with her second son, was mentioned. It was this visit perhaps more than anything else that confirmed, in the eyes of Britain, the coming engagement and wedding of the prince and his Scottish sweetheart.

To-day we present the royal lovers in Scotland again, and again with them Her Majesty Queen Mary. Not Glamis with its grim and historic surroundings is the scene for this stroll however, but Balmoral, seat of the royal family in Scotland and often a retreat for the late monarch when cares of state made rest and relaxation a necessity.

Both the then King and Queen gave their whole-hearted approval to the marriage which Prince Albert sought and when Lady Elizabeth entered the royal family as Duchess of York she was welcomed warmly and unaffectedly by their majesties and by the brothers and sister of the duke. One of the most touching pictures ever taken of the late King was secured by press photographers, who "covered" the wedding and who photographed the monarch bidding farewell to his new daughter-in-law as she left for her honeymoon.

Thus to-day's picture provides a very human scene in a most beautiful setting. As was the custom of the royal family while in Scotland, the duke wears the kilts of the country. Strolling together through Balmoral's beautiful grounds, perhaps Queen Mary visualized to some extent, the burdens that would fall upon this young couple, though even she, whom all the Empire has come to respect with a heartfelt admiration for her strength and courage in the months of trial that have led up to this coronation, could hardly see all the dramatic climaxes that were to come in her beloved son's life.

ARDEN, KALADAR MINING PERKS UP

Considerable Activity Going On In Hastings—Several Companies Move In Men

TWEED, April 10—With the early opening of the spring, and lack of snow to interrupt work, the new mining strikes of last summer are being given a thorough overhauling, particularly in the Arden, Kaladar section, where several large mining companies staked out considerable territory. The International Mines Co., Ltd., Toronto, have moved in a large compressor and have a number of men employed.

In the north Hastings section, the Katherine Lead Mines Ltd., is being put in shape and it is expected that the mine will go into production this summer. With the opening up of the mining prospects and mines in this part of the country, the unemployed are finding ready work and there appears to be little or no need for the relief system.

Rowe Charges Hepburn Betrayed Separate School Supporters, Repudiated Promises

ESSEX CLUB RALLY

Predicts New Beauharnois Contracts Within Six Months

WINDSOR, Ont., April 10.—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario is afraid to face the people in an election this year because he has betrayed the Separate School supporters, repudiated his own promises besides the Province's Hydro contracts and lowered dignity of the legislature to the level of a common brawl, Hon. Earl Rowe, Provincial Conservative leader, charged in a speech here last night.

Addressing more than 400 members of the Essex County Conservative club, Mr. Rowe also lashed out at Mr. Hepburn for his liquor policy and for his alleged attempts "to get" Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Senate Conservative leader. He closed with an appeal for a "decent" and "dignified" government.

Having reduced expenditures on essential services such as health, highways and education, Mr. Hepburn has been able to declare a surplus of $7,000,000, Mr. Rowe said. "But he collected $42,000,000 more in taxes than have ever been collected by any Conservative administration in one year," he said.

"I predict a new contract will be entered into with the Beauharnois power Company by the Liberal government within six months despite the fact government spokesmen have referred to this company as 'power pigs'," he said. He warned his listeners to watch how beer and wine licenses will be returned to 100 hotels from which they had been taken "in a noisy and burlesque manner."

"Your numbers here tonight impress me that good government is yet safe, as long as we have men and women who are the nucleus of victory in a community," he said.

"I feel sure democracy is safe in the hands of men and women like you.

LINDSAY, April 10.—Two residents of Bobcaygeon appeared before Magistrate Ree yesterday charged by Game Overseer Windsor, with fishing illegally for maskinonge through the ice at Emily Creek. Both pleaded guilty and were fined $18 and costs.

The roads in the north country are reported to be in bad condition and motorists are advised to think twice before undertaking business trips to that section. Trucks and automobiles have been stalled in many places owing to the muddy conditions of the thoroughfares. There is still considerable frost in the ground, and the roads it is feared, will continue to get worse with the frost heaving them.

Accidental Death

The coroner's jury which deliberated at the inquest held to inquire into the cause of the death of Mor Graham, brought in a verdict of accidental death. The deceased was fatally injured at the Kawartha Lumber Company plant last week when he was crushed between a truck and a railway car.

Sabbath Message For the Shut-Ins

SABBATH MESSAGE By REV. E. R. JAMES Toronto

THE WALK OF EMMAUS

"Jesus Himself drew near and went with them." St. Luke 24. 15.

A great master of literature of the last century said that this book is the most beautiful ever written. It is full of word pictures. Have you seen any of them. Here is one. This story illustrates Our Lord's gracious thoughtfulness for the little ones of the flock. He spends the greater portion of the afternoon of His resurrection with two plain men, disciples, but no Apostles, who were in great distress and agony of mind over His horrible crucifixion. His death on the Cross seemed to them to spell failure to His cause as Messiah, the Anointed of God, the Christ. So our Lord lovingly, sympathetically opened to them the Old Testament Scriptures that they might see and understand how it was all foretold by the Prophets. In a word that His death on the Cross was the fulfillment of prophecy.

Read the story with imagination and see a remarkable word picture. Two men walking out of the Holy City that first Sunday afternoon, talking sadly till finally they stand still looking at each other with sorrowful faces. A stranger approached. His voice is very sympathetic and His face more so. "Why are you so sad" He enquires. They are astonished that any man should live in the City and not know of the awful tragedy. "What things?" He enquires. They look into His face and feel sure that He would not betray them to the Jewish authorities. They speak of Jesus, the Prophet of Nazareth, Who was delivered by the Chief Priests and crucified. Like many patriotic Jews they trusted that He should redeem Israel. Moreover they had heard strange news brought by women that He was seen risen from the dead. They made enquiries. Now listen to the sob of anguish in the man's voice; "But Him they saw not."

They are speaking to the Risen Lord. They do not recognise Him. How true to life the Gospel story is. His resurrection made some great change in Him. This is reasonable. But more than that. He is a Man, who bears in His face the pains, the horrors, the anguish in the Garden of Gethsemane, the cruel trials and scourging, the fearful pains of crucifixion, and above all the horror of the loneliness and desolation as He bore the sin of the world. "The Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." Forty-eight hours ago He had been hanging on the Cross dying. He is bone of our bone, truly man, and these men look upon His face and see the shadow of a great pain.

"He opened to them the Scriptures." What He said is not written. Yet surely He quoted Isaiah, "The Lord hath opened mine ear and I was not rebellious neither turned away back. I gave my back to the smiters and my cheeks to them that plucked off the hair; I hid not my face from shame and spitting. Yet he was numbered with the transgressors." Every age has stumbled at again: "He was wounded for our transgressions; He was bruised for our iniquities and the chastisement of our peace was upon Him and with his stripes we are healed. He hath poured out his soul unto death and these words. Yet in every age some man has discovered that through his suffering he has in some mysterious way brought redemption to his brethren and he has understood to some little extent, how Christ died for the sins of the world.

They are standing at the door of the little cottage. The Stranger's face is turned as though He would go further. They stand one on each side and drawing Him into the home say: "Abide with us." "And He went in to tarry with them." The simple meal is quickly prepared. As devout Jews they say "Grace." But with one accord they look at their Guest, feeling sure He is the one to offer thanks. "He took bread and blessed it and brake, and gave to them. And their eyes were opened, and they knew Him; and He vanished out of their sight."

What is the lesson for us? Two of you are walking together, lovers. You are talking of the future home, its plans, its problems. Remember He glorified a wedding in Cana with His Presence. The Lord's heart goes out to you. Do you realise that He will draw near to you if you desire Him? Again; you are father and mother and talking over the problems of home and its anxieties and responsibilities. Surely He, Who lived in a little cottage and knew poverty and hardship, will draw near to you, if you will have Him.

"JESUS HIMSELF DREW NEAR AND WENT WITH THEM."

The Sin of Adam and Eve

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL.

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 11 is Genesis, chapter 3 and 4, especially 3:1-15, the Golden Text being Ezekiel 18:4, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die.")

ONE OF THE age-old problems of the human race is that which concerns the origin of evil. Is it eternal? Whence and by whom came evil into the world?

An Enemy's Work.

At the close of God's creative work we read (1:31), "God saw everything that he had made, and, behold, it was very good." When we look again we behold doubt, disobedience, devastation and death. If we inquire, in the word of one of our Lord's parables, "Didst thou not sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?" The answer of the sower of the good seed is, "An enemy hath done this." This enemy made the serpent his instrument through which to seduce God's highest creature whom he had made in the very likeness of God. "God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil. And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her, and he did eat."

The Enemy's Tactics.

Satan's method of attack upon the citadel of every human soul is found to be the same, whether in the case of the first Adam in the Garden of Eden or of the last Adam, our Lord Jesus Christ, in the wilderness, or in our own case in everyday life. His first approach and easiest is in the realm of the flesh and its appetites. He persuaded the woman "that the tree was good for food." To the Lord Jesus he said, "Command that these stones be made bread." His method in this realm is always to take a legitimate appetite of the body and suggest that it be satisfied in some illegitimate manner.

From the realm of appetite he turns to that of adventure. He persuaded Eve that the tree was to be desired to make one wise." To Christ he said, "cast thyself down." To us he suggests some "thrill", some appeal to the sensational, some short cut, some easy way to popular acclaim. Anything except the long, hard, offensive road of the cross.

From the realm of appetite and adventure he turns to the realm of ambition, which he attempts to corrupt with sinful pride. To Eve he said, "In the day ye eat thereof ye shall be as gods." To Jesus he showed all the kingdoms of the world and the glory thereof, and said, "All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me." Both were highly desirable ends, but to be attained by devilish means. To us he suggests that "the end justifies the means," "compromise with evil that good may result." He has no other approaches than these three, "the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life."

The Seed of the Woman

Our only adequate Helper against Satan is "the last Adam, Christ Jesus," the "seed of the woman" who was promised in Eden, bruised by Satan on the cross, but who will yet "bruise the serpent's head."

CHIEF SECRETARY SALVATION ARMY

Colonel Walter Peacock To Conduct Week-End Services In Peterborough

Recently promoted to the rank of full colonel and appointed by General Evangeline Booth to the position of chief secretary for the Salvation Army in Canada which also includes Newfoundland, Alaska and Bermuda, Colonel Walter Peacock is to conduct week-end services at the headquarters of the local Corps.

Identified with the Salvation Army for practically the whole of his life, Colonel Peacock is a native of Simcoe County. He is the first native born Canadian to occupy the position to which he has just been appointed.

After serving a number of years at the Toronto Headquarters and other Ontario points he was transferred to Canada West in 1912, positions as Second-in-Command of the work in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, as well as occupying the position of Secretary for the Young People's work for the Western Territory.

In 1919 he was appointed Men's Social Secretary for Canada West; previous to taking on this work he was engaged in organizing financial campaigns at the large centres throughout the Territory.

In September, 1920, Colonel and Mrs. Peacock were transferred to Chicago where for six years the Colonel was Young People's Secretary for the Central Territory of the United State of America.

On January 1, 1927, honoured by an advance of rank, Colonel Peacock was appointed Field Secretary for the Southern Territory of the U.S.A. with Headquarters at Atlanta.

Later he was again appointed to Winnipeg as Field Secretary for the Western Territory.

With amalgamation of the two Canadian territories in July, 1932 he took the position of divisional commander for Montreal and Ottawa, and latterly held the position of field secretary for Canada, Newfoundland, Bermuda and Alaska.

Russia's exhibits at the Paris exposition will include mechanical models of the port of Leningrad, the locomotive works in Vorshilovgrade, the new Socialist agricultural city in Kabardino-Balkaria, and the Moscow-Volga Canal.

A National Message

By REV. W. PASCOE GOARD, LL.D., F.R.G.S., F.R.E.S.

There are many other matters to be reviewed. But this is not the time nor place to do so. We do not so review this situation with the desire to attack another school of thought. We do so to defend ourselves from the perpetual attacks of the modernist school upon the Bible and upon ourselves.

We say to them that while they have adopted a foreign theory of interpretation, we have and do offer the personally tested facts and truth of the Bible as verified by history from the beginning to the present time. Ours is the better claim to scholarship, for we have tested every fact and every truth, and have found that the Book of books stands by every test. We stand upon the Book as verified by history and archaeology. It is so verified to a point which places it, even by the test of human understanding, beyond cavil or dispute.

We hope that we have a faith which would stand without the need of material and historic verifications of the Word of God. But we have also an understanding which has proved the things which matter, by many a sure test, and we claim for our school of thought, knowledge and understanding not possible to those who refuse to possess such knowledge as we delight in.

Our school of thought has no copyright in any knowledge. It is open to all. The difference lies in the will which accepts and the will which rejects the facts and truths.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

"We should ascend out of perversity even as we ascend a mountain that we do not know, with the aid of guides who do know. None who sets forth on an unknown voyage stipulates that the pilot must agree with him as to the course, since manifestly that would be absurd; the pilot is presumed to know; the piloted does not know. None who climb a mountain bargains that the guide shall keep to this or that direction; it is the business of the guide to lead." And yet men hire guides for the spiritual journey (of which they know less than of land or sea) and stipulate that the guide shall lead them thus and so, according to their own imagining; and, instead of obeying him they desert and denounce him, should he lead them otherwise. I find this of the essence of perversity." (From the Book of Sayings of Tsiang Sandup).

Some find it hard to understand why, in spite of Buddha, Plato and Jesus, human nature has not changed as very much in the past three thousand years; yet if we compare the world to a school, which in truth it is, we can see that while the scholars change, yet the standard of teaching must remain at about the same level. If we consider also that to suit their own ideas men have twisted and distorted the messages of the great teachers we get a further insight and we realize that we must get back to the doctrines of the Founders. In respect to Christianity we must lay aside our beliefs and return to Jesus to what He taught, and what manner of life He advocated. It is too often overlooked that His was the only definite message the only plain statement of a way of life by following which any man could enter into a realization of the Kingdom of Heaven; a realization of His divine heritage as a son of God of the immortality of God; the corollary of human brotherhood naturally follows the realization of the Divine Fatherhood. That is the message, all else is elementary. We do not for a moment say that this was all that Jesus taught, there was far more, even without considering the esoteric truths that He half concealed, half revealed but we do say, and with truth, the unless we live in the Christ aspect in our human relationships, our spiritual aspirations are of little, if any value for the foundations are not based on truth.

To return to our opening quotation, we cannot quit ourselves and dictate to our guide as to how or when, and to what degree we will follow him. There can be no spiritual anarchy in the Kingdom of God; for this, as Tsiang Sandup quaintly observes, is "the essence of perversity."

The Sin of Adam and Eve — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Genesis 3:1-4:26. By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell and Alfred J. Hanscher

When God finished his creation, he saw everything that he had made, and, behold, it was very good." All Scripture beautiful and happy. There was no sin in the world, however.

Then the devil, or Satan, entered and, using a serpent as his agent, persuades our first parents, Adam and Eve, to distrust God's love and disobey his word. Thus sin entered the world.

God had said, "In the day thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die." So when they ate in disobedience God drove them out of his paradise.

Though God punished them for their sin, he also promised a Saviour, in the "seed of the woman" who would bruise the serpent's head.

Something to Think About

An inquest was held in Ingersoll to determine the reason why Alfred Grainger of Detroit had met death while driving on the highway near the Ontario town.

A doctor who had examined the fatally injured man from Detroit said he suffered "horrible internal injuries," both lungs having collapsed after being pierced by broken ribs.

A traffic officer was present with pictures showing that the car had travelled for 100 yards after having left the pavement.

A farmer who lives near the scene of the accident said his attention was attracted by the loud noise made when the Detroit machine crashed into a telephone pole.

The jury was satisfied the accident was caused because the attention of the driver had been "momentarily attracted" from the serious business of looking ahead and attending to driving. From the time he left Detroit Mr. Grainger had been driving steadily between 50 and 60 miles an hour. At that rate even a momentary lapse has too much danger in it. In this case it was fatal.

The point is here: Within a few weeks it will be legal to drive a car at 50 miles an hour and we have no doubt there will be many drivers overstepping that new limit. It is probable there will be many of the 50 to 60 mile drivers on the road, and no doubt there will be just as much to cause them to be "momentarily attracted" by something as there was in the case of Mr. Grainger of Detroit.

Both lungs collapsed because they were punctured by broken ribs . . . 100 yards off the highway before stopping . . . crashed into telephone pole . . . 50 to 60 miles an hour . . . and that is going to be not far removed from our legal speed limit.

If Mr. Bennett Retires

According to Ottawa information Hon. R. B. Bennett is thinking seriously of relinquishing leadership of the Conservative party. He is going to the Coronation, after which he will rest in southern France for some time. It is said he will give to the party leaders plenty of time for the calling of a convention to name a leader in case his decision is to retire. In July of this year he will be 67 and Mr. Bennett has led a strenuous life. Few men have received the recognition and tokens of distinction which have been his.

Reading the official Parliamentary Reports it is found that Mr. Bennett is nearly always in the House and in the debate. No matter what problem is being discussed he seems to be fully acquainted with it; he knows what was done before and is aware whether previous action was wise or imprudent. He is forceful and vigorous in debate, but is not bitter. He exhibits the mind of a jurist but is not prejudiced against the outlook or opinion of the layman. If for any reason he is not present during debates then the Conservatives have not within their present ranks a debater who can lead the Opposition as Mr. Bennett does.

The naming of a leader to follow Hon. R. B. Bennett is not going to be easy. He is not surrounded, as is Mr. King, with men like Dunning, Lapointe, Gardiner or Rogers. If Mr. Bennett desires to retire from public life he can do so knowing he has earned retirement by reason of having made his full measure of contribution to the nation and to his party.

He Didn't Want This Printed

There are people who are anxious to have something put in the paper. There are others who take exactly the opposite attitude, and this article has to do with one of the latter. At the risk of trouble later on we begin by giving the man's name—W. R. Parker; he is in the Customs Office and resides at 522 Charlotte street. That, we believe, identifies him so there can be no error.

Mr. Parker plants bulbs and he does it so carefully and thoroughly that they seldom fail to grow and bloom. When they come to the stage of blooming they seem to enjoy it so thoroughly they bloom for a long time. His daffodils look like young sunflowers, and he grows tulips and hyacinths. He searches for the fertilizer he wants; he cuts and prepares the earth he prefers, and in the fall he spends entire evenings working with his bulbs. During the winter he keeps them in pots, cool and dark and moist, and insists they get well rooted before bringing them to the light. This year he had in all 225 pots filled with flowering bulbs.

We do not believe Mr. Parker will object to anything which has been so far written, but we must continue to the point where he insisted that nothing be printed. He does not sell his flowers, but gives them all away—and he has been doing that for 17 years. The Examiner first heard of it from a man outside the city who was in hospital here. He knew no person and found the days rather long until Mr. Parker arrived with a pot of flowers. How many sick folk and shut-in people have been treated similarly during all these 17 years we do not know, but the number would find totality only in a long and impressive list.

The idea seemed to be so entirely wholesome that the Examiner felt it was right that Mr. Parker's request that nothing be said about it should be put to one side for the moment. Living as we are in an age when a good many folk are given to thinking of themselves it seemed right and just that the devotion of an ideal which Mr. Parker has held for 17 years (and perhaps longer) should be brought out in the open. So there it is and we believe our readers will agree that our judgment in this case was correct.

Background of the Strike

THE STRIKE at the Hudson Motor Car Co. has been declared settled, and the plants of that company have been held by sit-down strikers since March 8. The United Automobile Workers Association gain the right to be the bargaining agency for the workers in the three Hudson factories in Detroit. That is the same union which has called the strike in Oshawa, and which is already affecting plants in Windsor and St. Catharines, so that what is taking place in United States is closely related to events in Canada. The same men are planning the strike in Canada who have been calling strikes in United States.

The beginning of the movement has its roots in internal trouble in the American Federation of Labor, the president of which is now William Green. The Federation was organized by crafts or trades, and there might be half a dozen different unions in one factory. That is the policy against which John L. Lewis staged his fight. His idea was to have one organization embracing all workers in any given industry regardless of the trade they followed. Truth is Lewis is stealing the show from the American Federation of Labor. It is not a new idea in this country for the same plan was followed in the furniture strike in Stratford several years ago under the Workers' Unity League.

THE OTTAWA JOURNAL, in a carefully considered survey of the situation, finds considerable political significance in the way in which Lewis has been able to conduct his sit-down strikes without having much trouble with officers or militia. The Journal recalls that when Franklin Roosevelt was running for President last November the United Mine Workers (a Lewis organization) contributed $100,000 to the campaign fund at the same time when industrial heads were putting their weight in a movement to defeat Roosevelt. The Journal continues:

> More than a labor leader is John L. Lewis. He is a politician. Last November, when Franklin Roosevelt, running for the Presidency, denounced "economic royalists," Lewis saw his chance. The United Mine Workers would contribute to the Roosevelt war chest (they put up $100,000). It would be money well spent.
> It was well spent. So when Lewis, who had put up thousands to elect Roosevelt, locked horns with Sloan, (General Motors), who had put up thousands to defeat Roosevelt, there was no doubt where Washington stood. When Lewis' "sit-down" strikers seized Sloan's property illegally, the White House was silent. When the courts gave injunctions to have the "sit-down" strikers ejected, Roosevelt's Michigan captain, curly-headed Governor Murphy, didn't do any ejecting. The political powers were on the side of the strikers.

If that analysis is correct—and it sounds reasonable enough—the attitude of the Roosevelt government is entirely friendly to John L. Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization, while Premier Hepburn has announced at the outset that his government is prepared to oppose the extension of similar tactics in this province, and the Minister of Justice at Ottawa has given notice also that sit-down strikes will not be tolerated here, and with that aspect of the Canadian situation this paper finds itself entirely in accord. But if the C.I.O. officials in Ontario respect and observe the laws of this country then there is no reason that we can see why they should clash with the government.

IT IS NOT difficult to understand Premier Hepburn's outlook on the situation in Oshawa. He finds through his inquiries that working conditions are good at General Motors, and that wages are good. That is well exemplified by the matters under consideration between the men and company prior to the strike. If there was anything which needed adjustment it could have been made. The one point on which the strike was called was recognition of the United Automobile Workers—a John L. Lewis affair. Mr. Hepburn says, and with truth, the government has been paying large amounts of money toward the relief of the men who now have gone on strike. In the Oshawa Times we read of one man who had been called to work after having nothing to do for almost a year. He went to work at 7 in the morning and at 7.01 checked out with the rest of the strikers. That is a point which the government of the province is forced to recognize, and it accounts for the announcement that no relief will be paid to those on strike, the reason for that being that it would be equivalent to subsidizing a strike out of public funds if relief were paid during a time when men could be working but refused to do so.

Actually there is a good deal of political background to the strike in Oshawa and it has its foundation and roots in United States politics as well as in the desire of John L. Lewis and his new form of unionism to wipe William Green and his American Federation of Labor off the map.

It Is Confusing

Under the provisions of the Ontario Industrial Standards the plumbers of Toronto had agreed upon a scale of wages to be paid their employees. A charge was laid in court that one Toronto firm was paying its men less than the standard of wages agreed upon by charging them 15 cents per hour for the use of the firm's trucks. The decision of the magistrate in Toronto was that the firm was guilty of a breach of the Act.

When the case was taken to the Supreme Court of Ontario the finding of the primary court was reversed and announcement made that the agreed schedule exceeded powers granted by the statute. So for the moment it appears that all the work and planning of the Ontario Legislature in bringing this new enactment into existence was of no effect. At least it failed to stand up under the first test to which it was subjected.

To the lay mind this is confusing. In preparing legislation we take it that members of the Legislature must act upon legal advice given by men who are well versed in such matters. It is difficult to believe that a judge of the Supreme Court would be working under any different code of laws to that followed by the Legislature in framing the Act in the first place. To say the least—it is confusing.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A prize of $10 was given at a Brockville banquet for the tallest yarn told. Imagine getting paid for what so many people do for nothing!

Law students in Chicago are to receive training in crime detection. Later of course they will get some post graduate education from their clients.

Toronto burlesque shows are to be made cleaner and that would seem to be an operation that would require the whole resources of the Board of Health and the sanitary department.

There have been no labor troubles in the Windsor plant of General Motors but the 500 employees there are jobless because of the Oshawa situation. Strikes have a tendency to work out that way.

It is said that Henry Ford may adopt a minimum daily wage of $10. That would be an argument that the most eloquent apostle of the C.I.O. would find difficulty in meeting.

Ontario's new road program is hailed as solving to a great extent the unemployment problem. But road work after all supplies a surprisingly small number of jobs in proportion to the amount of money expended.

The farmers around Hershey, Pa., who threw the strikers out of a chocolate factory because the market for their milk was being cut off demonstrated that the sit-down method is not invincible.

Five members of the Massey council have resigned because they could not satisfy the folk on relief. Measured by that yardstick a lot of municipal governments would be forced to toss in their hands.

Philadelphia reports that of the $21,000,000 spent under the home improvement plan, $14,000,000 went for labor. In other words the scheme took men off the unemployed lists and at the same time provided thousands of citizens with better homes.

It is suggested that President Roosevelt should call a general peace conference to revise the treaty of Versailles. The most obvious thing about that proposal is that any change in the treaty would necessarily have to be an improvement.

SHE PAINTS

(By A. B. K.)

¶ Alfalfa's started in to paint, although she is refined and quaint, and she is plump and round; and she can mix up things and bake, and never will it cause an ache, no better can be found.

¶ Alfalfa paints no woodland scenes, or flying birds or hills of beans, no violet and no rose; I'm sure she buys her paint in cans, in reds and orange, shades of tans, and puts it on her nose.

¶ I think she wields a dreadful paw, when she planks some upon her jaw, she's just a well-grown child; but when her war paint has been laid, I always feel somewhat afraid, Alfalfa looks too wild.

¶ She has good health and she is strong, so happy that she hums a song, she's strong in spine and hips; but then I shudder as she comes, and notice paint that strays and runs when she dabs at her lips.

¶ When she puts paint upon her cheek, she does not look so mild and meek, I don't know what it's for; I fear she'll get a sword and spear, if she thinks enemies are near, and she'll be off to war.

¶ Alfalfa lacks a touch. I fear, in touching up her frontal gear, I know she means no harm; she would do better work I know, if she'd some day pick up and go—and start to paint a barn.

Our Statesmen At Their Labors

Parliamentary Reports

YES—WITHDRAW

Mr. R. A. PELLETIER (Peace River): Mr. Chairman, in rising I should like to thank you very much for finally having noticed that I have the floor.

The CHAIRMAN: Order. That is a reflection on the chair, and the hon. member must withdraw it.

Mr. PELLETIER: It was just by way of offering my thanks, Mr. Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN: I have no intention of getting into an argument with the hon. member, but I have not been unfair to him in any way, and I ask him to withdraw his remarks as a reflection on the chair.

Mr. PELLETIER: I am quite agreeable to that, Mr. Chairman.

AGREED!

Mr. BENNETT: Before that is proceeded with, someone should move the adoption of the report that has just been read.

Mr. POULIOT: I object to the way the motion is drafted. It should be amended. These bills cannot be submitted for consideration in committee of the whole and for third reading; they must be considered by the committee and given third reading later.

Mr. BENNETT: I did not quite follow the proceedings, Mr. Speaker; did you declare the motion carried in regard to the adoption of the report which was read?

Mr. SPEAKER: That was simply a report of the committee, reporting upon these bills.

Mr. BENNETT: Then this motion to put these bills on the order paper for consideration certainly cannot include third reading, which must be for the house to determine.

Mr. TURGEON: Then perhaps the words "and for third reading" might be deleted.

Mr. POULIOT: I am delighted to see that the right hon. leader of the opposition agrees with me.

Motion as amended agreed to.

POOR FAMILIES

Mr. POULIOT: Joseph Pelletier, of St. Jean de la Lande, has two boys aged nine and seven years. He has no timber of any kind and only two animals, one cow and one pig. He has fourteen hens. Although ordinarily he receives direct relief, he did not get the last payment because he had received a cheque of $28.83 as a settler's premium. He owed that premium on the cow he had purchased. His statement is, "I need my relief for my family."

These are sad cases. As settlers some of these farmers receive a small amount of relief. They have to live on it, and can make no money in addition. If they make $4, $5 or $10 on the road they must lose their relief. If a settler buys a horse he has to transfer his colonization premiums, and the money he gets for working on the roads, or from any other source. If he sells some timber he gets no more direct relief and then he cannot pay for his animals. Suppose a farmer purchases a horse for $150, the current price. He transfers his settler's premium and anything he can get for his timber to the one who sells him the horse. Suppose that amounts to $100; that is given as a guarantee. Just because he has that money due to him he does not receive direct relief. When he cannot pay the balance of $50, the horse dealer comes and takes the horse away and the settler has nothing and is still unable to get direct relief. This is an absurd situation. I understand that they have tried to make some improvement but I do not see how it can be done. The whole responsibility rests with the provincial government and especially with Mr. Laforce. This man has been loaned by the Canadian National Railways to the Quebec Department of Colonization.

CAUSES UNEMPLOYMENT

Mr. BLACKMORE: Before I proceed may I direct the attention of hon. members of this committee to the fact that this picture shows why the United States and Canada are going to be more troubled with unemployment than any other nation on earth.

Canada and the United States use about $22.00 worth of machinery per individual; England, about $11; Germany next with $9; agricultural France about $5; in Russia the figure would be about 80 cents; and China not over 40 cents per individual.

A moment's reflection upon these figures, Mr. Chairman, will show hon. members why Russia, for example, can find work for all her people. It will be noted that Russia has only 80 cents worth of machinery per individual, while we have $22.00 worth. Is it not abundantly manifest that we are bound to have unemployment, though at the same time we have the machinery with which to produce so much more of everything that human beings can need?

Mr. WOOD: Is that in relation to agricultural production?

Mr. BLACKMORE: No, as I understand it this is for all production.

Mr. WOOD: Was not the figure quoted for Germany rather small?

Mr. BLACKMORE: No, the figure for Germany was $9. I am sorry if I did not make it clear.

Mr. ISNOR: Just before the hon. gentleman leaves that point in regard to the cost of production I should like to ask a question. If I remember rightly, he quoted a figure of $22.00 per person in connection with the use of machinery in Canada, as against $9 in Germany. What is his point? Is the difference due to mass production?

Mr. BLACKMORE: No, the point is that you can produce a great deal more per capita, and you will require less human labour. The result is that with increased production you will unavoidably have more unemployment.

Mr. ISNOR: Then you say that the population of a country does not enter into the cost of production at all?

Mr. BLACKMORE: That is a point which we ought to discuss in greater detail at some other time, because the question cannot be answered by yes or no. It is likely to bring difficulties. The principle I am laying down is perfectly sound, namely that our ability to produce in Canada and in the United States is greater than that of any other country. At the same time we are going to have less production with much less human work.

Peterborough Ninety Years Ago.

A fascinating glimpse of the early days of Peterborough is furnished in the four pages of the Weekly Despatch of January 13, 1847, a remarkably well preserved copy of which has been loaned to the Examiner by W. R. Parker, 522 Charlotte St.

This ancient newspaper, published three years before Peterborough was incorporated as a town, and less than thirty years after Adam Scott had made his way up the winding Otonabee and landed near the mouth of what is now called the Jackson Park creek to become the first resident of Peterborough, contains names that once were household ones in this community and are now merely a memory, some of them recalled by the streets named after them.

For example there was the staff at the court house as mentioned in this particular issue. There was W. S. Conger who was the sheriff, F. Ferguson who was the government land agent, W. H. Wrighton, clerk of the peace and W. Sheridan, district clerk. Conger died many years ago and his name is commemorated by a street of the same name. W. H. Wrighton who lived to a ripe old age, was prominent in many departments of public life and is still well remembered by many citizens. Sheridan on the other hand has been dead many years, sleeping in the old cemetery north of Nicholls Hospital where the monument over his grave still remains as the most prominent in that ancient burying ground.

The Despatch was published by George Hazlehurst and in its own words it was "devoted to agriculture, science, commerce, public improvement, the diffusion of useful knowledge and general information and all this could be had for ten shillings a year, if paid in advance or otherwise for fifteen shillings per annum. The motto proudly carried by the paper across its front page was a quotation from Junius: "We have nothing to fear from prerogative but everything from undue influence." The office of the publication was on Hunter St. at the corner of Chamber St.

Little Local News

A glance over the four pages of the issue reveals very little local news. There is an obituary notice of the passing of E. K. McLeod, a young Scot, who was buried by the Oddfellows and a "large concourse of citizens" in the Presbyterian burying ground, and a brief mention of the election for the Monaghan council in which four candidates, Messrs. Thompson, Fowler, Chambers and Nicholls competed for two places and the first two named were successful. The only other news items appears to be the following "Main Street" of its day—"The Court of Quarterly Session began Tuesday but as business was light we have nothing of importance to note."

Nor was the grist of Dominion and world news much heavier. The most important Canadian item was the result of the election held in Canada West and Canada East shortly before while the paragraphs dealing with outside events mentioned briefly that the epidemic of cholera in Constantinople was subsiding rapidly, that the London Times reported that crimes and outrages were continuing undiminished in Ireland and the state of Tipperary, Roscommon, Limerick and other sections was deplorable and that there had been an insurrection in the two Sicilies and the position of the King was one of extreme danger.

A Political Editorial

The politics of the Despatch can be judged from the fact that the editorial leader for this particular issue started off as follows: "It is with great pleasure we announce the successful termination of the election contest in the county with the return of the Liberal candidate James Hall—grandfather of Deputy-sheriff P. J. A. Hall—with the handsome majority of 91." "Every species of deception was resorted to and every description of influence was brought to bear on the electors to compel them or induce them to vote for the Tories."

Incidentally the editor must have suffered from absent-mindedness the previous week for he apologizes for the fact that in the first issue for 1847 he had forgotten to extend New Year's greetings, making amends therefor by declaring "The future is full of hope—1847 we fondly hope is destined to form a bright era in the history of Canada," and had also neglected to note the appointment of O. R. Hall to the bench—an appointment which he is happy to say "appears to give universal satisfaction."

They Did It Then, Too

The idea that the selling of all kinds of goods by drug stores is a modern development is incidentally knocked into the proverbial cocked hat by the ninety-year-old newspaper. The firm of A. McPhail and Co., "chemists, druggists and apothecaries," was one of the principal advertisers in the 1847 Despatch and its long notice to the public called attention to the fact that in addition to a lengthy list of drugs and medicines the store also had for sale paints and oils, glassware, fancy goods, artists' supplies, pickles, sauces, spices, candies, candied lemon, etc.

The law was represented in the advertising by James Cotts who described himself as a solicitor in chancery and located his office as one door north of "Mr. Harper's new store on George St.

Among the businessmen of that long ago period who showed their belief in printer's ink were Joseph Shaw, a tailor, G. H. Lennon who kept a dry goods store, Henry Ashfield, gunsmith, Wm. Snyder, general store proprietor, James E. Bigelow, tin and copper smith, Wm. Eastland, who advertised "fancy and staple dry goods and James C. Kerr, painter, glazier and carriage and sleigh painter. Only two hotels used the newspaper to appeal for business. They were The Albert House on Hunter St., which J. H. Ziellar announced he had just taken over and was prepared to offer to travellers and residents "All the conveniences to be found in the most celebrated hotels in the province, and the North American hotel, whose proprietor, T. J. Dennachy, advertised that he would in addition carry on his usual business of conveyancing. C. Perry and Company had a notice to the effect that they had just received 2000 pieces of room paper from New York, and Duncan McLeod whose hardware store was known by the sign of The Saw, informed the district of wonderful bargain prices. Thomas Hurley's furniture and undertaking establishment was located on King St. and his advertisement told the public that he made coffins at the shortest notice and was prepared to supply a hearse with one or two horses as required—with plumes.

Industrial Opportunities

Future industrial development was hinted at in the notice from G. S. Hall that he had for lease sites for grist mills, distilleries, tanneries and chair factories, while the fore-runner of Ontario's highway system of today can be seen in a notice over the name of John Beatty Jr. of Cobourg to the effect that an application would be made at the next meeting of the Legislature for the extension of the charter of the "Cobourg and the Lake Plank Road and Petty Cove to Peterborough.

An institution that has happily long since faded from memory is mentioned in another interesting advertisement which said that women, boys and girls as servants and apprentices could be secured at the Widows and Orphans Asylum. The only address given was Peterborough east.

Real estate chances were not neglected in this particular issue. Wm. Gilchrist—a well-remembered name—offered for sale Lot 3, south of Charlotte St. and west of George, the "residence of the late James Wright" and Park No. 11, adjoining the residence of James McDonnel." Thos. Leonard stressed the advantages of the house and lot he had for sale, with a good well in the kitchen, shed and stable at the rear and a small garden with some fruit trees.

The front page of the Despatch was quantity enough, given up to the lover of fiction, for the most important item appearing therein was a short story entitled "The Brigantine of Lake Erie," which appeared to be a genuine thriller.

A Bit of Nonsense

Unusual

"Ladies and gentlemen," said the after-dinner speaker, "before I begin my address I have something that I want to say to you."

A GHASTLY WARNING.

(Ottawa Journal)

WITHOUT the least suggestion of an attempt to place the responsibility, it should be said that the horrible triple tragedy at Winchester emphasizes more forcibly than millions of words the importance of safe driving.

On a paved highway clear and straight and dry was a funeral procession of motor cars—the funeral of a young man fatally injured in an automobile accident. An oil truck was moving in the opposite direction. A horse and buggy was pulled up on the shoulder at one side. Off the pavement on a side road were women with baby carriages. Every circumstance in the set-up called for caution on the part of everybody concerned.

Just what happened we may know when the official inquiry is concluded, but in a moment this peaceful bit of road was a scene of horror. One young man was dead. Two other men were dying. Half a dozen others were cut and bruised. It was a grim place of blood and death, of suffering and destruction.

Nothing can be built into motor vehicles that will prevent such tragedies. There is nothing the law can do to make such things impossible. The remedy lies solely with drivers, and it is a pity every motorist in Ontario could not have passed along that Winchester road Friday afternoon when it offered, at the cost of three lives, so striking a lesson.

AN ORDINARY FELLOW.

(London Cor. Ottawa Journal)

WE are indebted to the Archbishop of Canterbury for one of the most endearing authentic anecdotes about the late King George V. It will be remembered that in a public broadcast the Archbishop told how the late Sovereign was impressed by the popular demonstrations on the occasion of his silver jubilee celebrations, and exclaimed that he could not understand such manifestations, because, "After all, I am just an ordinary fellow."

That little episode, so characteristic of King George V, is now to be commemorated in a novel way. A new inn has been built at Chatham, with a license transferred from an old place known as "The Brown Jug," and the new inn will be called "The Ordinary Fellow."

It seems a very happy departure in the nomenclature of inns, and no surer way could be found of perpetuating the Archbishop's intimate revelation of simple quality. "The Ordinary Fellow" Inn will excite curiosity and explanation, as long as it stands.

MORE BUYING POWER.

(Galt Reporter)

ONE of the satisfactory results of increased purchasing power of farmers due to higher prices for produce and livestock is a much greater demand throughout Ontario for farm labor at higher wages than have been offered for several years. In many centres it is reported the demand for farm help is as great or greater than the labor supply, an unusual condition at this time of year. A little later in the season there will be seen more work offered on the farms than at the present time.

The rising demand for labor in the agricultural sections should have some effect in lessening the relief rolls. It should at least encourage municipalities to take single men off relief as soon as spring work really opens up.

Returning prosperity for the farmers will stimulate the optimism of business men so as to prosperity for 1937. During the years when agricultural prices were at such a low ebb, many requirements on the farm, from implements to home improvements, had to be postponed. With money in their pockets the farmers will naturally want to satisfy some of these postponed needs and business generally will benefit accordingly.

Harried Reliefers Find Church Haven

Columbus, O., April 10.—(CP)—A defiant group of 100 relief seekers occupied a church today as a haven from the office of Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio from which they were dragged or carried by sheriff's deputies.

Six of their organizers were in jail for investigation, cut off from all but attorneys. A committee of the Ohio Workers' Alliance took over the leadership and declared they would stay in the state capital until their demands were met.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN McGILL
(Examiner Correspondence)

YELVERTON, April 10.— Residents of the Yelverton community were shocked to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. John McGill on Wednesday evening, April 7th. The late Mrs. McGill had been going about as usual and attended a W. A. meeting in connection with her church on Tuesday. On Wednesday evening she suffered a heart attack and died before twelve o'clock.

Before her marriage she was Miss Annie Argue, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Argue, of Manvers, where deceased had lived her entire life. About fifty years ago she was united in marriage in Bethany to Mr. John McGill and to this union was born one son, Lavergne, who is married and living across the road from his parents near Yelverton.

The late Mrs. McGill leaves to mourn her loss, besides her sorrowing husband and son one brother, William Argue of Manvers Station, three sisters, Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Sanderson of Peterborough, Mrs. Les. Sargenson of Toronto, as well as Miss Annie Argue, who has lived at the McGill home for some years. Predeceasing her are a sister, Mrs. Wm. Brisbin of Toronto, George Argue of Port Hope, who died two years ago, and a brother, Thomas, of Yelverton, who passed on a few months ago.

The McGill family are members of the Presbyterian church at Janetville, will officiate at the funeral service, the pastor, Rev. V. Walkdens, with interment at the Janetville cemetery.

The late Mrs. McGill, who was 73 years of age, was a highly respected citizen, who is well known, having lived at her late residence ever since her marriage, where she capably assisted her husband in his occupation as a farmer. Although her health was not perfect, she enjoyed church activities and was keenly interested in community welfare. She will be greatly missed by a host of friends.

EMMET ALLEN

The death occurred this (Saturday) morning at the family residence Lot 6, Concession 4, Douro Township of Emmet Allen, son of Mrs. Margaret Allen and the late Edmund Allen, in his 20th year. Besides his mother he leaves two brothers, Herbert and Norman, and a sister, Mabel. Funeral announcement later.

playing into the hands of your opposition (General Motors) if you stop these trucks going into the plant.

"I am asking you to believe me on one point, that I am absolutely above board with you and that in my interpretation of the law in this matter—in the strict words of the law—they can come in and out of the plant as they wish," said the Mayor, who served several years as Ontario county crown attorney.

The mayor said production was tied up—"that's what you want." He said he didn't believe the company was bringing in men to break the strike "and if they take every part of that building there it would only be a drop in the bucket."

Thompson said Homer Martin, president in United States of the United Automobile Workers in America would arrive in Toronto at three o'clock this afternoon by aeroplane from Detroit. He will arrive later in Oshawa, where the C.I.O. organizer said, a parade would be held in his honor. Martin will address a mass meeting here Sunday night.

Lauds Strikers.

"I am highly pleased there has been no trouble," said Mayor Alex Hall. "I am glad the strike has continued orderly. After all there's no reason why it shouldn't. These men are a very superior type of workmen. At least I think they are, although maybe I'm biased. I knew them all, have known them for years, went to school with most of them here."

Provincial Constable Tom Mitchell, regularly stationed at Oshawa, was on the spot early. Police Chief Owen D. Friend and six municipal constables and eight deputy constables appointed by United Automobile Workers' Union patrolled in front of the building to avert any trouble.

Several constables were drawn towards an argument among three employees, but there was no action.

"Law and order must be maintained," was the ultimatum Mayor Hall delivered shortly after midnight to the union. He demanded "an unequivocal" retraction be made by Organizer Hugh Thompson of the statement the union would allow employees to return to work but would not be responsible for "any accident" that might happen to them at or near their homes.

"Any ordinary person reading such a statement would interpret it as a threat of terrorism, a threat of racketeering," said Mayor Hall.

Shipments As Usual.

A company spokesman announced the firm intended to ship parts to dealers "in the ordinary way."

"The parts will be prepared for shipment—that was the reason for having the men enter the department—and the express companies or freight companies will be notified in the usual way that shipments are ready," the spokesman continued. "It is then up to the express and freight companies to move them."

"The company's attitude is that these parts are in no way connected with the manufacture of cars and are, therefore, not involved in any strike," he said. "These are replacement parts to be sent to dealers for repairs of cars. It is not right that a man whose car has broken down and who is prepared to have it repaired should be deprived of its use.

"The parts will be shipped out to Ontario dealers and to our nine other sub-station part departments across Canada."

All Parts Staff at Work.

The entire office staff of about 40 employees in the Parts Department returned to work, it was learned. The remainder of the 60 who entered the department were manual workers, whose duties are to sort out parts and prepare them for shipment.

Ordinarily about 120 are employed in the department, including the 40 office workers. No office workers belong to the Automobile Workers' Union. It is understood none of the 20 manual workers who returned belongs to the union.

Hugh Thompson, C.I.O. organizer, to-day declined to make any statement regarding the union attitude if the company attempted to ship the parts. Earlier he declared the union was weaker in the Parts Department than in any other section of the plant.

The union claims 97 per cent. of the firm's 3,700 employees are members.

"We announced that doors would be open for the return of workers ordinarily employed there," the company spokesman said. "If no one had showed up, we would have waved to the strikers, said, 'Well, that's that,' and closed the doors again. We did not know definitely whether anyone would return to work. The employees in the plant will work all afternoon and there will be a skeleton staff on hand Sunday as usual."

As the workers entered the plant only jeers and such remarks as "What would your mother think of you now?"; "Why don't you crawl?"

Baldwin Soon Ready To Quit Premier's Job

Warns Of Fascism, Communism And Belief They Cannot Come Britain's Way

ALIEN TO EMPIRE

WORCESTER, England, April 10.—(AP)—Prime Minister Baldwin, predicting his own imminent retirement, warned Great Britain today to safeguard itself against "the virus of either communism or fascism."

"I don't think this country is in danger of having a mass conclusion," he told Conservative constituents here, "but don't let us think in our happy-go-lucky way that such a thing cannot come to Great Britain.

"There is nothing more important that to keep our country in solving our own constitutional problems."

Baldwin said he felt he was no longer as strong as he once was and hoped to retire before he became an impediment to his government.

"Far better to go when people may still think of you as perhaps not incompetent," he said, "than to stay until, perhaps, they know before you do that you are becoming incompetent."

TUG'S FOUNDERING LOSING SIX LIVES

Owner And Charterer Of Frederick A. Lee Assessed $100 And $500

SARNIA, Ont., April 10.—(CP).—The owner and charterer of the tug Frederick A. Lee, which sank in Lake Huron off Bayfield Beach, Nov. 13, 1936, were fined $100 and $500 respectively in the findings of Justice Ainslie W. Green, Ottawa wreck commissioner and his assistants, Captain O. D. Frewer, Toronto, and Captain Wendell Brown, Sarnia, nautical assessors, made public here to-day, two months after they conducted an inquiry into the sinking.

"No definite finding can be made as to the cause of the foundering of the tug Lee," the finding said. "Evidence points strongly to the loss of the vessel being caused by her unseaworthy condition but the court declines to make a finding to that effect as the evidence was all circumstantial and does not admit definite other possible causes of the foundering.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, April 11

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE is a very complicated one, with very conflicting and baffling auguries. There are omens of difficulties, perplexities, strife, intrigue and confusion, and at the same time presage of happy and pleasant social as well as business relations. Money or property losses, or loss of prestige and power are shown.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves plunged in a year of conflicting and contradictory adventures, with some afflictions and trials but much of good. These may attend sudden good news of major significance. Safeguard finances and property, however. Take no impulsive chances.

A child born on this day may have a many-sided nature, difficult to understand and direct. It may be very brilliant, versatile, adventurous and ambitious, but, at the same time, showy, extravagant and self-indulgent. Its social and affectional life may overshadow its practical application to every day matters.

For Monday, April 12

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL horoscope, judging by the lunar transits, is a very important one, prophetic of sudden developments. These may be in connection with propositions made by rings, mergers, secret societies or political or diplomatic circles.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a very important year, with large issues at stake. These may concern new contracts, openings or propositions from closed corporations, mergers, secret bodies or diplomatic or political circles. Sudden flews may call for a hasty rearrangement of the affairs, with change of plans, surroundings and contacts. New inventions or discoveries may be implicated.

A child born on this day must be original and talented in order to satisfy ordinary directions, attracting the attention and promotional facilities of large interests, perhaps in secret affairs also. Political or diplomatic honors or recognition may bring it into the limelight.

Bathroom of Jade With Cream Tiles In Peterboro Home

All Fixtures In Pastel Shade Of Green Replace Conventional White

RANGE OF COLORS

Orchid Pink, Citrus Yellow And Sun Tan Suggest New Beauty

Imagine your bathroom with its cold monotone white changed to soft jade, a pastel shade of green, with tiled walls of oven cream relieved by a strip of jade around the top and bottom.

That was what a plumber tactfully suggested to a westend woman, wife of a Peterborough business man, one day early in December.

Take a look around your own bathroom sometime and fancy the transformation. Bathtub, washstand (and was there a dressing piece with mirror) all the good old fashioned standard and universal white deeply suffused with a delicate shade of green. The shower curtain around the tub is also jade. The walls are of cream tile with two narrow lines of jade at the base and cap reflecting the dominant color of the bathroom scheme. More harmony in the tiled floor, application of interior decoration to and in other details of this modern the room that has been so long neglected in nearly every home.

Bathroom Beauty

"This adventure with beauty in a bathroom began simply enough. The silent flushing of the toilet has picked up a little noise, and the plumber was called in to fix it. Somehow a casual conversation about bathrooms led around to the new color ideas that enable the home lover to extend into that room the impress of individuality that is found elsewhere throughout the house.

A fairly wide range of pastel tints is available. For example some person might prefer orchid pink, or India ivory. Some one else might rather have lavender or citrus yellow, and so on. One of these shades is "sun tan" which insinuates a hint of humor in the designing of more intimate and subtle harmonies in the privacy of the bath.

Apparently the plumber in this story, which must be anonymous, is a man of keen perception and some aptitude for salesmanship. He realized that the lady of this westend home was essentially of artistic temperament, and unerringly he mentioned and suggested for her bathroom the pale jade treatment. For some others it would be orchid pink or citrus yellow, or even the "sun tan"; but for this lady he knew it was the delicate shade of green and no other.

Appeal of Color

He talked color as the modern touch in the bathroom; possibly he may have said that the universal white was satisfactory for hospitals and other standardized and impersonal places; but for those home owners who could afford something a little better than the formerly inevitable white new colored bathroom appointments really afforded the ultimate effect in interior decoration.

The plumber suggested a visit to Toronto to see the pale jade tub and its satellites as they would look when transferred to the Peterborough home; also a visit to the factory for harmonizing ideas.

"I don't think the lady was home ten minutes that night when she telephoned me that she was sold on the jade," the story continues.

Eventually the work was completed. Peterborough has few bathrooms to compare with it; perhaps none so delicately beautiful and at the same time so modernly efficient.

LAYS DOUBLE-YOLK EGGS.

ROULEAU, Sask., April 10.—(CP).—Chong Chow, Chinese restaurant owner in this town, 30 miles south of Regina, claims one of his Barred Rock pullets had laid a double-yolked egg every day since it started laying two weeks ago. Chong says he has a hen with similar propensity each year.

Coronation Stamp

This new Canadian postage stamp of three-cent denomination, a special coronation issue, red in color and double size and bearing portraits of the King and Queen, will be issued on May 10. On the same date remaining values of the non-commemorative King George VI stamps will be issued in 4-cent blue, 5-cent blue, and 8-cent orange. The issuing of these three stamps will complete the set, first values which were issued April 1.

Guests have been delightfully surprised to discover this ultra decorative note and one of them lamented a comparatively recent white installation which she had paid for, whereas she might have selected that orchid pink, the India ivory, or why note the sun tan. Temperamentally artistic, too, this lady whose tub is probably the gleaming and unexpressive and untempting white, and it could just as well have been the orchid pink—not quite as cool and aloof as the jade for only 25 per cent. more!

Effect On Spirit

If you are affected by color and responsive to delicate influences that attune the spirit this new bathroom idea will naturally appeal to you; especially to the women of the homes. Just imagine, once more, starting the day poised by a jade bathroom, or stepping high from the sun tan, or gently glowing with the rightness of the world as it appeared in the orchid pink atmosphere which you can have in your own home if you want.

Of course the white is utilitarian, sanitary, and all that, but how about the little more "and how much it is," adding color to the morning adjustments to the new day, to say nothing about the evenings.

FLYING BIRD TRAP.

HELENA, Mont., April 10.—(CP).—H. B. Reuschenberg's plane "hit a bump." A quick survey by the pilot showed the head of a whistling swan caught on the left wing, another bird on the rudder and a third smashed against the cowling.

An Act to Amend Assessment Act

His Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, enacts as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as The Assessment Amendment Act, 1937.

2. (1) The value of any improvements made to a building by means of a loan obtained under the Home Improvement Loans Guarantee Act, 1937 (Canada), or under any other Act of the Parliament of Canada heretofore or hereafter passed for assisting by loan or guarantee the improvement of homes shall not be added to the value of the building for the purpose of assessment under The Assessment Act, it shall be the duty of an assessor in valuing a building which has been improved by means of such a loan to exclude from assessment the value of such improvements; and if the assessment of any such buildings is increased in any year it shall prima facie, be assumed that the whole or some portion of the value of the said improvement has been included in the assessment and upon an appeal in such a case the assessment shall be reduced by the amount of the increase or a portion thereof if it is not established to the satisfaction of the court that the value of the building has otherwise increased.

(2) Subsection 1 shall be deemed to have come into force on the 1st day of January, 1937, and with respect to any building which has been improved by means of a loan obtained under The Home Improvement Loans Guarantee Act, 1937 (Canada) shall remain in force until the 31st of December, 1939, or until the expiration of three years from the date when the loan was obtained, which ever shall last occur.

Old Houses Well Constructed Remodelling Not Difficult

Many Often Over-Decorated With Cut-Up Rooms

WHAT ONE OWNER DID

A family moved into an old house. It had been built in the period of over-decorated and cut-up rooms, but was well constructed and spacious. The new owners set about modernizing the home with as small an expenditure as possible.

Much of the "ginger-bread" was removed from the exterior of the house and it was repainted. The interior was completely renovated.

The dining room was situated on the least sunny corner of the house. The woodwork had been painted a dark colour and the walls covered with dark brown paper. The owner wanted a cheerful dining room and planned the room accordingly.

The woodwork was refinished in ivory. The floors were scraped, varnished and waxed. A wainscoting, about one third the height of the room, furnished an effective background for the dark finish of the furniture. A scenic wall paper was used on the remainder of the walls. Pale blue and green hills and sky were accented by brilliant figures in gay costumes. The resulting room was, in effect, as cheery as the summer scene portrayed by the paper.

The tiles in the fireplace were a pale green and this colour was carried out with the numerous ferns and plants which the owner placed about the room. On the coldest winter day the room brought to mind pictures of the summer just ahead.

Funds for remodelling and redecorating the home are available under the Home Improvement Plan.

STEAL HYDRANT PLUGS.

WINNIPEG, April 10.—(CP).—Rising prices of metal is believed by police the reason for an outbreak of petty theft here. Thieves made a $260 haul yesterday, stripping brass work fro mthree railway locomotives. Twenty-five city hydrant plugs were missing.

With the Girl Guides

On Monday the Girl Guides of the 1st Company gathered at the Guide headquarters. During the night special marching was practised in preparation for the Coronation ceremonies to be held in Peterborough.

In the Campfire the Guides were informed of the Beaborough Shield competition. For this shield, each patrol must keep two log books: a Nature Log Book and a Hike Log Book. For the Nature Log Book they must observe a certain area for a set time and record their observations of everything discovered about the flora and fauna. In the Hike Log they must write and illustrate an account of four hikes. This will prove to be a very interesting undertaking.

BELGIUM FACING THE CROSSROADS

challenge. The government parties united in support of his shocking attack on the Catholic Church. The fight became a straight one between fascism and democracy.

And it has been such a fight as Brussels never saw before. Virulent posters clutter the city. Van Zeeland is branded a prisoner of Moscow. Degrelle is described as Hitler's lackey. A rat with a human head depicts Van Zeeland caught in his own trap.

Racing cars draped in the Belgian colors parade the streets bearing Van Zeeland posters. Rexist workers daily shower thousands of leaflets on the startled electors. Degrelle has five campaign sheets fighting every inch of the way. Government supporters charge Rexist money is coming from Germany. It is rumored that as a final fling Van Zeeland will reveal the sources of Rexist funds.

It is generally predicted Van Zeeland will win easily, that the only question remaining is the size of his majority. The blank ballot lends a touch of uncertainty. Voting is compulsory but there is nothing to prevent the elector dropping blank paper into the ballot box. The Communists, to mark their opposition to Fascism, have been giving some not altogether appreciated support to Van Zeeland. A number of the Prime Minister's Catholic supporters as a consequence, rather than vote with the Communists, likely will vote blank.

Bishop Attacks Rexists.

Yesterday, however, the Archbishop of Malines called upon them to vote and attacked the Rexists.

The rapid rise of the Rexist movement is one of the marvels of political development. Within 12 months it rose from nothing to a recognized party. It began under the name of "Christus Rex" (Christ the King), a group within the Belgian Catholic Party. Its program was to cleanse the party of alleged abuses. When the Van Zeeland cabinet was founded in March, 1935, Degrelle still was trying to get placed on the Catholic Party list in Liege for elections due in 1936.

Then Degrelle branched out. The use of "Christus" was dropped. Rex alone was retained. Degrelle carried war against Liberal and Socialist public men. He opened a starting anti-Communist campaign. Rex Candidates were nominated in every constituency through Belgium. In the general elections of May 25, 1936, the Rexists secured 270,000 votes and won 21 seats out of a total of 202.

So now the battle lies between Van Zeeland, whose soft voice in polished French so delights International gatherings, and Degrelle, young, vicorous, virulent, determined to sweep away what he calls a rotten regime.

RENTED HOUSE FOR 47 YEARS

Family Paid The Landlord For Nearly Half a Century And Then Moved Out

MORAL OF OWNERSHIP

A little item in the local news this week related that a Peterborough family was moving out of a house which its members had occupied as tenants for forty-seven years and six months.

Of course they had the use of the house for that long time, but as a residue of permanent value all that could be said in this case was "naught's had, all's spent."

Temporary tenacy is often well adapted to circumstances of prospects and outlook, but with ordinary assurance of permanent abode and security it is a mistaken policy. Often a family puts off investing in a home for one reason or another, and the drifting years fail to produce the decision and action to put their money into the possession of a house of their own. Eventually they will pay for it, even as they make monthly payments of rent, and in the end they have not only occupation and use of the house, but they have actual value of it.

Such a family thereby acquires real estate which can be converted into cash at any time.

Peterborough has many a young married couple paying thirty dollars a month as tenants which might be invested in a house of their own. It requires some sacrifice. Probably the monthly payments on the kind of house they desire would exceed $30; but their reward comes not only in the sense of present possession, but also in the eventual reality of brick and stone, hardwood floors and furnace, which represent a large part of their investment that will be returnable to them if they ever decide to sell.

Thirty dollars a month rent for ten years amounts to $3,600. The landlord is making interest on his investment and still has the house. The tenant has to move on to some other roof, at the end of ten years or in such extreme instances as forty-seven years.

"Mister— THAT FINDLAY STERLING WILL SAVE YOU 15% OUT OF EVERY 100% YOU SPEND FOR FUEL!"

YOUR furnace man knows — and if you are your own furnace man, it will not take you long to find out — that a Findley Sterling Moistair will give you this saving.

Or, to put it another way, 15 to 20 per cent. more heat for the same fuel.

The Findley Sterling "heat shield," two inches inside the casing and the heat-retaining apron ending the firepot give you two supreme advantages — no loss of heat in the basement, enough warmth for an extra room upstairs. The scientific humidification of a Sterling Moistair also helps make your home more comfortable.

If your present furnace does not heat your home satisfactorily — if you are building a new home, or remodeling the old — now is the time to investigate the FINDLAY STERLING MOISTAIR.

Ask your dealer or your banker how you can obtain funds for financing this improvement—or write direct to Findlays Limited, Carleton Place, Ont., about our easy payment plan.

CHILDREN WANT PLACE TO HOLD SECRET MEETINGS

As Child Grows Older Room May Be Put To Other Uses

BASEMENT OR ATTIC

The parent who wants to make a hit with the very young lady of the house will certainly do so by providing a room for the club, dear to the heart of every child. A place where these "secret" meetings can be held may be provided in basements or attic.

Funds for the building of a room may be obtained under the Home Improvement Plan and waste space made useful. As the child grows older the room may be used for study and later it will be an ideal spot when the girls come in for bridge. Such a room gives a child a right of privacy and aids her in respecting the same rights of others.

Whenever possible it is advisable to build in a fire place. This is decorative and adds to the appearance of a room and also, especially in attics where probably no provision has been made for heat, will be found useful in cold weather. Bookcases may be built under sloping ceilings, utilizing space that might otherwise have been wasted.

Numerous composition materials are on the market which are suitable for the walls and ceiling of attic rooms. They come in plain colors or decorated panels or they may be decorated by the future occupant of the room. Board floors may be painted and varnished or a composition covering laid.

NO ACTION TAKEN CORONATION PLAY

Trent River Ladies' Aid Discuss Plans For May Holiday

TRENT RIVER, April 10.—The April meeting of the Ladies' Aid was held Wednesday afternoon at the church with an attendance of 11.

The secretary, Mrs. Harold B. Wood, reported cards had been sent to the recently bereaved and sick. The treasurer, Mrs. Thos. K. Thompson, reported a balance on hand of $36.69. The total receipts for the progressive crokinole party held recently sponsored by Group 4, amounted to over $19. Miss B. C. French brought to note that April 8th marked a birthday anniversary for the secretary, Mrs. Harold B. Wood, and asked for a hearty hand clap from the members who all extended many happy returns of the day.

The members decided to send a letter of appreciation to the members of the young men's class in recognition of their gift of an up-to-date heater for the church dining hall.

The matter of having a play from an outside point to be presented at Coronation Date," was brought up and discussed; no action was decided for the present. The Mispah benediction closed the meeting.

HINTS ON HOME IMPROVEMENT

Floors

Have you looked your floors over with a critical eye lately? You know, more than any other house surface—walls, doors, woodwork—your floors take a terrific amount of punishment. Think of the thousands of steps you yourself take over their surface, then add those of the rest of your family and your friends. In these terms the traffic is staggering.

There are fine varnishes on the market that are easy to apply, and are quick-drying and inexpensive. Your painter can give you a brand new floor in almost no time, or you can even do it yourself. Here are practically all the directions you'll need. Just wash the floor with a good lather of soap and water and rinse it off with plenty of clear water. If it's been waxed, of course you'll have to wash it with turpentine to get that off. Next step—smooth out all the rough spots with sandpaper. Then, using a good varnish brush, give the surface two coats of varnish. The two coats will give you an extremely tough, wear-resisting finish and are more economical in the long run. As you apply the varnish, first use strokes with the grain of the wood, secondly against the grain, and then with only a slightly moist brush, again with the grain. In that way you've reached every crevice and every single portion of the wood. And remember, a good varnish won't chip, or scratch white or discolor with either hot or cold water, so be careful and get a good recognized brand. The best is not costly.

Varnish isn't the only thing for floors, however. Paint, in various shades to contrast well with wall and ceiling treatment, is grand for bedrooms, breakfast rooms or kitchens, and is very easy to keep clean. And a clean, gleaming floor is a joy forever—one of the big decorative points of a room and properly a predominant feature in every home.

You cleanse your face when it needs it, you press clothes when they get out of press, and you shine your shoes when the gloss rubs off. So why not give your floors a break once in a while when they need it.

In Remodelling An Old Dwelling Homemaker Finds Her Opportunity

Every once in a while the average home-maker wants a kitchen that is entirely individual and doesn't resemble in the slightest the yellow and blue, or the red and white or the pink and brown workshops of her friends. In remodelling an old house, one housewife found her opportunity.

The room had papered walls originally, and wide floors. It had been an addition to the house, and one wall, originally the back of the house, was of brick. When the family bought the house, a loan for the repair and modernisation of the home was obtained.

White oak was used for building in a series of closets and cupboards, giving the effect of panelled walls. A small amount of wall space showed between the dish closets and lower drawers. This was covered with a paper having a street scene design, and added a bright note of colour.

The original floors were left intact, as was the one brick wall. A corner cupboard was built for glassware, and next to it was a closet for brooms and mops. A new sink was completely enclosed with the cabinets and shelves. Casement windows were placed over the sink, where one small window had been before. Central lighting was used.

ICE BOX NEED IN EVERY HOME

New Economies In Refrigeration Announced As Hot Weather Approaches

ACTUAL ECONOMY

Returning warm weather accentuates again the need of refrigeration in the home.

The "ice box", as the refrigerator is familiarly termed, is no longer regarded as a luxury. It is an essential adjunct of the kitchen, and a practical economy in cutting down the cost of food.

Perishable food has no resistance of its own to the heat of the long season from March to November, and in meeting that domestic problem modern refrigeration is indispensible.

The mechanical refrigerator has become installed in a large number of homes, and its more recent refinements have given special attention to reduction in the cost of operation. In other words the cost of producing ice and maintaining automatically a uniform low temperature for the preservation of foods.

Invention has not neglected refrigeration by use of natural ice, the material which winter produces, and industry stores away for summer demand. The older type of ice box has kept up with the procession in both efficiency and economy, and new ideas incorporated in its manufacture have resulted in making one filling of the ice chamber sufficient for from four to seven days, as the makers of one refrigerator claim.

Terms of purchase bring the refrigerator within the means of nearly every family, and its convenience and actual saving of money afford ample repayment on the investment. Milk, butter, meats and vegetables, are some of the staples which require refrigeration, and the constant supply of ice cube has become an ordinary hot weather resource and aid.

Families who are considering the purchase of a refrigerator will find quite a number of models at prices that merit enquiry.

YOUNG TEACHERS TO GET BENEFIT

probable Mr. Mowat thought, that Latin will be omitted.

In the new courses for the first six grades of public school, mental and physical health is to be particularly stressed, while there will be greater emphasis on English subjects, and less emphasis, so far as primary grades are concerned, on arithmetic. The course generally will combine a closer grouping of civics, history and geography.

Born In Scotland

Succeeding Duncan Walker thirty years ago in his present appointment Mr. Mowat is retiring at the end of June. Of Scottish birth he came to Canada at the age of six years.

Before graduating from University of Toronto with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Mr. Mowat was for four years engaged in public school teaching in Haldimand County.

After graduating from University he was for over eight years on the teaching staff of Meaford High School, seven years of this time being as principal of the school. He was also principal of Seaforth Collegiate for a year, and for six years prior to coming here was principal of Brockville Collegiate.

Only 3 Teachers Left

He has seen many outstanding changes take place during his thirty years of service in the city. There are only three of the teachers left on the public school staffs who were here when Mr. Mowat originally came to the city.

He recalled that the old Central School where his office is located, was at the time of his coming here used to house the Collegiate Institute. At that time there were only about eight teachers on the Collegiate staff under Principal Fessenden, one of them being H. R. H. Kenner, now Dr. Kenner, principal of the Collegiate Institute.

"Perhaps the greatest change that has taken place in the schools," Mr. Mowat declared after looking back over the years, "is the effort that has been made by the educational authorities to make school life a happy experience. There are few children who do not like school."

Declaring he believed the educational authorities had succeeded in a large measure in making school a happier place than it once used to be, Mr. Mowat asserted he noted a greater respect and loyalty on the part of the children for their respective schools and teachers had been the result.

While diffident of speaking about himself, Mr. Mowat told his interviewer, "If I would boast of anything it would be my health. I have lost only ten working days in forty-nine years of service in the teaching profession."

BREAKFAST NOOK HAS NOW BECOME JUNIOR DINETTE

Desire For Conserving Space Frequently Done Away With Dining-Room

NOOK NOT SUFFICIENT

The breakfast nook of days gone by has become a junior dinette in many modern apartments and houses. The desire for a large living room and the necessity of conserving space has frequently done away with a dining room, but the housewife feels that the usual dining nook with built-in table and benches is not sufficient for the needs of her family.

To avoid the confusion of rearranging the entire living room for every family meal, a junior dinette is ideal. Four people may be served comfortably here, and the living room two-purpose table brought into play only when there is a party.

Funds for the purpose of adding an extra room to your home or for redecorating your rooms may be obtained from any bank under the generous terms of the Dominion Government's Home Improvement Plan.

An attractive dinette may be created with panelled walls, which gives a more formal air than is generally found in the regulation breakfast nook. A distinctive composition floor covering an unique lighting fixture continue the scheme. Venetian blinds give privacy but allow a propert amount of light and ventilation.

Glimpse Of Vocational Work Given By Students On Stage

Ladies Parade Across The Stage Showing Their Pretty Frocks

PLEASANT PROGRAM

Resembling professional mannequins, the ladies who paraded across the stage at the Collegiate Institute on Friday evening, for the Fashion Show which formed a part of the concert designed to give some idea of the work done by students in the Vocational School, got plenty of applause from a pleased audience. They were routed in a different way this season from other years' parades. Last night, they made a brief and business-like appearance, walked across the stage and back and disappeared with a backward glance at a captivated audience that filled the big auditorium to capacity.

It was a very pleasant program throughout, ending after slightly more than an hour and giving in the demonstrators, also the chairman, the cheerful-looking W. A. Richardson, chairman of the Advisory Educational committee on the Board of Education, most of whose remarks were lost to over fifty per cent. of the would-be listeners. Possibly the very beautiful curtains recently added to the stage dressing are responsible for this. If so, they may be pardoned; for their beauty would excuse plenty of acoustic difficulties. They were exceptionally lovely last night for the soft, changing lights played upon them, and the changing reflections of the miniature fountain at the rear of the stage, in the orchestral rendition of "Nights of Gladness," that vibrant waltz music so smoothly played by the fine school orchestra, under the baton of A. J. Weaver, B.Sc.

Coronation Colors.

The curtains, in their glistening gold (the whole back drop is of this gorgeous color), their soft blue and their glowing dahlia red (the three favored Coronation colors of this year), formed an attractive setting also for the two fashion parades of the evening, the first, directed by Miss Helen Clerrard, displaying dresses made by Day School girls and children's dresses made by parents in evening classes, the second parade exhibiting senior dresses made by the evening classes. The garments, one and all, looked most attractive as worn by their makers, in suits, coats and frocks of pretty and smart appearance.

A feature of the first parade was the presence of adorable tiny tots wearing their own apparel, made by their mothers, with a gay scout laddie in plaid skirt and bonnet and black velvet jacket, making a big hit. Colored balloons were used to amuse the children across the stage, and the evening thereafter was punctuated by hasty reports of exploded balloons from back stage.

The program opened with the playing of the "Marguerite" waltz from "Faust," by the school orchestra, and the music of the evening included a prettily-sung number, "Spring's Awakening," by Miss Olga Westbye, and a song, the lovely "Duna" composition, sung by Jimmy Hawthorne.

Practical Work.

The practical aspect of the work of the Vocational School classes was demonstrated in novel and pleasing fashion by the young workers themselves.

The first demonstration, on a darkened stage, done with an imitation fly wheel, was of auto mechanics, by Reginald Land and Jack Hales, who gave an exhibition of ignition timing with the use of a synchroscope.

The latter light demonstration by Robert Dean and Lionel Cammell was very entertaining on account of the interest taken in this subject by the general public for some time past. The two young men, whose clear voices were heard very well, acted the part of a student and his mentor. The student tries to study by a faulty light, and his companion demonstrates to him the efficiency to be gained by using the new type of lighting which does away with glare and throws a portion of its illumination to the ceiling.

The earnest demonstrator of the process of making blue prints, Alex. Ellis, seemed to understand his subject thoroughly and to have a lot of interesting information at the tip of his tongue. Most of it went unheard.

High Speed Gadget.

In the demonstration of the high speed router, talk was practically unnecessary. The machine, whirling at the rate of 18,000 revolutions a minute, explained itself. With reasonable ease and despatch, it cut out of a piece of wood a pretty flag and, later, a crown, appropriate emblems for such an exhibition of the skilful use of an efficient machine which also, it appears, is responsible for much fine wood-working, including a lot of the good-looking hand carving used to ornament furniture. This demonstration was made by Joe Cook and Bruce Clark.

At the conclusion of the program, many of the patrons of the concert visited the typewriting room on the upper floor where for half an hour forty-eight typewriters were in operation as in a regular day-school class. The pleasant P.C.I. cadets and the other students who assisted in this way during the day were on hand to usher the crowd.

The personnel of the school orchestra that plays so well under Mr. Weaver's direction includes the first violins: Russell Burgess, George Garfield, Jerry Dawson, James Lilleo, John McMillan and Miss Edna Borland; the second violins: the Misses Jean Prophet, Dorothy Cunningham, Anna McLeod, Barbara Staples, and Douglas Moore and Duncan Seymour; the trumpets: David Wilson, Earl Gibson and Fred Trotter; the clarinets: Lloyd Wells and John Elmer; the trombones: Roy Riscox and Edward Everett; the bass viol: Mr. W. F. Skitch; the drums: Hugh Davidson, and the pianists: Miss Merrill Smith.

WEDDINGS

HALL—HAMLIN

A quiet wedding was solemnized by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe at the parsonage of Murray street Baptist Church, when Helen Margaret Hamlin, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hamlin of Dorset Lane, became the bride of Robert Aberdeen Hall of Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Hall of England.

Attendants were the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. Cash, and J. Warner.

After a wedding dinner at the Rille Cafe, Mr. and Mrs. Hall left on a short honeymoon trip. They will live in Peterborough.

BANCROFT

Mr. Fred Delyea, baker of Coe Hill, who lost his shop there recently by fire, is now in his father's shop in the village.

Mrs. M. Teasel of Trenton is spending a few days in the village, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Sprung.

Mr. E. L. Reid of this village left on Saturday to spend a few days with relatives in Toronto.

The Anglican Men's Club of Bancroft plans to hold a dance in the Community Hall, on May 12th, to celebrate the Coronation of King George VI.

"Mountain Lake in Haliburton"

Teachers and scholars in the city and district schools should have an especial interest in this exhibit, as it demonstrates the artistic worth of these members of the Ontario Society of Artists, and affords a singular opportunity to study their art at first hand.

CHAPTER TO GIVE STUDENT PRIZES

Awarded For Collegiate Pupils Having Highest Standing In Canadian History

The Misses Bain, Jory and Littlefield were joint hostesses to the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E. on Wednesday evening, April 7, at their home on Aylmer street. Mrs. A. Sollitt, Regent of the Chapter, presided at the meeting which was a very profitable one.

It was decided by the Chapter to offer two prizes to the two Collegiate students making the highest standing in Canadian History during the year. One prize for academic classes and one for vocational classes.

Reports were received from the convenors of the different committees. Shoes, clothing and milk were supplied during the month to several needy children. The Chapter decided to hold a Jubilee Sale during the last of April.

Members of the Peter Robinson Chapter were invited to be present at a silver anniversary tea to be held by the 48th Regimental Chapter on April 28 in the newly decorated rooms of the officers' mess in the Armouries.

After the business of the evening was completed, the members were entertained by Miss Marjorie Read, who spoke on Current Events. Miss Read gave a very interesting talk on Soviet Russia and conditions in Spain.

Guest Speaker.

The guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. T. J. Carley. Mrs. Carley was introduced to the Chapter by Mrs. D. Loucks.

The theme chosen by Mrs. Carley was "The British Empire As It Is To-day and Some of the Problems It Has to Settle. Also the Part We Should Take in This Empire." This subject was very ably dealt with by Mrs. Carley and proved to be of great interest to the members of the Chapter. A hearty vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Carley by the convener of the Educational committee, Miss M. Hicks.

Mrs. Paul Johnston, who is leaving the city to reside in Toronto, was presented with a gift by Mrs. C. Browne, on behalf of the Chapter.

The meeting closed with refreshments served by Mrs. P. Johnston and her group, after a vote of thanks had been extended to our hostesses, by Mrs. Sackville.

A Friend to the Aged As the Years Creep On

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

In the later years of life we start to lose that snap and vigor of our younger days. The blood does not circulate as it once did, the vitality is on the wane, and the nerves not just as steady as they used to be.

Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off; and evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

Those who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy should use Milburn's H. & N. Nerve Pills at this time of life.

For fifteen consecutive years, Cunard White Star has carried more passengers than any other line.

The vision and policy of Samuel Cunard of Halifax, the founder, and of successive generations in the Company, have culminated in the "Queen Mary", but the background of these ten decades of progress has been one of individual attention and personal service to passengers.

In the deep draught steady ships which regularly sail from Canada to England, Scotland, Ireland and France this spirit prevails, as elsewhere in our fleet, and the ships' personnel stands ready to serve the traveller just as our offices and agents throughout Canada are organized to assist the enquirer.

SOCIAL SECRETARY OF FORMER KAISER NOW EVANGELIST

Dr. Otto Klink Once Jailed For Socialistic Utterances

OFTEN SAW KAISER

If anyone told him twenty-five years ago that he was to become an evangelistic preacher, Rev. Dr. Otto Klink one time social secretary in the royal household of Kaiser Wilhelm, who is conducting a series of special services this month at the Collegiate Institute, would have derided the prediction.

In those days Dr. Klink was an ardent Socialist in Germany, a sceptic about things religious, engrossed in radical politics that veered strongly toward the revolutionary school.

Socialism attracted him as a university student in Berlin, and his fiery and restless utterances incurred a term in prison. Attending a Socialist meeting young Klink observed the flag of the Crown Prince flying from a window of the palace. "When the rag is out the rat is in," he shouted from his curb soap box, and when the rat is out the dog is in."

Secret police in the crowd summarily adjourned that meeting and Klink was led away to jail on a charge of lese majeste in denouncing the heir to the Empire's throne. The student's father was judge in the court before which he was arraigned, and exercised his legal right not to hear the case against his own son.

Three Months in Jail.

Klink was accused before a judge who was severely opposed to the Socialist element, and recommended a sentence of six months which the trial jury reduced to three. Next the university turned him out for "commission of a crime," and in that year of 1908 his first entry into the field of higher education abruptly ended. Followed a period of travel, including a trip around the world, and the incident was more or less forgotten. Returning to Germany, where his father was respected in official circles and had considerable influence, Otto Klink obtained a position as assistant to the Kaiser's secretary. He often saw the Emperor, and attended the brilliant court marriage of the Kaiser's daughter, Victoria Louise, in 1913.

Travel, however, has left him restless, and he decided to set out for America. He left Berlin in April 1914, three months before the war broke out.

"Nobody expected it that year," Dr. Klink told the Examiner, "but many of my friends believed that it would come in 1916.

In the United States he took up newspaper work and became a writer. The destiny which he is convinced was guiding him halted him one day in 1916 while he was walking along a street in Atlanta, Ga. A Roman evangelist was preaching at a street meeting. Slightly amused, but strangely interested he stopped to listen, and when the company ended their open air service and started back to their hall he followed. He attended other meetings, and remained after service to talk with the "lady preacher" who incidentally, was an attractive young woman.

Beginning of Conversion.

That was the beginning of Dr. Klink's conversion, and as a concession to romantic interest it may be added that the lady who was preaching that day here than twenty years ago in Atlanta, is now Mrs. Otto Klink. At present she is visiting in Ottawa, and their two children are attending college in the United States.

Five years after his conversion Dr. Klink entered the ministry. The enthusiasms of his youth since then have been transformed and directed to the channel of grace. His gift of oratory that once flared in the service of socialism and supported the Crown Prince of Germany, is now devoted to the winning of men and women to God.

"Pentecostal missions began about thirty years ago in the United States," Dr. Klink said to-day, "and later spread into Canada where our constituency now numbers 250,000 people. Throughout the world our members have grown to 1,500,000."

The marks of Pentecostalism are purity of lives and personal zeal in spreading the old orthodox gospel. "The Church of Jesus Christ is not a one man affair," Dr. Klink said. "Our motto is "saved to serve," and it means that every member should be active in his faith, a missionary among the rest of men. We believe in the separated life, the living apart from the world of sin, fighting the good fight without compromise. In our finances we have nothing but free will offerings, no bazaars, no rummage sales and things of that kind."

Dr. Klink said his name has been placed on Hitler's black list, prosecuting him because of his opposition to any ruler who forces admiration for himself from the German people.

"I am also an implacable opponent of any national leader who could be so cruel to the Jews as Hitler has been," he added.

In his special services at the Pentecostal Mission during most of this month, Dr. Klink is giving special attention to prophetical messages bearing upon the signs and indications in the present day of the return of Jesus Christ.

The Rambling REPORTERS

THE TEMPERAMENTAL TOUCH

A colored balloon, that delight of the ordinary child, has evidently little charms for some small morsels of humanity. On Friday night, when girls with a dozen or more of the pretty gas-filled bags used them to entice small mannequins modelling junior garments across the stage at the Collegiate Institute, for the fashion parade of the Vocational School, several of the pint-sized lassies spurned the gay things with haughty looks. One small girlie became so enamored of the audience instead that she gazed across the footlights as if hypnotized and refused to budge for several minutes.—C.M.

GARDEN IS GONE.

Truckloads of cinders were being spread over what was once a beautiful garden at the rear of the Customs House, and J. M. Luther, the caretaker for whom the beautification of the premises has long been a labor of love, watched the operations ruefully. Sermon In Pictures

As it is over twenty-five years since the last Coronation people are both curious and interested in the ceremonies associated with the crowning of the King and Queen. The pageantry of the processions will be witnessed by many thousands of loyal subjects and by strangers from many lands the decorations and gaiety will attract tremendous crowds to old London but the great act of the crowning will take place in the presence of only some 7,000 persons who will crowd every inch of space within the Abbey and it will actually be witnessed by only a few hundred.

The Church of England have prepared a full series of pictures illustrating and explaining the service and symbolism and these will be used on Sunday evening in All Saints Church to illustrate the rector's sermon on the Coronation and its symbolism.

VOCATIONAL WORK VIEWED BY PUBLIC AT ANNUAL EXHIBIT

High Standard Of Workmanship Gives Impression of Sound School Training

COVERS WIDE RANGE

Far is the cry from the little red schoolhouse of old with its concentration on "the three R's" to the modern educational institution. This, possibly, was the thought uppermost in the minds of hundreds of Peterborough citizens who viewed the annual Vocational School exhibit at the Collegiate and Vocational School last evening.

In the machine shop with its ponderous lathes they saw boys and young men learning the art of the heavy-industry worker. Across the corridor, youths already skilled in the realm of designing and draughting laid out on paper projects for future attention of their comrade craftsmen in wood and steel. The magic of modern physics and chemistry engaged students in another department while still others gave their attention to the varied present-day applications of capricious electricity. A fascinating pageant covering almost the complete story of vocational training as it exists in 1937 was afforded.

Sound Training

Outstanding was the impression of the soundness of training being given, afforded the visitor to the exhibition by the display of vocational school products in the gymnasium. A high standard of workmanship seemed to prevail throughout the range of exhibits.

Notable was the woodworking exhibit which held attention in the centre of the gymnasium. The work principally of night school students, beautifully-finished desks, beds and tables excited public admiration. Unusual was a kitchen cabinet built by W. Mahoney, beds by H. Bamforth and J. Page and a desk by R. J. Moon—among a number of other pieces worthy of mention.

Motor Mechanics

A demonstration by the motor mechanics department won a fair share of interest. Students operated a set-up representing the complete ignition and lighting circuit of an automobile. Operation of the device for remachining and reseating valves was shown under the direction of the motor mechanics department instructor, O. E. Beals.

Many samples of exceptionally able talent were included in the display of the show card and commercial art class on the north wall of the gymnasium. The display of the draughting classes afforded exhibits ranging from the elementary drawings of beginners to the complex punch and die drawings of advanced students.

Experimental Work

Those touring the exhibition were invariably intrigued by the demonstration staged in the science and physics department under the direction of R. G. Cornell. Principals of the syphon were shown by one group of boys while others operated a model life pump. Several lads were engaged in glass manipulation work and several devoted their attentions to the chemical aspects of the dyeing art.

Boys under the direction of their instructor, E. J. Davies, demonstrated the blue-printing operation in the draughting department. On exhibit were drawings of a range which indicated a wide scope in the training provided boys of both night and day classes. Manual training products of high quality caught the visitor's eye in the woodworking and building construction department in charge of J. C. Rutherford. Samples of cabinet construction were the work of first year Industrial Arts boys. A number of fine desks, awing stands and book cases on view were the products of second year boys while third year men provided project specials of advanced natures.

Electrical Show

Wide was the range of electrical exhibits on show in the applied electricity department, in charge of A. J. Weames. The many control possibilities of the electric eye were shown in one set-up. Operation of a telephone-ringing machine was demonstrated in another part of the laboratory and boys won interested audiences by exhibiting the principles of the arc light and such practical electrical phenomena as transmission losses and line drop.

The fact that improved economic conditions has wiped out the enrolment of fourth-year boys and most third-year students handicapped Wesley Brown in staging a machine shop demonstration but, nonetheless, a creditable exhibition was afforded. Visitors were given a chance to see students at work on gear cutting machines, shapers, and lathes. Feature of the products exhibited in the department was an adjustable vertical sander designed and drawn in the draughting department and building in the machine shop for use in the woodworking shop.

Not the least of the departments in the exhibits was that devoted to commercial geography. Interesting were several painstaking map analysis of raw material sources.

Pin Boys Staged Sit-Down Strike

When disgruntled pin boys staged a sit down strike at Duffus' bowling alley on Friday night, scheduled league tourneys were held up for ten minutes or more while a settlement was being negotiated. Refusing to set up the pins and demanding higher pay about ten pin boys are reported to have staged the sit-down protest. They returned to their work when the management declared the intention of replacing them with other boys.

HIGHER PRICES FOR MEAT LIKELY

Potatoes were inclined toward easier prices, ranging from $1.50 a bag to $2. Talk of higher prices for meat was current among the farmers selling pork and beef. Pork was 12 to 13 cents and beef from 9 to 12 cents.

Eggs were in large volume at 16 to 20 cents a dozen. Butter was 27 cents and chickens were firmer at 20 to 22 cents a pound.

EX-CHIEF GETS YEAR

Collected Speeding Fines and Kept Them.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 10 (CP) —F. H. Brooks, former chief constable of Deseronto, today pleaded guilty to three charges of conversion of Crown moneys and was sentenced to one year determinate and a year indeterminate in Guelph Reformatory on each count, sentences to run concurrent. B. C. Donnan, K.C., asked the accused if he wished to obtain a lawyer as the charges were serious, but Brooks said he was ready to plead guilty on all charges. The three charges involved a fine of $8.75 each collected from commercial travellers, who paid the fines for speeding through the town of Deseronto. The money was not turned into the Highway Department nor to the town treasury.

RAYBESTOS PLANT NOT CLOSING DOWN PLENTY OF WORK

Company Instructed By General Motors To Continue Filling Orders

JOBBERS WAITING

"We may have to let out a few employees if the Oshawa strike continues indefinitely," Robert Abbott of the Canadian Raybestos Company told The Examiner this morning, correcting a news report from Peterborough in a Toronto paper today to the effect that 125 men in the Ferry street factory were going to lose their jobs as a result of the General Motors disturbance.

"In the first place we haven't 125 employees," Mr. Abbott said. "And we have been instructed by General Motors not to stop fabrication, although shipments of our products to that company have been suspended for the present. We are hoping that there will be no interruption in our business that would halt work in any department, but that depends on how long General Motors are tied up.

In the meantime we have considerable business on hand supplying our jobbers throughout the country, and we have orders for our rubber department that will keep it busy until the end of May."

Y.M.C.A. DRIVE GETS UNDER WAY

Seventy Workers Set Forth To Raise $8,000 For Association

Encouraged by inspirational words of Don Henshaw, well known radio impressario, and their leader, Charles Shaw, seventy Y.M.C.A. financial campaign workers set forth to raise $8,000 for the association after an opening campaign supper Friday evening. Confidence and optimism prevailed throughout the ten teams which will compete in friendly rivalry during the drive.

Relating his experience as a boy of 15 when he sailed around Cape Horn on a square-rigger, Mr. Henshaw told of the barnacle which wins free passage on such a trip by clinging to the bottom of the ship. Men willing to devote their time and energies to so worthy a cause as the Y.M.C.A. are not barnacles, he declared. He characterized them as men accustomed to making their own passage in the world.

Chairman Shaw introduced his two division majors, T. A. Mackay and Robert Abbott, veterans of many past campaigns. The majors in turn introduced their team captains. The plan of campaign was outlined by Mr. Shaw and expressed himself as confident the objective would be reached by the close of the campaign next Friday evening. He called upon all to make a special initial effort before the first report supper Tuesday evening.

Y.M.C.A. president Gordon H. Matthews introduced Mr. Henshaw, J. R. Marshall, member of the board and chairman of the special names committee, expressed thanks to the speaker.

At The Baseball Training Camps

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 10.—(AP).—Hal Schumacher has relieved Bill Terry's managerial mind of one big worry regarding New York Giants' pitching department. Schumacher, a large question-mark in the Giants' scheme of things early in the spring training, has rounded into form so impressively Terry has tentatively named him for the Giants' opening day assignment.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Aside from outclassing anything in the grapefruit league, New York Yankees' winning streak of 13 straight should have no noticeable effect on ending the holdout of Pitcher Red Ruffing. Their string indicates they are ready to take the American League apart again and the changes are Red won't get a $1,000 salary difference stand in the way of getting a fat series cut.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—If Third-sacker Joe Stripp's bad leg keep him out of the Brooklyn Dodger line-up on opening day, Manager Burleigh Grimes is going to be hard put to swing thirds. Ordinarily, reserve infielder Woody English would take over third but he's busy now filling in at second for the injured Cookie Lavagetto

WESTCLOX GIRLS EVEN PLAYOFFS

Pull Out 13-11 Verdict Over C.G.E. To Sew Up Senior Cage Finals

Westclox evened up the senior playoffs in the Ladies Basketball League last night at the Y.W.C.A. by pulling out a 13-11 decision over C.G.E. before a good-sized and noisy crowd of rooters. The first of the three-game finals had ended in a 29-9 verdict for the Electrics and now the teams must battle through a third tussle to settle the championship.

The surprising rally staged by the Clockmakers started early in the game. They took the offensive from the first tossup and battled furiously to gain six points and hold C.G.E. scoreless in the first half. The Electrics hit their stride more in the last setto and had an 11-7 margin through the windup chapter, but could not break through for the tying basket in the final four minutes.

Red-Hot Tilt

It was the most exciting fixture seen at the Y.W. this year, with the rival players fighting themselves to the point of exhaustion. The torrid pace never let up and the checking was close and rugged. The Westclox gang several times called time out to get their breath back during the hammer-and-tongs tilt, and the other side also showed the strain.

G. Mortimer, B. Blade and M. Snowden were outstanding on the attack for Westclox, while the whole team clicked well on passing and checking. A. Craig and M. Woods stood out for the Electrics, the rest of them clicking up to form through the second frame with speedy and long passing and some good shooting. B. Blade led the scoring with six points as G. Mortimer got four, M. Snowden two, and D. Merritt one. For C.G.E., M. Woods collected six points, A. Craig four and E. Hodson one. The teams:

Westclox: G. Mortimer, G. Hunter, M. Blade, B. Blade, A. Livingstone, C. Whalman, D. Merritt, M. Snowden.

C.G.E.: A. Craig, M. Hodson, E. Hodson, K. Rogow, M. Woods, E. Bradley, D. Schultz, J. Alexander, M. Hallahan.

Referee, J. Cooper; umpire, G. McIntyre.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

TWO BASKETBALL games are billed for tonight in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. First one is at eight—an exhibition tilt—between the P.C.I. junior squad and Dominion Life. And at nine, P.C.I. Seniors tackle St. Paul's in the return game of the Senior City Basketball League playoffs. The latter series is two games, points counting, and St. Paul's have a 17-point lead as a result of their 29-12 nod a week ago. They should cop the title but we imagine there'll be plenty of action before the final toot of the whistle. Both games ought to be lively affairs and will draw a good crowd of cage rooters.

DOWN AT the Duffus' Board Room on Monday eve at eight, a lacrosse meeting will be held. Officers and others interested are asked to be on deck. The committee of Pete King and Doug Miller appointed to check on possible playing grounds here, will report at this session, while other business is also on the books. Meantime, the secretary, Charlie Carson, has written to various other centres and the O.A.L.A. in an effort to round out a good intermediate grouping. Haven't heard any replies yet but it shouldn't be long now.

TALKING TO Manager J. White of the Bailieboro girls' softball team last year and he said he didn't think Bailieboro would be in the loop this summer. Said his players were scattered around and it would be next to impossible to field a good squad. "But I may attend your meeting," he said; "when is it?" We had to tell him there is nothing yet on a meeting. One should be called within a week to see how things are shaping up. Mr. White thought one of his terriers, Bea McDowell, would go with the Keene crew this year. He said there was another of his players going to the local Business College and might be available for one of the teams here. Bailieboro had some good softballers last season but seldom fielded its strongest team.

THERE SHOULDN'T be any trouble lining up three of last year's girls' teams, Keene (the champs) Westclox and C.G.E. At least one more is necessary, and maybe Omemee will be back. There is also some talk of taking in Cobourg and Lindsay, if the latter crew wants in. Aside from possible difficulty over travelling, we think it would be a good idea. A loop that embraced four places like Peterborough, Keene, Lindsay and Cobourg—and maybe Omemee—would add a lot of intrest for players and fans.

TWO 12-CARAT cage contests were staged in the Y.W. gym last p.m. before an appreciative audience. They were redhot playoff numbers that we thoroughly enjoyed. C.G.E. gals copped the junior championship of the Ladies' Loop with a 19-16 win over St. John's, it being two victories in a row. The losers, after a slow start, came on like a building aburning and made it hotter than 102 in the shade for the Electrics before the last toot of the whistle. They went down fighting gallantly. Congrats to the young C.G.E.-ers who earned the verdict after a fine showing all season. They were coached last p.m. by Kay Rogow and, we understand, other C.G.E. senior players have helped 'em through the schedule with coaching. Sybil Ecobichon handled the Saints and she too had a smart team.

WESTCLOX LASSIES, coached by Whitty Thornbeck, hooted over the old dope bucket by squeezing out a 13-11 decision over C.G.E. in the senior playoffs, and a third tilt next Friday will have to be played now. Coach Jack Dundas' damsels couldn't break through the close-checking scrappy Clockmakers in the first half but they made it closer than this late in the fray. They battled hard the final few minutes for the tying basket but ye Westclox outfit weren't playing Santa Claus with so much at stake. It was very fast throughout and too exciting for a guy with a weak ticker—not that our ticker isn't ticking okay. Both these playoff scraps were swell though we thought there was too much whistle-blowing, like a slow train that stops at all fog stations when you're trying to sleep.

AT A fine senior ball executive meeting last eve, a lot of work was cleaned up. Committee chairmen were named as follows: Grounds—Bill Prindible; equipment—Ches Mowry; transportation—Vern Dawson; advertising—Fred Ash; ticket—Jack Condon; opening game—Ott Cranfield. Prices for the home games this summer will be 25c general admission and 10c for kids with main grandstand a dime and west side free. Hugh Campbell kindly offered again the use of his uniforms and equipment to the club. Grounds Committee will appoint a groundskeeper. British Consols want a game here May 15th and it'll be accepted if financial arrangements are agreeable. The club will run a scorecard program, and also a big raffle for a refrigerator, suit or dress and half a dozen consolation prizes of season tickets good for two.

FRED COLLINS was appointed manager of the Petes' ball team for this year. And setting-up exercises will be the order at the "Y" three nights a week for a month, starting next week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from seven o'clock till eight. Those wanting a tryout with the team are invited to get in shape at the Y.M.C.A. these nights. The club has passed a ruling that senior baseball players must not play softball this season—except if the manager permits them to play three softball games in order to qualify for O.A.S.A. playdowns. This last rule is a good one, we feel, and should aid materially in fielding a strong senior squad in the C.O.B.L. It should also benefit the softball circuit.

GIRLS' CAGE TITLE WON BY ELECTRICS

C.G.E. Juniors Take Second Straight Playoff Tilt From St. John's 19-16

C. G. E. won the Junior championship of the Ladies' Basketball League last night at the Y.W.C.A. gym before a good crowd of fans by taking a 19-16 verdict over St. John's. It was the second straight playoff win for the young Electrics in the two-out-of-three series, the first ending in a 13-9 score.

Last night's fray was redhot and exciting from beginning to finish. The C.G.E. girls piled up a 10-3 edge in the first half but were outplayed by a gallant gang of Saints through the second stanza. The losers fought hard all the way and made it close at the last but they had no luck. Close-checking resulted in frequent whistle-blowing but the players kept up the fast pace right to the end.

Take Early Lead

C.G.E. uncorked a boring-in brand of play in the first half with some neat passing and shooting to hold a margin. They were out-checked in the other inning as St. John's worked the ball within shooting range and whittled down the lead. E. Clark was lost to them in the final quarter with four personal fouls. The Saints cashed in on two free throws while the winners scored on three.

V. Bartley led the victors in scoring with seven points, while E. Birkhoff and E. Lynch had five each and M. Cummisky two. For St. John's, A. Bowler, J. Coleman and I. Gynane collected four points apiece, with M. Snowden and B. Castle having two each. Every player on both sides turned in a good performance and the two sides were about all in at the final whistle. The teams:

St. John's—J. Coleman, J. McSnowden, E. Clark, A. Bowler, G. Varty, I. Young, E. Maxwell, E. Craig.

C.G.E.—F. Nolan, M. Cummisky, E. Foster, S. Birkhoff, V. Bartley, E. Lynch.

Referee, J. Cooper; umpire, E. Ascott.

Cranfield Crew Wins C.G.E. Shop Bowling

In the final C.G.E. Shop Bowling League competition at Duffus' on Thursday, H. A. Cranfield's crew copped highest honors with a total pinnage of 5,004. They led the gang captained by Bill Masters by 64 pins. Jack Playford topped the winners with a five-game total of 1,281. Others on the team were Archie Lister, Bill Carter, Bruce Munro, Ott Cranfield and Roy Pilling.

Third money went to Tom Martin's team, with a total of 4,960, while the W. G. Shiner's squad was next with 4,784, and the fifth team was captained by C. R. Langley and rolled 4,717. Money prizes were on for the leading teams with total pinnage in five games. There were 14 teams in the final roll-off for leadership in the largest league in the city, consisting of 24 teams.

BARRIE BEATEN BY VOCATIONALS 5-4 HAIR-RAISER

Goldup Breaks Tie In Last Minute By Slamming In His Third Goal

COLTS' LUCK RUNS OUT

TORONTO, April 10—Lanky Hank Goldup may not have been a reader of dime novels in his youth but if he was he probably had a liking for the Merriwell thrill-a-minute yarns. For Lanky Hank, hero of many a Northern Vocational victory, provided a climax to last night's O.H.A. Junior "B" playoff tussle at the Gardens that all of the Merriwells jumbled together probably couldn't have matched.

Flashing through the Barrie defense with less than a minute of regulation time remaining, Hank drew Goalie Grunt Goring out of his net, and deposited the rubber in the twine to give his mates a 6 to 4 victory over Barrie Colts. It was his third goal of the game and it sent nearly 4,000 fans home talking to themselves and reaching for throat lozions.

That sensational game-winning counter was the fitting climax to a game that was played in swinging tempo from the opening bell. Goldup stole the spotlight, but every one participating in such a pulsating battle had to be geared for high-speed action throughout. There have been few games at the Gardens to match this one in sustained action, and par for the thrills-and-chills course was deftly shattered.

Colts Had Tough Luck.

Barrie's battling Colts, gunning for their second O.H.A. junior B title in three years, couldn't have lost a more heart-breaking decision. There wasn't a shade difference in the calibre of hockey served up by the contending teams. The Colts lacked nothing pertaining to puck-chasing technique. But when it came to the "breaks," they just didn't get 'em. Nervous, on the other side of the fence, went to town with a wallop when scoring opportunities came their way.

Speed was the keynote from the first face-off and there wasn't a let-up throughout. Sticks were carried to a new high, bumps were at a premium, and tempers had to be lashed down to keep them from going haywire. But for all of this it was a cleanly-played contest and Referees Beef McKay and Tee Hillman handed out only four penalties. Two of them had penalty shots tacked on, one for each team, but Goldup and Dyte, who fired from the circle, missed the net completely on each occasion.

The elongated Goldup aniped in the initial marker after three minutes of lightning-like play. He drew out Goalie Goring, slammed at the rebound and slugged it into the net. It was a tough one for "Grunt," who has been spectacular for Barrie all season, but he more than made up for that slip during the rest of the game with some sparkling saves on plenty of shots that were labelled.

Northern's line of Taylor, Goldup and Carnegie provided the goal-banging in the rubber biscuit after a wild scramble at the 17-minute mark. That reverse apparently hurt, and Barrie quickly retaliated, Long taking Scott's pass to whip home their first goal just 15 seconds later.

Tit-for-Tat Scoring.

Eight minutes of the second stanza elapsed before Goldup, shooting through on a Taylor pass, breezed in. Northern's third goal, Barrie came right back again and Jones and Wasser figured in the play as the former took his mate's pass-out in front of the cage and outgeneraled Finlay.

Finlay was sensational in the nets for the locals, particularly in this period, and he kicked out seven shots in a row at one stretch, most of them by instinct.

Long picked the top corner of the Vocational net to tie the score at the start of the third period, but in two minutes Hogan caught Barrie flatfooted and coasted in for the Toronto team's fourth goal.

The Colts took up the offensive again, driving the Norvocs back, and at the 10-minute mark, Jones scored the equalizer in sensational fashion. He wound up back of the net with Goldup draped all over him and Hank was given the gate for his affectionate attitude.

It looked like overtime as the minute hand of the Sportimer started on its last regulation trip, and they were all even at 4-4. But Hogan, who was a dynamic spark-plug in the Northern machine all night, stopped a Barrie attack, skated up to the blue-line, whipped the rubber across to Goldup and Lanky Hank wrote finis to a titanic struggle at 19.32.

Northern Vocational—Goal, Finlay; defense, Welsman, Hogan; centre, Carnegie; wings, Taylor, Goldup; subs, Mann, Williams, Nicholson, Cowan, Spanner.

BY A. WISE-CRACKER.

Mister Sporting Editor:—

Well, Mac, my Detroit Red Wings is in there yet; a little battered but still going strong and I kin see no reason for changing my original opinion that Mister Jack Adams' lads will capture the Stanley tinware. I will admit that when I first heard that score in New York the other nite I was all ready to toss in the sponge until I found out that Mister Normie Smith was crippled up in that 1st period and that the Rangers had picked up a 3 goal lead before they got the injured Berminder out of there.

That kinda explained things and I figured that if the Wings could rally in the 2nd and cop that I they would be plenty tough to beat from then on to the end of the journey. Well they copped all right and with the serious sewed up and all the remaining tussles on Detroit ice the world's champs look good enough to grab off the verdict. The Rangers went into the playoffs plenty hot as their four straight over Leaves and Maroons shows but they run into a pretty tough outfit that was going some stealing theirselfs and you gotta remember them Detroiters has flung 5 pucks past Mister Davie Kerr in 2 games while the Maroons and Leaves only beat once in four battles which sorta tells its own story.

Credit for Both

Both teams deserves plenty of credit. Mister Patrick has piloted a 3rd place outfit through the preliminary and semi-final rounds of the playoffs without a loss and made them serious contenders for the silverware while Mister Adams' team has faced the loss of 2 defence stars in Messrs. Young and Roulston, their ace sharpshooter Mister Larry Aurie and finally their Vezina-trophy-winning goalie Mister Normie Smith and still is in there with a royal chance of grabbing off their 2nd Stanley cup triumph in 3 years. It all shows to go you what a powerful team them Red Wings had collected. Anyway the way it has always looked to me was that the team which finished at the top of the heap after a 48 game schedule should oughta be the champs, so that's another reason why I been pulling for the Detrollers to come through.

We Got a Ball Club

Locally Mac, the big news is that we got what looks anyway like the makings of a smart senior ball club and been lucky enough in landing a manager in Mister Fred Collins which evidently knows his baseball and is ready and willing to put his knowledge at the disposal of the local lads. With the reinforcement that has arrived in the local camp the Petes look much better in several departments than last season and we will venture the bet that Mister Collins will have the whole outfit hustling all the way, which wasn't the case last season. Incidentally we hope the lads which is good enough for the senior ball loop will leave softball to the rests of the boys. The 2 games don't mix very well and there is plenty of action in the Central League race without having to mix into the picnic ball circuit as well.

Well, old timer, by this time next week hockey will be pretty well outa the picture save for the international tourney which will bring together three teams of leg-weary Canadians wearing English, American and Canadian unies. If the outfits can go into that serious bot after the long campaigns they has been through then somebody oughta sue the N.H.L. outfits for taking money under false pretences. Enough for the nonce.

Sportfully Yours
A. WISE CRACKER.

SUDBURY TIGERS LOSE KAMPMAN

Regular Defenceman Is Laid Up By Cut On Ankle In First Game

CALGARY, April 10—(CP)—Rudolph (Bingo) Kampman, defence regular of Sudbury Tigers, will not be in uniform to-night when the Eastern Canada hockey champions meet North Battleford Beavers here in the second game of their best-of-five Allan Cup series.

Coach Red Stuart said last night Kampman had received a bad cut below the ankle bone in the first game Thursday as Sudbury won 4-1. Kampman was unable to flex his foot yesterday, but walking loosened it considerably, the coach said. He forecast Bingo's return for the third game Monday.

Charlie Marshall, an Ottawa product, was named to fill the hole in the Sudbury lineup. Beavers will send out the same squad as in the first game.

Dave Duchak of North Battleford and Jim Dewey of Sudbury, who faced one another at centre ice at the start of the first game, were once teammates. Back in their Junior days at Moose Jaw, Sask., Duchak held the regular pivot position with Moose Jaw Maroons and Dewey made plays for the second line.

Johannesburg, South Africa, is urging its automobile drivers to use hand signals as more than five per cent. now going do.

REDMEN FAVORED TO WIN, 4-1 ODDS

Copper Cliff Full Of Respect After Watching Manitobans Work Out

TORONTO, April 10—(CP)—Both teams battling for Dominion junior hockey supremacy have briefly scouted each other and are prepared to start a stiff series to-night for the Memorial Cup Copper Cliff Redmen and Winnipeg Monarchs worked out at Maple Leaf Gardens yesterday as their opponents looked on.

Although odds may be reduced by game time, early to-day Toronto sports followers were betting 4 to 1 to take the first contest of the best-of-five round. Redmen are ranked the East's best club since Toronto St. Michael's College coasted to the Canadian championship in 1934.

After watching the young Monarchs limber up after their train ride from the Manitoba capital, Redmen had nothing but words of praise for the big purple club. Even Red Hamill ace scout of the Nickel Belles, admitted he didn't think Redmen would win by more than a goal.

"We expect a hard series because Monarchs certainly look like a good club," said Manie Silverman as he watched the Westerners shake out their kinks. He was well pleased with all own boys in their last drill and said he would send them out "to get the jump" to-night.

Coach Harry Neil, who led Monarchs to the Memorial Cup in 1936 said he liked the look of Redmen, but was not at all frightened because of stories of their scoring prowess. "My boys have come through a tough season—in 35 games, we won 30, lost five and tied three."

Remember When—

Chicago Black Hawks, managed by Tommy Gorman, won the Stanley Cup three years ago tonight by defeating Detroit Red Wings 1-0 in the final game of the series at Chicago. It was the first world hockey title for the American city and its teams have never come close since. Gorman led Montreal Maroons to the world crown next season.

THE MOUTHPIECE

By Edgar Wallace and Robert Curtis

(Copyright—Released By Central Press Association)

READ THIS FIRST:

Charles Stuckey, senior member of a London law firm with a questionable reputation, is informed by cable from America that Miss Jacqueline Smith, daughter of one of his few respectable clients, now on the continent with her mother, has inherited $1,500,000 from an American uncle, Colonel Alec Lutman, who has a hold over Stuckey, learns of the inheritance and proposes a scheme to which Stuckey reluctantly agrees. The plan calls for Jim Asson, an ex-convict to marry Jacqueline, having her assign her property—before Stuckey informs her of the inheritance—to her new husband. Lutman plans to take three-fifths of the inheritance, Stuckey and Asson each one-fifth. Lutman and Asson go to Cobemall to cultivate Jacqueline and her mother, stopping at the same hotel where Mrs. Smith finds herself in dire financial straits. Asson, in the role of a wealthy Englishman, already has impressed Mrs. Smith as an admirable "catch" for her daughter. After a week the Colonel urges Jim to hasten his proposal.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 9

"IF I ASK her to marry me now, it's ten to one she'll refuse," Asson pointed out to Lutman.

"But if you wait until she really knows you," explained the Colonel, "it'll be a million to one. But she won't refuse, unless I'm very much mistaken. I've been talking to the mother and making a few inquiries. They want money—badly. They haven't paid their bill for a month, and the manager is getting restive. I've seen to it that if the bill isn't paid he'll get a great deal more restive, and I've let the mother know that you're an extremely wealthy young man who is suffering the discomforts of a vile hotel simply for the sake of being with her charming daughter."

"You've been busy, Lutman haven't you?"

"I've also insinuated to the worthy Mrs. Smith," continued Lutman, "that in the event of her daughter marrying you, there would be a very handsome allowance for your mother-in-law. She said that all she cared about was Jacqueline's happiness, and tried to make me say how much the allowance would be." The Colonel's smile returned. "That's the position, my dear James," he said, "and nothing now remains to be done but to ask the girl to marry you. Mother will regard you as a god-send even if the daughter doesn't, and I can't see Miss Jacqueline being allowed to turn you down. Make yourself look as much like a gentleman as possible and ask her tonight."

"Look here, Lutman, that ought to be left to me . . ."

"I'm not arguing, Jim. I'm telling you that you're to ask her tonight." He took a ring from his pocket and handed it to Asson. "I shall look for that on her finger in the morning." He rose, smiling. "You still don't fancy you're chances, eh, Jim?"

"I'm not so cocksure about it as you are, Lutman. Jacqueline isn't one of those moonlight-and-kisses girls, you can take it from me. I've an idea it's going to be darned hard to wring a 'yes' out of her."

Lutman nodded.

"All right; leave it to me," he said. "I'll see if I can arrange for a little more pressure."

The pressure came at dinner that evening. Mrs. Smith, having studied the wine list, laid it down and turned to the waiter.

"A bottle of No. 127," she said. As the waiter withdrew, she smiled across at Jacqueline and encountered a disapproving frown.

"Anything wrong, Jacqueline?"

The girl shrugged.

"Only that when we can't pay our bill it hardly seems necessary to waste money on bottles of wine."

"Graves, dear—quite inexpensive. We can't really deny ourselves every little luxury just because I don't happen to be married to a millionaire. To hear you talk, Jacqueline, anyone would imagine that we were absolute paupers."

"Well, aren't we?"

"Certainly not," said her mother emphatically. "I should be sorry to think I couldn't have a bottle of wine when I fancy one. And if I couldn't afford it, I shouldn't order it. You seem to have got the foolish idea into your head, Jacqueline, that I can't pay my bill—"

"I'm not the only one with that idea, mother. The manager's got it, too, hasn't he?"

"No, dear, I'm sure he hasn't. These foreigners are always a little excitable, but he knows quite well that I shall pay him . . ."

"In due course?" she snook her head. "It's no use trying to keep it up, mother. We can't even get credit for a bath now."

Mrs. Smith gave that sudden significant turn of her head.

"This evening," said Jacqueline, "I went to the bathroom and was told by the chambermaid that I couldn't have a bath unless I paid spot cash for it. The manager's orders, she said."

Her mother frowned.

"My dear, I can't believe—there's evidently some mistake. I shall see the manager immediately after dinner."

She paused as the waiter came to the table, and glanced at him.

"The manager presents his compliments, madam," said the waiter, "and if madam will kindly pay for the wine now, he will be delighted to supply it."

Mrs. Smith raised her eyebrows.

"Really," she began in her most freezing voice. And then suddenly Jacqueline was on her feet, her cheeks crimson and her eyes blazing.

"No!" she exclaimed. "We don't want the wine—we won't have the wine. You can tell the manager . . ."

"Very good, madam. I will inform the manager that the wine is not required," said the waiter, and hurried away with an understanding smile.

Jacqueline faced her mother.

"For heaven's sake, mother, after that—if you haven't had enough, I have. If you don't mind being insulted and humiliated, I do. I can't stand any more of it." She turned abruptly and, with her gaze fixed on the carpet, hurried from the dining room.

Colonel Lutman, seated at a table in the corner, adjusted his monocle and glanced at Jim Asson.

"You saw that, James?"

Asson nodded.

"The pressure," explained the Colonel. "The manager has taken my tip and refused to supply wine except for ready money, and Miss Jacqueline has gone into the lounge to gnaw her knuckles and tell herself that she can't stand any more of it. At such a moment, I fancy the prospect of marriage even with Mr. James Asson will seem like a ray of hope and a glimpse of paradise. Hadn't you better be going?"

Asson frowned.

"Hang it, Lutman, I'm only halfway through my dinner!"

"So much the better, James," interrupted Lutman. "It will add a touch of realism to your hungry look. Go, and get a move on."

Asson rose and followed Jacqueline from the room.

Colonel Lutman was more or less correct in his psychology. Jacqueline, seated in a secluded corner of the lounge, was not actually gnawing her knuckles, but she was frowning and smoking a cigaret furiously, jerking it to and from her lips with quick, impatient movements, and recklessly tapping off imaginary ash with her finger.

"Hullo, Jacqueline!"

"Hullo, Jim!"

"All alone?"

"I was."

She glanced up to find Jim Asson smiling down at her. It struck her at that moment that he had quite a pleasant smile and a good set of teeth; but she felt that, even in a third-rate hotel, he need not have had that flower in the buttonhole of his dress coat, and that he might have worn a dinner jacket like everyone else.

"Hullo, Jim!"

"All alone?"

"I was."

There was no hint of a smile on her face or of welcome in her greeting, and Jim Asson hesitated, half inclined to leave her and await a more auspicious moment; and then, remembering that time was an important factor, and Lutman a sarcastic devil, he seated himself beside her.

"If you're going to try to be sociable, Jim," said Jacqueline, "please don't. I don't feel like being sociable; I feel like kicking you."

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S LOST SHOE

"Oh! Oh! Oh!" cried Uncle Wiggily, three times, just like that. Then to make sure he hadn't skipped any he cried again:

"Ho! Ho! Ho!"

That is crying "Oh" backward as you will find if you try it.

No wonder Mr. Longears was crying "Oh!" and "Ho!" He was stuck in a mud puddle. He had been hopping after the Happiness Bluebird which had flown away from where it started to make its home in a hole in the old apple tree of Uncle Wiggily's garden.

Not watching his steps, to avoid accidents as the signs in trolley cars and buses tell us, Uncle Wiggily had floundered into the mud puddle.

What to Do.

"And what am I to do next?" he asked. "Oh, dear, what am I to do?"

"Why don't you hop out?" asked a voice from a tree. Uncle Wiggily knew trees had hearts and he supposed a pussywillow tree had a mew. But not often did voices speak to him out of trees. And it wasn't even a dogwood tree, which, of course, can bark if a pussywillow tree can mew.

"Hop out?" repeated Uncle Wiggily, looking up to see who had spoken.

"Yes," the voice went on. "You hopped into the puddle while chasing me, so now the next thing to do is to hop out."

"I believe you're right," said the rabbit gentleman.

"I know I'm right," said the voice.

"You will be much happier out of the puddle."

With that the Bluebird, for he it was who had been speaking, flew out of the tree and around the head of Uncle Wiggily who was stuck in a mud puddle.

"Oh, I am so glad to see you again," said the rabbit. "Then you didn't intend to fly away from the apple tree?"

"Not to stay," was the answer. "I saw you showing me to your wife. Then, all of a sudden, I remembered my wife was flying up from the South today and I had promised to meet her. That's why I flew away. But when I saw you go plop into the puddle I flew back to help you."

"You have already helped me," said the rabbit. "I shall take your advice and hop out of the puddle. Watch me!" With that Uncle Wiggily made a most tremendous hop and out he came. He landed on solid ground beside the puddle and looked at his paws. Then he cried again:

Lost—One Shoe.

"Oh! Oh! Oh!"

"What's the matter now?" asked the Bluebird.

"I have lost my shoe!" said Mr. Longears. "I must have left it sticking in the mud of the puddle. How can I go home with one shoe?"

"By going hippity hop on one foot," said the Bluebird.

"It will look so funny!" said Uncle Wiggily. "All my friends will laugh at me."

"What do you care?" sang the bird. "When there is laughter there is happiness. I am here to make happiness. Never mind your lost shoe. Let it stay in the puddle until the mud dries and then you can find it. Hop home with one shoe and make everybody laugh."

"That's just what Uncle Wiggily did. And as he hopped he sang: "Hi diddle dumpling, my son John, One shoe off and one shoe on!"

Every one laughed when they saw Mr. Longears. But he was glad, for they were happy. Then the Bluebird flew to meet his wife and they were happy. And I hope you are happy.

And if the canary bird doesn't forget to put on his rubbers when he takes a bath in the milk bottle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the high water.

Vocational Students Present Art Exhibit Of High Merit

Notable Display Of Clothing Also Seen At Annual Show

DAY AND NIGHT CLASSES

Brilliant colorings that seem to rhyme in anywhere with the season's note of Coronation splendor draw the eye in the exhibit of Art work done by pupils of the Vocational School. On view on Friday afternoon, in connection with the annual spring demonstration of handiwork of the students of the Day and Night classes, it was displayed in the gymnasium.

A black background and black mats for the dainty watercolors in their bright poster tints, served to make very effective this attractive exhibit. And there seemed to be a bolder and more assured treatment of their work by the young pupils. The designs were mainly of the conventionalized and modernistic type, in brilliant yet subdued colors. Tropical fish, small animals, birds, flowers of many varieties, formed the motif for these gay bits of painting.

In an Easter mood was the dainty thing that showed two friendly bunnies, all dressed up, painting Easter eggs with brilliant tints, the light of a benevolent full moon peeping through the branches of a wide-armed tree.

The use of many brilliant colors that yet harmonize into a gay and attractive whole was demonstrated in the weeping willow tree that spread itself over a tiny red pagoda in a garden with flower of red, pink, blue, green and yellow hues. And the favorite iris lily in all its purple splendor formed the theme of many of the pretty pictures.

Very interesting were large book and magazine covers made of parchmentized paper. Their front surfaces were adorned with conventionalized flowers and birds treated to a protective coat of shellac. And waste-paper baskets made of heavy black paper were decorated in the same way, their edges bound in gilt lace braid.

In the gymnasium, too, was the display of sewing by members of the Night classes.

For the Tiny Tot

There was a notable display of children's wear, with some extraordinarily fine decorative sewing in the smocking and shirring and fagoting of tiny dress-up garments. One lovely little frock for a wee miss was of white muslin sprigged with tiny yellow, blue and red flowerets, with a yoke made of several rows of soft blue stuff joined by double facalling and embroidered in white daisies, the peculiar flower of this year. Little "panty" frocks in gay printed materials with yokes and pleats as variations, were very trim bits of small wear, and there was a gay outdoor suit in a Princess style, both coat and scarf of scarlet wool crepe with matching hat. A Scotch suit of red and green plaid with a velvet jacket was another outstanding example of fine stitchery.

For the little summer frocks there appeared two lovely, poke-bonnet hats, made entirely of shirred organdy, one rose pink, the other primrose yellow.

The wear for young women and their seniors was very interesting, comprising a display of neat work dresses, with colorful belts and buttons; lingerie that included many pieces in the popular flowered dimity; blouses, suits, afternoon frocks and coats.

One blouse was an exquisite piece. It was made of shell-pink silk crepe, with long sleeves and bodice trimming in a line of buttons from neck to waist that were clear crystal balls, reflecting through their transparent globes the soft pink of the material. Another very trim blouse was of yellow linen, belted with brown suede, its side pocket monogrammed in brown with the maker's initials.

The suits were neatly finished, of wool and tweed, the frocks were of soft crepes in flowered stuffs and there were several very good-looking coats. One suit in brown with a gold fleck was a striking garment, with big buttons of brown wood.

An afternoon gown that drew the attention was of navy blue silk crepe. The applique flowers that trimmed it seemed to be applied at just the right places for a graceful contour, one at the lower right of the skirt, one at the left front of the blouse, and one apiece on the sleeves.

Two evening gowns were pretty garments. One, with a flaring skirt and short puffed sleeves, was developed in robin's egg blue taffeta, with a pink flower corsage, and the other was in organdy of a pale chartreuse green, embroidered with tiny silk flowers and made with a jacket closed by little glass buttons.

Work of Day Classes

The work done by students in the Day Sewing classes displayed a quality of extreme attention to details and of splendid finish. It was also arranged in the second-floor classrooms on tables, forms and racks. Here several girl students bent over a loom that wove fine woollen material for use in making scarfs and bags. And here were little cross-stitched pictures in a glass show case.

There were piles of pyjama sets also, for the girls delight in making their own lingerie from the stocks of pastel-tinted flowered seersucker and dimity available just now.

A "Dirndle" dress was an interesting example of neat handiwork. These Austrian peasant dresses have gathered skirts and quaint elbow sleeves. A blue figured silk crepe has clever little cord loops for the self-covered buttons down the back of the bodice and a large-sized figured model showed some of the best stitching in the lot, with careful designing.

A gathered skirt and buttons showing little white ships, with a daisy corsage, featured another skilfully-wrought dress, and there was plenty of interest in a turquoise blue silk crepe frock with a soft girdle, and the dainty white net collar and cuffs on a navy blue model.

On the tables where a cream ground was crossed by streamers of garnet and grey, the school colors, were displayed various pretty things; spotless white collar and cuff sets, exquisitely fagoted; a charming blouse of white with blue collars and cuffs, trig and efficient-looking; children's frocks in the favored Shirley Temple pattern; a large white linen surplice with carefully-smocked little yoke under a flat collar, designed for the Rev. J. D. Paterson by a member of his flock; linen pieces for boudoir and dining-room use, embroidered with silk in cross-stitch and hemstitched designs with "bullion" edgings; a lovely linen bag with embroidered motif.

A white flannel coat was a pretty item in the display, and there were dainty blouses in pastel-tinted silk crepes, showing the use of the tucker, ruffler and hemmer on the machine.

And something very interesting was the exhibit of pattern books made by the girls, showing the manner in which they cut and use patterns.

In the Household Arts department also was the spotless kitchen with its steaming utensils and its wall cards descriptive of food values; the dining-room where a table was arranged with a bowl of narcissus and lattice and pink candles, on a lace cloth, and a pretty Japanese tea-room where refreshments were served by the girl students.

This was a very attractive place, done with pink wall panels bordered by artificial wisteria. A high lattice work was covered with cherry blossoms, there were rows of Japanese lanterns pendent from the ceiling and spring flowers on the little tables.

Jugular Cut

This smiling youngster is going about his business as usual, a thing of a phenomenon. Although he looks as if he never knew a day's illness, 7-year-old Ralph Norman, Jr., of Painesville, O., was in danger of death from a blood clot that was travelling towards his brain. Physicians severed Ralph's jugular, one of the rarest cases in surgery, and now the boy is once more normal and completely recovered.

appearing when they reached a compromise agreement on amendments to the New Combines Bill, removing administration to the Labor department and widening the field of investigation. The last measure vote passed through the House at 12.32 o'clock this morning.

Labor Minister Rogers announced yesterday two unemployment relief policies—extension for another month into April of the farm placement scheme and spending of $1,000,000 to train young men and women for various trades.

As the House approved the appropriation the minister said he could not outline in detail how the money would be used but an effort would be made to train young men for various trades in which there was a prospect of their finding employment.

No Camps Planned.

It was not proposed to establish camps such as the C.C.C. camps in the United States except in so far as it might be necessary to connect with forestry or mining work.

Answering a question, he said the government proposed to consult with trade unions regarding the apprenticeship of young men to skilled trades.

The House went part way with the Senate on an amendment made by the Upper House to the bill to revise the accounting setup of the Canadian National Railways. The Senate had proposed a foot-note be added to the Canadian National Railways balance sheet citing figures of all past indebtedness of the railway to the government.

Transport Minister Howe said the figure proposed was inaccurate and objected to the insertion of any figure. He agreed, however, to the adding of a footnote stating the government's proprietor's equity in the railway was included in the net debt of Canada.

The object of the bill, he explained, was to do away with duplication of liabilities shown in the public accounts of Canada and the accounts of the railway. If the debt due the Dominion from the railway was stated in the railway accounts and also in the government accounts a wrong picture of Canada's total obligations was given.

The Senate's proposal would perpetuate this duplication and would negative the real purpose of the bill.

Money Voted Speedily.

Most of the time of the House last night was taken up with money votes, millions of dollars being passed as quickly as called by the chairman. It was the usual pre-closing rush which probably will be maintained to-day.

Still in the House order paper was the new tariff increase for the furniture industry, from 30 to 37½ per cent, which was not discussed yesterday. Western Liberals already have protested against the increases and were expected to renew their attacks to-day.

In the first round of the discussion yesterday, Conservative Leader Bennett charged discrimination against Alberta on financial recommendations of the Bank of Canada. He claimed it was unfair to pay Saskatchewan $1,500,000, Manitoba [illegible] and Alberta nothing, including the findings of the Royal Commission on taxation.

John Blackmore, Social Credit leader and Finance Minister Dunning promised to discuss the grants to-day, the one attacking, the other defending.

St. George's Anglican Church To Honor Memory of Rev. Price

Parish Is Also Celebrating Its Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

ERECTED BRASS TABLET

Erected to the memory of the late Rev. James Price who was first incumbent of the parish, a new reredos and a brass tablet are to be dedicated by the Rev. Archdeacon Warren of Toronto at St. George's Church on Sunday evening. This year marks the silver jubilee anniversary of the "little white church in the south-end," and while the actual opening for service did not take place until November, 1912, the occasion of the dedication service justifies a brief historical record of the parish.

Archdeacon Warren will be assisted at the service by the Rev. C. A. G. Spence of Apsley and by the rector the Rev. T. S. Gault, whose energetic and broadminded leadership, supported by the loyal aid of his parishioners, has resulted in the formation of strong church societies and organizations and has brought the church to its present material and spiritual strength.

Parish Formed in 1912

It is particularly fitting that Archdeacon Warren should conduct the dedication ceremony. He was officially concerned, together with the late Canon Davidson and the Bishop of Toronto in the deliberations which resulted in formation of the parish which formally came into being in July 1912.

Earnest and devoted laymen, led by W. G. Howden and J. D. Manley (the first church warden), organized matters, and the first service was held in the open on July 7, 1912, on the grounds, then J. D. Manley's, at the corner of Lock street and Braidwood avenue. Services were also held in various private houses and in the exhibition ground buildings, but the approach of cold weather forced the members to seek more sheltered quarters. Fortunately there was then available the building which now forms the greater part of the church. It was a Union Mission Church (where an undenominational Sunday School had been held) situated at Crawford's Grove. This was at the time standing vacant and unused. It was purchased from the trustees and moved to the present site on Braidwood avenue, which had been donated by Mr. T. H. Hooper.

Objected to Raffle

A disconcerting incident occurred in connection with the gathering of necessary funds for erecting the church. In addition to the land given by Mr. Hooper on which the church stands, Alvin Wilson had donated a lot some distance away. Cash was needed so church officials decided to raffle the lot to raise the money.

The police objected on the grounds that the lottery was illegal. Following further consideration of the matter the objection was withdrawn and the raffle was carried to a successful conclusion.

A considerable sum of money was realized which was used to pay for putting in the foundation. With this help and by the united efforts of the members themselves, the church was completed. It was opened for Divine services by the Bishop of Toronto on Sunday, November 3, 1912.

Like many other mission churches St. George's has had a hard time owing to social and economic conditions, but the members have always put up a courageous fight. The parish is now reaping the reward of its persistent efforts during the lean years. The Rev. James Price was the first incumbent, and continued in charge of the parish until 1920 when he returned to his native Wales; he had laid a good foundation for his successors to build upon. He was succeeded for a few months by Rev. Elliott Baker, who was followed by the Rev. W. R. Courage, a hard-working pastor who after three and a half years of office left to labor in a wider field in the United States. He was succeeded by the Rev. J. L. Hughes, a zealous worker, who remained in the office until June, 1935, when he removed to Brighton, Ontario.

The Rev. Mr. Gault has been rector for the past two years, and at the present time he has the assistance of the following officials: Church wardens, A. Knott and G. Ray; organist, Mrs. R. King; vestry clerk, Mrs. J. McWilliams.

area since the strike call early Thursday. Union heads conceded that emergency parts might pass but company officials did not say whether shipments would be limited to this extent.

In Toronto Premier Hepburn said last night he had assurance from the U.A.W. delegation this "necessary parts" would be moved out but there was no explanation of the term "necessary parts" by either the Premier or the union men.

Thinks Hepburn Out of Place

Organizer Thompson said the delegation had no authority to come to any agreement with the premier, that the matter rested with the stewards and union membership.

He added that the premier's version of the meeting did not coincide with that of the delegates who reported to him. Men who were allowed in the plant yesterday to check records, said Thompson, would again be allowed to enter today, and he maintained this was the pledge given Mr. Hepburn.

C. H. Millard, president of the Oshawa U.A.W. local among those meeting the premier, went on to St. Catharines from Toronto and addressed a meeting of employees of McKinnon Industries, a subsidiary of General Motors.

"We are going to see the crisis," said Millard to the workers who have been unaffected by the Oshawa strike. "They are going to open the parts and service building. We know the law and we are going to stay within it."

Main issue in the strike, union heads here concede, is still recognition of the union affiliated with the C.I.O. Other conditions such as a 40-hour week, time-and-a-half for overtime and improved working conditions, will be settled as secondary matters.

Organizer Thompson, asked by newspapermen, if a settlement were possible whereby General Motors would recognize only the Oshawa local of the U.A.W. and not the international organization, said such a conclusion to the strike would be impossible for "it is a national issue over policy."

Minor adjustments, he conceded, could be made with individual locals or plants, but they could not be reached until "the policy agreement is signed."

Vocational Students Present Art Exhibit Of High Merit

Notable Display Of Clothing Also Seen At Annual Show

DAY AND NIGHT CLASSES

Brilliant colorings that seem to chime in somehow with the season's note of Coronation splendor draw the eye in the exhibit of Art work done by pupils of the Vocational School. On view on Friday afternoon, in connection with the annual Spring demonstration of handiwork of the students of the Day and Night classes, it was displayed in the gymnasium.

A black background and black mats for the dainty watercolors in their bright poster tints, served to make very effective this attractive exhibit. And there seemed to be a bolder and more assured treatment of their work by the young pupils. The designs were mainly of the conventionalized and modernistic type, in brilliant yet subdued colors. Tropical fish, small animals, birds, flowers in many varieties, formed the motif for these gay bits of painting.

In an Easter mood was the dainty thing that showed two friendly bunnies all dressed up, painting Easter eggs with brilliant tints, the light of a benevolent full moon peeping through the branches of a wide-armed tree.

The use of many brilliant colors that yet harmonize into a gay and attractive whole was demonstrated in the weeping willow tree that spread itself over a tiny red pagoda in a garden with flower of red, mint, blue green and yellow hues. And the favorite Iris lily in all its purple splendor formed the theme of many of the pretty pictures.

Very interesting were large book and magazine covers made of parchmentized paper. Their front surfaces were adorned with conventionalized flowers and birds treated to a protective coat of shellac. And waste-paper baskets made of heavy black paper were decorated in the same way, their edges bound by gilt lace braid.

In the gymnasium, too, was the display of sewing by members of the Night classes.

For the Tiny Tot

There was a notable display of children's wear, with some extraordinarily fine decorative sewing in the smocking and shirring and fagotting of tiny dress-up garments. One lovely little frock for a wee miss was of white muslin sprigged with tiny yellow, blue and red flowerets, with a yoke made of several rows of soft blue stuff joined by double feather-stitching and embroidered in white dashes, the popular flower of this year. Little "pantie" frocks in gay printed materials with yokes and pleats as variations, were very trim bits of small wear, and there was a gay outdoor suit in a Princess Elizabeth coat of scarlet wool crepe with matching hat. A Scotch suit of red and green plaid with a velvet jacket was another outstanding example of fine stitchery.

For the little summer frocks there appeared two lovely poke-bonnet hats, made entirely of shirred organdy, one also pink, the other orange.

The wear for young women and their seniors was very interesting, comprising a display of neat work dresses, with colorful belts and buttons; lingerie that included many pieces in the popular flowered dimity; blouses, suits, afternoon frocks and coats.

One blouse was an exquisite piece. It was made of shell-pink silk crepe, with long sleeves and bodice trimming in a line of frillons from neck to waist that were clear crystal balls, reflecting through their transparent globes the soft pink of the material. Another very trim blouse was of yellow linen, belted with brown suede, its side pocket monogrammed in brown with the maker's initials.

The suits were neatly finished, of wool and tweed, the frocks were of soft crepes in flowered stuffs and there were several very good-looking coats. One suit in brown with a gold fleck was a striking garment, with big buttons of brown wood.

An afternoon gown that drew the attention was of navy blue silk crepe. The applique flowers that trimmed it seemed to be applied at just the right places for a graceful contour, one at the lower right of the skirt, one at the left front of the blouse, and one apiece on the sleeves.

Two evening gowns were pretty garments. One, with a flaring skirt and short puffed sleeves, was developed in robin's egg blue taffeta, with a pink flower corsage, and the other was in organdy of a pale chartreuse green, embroidered with tiny silk flowers and made with a jacket closed by little glass buttons.

Work of Day Classes

The work done by students in the Day Sewing classes displayed a quality of extreme attention to details and of splendid finish. It was arranged in the second-floor classrooms, on tables, forms and racks. Here several girl students bent over their machines, while others were busy at the cutting tables. Here, too, was a loom that wove fine woollen material for use in making scarfs and bags. And here were little cross-stitched pictures in a glass show case.

There were piles of pyjama sets also, for the girls delight in making their own lingerie from the stocks of pastel-tinted flowered seersucker and dimity available just now.

On the tables where a cream ground was crossed by streamers of garnet and grey, the school colors, were displayed various pretty things: spotless white collar and cuff sets, exquisitely tagotted; a steaming white satin slip lace-trimmed; middy blouses of white with blue collars and cuffs, trig and efficient-looking; children's frocks in the favored Shirley Temple pattern; a large white linen surplice with carefully-smocked little yoke under a flat collar, designed for the Rev. J. D. Paterson by a member of his flock; linen pieces for boudoir and dining-room use, embroidered with silk in cross-stitch and hemstitched designs with "button" edgings; a jersey linen bag with embroidered motif.

A white flannel coat was a pretty item in the display, and there were dainty blouses in pastel-tinted silk crepes, showing the use of the tucker, ruffler and hemmer on the machine.

And something very interesting was the exhibit of pattern books made by the girls, showing the manner in which they cut and use patterns.

St. George's Anglican Church To Honor Memory of Rev. Price

Parish Is Also Celebrating Its Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

ERECTED BRASS TABLET

Erected to the memory of the late Rev. James Price who was first incumbent of the parish, a new reredos and a brass tablet are to be dedicated by the Rev. Archdeacon Warren of Toronto at St. George's Church on Sunday evening. This year marks the silver jubilee anniversary of the little white church in the south-end," and while the actual opening for service did not take place until November, 1913, the occasion of the dedication service, justifies a brief historical record of the parish.

Archdeacon Warren will be assisted at the service by the Rev. C. A. G. Spence of Apsley and by the rector the Rev. T. S. Gault whose energetic and broadminded leadership, supported by the loyal aid of his parishioners, has resulted in the formation of strong church societies and organizations and has brought the church to its present material and spiritual strength.

Parish Formed in 1912

It is particularly fitting that Archdeacon Warren should conduct the dedication ceremony. He was officially concerned, together with the late Canon Davidson and the Bishop of Toronto in the deliberations which resulted in formation of the parish which formally came into being in July 1913.

Earnest and devoted laymen, led by W. G. Howden and J. D. Manley (the first church warden), organized matters, and the first service was held in the open on July 7, 1912, on the grounds, then J. D. Manley's, at the corner of Lock street and Braidwood avenue. Services were also held in various private houses and in the exhibition ground buildings, but the approach of cold weather forced the members to seek more sheltered quarters. Fortunately there was then available the building which now forms the greater part of the church. It was a Union Mission Church (where an undenominational Sunday School had been held) situated at Crawford's Grove. This was at the time standing vacant and unused. It was purchased from the trustees and moved to the present sit on Braidwood avenue, which had been donated by Mr. T. H. Hooper.

Objected to Raffle

A disconcerting incident occurred in connection with the gathering of necessary funds for erecting the church. In addition to the land given by Mr. Hooper on which the church stands, Alvin Wilson had donated a lot some distance away. Cash was needed so church officials decided to raffle the lot to raise the money.

The police objected on the grounds that the lottery was illegal. Following further consideration of the matter the objection was withdrawn and the raffle was carried to a successful conclusion.

A considerable sum of money was realized which was used to pay for putting in the foundation. With this help and by the united efforts of the members themselves, the church was completed. It was opened for Divine services by the Bishop of Toronto on Sunday, November 3, 1912.

Like many other mission churches St. George's has had a hard time owing to social and economic conditions, but the members have always put up a courageous fight. The parish is now reaping the reward of its persistent efforts during the lean years. The Rev. James Price was the first incumbent, and continued in charge of the parish until 1920 when he returned to his native Wales; he had laid a good foundation for his successors to build upon. He was succeeded for a few months by Rev. Elliott Baker, who was followed by the Rev. W. R. Courage, a hard-working pastor who after three and a half years of office left to labor in a wider field in the United States. He was succeeded by the Rev. J. L. Hughes, a zealous worker, who remained in the office until June, 1935, when he removed to Brighton, Ontario.

The Rev. Mr. Gault has been rector for the past two years, and at the present time he has the assistance of the following officials: Church wardens, A. Knott and O. Rae; organist, Mrs. R. King; vestry clerk, Mrs. J. McWilliams.

area since the strike call early Thursday. Union heads conceded that emergency parts might pass but company officials did not say whether shipments would be limited to this extent.

In Toronto Premier Hepburn said last night he had assurance from the U.A.W. delegation that "necessary parts" would be moved out but there was no explanation of the term "necessary parts" by either the Premier or the union men.

Thinks Hepburn Out of Place

Organizer Thompson said the delegation had no authority to come to any agreement with the premier, that the matter rested with the stewards and union membership.

He added that the premier's version of the meeting did not coincide with that of the delegates who reported to him. Men who were allowed in the plant yesterday to check records, said Thompson, would again be allowed to enter today, and he maintained this was the pledge given Mr. Hepburn.

C. H. Millard, president of the Oshawa U.A.W. local among those meeting the premier, went on to St. Catharines from Toronto and addressed a meeting of employees of McKinnon Industries, a subsidiary of General Motors.

"We are going to see the crisis," said Millard to the workers who have been unaffected by the Oshawa strike. "They are going to open the parts and service building. We know the law and we are going to stay within it."

Main issue in the strike, union heads here concede, is still recognition of the union affiliated with the C.I.O. Other conditions such as a 40-hour week, time-and-a-half for overtime and improved working conditions, will be settled as secondary matters.

Organizer Thompson, asked by newspapermen, if a settlement were possible whereby General Motors would recognize only the Oshawa local of the U.A.W. and not the international organization, said such a conclusion to the strike would be impossible for "it is a national issue over policy."

Minor adjustments, he conceded, could be made with individual locals or plants, but they could not be reached until "the policy agreement is signed."

Martin Says Premier, "A Little Two-By-Four," Cannot Block Fight For Democracy

RUMOR PLANT TO BE SHUT

Organizers Reply If It Is, All G.M. Factories In U.S. Will Be Closed Too

By Ivers Kelly
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OSHAWA, Ont., April 12.—(CP).—Still deadlocked over the C.I.O. issue, Oshawa's General Motors strike today entered a new week—fifth day since the walkout — after a week-end of collapsed negotiations and two great mass meetings for the 3,700 strike idle.

Efforts toward a settlement of the strike ended in Premier Hepburn's office in Toronto Saturday, when the Premier refused to admit Hugh Thompson, organizer for John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

A delegation from the Oshawa local of the United Automobile Workers of America, C. I. O. affiliate, sought to have Thompson included in their conference. When this failed they withdrew from the Premier's office.

On the question of C.I.O. recognition the strikers at a mass meeting Saturday night and another gathering Sunday—the second an open air meeting—heard C.I.O. heads declare pressure would be brought upon General Motors in the United States toward a swift end to the strike.

A noisy welcome was given Homer Martin, president of the U.A.W. who told his listeners that "if they don't make motor cars in Canada under union conditions, they won't make any in the United States at all."

Martin came by plane and auto from Detroit, Saturday, to address the strikers. He told them that General Motors officials in Detroit would be given "a little time to make up their minds, but we won't be too patient."

From the same platform, Organizer Thompson asked: "Do you want me to withdraw if I am the person standing in the way of you getting back to your jobs?"

"No," yelled back the strikers.

There were such terms as "Billy Hepburn," and "would-be Hitler" applied by speakers to the Premier.

Martin declared he respected and revered the Ontario Government, Canada and the Empire, but that the Premier—"a little two-by-four"—could not sweep aside 1,000-year-old traditions of English people who had struggled for democracy.

At the Sunday gathering Organizer Thompson charged there was a split in the Ontario Government over the relief question, maintain-

3,000 Madrid Troops Slain Surprise Raid

Government Troops Caught In Cross-Fire During Battle Outside Capital

REBELS HEARTENED

WITH INSURGENTS, OUTSIDE MADRID, April 12 —(AP)— More than 3,000 government troops were estimated to have been slaughtered west of Madrid today in a surprise attack against the right flank of the government army.

An official insurgent communique described the rout of General Mija's command as one of the greatest insurgent victories on the Madrid front.

The fourth day of the determined government drive to raise the siege of the capital was declared to have been definitely halted by the loss of life which amounted to almost one man in four.

The government troops were caught in a cross fire from two strong insurgent positions north of the Casa de Campo, former royal preserve over which Mija's troops have inched their way for four days.

The government artillery barrage opened in the early morning, centered on the shallow no-man's land, in some cases only a scant dozen yards wide. As the curtain of shells rolled forward, 16,000 infantrymen advanced in staggered waves to attack the insurgent positions on the Aguila Hill and Perdices Hill.

As the Milicianos struggled up the slopes, filling the valley between, General Saliquet, the area commander, gave the command to his troops to fire. Of the 16,000 men who charged the legionnaires positions, 3,000 were reported officially to have been left dead on the field.

83 Holdouts Now Bother Union Heads

Hope To Convert Parts Department Workers At Session Tonight

SOME ALREADY IN LINE

Martin Aiming To Have G.M. Heads Of Parent Company Force Canadian Officials In Line

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP). — Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, in close touch with Oshawa General Motors strike events, today reiterated he was confident settlement would be reached without assistance of "hirelings of John L. Lewis."

While no formal conferences were held, the Premier was in constant communication with the interests involved in the strike, affecting 3100 workers. Mr. Hepburn and General Motors officials were reported unchanged in their stand against conferring with any representatives of Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

H. Homer Martin, President of the United Automobile Workers' of America affiliated with the C.I.O., is successful in having General Motors heads in the United States advise Canadian officials to come to terms, the question will be removed from government hands, it is understood at Queen's Park.

HOLDOUTS JOIN PICKETS

OSHAWA, Ont., April 12 (CP)—Picket lines in front of the parts and service building at General Motors of Canada, Limited, today included men who had worked there as strikebreakers Saturday and have since joined the United Automobile Workers' Union, its officials said.

Plans were being made for a meeting tonight of parts and service department employees and invitations will be extended the 83 non-union employees. These employees their interests will be best served by joining the union, they said.

"We will use the 'grape vine' system of inviting them to the meeting," a union official said. "One or two union men will be detailed to invite each employee who went back to work this morning."

Another official of the union declared its attempts to enlist the remaining workers in the union would be its only course in trying to close the parts department. Boos and jeers and calls of "Scabs," "Rats," and "Finks" were directed at them by a group of nearly 300 pickets on duty outside the building.

Windsor Waits on Oshawa.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 12 (C.P.). —Employees of the shutdown Windsor plant of General Motors paraded outside the factory to-day approximately 125 strong, still looking to Oshawa for a settlement that will put them back to work, while their leaders completed plans for a visit on Thursday of Homer Martin, president of the U.A.W.A.

Martin, and R. M. Cappellini, a C.I.O. representative from the Pennsylvania coal fields, will address a meeting composed of U.A.W. members and other workers from the G.M. and other plants.

The men reiterated their denial they are striking. They said their lay-off on Thursday after a strike had been called at Oshawa came as a surprise. They called the closing of the local plant a "lock-out."

Union officials said they have been assured whatever settlement is reached between the union negotiators and the company officials at Oshawa will apply here. That is the understanding they received from the Oshawa unions when they pledged their support to the C.I.O.

Organizer Barred Hugh Thompson, C. I. O. organizer from Detroit and spokesman for the union headed by John L. Lewis in the auto strike at Oshawa plants of General Motors, was barred from the office when Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario met a delegation representing the strikers following an earlier conference with auto company executives. The premier flatly refused to see Thompson, who is shown outside the premier's office in the Ontario legislative buildings during the parley.

Mine Group Resents Interference—Bloody Week-End Sees Beatings, Floggings

SHIFTS CONTINUE WORK

PICKER, Okla., April 12 (AP)—Truculent lead and nine workers returned to their jobs today in an atmosphere made tense by a bloody week-end in which nine were shot, with leaders of an unaffiliated group announcing determination to "prevent C.I.O. unionization of this territory."

Officials estimated that several hundred men, the approximate normal total, went to work on the midnight shift in the area near Picher.

The wounding of eight men and a boy at Galena, Kas., yesterday by gunfire from a headquarters of the International Union of Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers, climaxed a week-end of beatings and floggings and brought their terse statement of plans of the group opposed to the Committee for Industrial Organization:

"All mines and smelters will be open as usual Monday. All men will go back to work.

"We will continue our attempts to prevent C.I.O. unionization of this territory."

Signed by President F. W. (Mike) Evans, that police was posted at the headquarters here of the tri-state union, which claims 8,000 members in this rich mine area of Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas.

The week-end toll included the flogging of Constable Ray Keller at Hockerville, Okla., in addition to the Threat To Call Troops Biggest Mistake Of Career — Says People Friendly To U.A.W.A.

MILWAUKEE, April 12.—(AP)—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, yesterday termed Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario a bungler who "made the biggest political mistake of his career."

In an address to union auto workers he criticized Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan "one of the great governors in the history of our country."

Martin flew here from Ontario after negotiations between Premier Hepburn and a workers' committee, in the General Motors strike at Oshawa snapped over the presence of Hugh Thompson, C.I.O. organizer from the United States.

"Hepburn's threat to call out troops if disorder developed was the biggest political mistake of his career," Martin said.

$30,000 Fire Razes Block In Dunnville

Newspaper, Utilities, Hydro Offices Gutted Along With Legion Hall

SUSPECT POOR WIRING

DUNNVILLE, Ont., April 12 (CP) —Most serious fire here in 20 years occurred early today when the Harrison block, containing five stores and the Canadian Legion Hall, was gutted. Damage was estimated at $20,000 to $30,000.

Stores in the ground floor were the Dunnville Public Utilities and Hydro office, Dunnville Gazette office, O. H. Chambers auction rooms, Ing Bros. Laundry, and Geo. Krahling's shoe repair shop.

Fire was first discovered in Chambers auction rooms last night and the fire brigade was on the scene immediately. More than 30 of the hose boys, assisted by volunteers, worked to check the flames, spreading rapidly throughout the building.

Cause of the fire is unknown, but it is believed faulty electric wiring was the cause. This is the second time the building has been destroyed by fire. Originally the old opera house, it was turned into an office building about 1912, and was burned in 1919.

Rebuilt at that time, the lower floor was divided into store spaces, with the second storey being used as a factory space, bowling alley, and finally taken over by the Canadian Legion in 1934, and remodelled.

Legion Hardest Hit.

The Legion are probably the heaviest losers in this fire, having spent about $2,000 in improvements, and having close to $1,000 worth of furniture and equipment in the building at the time. They report only about $1,500 insurance.

Has Greatest Battleship In World, The Hood, Standing Off Besieged Port

300,000 NEAR STARVATION

Cabinet Decides Nation Has No Rights Inside Three-Mile Limit

LONDON, April 12.—(AP)—Prime Minister Baldwin told the House of Commons today that Great Britain, while guarding her shipping "at sea" in the Bay of Biscay, could not protect British food ships, actually entering the besieged port of Bilbao, Spain.

The prime minister outlined this stand, reached at a Sunday meeting of the cabinet, at a moment when H.M.S. Hood, the world's largest warship, had reached a position off Bilbao after a quick voyage from Gibraltar.

Baldwin, while insisting the British government was neither extending belligerent rights to the Spanish insurgent besiegers of Bilbao nor tolerating "any interference with British shipping at sea," explained:

"They (the government), are, however, warning British shipping that in view of conditions at present prevailing in the neighborhood of Bilbao they should not, for practical reasons and in view of the risks against which it is at present impossible to protect them, go into the area as these conditions prevail."

Refugees Jam Fort.

Six British food ships yesterday were driven off from Bilbao, which is chocked with hungry refugees, by the insurgent fleet.

H.M.S. Hood was sent to the Bay of Biscay, Baldwin disclosed, because the government wanted a British naval force there "under the direct command of an officer of flag rank"—in view of the "difficult position" off Bilbao.

Clement Atlee, leader of the opposition, asked: "Does not the government's position amount to a blockade of Bilbao?"

"No," replied Baldwin.

Amid Labor cheers, Atlee retorted:

"Then, in view of the unsatisfactory nature of these answers, I give notice that I shall ask for a day to discuss the failure of His Majesty's government to give protection to merchant ships."

Even before the prime minister spoke, authorized sources had indicated the Bilbao situation was regarded as a "local" one in which it was not feasible for British warships to extend the protection of their guns to British merchant ves-

"King Anthony" Claims Throne Forbids Crowning George VI

Former London Policeman Sends Injunction To Archbishop Of Canterbury

USES LEGAL PHRASES

LONDON, April 12 (A.P.). — The self-styled "King Anthony" Hall, still claiming the throne, yesterday sent an "injunction" to the Archbishop of Canterbury forbidding him to crown "Albert Wettin," as he styles King George VI. on May 12.

The Archbishop's office declined to comment on the "injunction" or to say whether it had actually been received.

The former London policeman, who calls himself "King Anthony the First," couches his "injunctions" in legal phrases, but they apparently have no legal status.

Hall bases his claim to the throne on alleged direct descent from the Tudors. In 1936 he said: "The Wettins, or Windsors as they began to call themselves during the Great War," were not of the Royal blood of England.

Last December 1 he warned the Duke of Norfolk not to attend the then King Edward's Coronation.

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP). — Maximum fine of $500 with the alternative of two months in jail was imposed on Dr. Norman King Wilson, Toronto eye, ear, nose and throat specialist who pleaded guilty to-day to attempting to maim, kill or injure a dog.

A second charge of causing unnecessary cruelty to animals was withdrawn and Dr. Wilson paid the fine. Stanley Black, defence counsel, entered a plea of guilty on behalf of the physician. H. C. Walker represented the Toronto Humane Society who laid the charges.

Inspector William Weatherstone of the Humane society said he was called April 1 by police and found a Manx mongrel dog, part Scotch-terrier in a pool of blood and Dr. Wilson standing nearby.

"I put the dog in the wagon and Dr. Wilson came over to me," the Inspector said. "He said to me, 'I cut the dog's throat.' He also said there were too many dogs around here. I asked him why he did it and he said the dog had been around his place barking for some time. He told me he used a penknife to do it.

THE MAIL-IT-AWAY EDITION.

The Examiner will publish its second Tourist and Mail-It-Away edition much earlier than in 1936. We expect it will be ready for publication shortly after the middle of May.

The reason for the change in date is that we are informed by a number of people from Ohio and New York State to whom last year's edition was forwarded that they would like it sooner when making plans for vacation.

The response to solicitation for advertising has been prompt and generous this year. An effort is being made in picture and story to cover as much of the Kawartha Lakes district as possible. We would suggest that those who have friends outside of this area to whom they would like to send copies of this edition get their lists ready. This office will attend to mailing and postage, and full announcement of that will be made later.

The plan will be tried this year of using full-size photographs of typical scenes in this district for front pages of various sections. We are attempting to produce a thoroughly creditable edition and we suggest you make plans now for reserving copies for mailing away.

Trio Drift For 48 Hours In Open Boat, Lake Erie

Ten Boats Pass Crippled Craft Before Fishermen Pick Them Up

COVER 45 MILES

WINDSOR, Ont., April 12.—(CP). —Faces swollen by wind and rain, two men and a 16-year-old boy slept soundly for the first time since the engine of their 26-foot motor launch failed Friday. The trio was picked up in Lake Erie yesterday after drifting about for two days and two nights.

Rafael of the three, John Rajak, German-born fisherman of near Amherst Point, 25 miles south of here slept soundly at his beach shanty, while his 23-year-old brother, Joe, along with his young nephew, Ambroso Rajak, rested at their homes here.

From Friday to Sunday the three were at the mercy of the waves, wind and cold as the engine in their open launch stalled with a broken gasoline line. They drifted in a zig-zag course and estimated they covered approximately 45 miles.

They went without food and sleep though twice they might have landed on the beach on the shores of small islands, kindled a bonfire and waited for rescue parties.

Instead they decided to stick with the ship. They were afraid it might be damaged or wrecked against the rocky island shores had they tried to land.

Ten boats passed them by until finally three Kingsville fishermen, Harold and Steve Cull and Gordon Sherman, noticed them when they went to lift a net.

"We've been here in the lake since Friday," the elder Rajak shouted. "The magneto, she won't work."

The fishermen took the three aboard their 32-foot boat and fed them sandwiches and tea.

NEW YORK, April 12 (CP).—Heirs of John M. Phillips, New York sewer pipe manufacturer, sought today for the fortune of more than $1,000,000 he left scattered around North America in various unnamed banks and safety deposit boxes in Canada and the United States.

At the same time Mrs. Marian A. Phillips Cassidy, widow of the pipe magnate, and the United States Government were locked in a battle of the estate, the Government alleging Phillips never paid income taxes though he amassed a fortune of more than $10,000,000, at one time.

Phillips was known to have made deposits in Montreal banks. The United States Department of Internal Revenue recently was forced by a Federal Court decision to return jewels valued at $100,000 which it had seized for delinquent income taxes and Mrs. Cassidy said her late husband hid his money to avoid income tax payments.

Five years before he died in 1926, Phillips made frequent secret trips away from New York depositing huge sums of money under false names in banks whose location he revealed only to his son Francis, who carried the secret with him when he died in a plane crash.

On one occasion, it was said, Francis Phillips drove to Canada, deposited $700,000 in a Canadian bank and went on a party. On his return he had forgotten the name of the bank.

Cruiser Hood Will Escort Food Ships Relief Of Bilbao

London Cabinet In Emergency Session Decides To Risk International Incident

WARNED BY FRANCO

Told Insurgent Fleet Will Fire On Any Vessels Entering Besieged Port

LONDON, April 12 (CP)—The 42,100-ton battle cruiser Hood, alone almost the equal of the total tonnage of the Spanish Insurgent fleet, today was proceeding from Gibraltar to the waters off Bilbao in northern Spain to convoy British merchant vessels through an Insurgent blockade of the besieged Basque capital.

Either Prime Minister Baldwin or Foreign Secretary Eden was to make an important declaration on British policy in the House of Comnons this afternoon, and it was believed it would be announced the cabinet, at a two-hour meeting last night, had decided to give naval protection to merchant shipping on the high seas but not in Spanish territorial waters.

The cabinet was reported to have decided a dangerous precedent would be set if fleet convoys escorted merchant vessels inside the three-mile limit.

Several merchantmen, carrying sorely-needed food to Bilbao, are at St. Jean De Lux, France, awaiting the government's decision on whether naval vessels will escort them through the Insurgent blockade of 10 ships. Foodstuffs are not included in the material of war banned by the non-intervention committee.

Plenty of Naval Backing

Under the government's plan, it was believed, the Hood and other British naval vessels in the vicinity —the cruiser Shropshire and the destroyers Blanche, Beagle, Brazen and Brilliant — would escort the freighters as far as the three-mile limit and then allow them to proceed into port at their own risk.

It was believed Insurgent warships would be reluctant to enter the three-mile limit—within the range of government shore batteries.

Long before the Ministers met to consider the situation at 10 Downing street, Foreign Secretary Eden and Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, met high administrators for a series of conferences.

Cabinet Stays on Job.

They had remained in their offices at Whitehall through the week-end, indicating the gravity with which British officials regard the situation.

The cabinet had to consider an insurgent warning their fleet had been ordered to fire on British freighters if they attempted to enter Bilbao. British warships would make no difference, diplomatic sources at St. Jean De Lux on the Franco-Spanish frontier, said General Francisco Franco told Sir Henry Chilton, British Ambassador to Spain.

"We are prepared to risk an international incident," the note was said to have read, "but the ships will not get through."

The destroyer Blanche carried an Admiralty warning to six British freighters to remain at St. Jean De Lux and not attempt to go to Bilbao.

Shipping circles expected this order to be amplified later by advice to abandon their basque destinations or proceed within the three-mile limit at their own risk.

The captain of one ship, the Marie Llewellyn, asked the Spanish consulate at Bayonne for instructions, failing which, he said, he would ask French courts for permission to sell the cargo of potatoes for the Bilbao government.

Blockade Is Denied.

The defence council of the Basque government, allied with Madrid broadcast a denial from Bilbao that a true blockade had been established under the meaning of International law.

"In fact, Bilbao, like other ports along the Basque coast controlled by the Basque government," the announcement said, "is defended from any attempt at blockade by long range shore batteries placed along the entire coast and also by naval units of the Republican fleet."

The note was interpreted as a bid to British ships to disregard the insurgent warnings and bring badly needed food to the port.

Orders In Writing For Pilots In Air

Chicago, April 12—(AP)

WRITTEN communications delivered to airplane pilots as they speed at 200 miles an hour were seen today as a likelihood of the "very near future" by James T. Flynn, Chief of Communications for American Airlines.

Flynn said pending tests would determine the feasibility of using "facsimile" reception machines, already tested on the ground, in airliners. Such a machine, he said, will enable pilots to receive weather maps, instructions and despatch orders in exact reproduction of the original prepared in the ground control office. The transmitter, transformed into radio impulses, picked up by the plane's receiver, and reproduced in the cockpit.

62-DAY SESSION COMES TO CLOSE MEMBERS LEAVE

Tweedsmuir Officiates — Premier King Expresses Appreciation Of Bennett Co-operation

SHORTEST SINCE 1921

OTTAWA, April 12 (C.P.). — The long marble corridors of the Parliament Buildings were given over to tourists to-day, the session ended and members scattered to their homes in distant parts of the country.

With a last-minute rush, Parliament cleaned up the business of the session on Saturday night with Lord Tweedsmuir officiating at the prorogation ceremonies in the red-walled Senate Chamber.

Before another session begins a Royal Commission will have begun an investigation of the financial relationship of the Dominion and the Provinces. Importance attached to the coming inquiry was indicated in the Speech from the Throne which reviewed the business of the session and described the probe as "a necessary first step towards readjustments in the governmental structure of Canada."

For 62 days Parliament deliberated over the nation's business and at the end Prime Minister Mackenzie King expressed his warm appreciation of co-operation and assistance given the Government by Conservative Leader Bennett.

Mr. Bennett replied with a declaration he had done just what he considered it his duty to do having regard to the Government's heavy responsibilities. He believed the legislation enacted during the session would prove of benefit to the people, but warned the Government the country was still faced with "many grave situations."

London Next.

In a few days Mr. King, Mr. Bennett, members of the Cabinet, and a group of members of the House and Senate will be on their way to London to attend the Coronation of King George VI. One of the last steps of the session yesterday was passage of an address of loyalty to His Majesty by both Houses. Mr. Mackenzie King will present the address.

The session was the second of the 18th Parliament and was the shortest regular session since 1921. Parliament assembled on January 14, and from the first sought to attain the goal of a mid-April prorogation.

In thanking Mr. Bennett for his helpful attitude throughout the session the Prime Minister said the Opposition leader's good humor since his recent trip around the world was remarkable.

"If a trip around the world is good for the leader of the Opposition's humor," retorted Mr. Bennett, "I hope the Prime Minister will lose no time in taking one should he ever be in opposition again, and I hope he will not go alone but will take with him some of his colleagues."

Just before the session ended, Mr. Bennett joined with Social Credit Leader John Blackmore in voicing a protest against the recent report of the Bank of Canada on the financial position of Alberta. They alleged Alberta was receiving less favorable consideration from the Dominion Government than were Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

This brought a denial from Finance Minister Dunning. He said the Alberta Government had requested a survey of its finances by the bank on the same basis as the earlier surveys made by the bank for Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Ever since taking office he had dealt with Alberta on

Belgium Nips Fascist Hopes At The Polls

Brussels Gives Premier Von Zeeland Overwhelming Victory

275,840 TO 69,242

Hostile Crowds Attack Any Rexist Supporters Caught On Streets

BRUSSELS, April 12 (AP)—Buried under a blizzard of ballots, Leon Degrelle set to work today to rebuild his shattered Fascist party while followers of Premier Paul Von Zeeland celebrated the triumph of "law and liberty" in the Brussels bye-election yesterday.

The young premier, accepting the challenge of Degrelle, contested with the Fascist leader for a seat in parliament, and won by a vote of 275,840 to 69,242 in an overwhelming rejection of the Fascist program offered by the Fascist party.

Highly excited crowds, closely watched by police, roamed Brussels boulevards as returns came in. The throngs shouted hostile cries against the Fascists and made menacing gestures toward any passerby suspected of favoring the Rexists.

The mere presence of the Rexist newspaper Le Pays Reel in a coat pocket was sufficient to arouse the crowd's anger.

Mock funeral processions carrying effigies of Degrelle and singing Chopin's funeral march moved slowly through the streets. Police made several arrests to prevent serious disorders.

Van Zeeland polled 76.89 per cent of all votes cast, in his first bid for votes.

The Rexist candidate, backed by Flemish Nationalist allies, received 4,479 votes less than the two obtained in the last election in May, 1936.

Degrelle polled 19.05 per cent of the vote. The remainder of the ballots were void.

Observers said the stinging defeat did not necessarily mean the end of the Fascist movement, but that a reorganization seemed inevitable.

CLYDE SHIP MEN THREATEN STRIKE

100,000 Propose To Walk Out Unless 13,000 Apprentices Get More Pay

GLASGOW, April 12 (C.P. Cable). —More than 100,000 workers in the Clydeside shipbuilding industry will hold a one-day strike on Friday unless employers agree to a conference on Wednesday with representatives of 13,000 striking apprentices.

At a mass meeting, the Clyde and District Committee of the Confederation of Shipbuilding Engineering Unions also decided to ask for a conference between union representatives and Ministry of Labor conciliation officials with a view to the Government's intervention.

Every shipbuilding and engineering shop in the district would be affected by the one-day shutdown.

The striking apprentices are seeking wage increases and better working conditions. Clydeside members are likely to raise the question in the House of Commons to-morrow.

THE Royal Road TO THE CORONATION

The Happy Couple at Their Brilliant Wedding

ABOVE we present Their Majesties in one of the happiest moments of their lives. This is their wedding picture and His Majesty, going back once more to his days of war service, is attired in the uniform of a group captain of the R.A.F.

They were married in April, of 1923 in historic Westminster Abbey with the Archbishop of Canterbury performing the ceremony, and, suitably enough, the Primate of Scotland assisting in the service along with the Archbishop of York. Six of her closest friends were bridesmaids for Lady Elizabeth while Prince Henry, now Duke of Gloucester and Prince George, now Duke of Kent, supported the duke. It was one of the Abbey's most colorful and pleasant ceremonies, but even greater than the pageantry of the wedding was the unanimous approval given the union by the people of the realm.

That the King's second son was marrying a fellow subject and that that fellow subject was the daughter of a family that could claim long and honorable connection with the history of England and Scotland as well as a distinguished war record to which the lady herself had added, caught the popular imagination as have few events of modern times even in the annals of a loved royal house. From the highest to the lowest of hundreds of thousands who packed London's streets to see the procession before and after the ceremony, came a wildly enthusiastic tribute that touched the hearts of the happy couple.

And they touched the heart of their people. It is recorded that Lady Elizabeth placed her bouquet of white roses upon the tomb of the Unknown Soldier as she entered the Abbey and that a wedding gift of some $10,000 was utilized by the couple to supply outings to children in large industrial areas—two events unimportant in themselves perhaps, but indicative of the kindly thoughtfulness that has endeared this couple to the empire. Perhaps when they travel through the cheering thousands who crowd London on May 12, memorable incidents of their early lives together will return to gratify Their Majesties as will the memory of their long-appreciated charm, the people they rule.

Holds G.M.C Concessions In His Hands

Brands Thompson, Martin Slick Fellows Making Fat Living Off Canadian Workers

LEWIS ADVICE UNNEEDED

Claims Aim Is To Make Canadian Costs So High As To End Export Trade

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn held firmly today to his refusal to confer with any American leader of the 3,700 striking General Motors of Canada workmen. He believes he could bring about a speedy settlement of the strike "if we can get these paid professional American agitators out of Ontario."

The premier has on his desk a memorandum of concessions General Motors would make to its Oshawa employees. But the premier will not disclose the memorandum's provisions to any delegation of strikers which includes Hugh Thompson, Detroit organizer for the Committee for Industrial Organization of which the United Automobile Workers of America is a subsidiary.

He charged Thompson and Homer Martin, president of the U.A.W.A. were "slick fellows who operate from outside Ontario and make a fat living out of the pay envelopes of our working class." He said last night they are bending every effort to prevent a settlement of the strike.

Mr. Hepburn met a delegation from the union in his office Saturday afternoon but he refused to admit Thompson. The delegation sought vainly to have the premier change his mind but he said he would not budge from his position.

Before he met the strikers, Mr. Hepburn conferred with Harry Carmichael, vice-president and general manager of General Motors of Canada, and James R. Highfield, general plant manager at Oshawa.

Need No Outside Advice.

Last night the premier said the strike could be settled "without having the hirelings of John L. Lewis, the master mind behind all the unrest and disturbance in the United States, come in here and tell us what to do.

"I'm not going to attempt to reply to all the abuse which Martin at Oshawa last night heaped upon the head of the government here," he added.

Mr. Hepburn claimed that "behind the veiled screen" of the present situation was a deliberate attempt on the part of the Lewis interests and their U. S. allies to make motor production cost so high in Canada that General Motors and other automobile industries here could not hope to compete with the United States and other countries in export manufacture.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., April 12 (CP)—There's still a market for horse-drawn fire extinguishing equipment, according to Chief H. G. Gillespie of Woodstock. Chief Gillespie received a letter from a Galt, Ont., man asking if the nearby Ingersoll fire station still had the old wagon used before mechanization of the department. The man wanted it to assist in showing heavy-draught horses in fairs. Gillespie explained.

Miss Helen Savigny of Stewart Hall, who teaches at one of the rural schools, was honored recently by her girl friends of the neighborhood at a handkerchief shower held at the home of Miss Corona Hambidge of Chonabee township, who was assisted by her guests, Miss Jean Pratt and Miss Eileen Scholes, of Peterborough.

The handkerchiefs were concealed in various parts of the room, and were discovered by Miss Savigny by the help of clever little verses composed by the guests, each verse in turn giving a clue to the hiding-place of the next handkerchief.

In the evening, at the home of Miss Hambidge, Miss Savigny, who has been a member of the Stewart Hall United Church Sunday School since childhood and has also played the organ in the church for several years, was guest of honor at a farewell party prior to her departure for her school in the northern section of the county of Peterborough. Games of Monopoly were played, and refreshments were served.

Local Singer In Large Productions.

Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park has several out-of-town singing engagements this week. On Tuesday and Wednesday she will take part (as the young Shepherd) in the production of the opera "Tannhauser" (in English) at Massey Hall, Toronto, and on Thursday night she will be soloist at the Spring Festival of the Elgar Choir in Hamilton.

The production of "Tannhauser", which is described as one of the "season's musical highlights", is under auspices of the Opera Guild of Toronto. Paul Althouse, leading Wagnerian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, New York, has been secured for the title role, which he has sung with great success on numerous occasions at the Metropolitan, having also been selected by Edward Johnson, to sing "Tannhauser", the Metropolitan's first production of that opera, this season. In the roles of Elizabeth and Venus, the soprano voices of Doris Godson Gilmour and Jeanne Pengelly will be heard. For the principal male parts, there are Norman Lucas, Robert Nately, Gordon McLaren, Reginald Heal, Murray Bosley and Irvine Levine. A chorus of eighty will support the leading singers. For the Bacchenale, twenty-four dancers from the studio of Boris Volkoff will be used, under direction of Mr. Volkoff. An orchestra of fifty will be in the pit, conducted by Cesar Borre, who is responsible for the entire production. Stage settings said to be of unusual beauty, further enhanced by the two hundred colorful costumes worn by principals and chorus, will help to make this production one of the most elaborate ever attempted in Canada.

Soft Fabrics Are All the Vogue This Season

BY LISERETH.

THIS very dainty, feminine season in women's clothes highlights the word "soft." It is applied to suits, dresses, blouses, everything but shoes. It does not mean stuffed, either, but that certain something that gives what used to be known as the "woman's touch" to garments.

Lace and other such sheer and patterned fabrics lend themselves readily to this type of clothes. All the Paris dressmakers are using lace, tulle, and similar materials in both daytime and evening clothes. Rosevienne shows smartly wearable street clothes, including navy crepe dress with matching lace peplum and same lace at neck, front ruffles and cuffs.

Lace blouses are numerous and very lovely. Some are made as tailored as silk or cotton, like the model presented here, left. This is made of heavy white lace, and was designed by Landouska of Paris. It has that certain feminine touch we were talking about a moment ago and which gives the "soft" effect to the tailored suit. The blouse, aside from the beautiful pattern of the lace, is very simple, with puff sleeves, a peplum effect at the waist, and buttons down from the very plain neckline.

Resembles Eyelet Embroidery.

Alix is another Paris dress designer who shows white lace blouses of a new type resembling eyelet embroidery. This same lace is used for afternoon frocks in navy.

Lace, indeed, lends itself ideally to the smart afternoon frock of formal character. The one shown at right, presented by Chanel, has been very popular. It is of black etre lace, the fullness in the skirt posed at the front, and, quite in keeping with the modern trend, the shoulder breadth is slightly emphasized.

Among the novelties of the season may be quoted an afternoon bridge costume of grey and black embroidery over blue lace. And a long afternoon coat of wool lace trimmed with velvet bands.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

WOMEN were made to give our eyes delight:
A female sloven is an odious sight.
—Young.

Dear Friends:

Sympathize with me my friends, for I have been making a dress! The stuff was bought one mild day about a month ago, and what I cannot understand about myself is, why, oh why, do I get the urge every time Winter is going out, to go buy myself some goods and make a dress?

But there is something about the nice new materials and the alluring patterns which gets me down every time. I picture to myself how nice I will look in the darned thing. I struggle to get a table big enough to cut the pattern out, I strive to get the time to do it, and all the while someone keeps making demands on me.

But at long last I struggled to see which piece was which, found the way to lay it on the goods and pinned it there, and cut it, determined to sew it next day, or know the reason why. (I know it now alright.)

Well it lay for about two weeks longer, and finally I started to baste it together yesterday. The first fine enthusiasm had died down by then, and what started out to be an adventure in dressmaking, became a wearisome business indeed.

I would just get the idea of which part went with which, when the 'phone would ring, or someone would come to the door, so I would lay it down carefully, do what had to be done, and come back to it again. I guess you are wondering if I am an expert dressmaker? I am not. Never had a lesson in my life, but what's a little thing like making a dress? (Here is where you laugh.)

At long last, and fully exasperated by this time, I got it all basted together, but as it is a sort of lacy material, the basting threads would keep coming out. If I so much as turned it around. Well I tried it on and it is now too long, and in certain places, too big, so I have a course of altering here, taking up there, shortening another place, and my theme song is still, "Why oh why did I ever start to make the blasted thing in the first place?" (And echo answers, why?)

All the dress patterns seem to be made for the long leggy kind, and I am neither long nor leggy, and I also have a tendency to bulge in the wrong places.

When I was easy to fit, it never occurred to me to make a dress, but then there was a decent income, and now there isn't, so what? So go ahead and do your struggling old thing, and find a laugh to brighten it all up.

So I'll try to fit the dress to my fairy? form and I only hope the struggle won't take all the joy in wearing it away in the effort, but if ever any of my friends see me looking at dress goods and patterns, I hope they clip me over the head, for if ever they saw my struggles they would laugh their heads off.

However, I've never made one yet that I could not wear, so that's some'pin. But now after I stitch it together, I must fit it on all by myself, measure it, fit it again, and before I am through I shall have had to try it on about twenty times, and I mean twenty.

It used to be easy to make a dress, but now they have swing skirts as well as swing music, so this means seams and more seams. The directions also used to be easy to follow, but now they have them as if you were a fully experienced person in that kind of work, so you just give yourself your head, and trust to luck that you are right. It's like looking at an intricate piece of music to a beginner. And so if you happen to run across me this summer (or maybe Fall) wearing a new dress, just remember the trial I went through to get it. Made you laugh? That's good.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Not So Good

Beverage rooms were closed temporarily in Oshawa when the strike at the plant of General Motors was declared, it being explained it was a precautionary measure to avoid trouble.

But there are beverage rooms in Whitby and Whitby is not many miles removed from Oshawa. Whitby reports that beer parlors in that town have been doing a thriving business since the ones in Oshawa were closed.

Which is not so good. People who go from Oshawa to get a drink of beer in Whitby—or several drinks—do not walk between the two points.

They will drive that distance in cars, and after they have consumed their beer—much or little of it—they will drive home again.

Both Oshawa and Whitby are located on No. 2 Highway, the most heavily trafficked road in the country. Taking steps to prevent trouble in Oshawa may be found one way of creating trouble elsewhere.

Coronation Day at Home

It is not possible for all the folk in Peterborough to go to the Coronation, but we can have our own party on that day, May 12. Plans have been made, and they are fitting and ambitious as they should be, but there remains some blank places to be filled in. There are certain things which a committee can do, but it remains for people who are not on any committees to attend to matters about which committees can only plan and suggest.

There is the parade and on that parade depends the degree of pageantry which will be injected into the proceedings. Preparing the floats is something which the committee cannot do. It requires individual and collective effort, and it needs thought, planning and a degree of imagination. These floats should represent something of historical interest, and the scope for selection is wide—local or district, provincial, national or empire-wide. It is not the desire of the committee that the floats should be prepared primarily for advertising purposes, and that decision is wise enough. The pageantry element should be kept well to the fore.

In the matter of decorations and the flying of flags—preferably new and clean ones—the business houses and the citizens in general can bring a share of the Coronation proceedings right home to Peterborough. Once more that is something which the committee cannot attend to. So it is a plain fact that the people themselves will have to do a good deal toward making the Coronation ceremonies a success in this city. We can make it a great day if we decide to do so, but it cannot be left to the committee alone.

He Tossed the Caber

From Goderich in Huron County comes word of the death of John D. MacDonald, said to have been the strongest man in the county when he was in his prime. A good deal of the story about his death is taken up with reciting that John MacDonald once won the tossing the caber contest at the Caledonian games in Lucknow, in Bruce County, and as a result there was a celebration in which the entire countryside joined.

That is not hard to believe because tossing the caber was indeed a big man's job. The caber is in some way related to a small telephone pole. We remember when it used to be brought to the fair grounds on the dray wagon for the Caledonian games. If it had to be lifted off at least two men handled it.

Tossing the caber was always about the last thing on the programme. The younger folk could run their races, the pipes could blow and the dancers could trip about on the platform; those who tossed weights could heave and be done with it, but that feeling of expectancy remained until the tossing of the caber was announced. Then there was silence. We cannot recall more than two men who could do it in that district, for the man who could toss the caber needed great hands, great arms and shoulders, a great spine and great legs. He had to be great all over. First that giant pole was up-ended, then the tosser got his hands on the butt end and balanced it against his shoulder. The trick is to give it such a heave in the air that it will turn completely over and fall away from the tosser. The contestant bent low; there were a few short steps before he reached the mark; he stayed low to get leverage for the final effort; the muscles upon his shoulders and arms stood out like handsome and manly armament. When he straightened up from his toss the folk on the grandstand always stood up, but there was never a sound until the caber toppled over the right way. Then all the power of lung broke loose. The great man generally put a gown about him and walked silently away. But fame followed. For days after he would be pointed out on the street and once again the story would be told. Small wonder that much of the space in the obituary of this John MacDonald was taken up with reciting how once he tossed the caber and won the big event of the Caledonian games. It called for a man of superb strength to do it.

Frequency of Strikes

The strike weapon is used today with a frequency unheard of in previous years, and the mass movements which few men can cause is something little short of amazing. It means that a few—a very few—are doing the thinking for the many, and also that the personal contact of the employer with his employees is being dissipated almost to the point of non-existence. We see it in its major form in United States today where one man speaks and acts upon behalf of tens of thousands. We see the same thing in lesser degree in our neighboring city of Oshawa.

Everything appears to stand or fall on recognizing a certain form of unionism, and that form of unionism is a one-man variety. If that one man causes a signature to be written on a piece of paper then work proceeds. The whole stress is being placed on a document, and when the date on that document wears out the whole business must start again.

The frequency and size of these strikes may be a modern example of that old phrase about the expulsive force of a new affection or a new desire. The expulsive part is that men are willing to put to one side the considerations which they at one time valued, and one of them was the desire to work and seek to advance. Also the willingness to turn suddenly against the people or firm or individual with whom they have been long associated. This new outlook has gripped people who have been for years in the employ of the firm against which they have recently struck. By striking they know they are seeking to bring the company to its knees; they know they are going to weaken its position and stop its output, and they must know if they do not win in a short time they are also going to weaken their own financial position. And yet the blunt truth is that organizers are able to bring all these things to pass today to a greater extent than has ever been done before.

The amazing part of it is the willingness with which people will quit work and go on strike. We have been passing through a period when employment has been in many cases hard to find; where revenue has been difficult to secure, and where wages and salaries and dividends have suffered. During that period we have studied and investigated and probed and sought for information to try and find a cure for the condition which we refer to as depression. In the meantime we have spent money—in all $750,000 in 1936—to try and extend some form of relief to those who have not been able to live under their own power. And during it all we have looked forward to the day when things would be better. We have looked back at 1929 as the sort of year we would like to have again.

There are evidences that we are getting out of the rough spot through which we had to pass. There are more opportunities to work today than there were two or three years ago; there has been a falling off of the numbers on relief lists, and a good many men have the satisfaction now of working and providing for their own families—something which was denied them in some cases for a good many years.

A continuation of strikes now will make it hard enough to continue the process of recovery, and we doubt if actual gain which can be felt in the pockets of the workers is going to come by way of the strike. Quite often the strike ends by an agreement which leaves both parties to it seeking their pound of flesh.

When a Man Eats

We learn from reading a despatch from Stratford that Sergt. George Walker of the local police force has created another record. It had nothing whatever to do with unearthing a crime, nor yet with romping over back fences in pursuit of some bad man. It was all done in a pleasant place and under congenial circumstances.

The Sergeant, we learn, is in the habit of attending the anniversary supper of Knox Presbyterian Church, and upon such occasions supplies of wholesome victuals are usually large and even larger. The Stratford officer has been there before and each year he seeks to do a little better than the one previous. Whether the Sergeant provided his own facilities for keeping count we do not know, but read he succeeded in stoking away 17 pieces of pie and four pieces of cake after having partaken of two helpings of meat and potatoes. How great in size were the wedges of pie is something not mentioned, but if they were of even average size for church supper affairs it would mean the defender of the law had placed within his boiler at least three entire pies as well as four pieces of cake, and it is an established fact that Presbyterians generally make their cakes two or three stories high. So on the sure foundation of meat and potatoes there was raised what indeed must have been a very great superstructure.

On the law of caloric requirement figured according to the man's needs and cubicity he should have had a sufficient supply to last him for three and a-half days. When came the next day and the breakfast table the Sergeant should merely have made a gesture with his hand toward the chair at the head of the table and thereby have indicated there was sufficient steam in the boiler to run for several stations before stopping beside the water tank or coal chute. Probably the Board of Managers of the church have the matter under advisement, for if the habit of the gallant Sergeant should happen to become common practice there would be no profit from the annual church supper. It would surely result in a deficit and we do not believe the Presbyterians of Startford or elsewhere would long countenance such a situation.

John L. Lewis says that industries will be permitted to operate without interference so long as they have a contract with the C.I.O. That is about the same language as the racketeers use when they are charging business men for protection.

Professor Pitkin's reply to the Quebec Legislature is that he does not have to ask anybody's permission about what he thinks. Of course he will have to be logical enough to admit that anybody is privileged to think what they like about him.

In spite of strong protests from township organizations the Liquor Control Board has allowed another beverage room to open in York Township. It is that kind of thing that is building up public opinion against liquor administration in Ontario.

TELEPHONE

(By A. B. K.)

¶ When Joe calls on the telephone, I twitch a while and then I groan, and look alarming sour; I know that I am staked and caught, and that before Joe thinks to stop, 'twill be about an hour.

¶ Joe has a lot of things to say, that he could tell me any day, nor would they take much time; but when he gets me on the phone, he just goes talking on alone, he wants no word of mine.

¶ And all I ever have to say, when Joe gets started on that way, is just a yes or no; he talks about his aches and pains, about his losses and his gains, about his joy and woe.

¶ You'd think he had it written out, the things he was to talk about, I don't converse at all; he tells me how he feels in spring, that he's as spry as anything, much better than last fall.

¶ He talks about some stuff he's read, he's tried to stow it in his head, but he forgot a date; he'll look it up, it won't take time, and will I kindly hold the line, I chant my hymn of hate.

¶ When Joe gets on the line I know, that I can't either come or go, he often calls at eight; and long before he gets half through, I think of all I have to do —and all my chores must wait.

Our Statesmen At Their Labors

Parliamentary Reports

MR. J. G. ROSS (Moose Jaw): This item is of considerable importance to people throughout Canada. I do not think there is anything that is more needed to-day in practically every household than new furniture. We have gone through a bad time in the last five or six years and it is very difficult for people in Canada, no matter in what section, to replace furniture. This industry's case was put before the Tariff board some time ago and a report was submitted. I have a copy of the report, sessional paper 1935, which was laid on the table on March 23, 1937. The Minister of Finance spoke of the effective rate as 27 per cent. That is the tariff, but the three per cent excise is also a tariff and is an effective rate of tariff protection. Therefore you must add 3 to the 27 per cent, 3 per cent on the duty paid value. The duty paid value of $100 worth is $127, and with 3 per cent on top of that you get, not 27 per cent, but something between 30 and 31 per cent. The change that is to be made will mean 37½ per cent under the intermediate tariff, with 10 per cent off under the Canada-France agreement, bringing it to 33 2-3 per cent; and then you add to that the 3 per cent in the same way; in other words it is 3 per cent on $133.60, which brings the tariff rate back to 37½ per cent.

According to the tariff board report, page 7, the furniture industry in Canada started in 1850 eighty-seven years ago. In 1890—the year before I was born—there were 1,285 plants in Canada; in 1900 there were 509, in 1930 there were 342, and they range from that to 404 in 1935. So this industry is quite an old infant. I do not think we need argue that it should be further protected by tariff in order to get it on its feet. If it is not on its feet now, it should be in the grave.

The second argument used is the number of employees, and the wages and salaries. On page 11 of the report of the tariff board we find that in 1926 there were 9,800 employed in the furniture industry in Canada. They were paid $10,457,420 in wages and they produced $31,390,442 worth of goods. I would remind the house that at that time we were under a tariff of, I believe, 27 or 30 per cent —20 per cent under the general.

In 1927 the employees numbered 11,038, wages were $12,041,421, and the product amounted to $35,733,818. It will be seen that at that time each man in the industry was receiving better than $1,000 a year.

Coming down to 1933, the employees numbered 12,539, with wages of $13,889,344, and $41,825,536 in products.

In 1929 there were 13,089 employees, $14,512,073 in wages, and $44,135,176 of products.

In 1930 the employees dropped to 11,580, wages amounted to $12,794,506 —still over $1,000 per man—and $36,806,195 in products.

In 1931, the employees numbered 10,007, wages $10,47,027—it is down to the even $1,000 now—and products $27,138,171.

Under the higher tariff it will be noticed that the production went down from $1,000 to $900 per year. Also by these figures it is seen that at the time we produced the most furniture in Canada, we imported the greatest amount from the United States. In 1929 the imports were $3,100,000, and in that year $44,000,000 worth was the peak of the production in Canada.

In regard to the suggested higher wages in Canada, at page 37 of the tariff board's report we find some figures. I have heard the argument around the house and in the lobbies in the last few days that the Canadian furniture industry is competing with an industry which has moved south in the United States where coloured labour is being used at very low wages.

MR. EDWARDS: That is perfectly true.

MR. ROSS (Moose Jaw): The tariff board does not say so. The tariff board says that taking all sections of the United States the wages paid in cents per hour in the furniture industry are 42-6, and:

	Wages paid cents per hour
Rockford, Illinois	44-7
Grand Rapids, Michigan	42-0
Jamestown, New York	40-7
Southern Indiana	40-0
Southern States, average	38-0
Southern States, larger towns	41-0

The lowest average wage in the United States is 38 cents per hour in the southern states. The wages in Canada, as found by the tariff board, were for Ontario 38 cents per hour in 1936, and 35-85 in 1935; in other words, over 2 cents an hour lower than for the negro in the south in the furniture industry. In Quebec province in 1935 the wages paid were 26-60 cents per hour, and 27-52 cents per hour in 1936. Therefore the wages paid to white labour in Canada are lower than paid to coloured labour in the southern states. In British Columbia the wage paid was 33 cents an hour, or 5 cents lower than in the southern states. In other words, the lowest average wage paid in the United States to the furniture factories was 3 cents an hour higher than the highest average wage paid in the furniture industry in Canada. Surely that is an answer to that argument of my hon. friends. These are not my figures; they are from the report of the tariff board.

THE KING'S DAY.

(British Cavalcade)

METHODICALLY George VI makes much work fit into a day.

Every morning he sets aside time for audiences, the afternoon for reading and signing state papers, the evening for relaxation.

Relaxation is not for long, however, lifeguns there is plenty of work waiting for the King when he has a spare moment. Often after dinner, before going to bed early, the King spends an hour or two in his study reading reports.

Like his father, he is an early riser; when the weather improves he intends to ride each morning in Rotten Row, Hyde Park.

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics.

MUST CHANGE

Editor Examiner.

Sir: It will do no harm to publish this letter from General Booth, an Englishman and one of the world-figures of the Salvation Army. The point stressed by is the necessity of a return from modernism to religion, and therefore also of teaching it to the young with the other information given them, as for example, in public schools. If they do not acquire, as fully one-third of the children do not, some knowledge of Christianity in this way, they will never learn it at all. The result we see is deplorable.

J. H. BURNHAM.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, Peterborough.

Dear Sir:—Thank you for your note. I agree with you as to the danger which still abounds upon the lines of which you write. Be assured I feel as strongly as I did when you heard me speak in Toronto a few years back and I constantly refer in my addresses to the necessity of a return to Faith and Biblical truths.

Yours very sincerely,
EDW. J. HIGGINS

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Editor Examiner.

Sir:—The time is drawing near when we will again have with us that curse of the summer months —daylight saving time. Two or three years ago the majority citizens of Peterboro voted against this, yet our council represent the people, and is in office to carry out the wishes of the people. In this city, the opposite seems to hold true,—the people are here for the council.

Now then, what benefits has this so-called daylight saving time, other than to allow the gentleman-who-can-afford-it to play a longer round of golf? The commercial traveller is benefited by it too, but after all, why cater to him. He takes money out of the town. Why not cater to the farmer? Peterboro is the shopping center for a large rural district, and the farmer leaves money in the city. And what about our small children and wee babies? We have to put them to bed in hot bedrooms, before the rooms have had a chance to cool off, because the sun is still shining then.

And what about ourselves? It doesn't really get cool until it's dark, therefore if we want to get ourselves a little cool before we go out we have to wait till nearly ten o'clock, because according to D.S.T. it doesn't get dark until then.

Can't we, the majority, who voted against this nuisance, assert our wishes?

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space in your paper.

I remain,
Yours truly,
A MOTHER.

Peterborough, April 10.

Figures Are Discouraging.

(From the Toronto Telegram.)

LATEST relief and unemployment figures made public at Ottawa show a slow emergence from the depression, so slow in fact as to be somewhat discouraging. The number of unemployed workers in January of this year was 900,000 as compared with 850,000 in January of 1936 and only 72,000 fewer than in January, 1935, when business and industrial recovery was only commencing. Relief recipients still numbered 1,021,615 in February last. It is evident that the relief problem is to remain with the country for a long time to come. How serious this is to the taxpayers may be gathered from the fact that the total cost of direct assistance last year was some $9,000,000 greater than in 1933 when the depression was at its deepest point. The comparative figures for the two years were $80,263,178 and $70,817,274.

Higher food costs and additional services help to account for the increase to the total. It is more difficult to find an explanation for the failure of unemployment to decline in keeping with the increase in business activity. One reason may be that many thousands of persons have become demoralized by long years of idleness and hesitate to make an effort to support themselves. There are no doubt a great many others who have no intention of ever working again, being satisfied to depend upon public aid. These may be a comparative few but they help to account for the stubborn persistence of large unemployment figures in the face of improved conditions.

The Sault Star tells in a recent issue of the case of a young man who refused a job at $45 a month although his family is on relief. His excuse was that the salary wasn't big enough and there was no opportunity in the work. The Regina Leader-Post tells of a number of unemployed men in Brandon who could not be induced to take farm jobs that were offered at from $20 to $25 a month with board and lodging. There are many similar incidents which have come to light from time to time.

A hard core of unemployment remains in Canada which will not be easily worn down. The burden which it places upon the country is made greater by work-dodgers who are taking advantage of the relief system. It is this angle which should be receiving close attention from relief authorities as work opportunities widen.

DO IT NOW.

(Kitchener Record)

THE Home Improvement Plan, sponsored by the National Employment Commission, is designed to give two-fold assistance. It aims to put people to work and it provides home-owners with the means to help themselves in restoring and improving the attractiveness of their surroundings by enabling them to do the work at a low financing cost.

A point that strikes us as worth stressing is the fact that the plan pays the best dividends right now. It's just another case where procrastination may prove expensive. The cost of materials is going up. A dollar will buy more now than it will a few months hence.

Those who intend taking advantage of the Home Improvement Plan would be well advised to—DO IT NOW.

A Bit of Nonsense

THE AVERAGE DRIVER.

(Galt Reporter)

THE average motorist, according to a spokesman for the Harvard university bureau for street traffic research, has good intentions. He fairly skilful and is, on the whole, a safe driver. Then why are thousands on this continent dying in traffic accidents and hundreds of thousands of others being injured every year? The average driver who is, on the whole, a safe driver can not be exempt from responsibility.

The Harvard bureau spokesman places responsibility squarely upon that driver. He does get into accidents. Why? Not because he is unskilled or habitually reckless. He gets into accidents and becomes involved in slaughter because "he has certain minor failings which assume major importance when he is in a hurry." It is the duty of the average driver, therefore, to face his minor failings squarely and see to it that they do not become dominant in emergencies and make him responsible for manslaughter and serious property damage.

BUSINESS KNOWS.

(Ottawa Times)

GOVERNMENT heads need not worry as to the part to be taken by Canadian business men in the movement for re-employment. Such leadership is certain to be maintained throughout the industrial order.

For one thing, business men know that mass purchasing power is the one factor capable of bringing economic improvement.

Then too, these same business men are aware of the fact that public spending, with its inevitable effect upon taxation, can be reduced only when there is no longer any need for huge relief allotments.

Canadian business has a vital stake in recovery. It is certain to make any and every move that gives promise of speeding the wheels of industry and putting earned dollars in the pocket of the average citizen.

Any other course would be economically suicidal. And there is nothing to indicate that those at the helm of production and marketing are desirous of wiping themselves off the face of the earth.

ing a committee of General Motors workers was told a week before the strike by Hon. David Croll, Minister of Labor and Welfare, that relief would be provided those in need. Mr. Hepburn he said, refused to permit allowance and should "keep his nose out of our business."

Telling of support from General Motors workers in the United States, Thompson declared they "will not stand for conditions here." He charged that the corporation planned getting cheaper labor in Oshawa, and that the average yearly wage paid Canadian employees was between $900 and $700.

General Motors of Canada is an international organization, he told the cheering strikers, and "it is owned by General Motors in the United States."

At the Saturday night meeting C. H. Millard, president of the Oshawa local of the U.O.W.A., said there would be no change today in allowing the company to move shipping from the parts building. About 80 workers and the office staff of 40 entered the building Saturday to the accompaniment of jeers and boos from the picket line. There was no attempt made to interfere with them. Normally about 80 manual workers are employed in the department.

Millard said there would again be no attempt to prevent anyone going into the building but that some of the 60 who went in Saturday have since joined the union.

An unofficial report flew about Oshawa last night that Premier Hepburn had announced General Motors has no intention of reopening and the plants would remain closed indefinitely. (The premier at that time could not be reached in Toronto regarding the report).

On hearing the report Thompson quickly prophesied "we will close up plants in the United States indefinitely."

Mayor Alex Hall said if the report were true, then the people of Oshawa should be told "how he intends to implement the promise of threat."

The Mayor questioned by newspapermen, said he had made no decision whether the Federal Department of Labor should be approached with a view to intervention in the dispute.

Late last night General Motors, in a statement by J. B. Highfield, general factory manager, took issue with statements of strike leaders and at the same time declared $26,039 is being lost to the workers daily because of the strike. Loss to other firms in 80 centres throughout Canada, based on purchase of supplies and raw materials for a year, the statement added, was $150,000 daily.

The company disputed strike leaders' claims of wages as low as 22 cents an hour and maintained 45 cents was the minimum under production, paid to janitors and cleaners.

A charge that workers sometimes toiled 16 hours a day also was untrue, the statement said. It set average earnings of $1200 a year for 1936 for 2,500 employees, disputing Thompson's claim of $900 and $700. There were 800 workers, through brief employment and certain part-time workers, slain figures especially

DOCTOR CUTS DOG'S THROAT

He also told me he was very sorry he had not made a good job of it."

Dr. Wilson, who said he had been a surgeon for 30 years, told of the dog barking near his house for the last two weeks. On several occasions he had reported it to the police but not to the Humane Society.

"On catching the dog it became unmanageable and bit the boy who caught it," he said. It was vicious, although the bite the boy had was not bad. I held the dog for a moment wondering what to do with it. I was half a mile from home and could not imagine how I could carry such a vicious dog all that way without someone getting hurt.

"I took the most humane way of disposing of the dog at my disposal. It was the way hunters did out in the woods. I then called the police and asked them to come and shoot the dog."

Guarantee Safety.

Despite this, the Basque government at Bilbao offered guarantees of safety to any British ship entering the Spanish territorial limit and said government shore guns were capable of protecting ships at a distance of 11 miles from shore, despite the presence of Bilbao of 10 insurgent blockade ships.

Premier Baldwin put the Bilbao situation like this:

"It has been necessary to take into account the practical aspect of the problem arising from the efforts of insurgent forces to invest Bilbao by land and sea."

Re-added mines had been laid on both sides of the sea approaches to Bilbao, and that there was the ever-present danger of damage from insurgent aircraft.

Aside from the menace to Bilbao from the sea, General Emilio Mola's insurgent armies are pressing the city by land, from the south and east. Bilbao itself—capital of the Basque autonomous regime and a principal ally of the Spanish Valencia government in the civil war—is thronged with 300,000 persons, many of them reduced to rice rations.

JOHN H. CARNEGIE DIES IN TORONTO

Old Peterborough Boy And Represented North Victoria In Legislature

TORONTO, April 12.—A former member of the Provincial Legislature and well-known at Osgoode Hall, John Hilliard Carnegie died on Saturday at his home, 563 Huron Street. He had been ill only a few days. He was at one time prominent as a cancelist, and in 1890 a runner-up for the North American Championship Cup. He was 72 years of age.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Lodge, A.F. & A.M., and also a member of Bloor Street United Church. In his youth he was an ardent cricketer. He was twice married, first to Miss Elizabeth Laurie of Toronto, and latterly to Miss Edith Green of Toronto. Surviving are two sons, John A. of Prince Albert, Sask., and James of Toronto, and four daughters: Mrs. John P. Carter of Cochrane, Ont., Ethel of Bowmanville, Catherine and Charlotte, at home.

John Hilliard Carnegie was a member of a family that played a great part in the development of Peterborough. His father, the late John Carnegie, a former member of the Legislature for this riding, was interested in the Auburn Woollen Mills and was for a long time proprietor of the Peterborough Review. The family residence was located at the present site of the filtration plant on the Lakefield road.

J. H. Carnegie was born here and received his education in Peterborough. Afterward he moved to Colborne, and was elected to the Ontario Legislature, as member for North Victoria. Later he was appointed to a position in the civil service. His last years were spent in Toronto.

The funeral took place at Little Lake Cemetery this afternoon on the arrival of the motor cortege from Toronto.

YOUNG MEN ATTEND ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Friday Night Supper Club Holds Its Annual Church Parade

"Too often older people get into a rut from which they can not stir one way or another," Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr told one hundred members of the Friday Night Supper Club who were in attendance at the morning service in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Sunday. "A rut is only a grave with the ends knocked out. Older people need to retain some of the enthusiasm and hopefulness of youth."

It was the occasion of the annual club church parade. The young men marched to the church in a body from the Y.M.C.A. They were headed by their chairman, Charles Shaw; their president, Jack Richardson, and other members of the executive.

Speaking on the hopefulness of youth Dr. Barr said the youth of today is being harshly criticized for its enthusiasms and impetuosity. Underneath it all, however, youth is serious and earnest, as are the other generations, he said.

He said there are three contending philosophies of conduct beckoning to youth to-day. First, he outlined the "robber" philosophy based on the principle "What's mine is mine and what's yours is yours if I don't get it." The second, a sensible philosophy, is based on the principle "What's mine is mine and what's yours is yours if you can keep it," he said. He outlined the third as the Good Samaritan view with the guiding principle, "What's mine is mine and what's mine is yours if you need it."

"These three contending ideas may be considered as governing life today," Dr. Barr said. "Youth must not get cynical because the first is apparently winning out."

He deplored the tendency of older people to settle down into smug self-complacency and ask the question, "What is the use?"

Four Supper Club members, George Broadley, George Hall, Don Ross and Harry Marsh sang as a quartette.

Beautiful Lady In Blue Remains With Alf. Scadding

One Year Since Three Men Became Incarcerated In Nova Scotia Mine

THEME SONG OF TRAGEDY

By TED FARAH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 12 (CP) — The rumbling, crashing, terrifying fall of rock in the wet tomb-like darkness of a mine shaft and a song about a beautiful lady in blue are grotesquely associated in the brain of moon-faced little Alf Scadding a year after his experience at Moose River, N.S.

Scadding was one of three Toronto men incarcerated in Moose River gold mine last April 12; one of the two who came out alive 10 days later while millions shared emotionally in relief at the ordeal's end.

Dr. D. E. Robertson, sturdy, mustachioed 55-year-old physician, is the other survivor. Herman Magill, mine owner, died.

In the lives of the two survivors there seems to be a contrasting destiny, a year after those days and powerful currents of suspense held thousands of persons from coast to coast acutely aware of Moose River, fusing in mind and will of a continent behind the clanging, thudding picks and shovels of Nova Scotia Draegermen working toward the rescue.

Dr. Robertson, with a profession and a strongly defined direction in life before the incident, carries on his work, the general course of his life little changed, his position in relation to society unaltered.

National Figure

Scadding, without any real vocation before those 10 days underground, 10 days which made him a national figure for weeks following the rescue, finds the experience dominating his life.

In his middle forties, married and a father, Scadding lost all his toes in an operation after the rescue. He now walks slowly, haltingly. When he is making his way along city streets he looks eagerly into the faces of passers-by to see if he knows them or if they know him. If there is a look of recognition, he waves a cheery, energetic greeting. Sometimes he makes mistakes and greets people he doesn't know. He has had a taste of celebrity and he nurses a dream of cashing in, through mine promotion, on the publicity that came to him out of Moose River.

Dr. Robertson is doing his best to forget the whole thing. He preferred not to make any comment on the anniversary.

Scadding discloses for the first time that the Moose River incident had a theme song. For three months before the fall of rock which imprisoned him and the other two 141 feet underground, Scadding was assistant to Magill on the property.

During that time he passed many days in the mine office listening to dance music on the radio. One song impressed itself on his brain. He liked to hear it and it kept recurring in his consciousness. He got to know about two lines of the lyric.

Frequently Sang Song

After the first couple of days underground, while the three men were [illegible] for the light and brilliance of the morning sun.

The celebrations and singing faded gradually outside, and after a while it became lighter. Scadding sat up, looked out the window and saw the sun rising, large and golden in the east. He felt its warm, light-giving benediction for a moment then lay back.

"Everything's okay now," he said to himself and he fell asleep.

That was a year ago. But it all can be brought back sharply in his memory by an evocative melody about a beautiful lady in blue.

OBITUARY

MRS. T. EDGAR DAWSON

Three deaths in one family in five weeks is a rather rare occurrence, but such was the case when Mrs. T. Edgar Dawson, of Ballieboro, passed away in Nicholl's hospital, Peterborough, on Friday, April 2, three days after her only son, Gerald L., and five weeks after her husband.

Mrs. Dawson, whose maiden name was Eva C. Lucas, was born in Garden Hill, on May 12th 1872, and in early childhood moved with her parents, John Wm. Lucas and Margaret Fair, to Ballieboro, where she received her public school education. She afterward attended the DeMille Ladies' College at Oshawa.

Always interested in religious things, she used her talents in many ways in Christ Church, Ballieboro (Anglican) and exerted such a helpful influence upon her Sunday School class that some of her former pupils, now living in Toronto, honoured her memory by attending her funeral. After her marriage in September 1891 to T. Edgar Dawson, she was equally useful in the Methodist Church, where her quiet, consistent and godly life won for her many friends and her unselfish service in the W.M.S., Ladies' Aid and church brought blessing to many.

At the funeral service on Sunday afternoon at 2.30, a former pastor, Rev. R. M. Patterson, of Sunderland, paid tribute to her worth to the church, the home and the community and referred to her passing by quoting the short poem entitled, "She is just away." Rev. D. M. Smith, of Baltimore, led in prayer and Rev. W. Simpson (Anglican) read the Scripture, and many friends expressed sympathy by their presence and floral offerings.

The pall-bearers were Ira Dawson, John Greer, Stewart Graham, John Reid, Charles Dean and James McCamus, and the flower bearers were Aylmer Dawson, Kenneth Dawson, Dawson Rutherford, Edwin Eagleson, Allan Preston and Howard Fair.

In the plot in the Ballieboro cemetery, her body was laid to rest beside those of her husband and son.

Cherishing the memory of a loving and devoted mother are the two daughters, Jean and Ruth, a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gerald Dawson and the two grandchildren, David and Margaret, also a brother, William, of Ottawa.

for him in a cup one of the workers had left underground. Magill saying "I can't drink it. My throat's closed." He fell back into a lying position, striking his head. The doctor examining him, "Mac's gone." They kept him lying between them for an hour in the hope of restoring his circulation.

Scadding constantly wondering, "I wonder if mother will read about this in the paper." His mother had a serious heart condition and he was fearful of the effect on her. Then he would muse on the fact that all three had served in the Great War. "Will they give us a military funeral, the three of us together? Will they bury us all together or separately?" And some times, even after a hole had been drilled down to their level and communication was established through a tube, he thought they might never get through to them. "If they don't get us now and someone gets in here years later and they only find skeletons, will they be able to tell which is which?"

Then, again and again, the beautiful lady in blue.

Sure He Heard Voices.

Hour after hour they dozed, slept, shivered. Twice toward the end Scadding was sure he heard voices, sounds of children at play, small dogs barking, as if he were lying in bed on a spring day with his window opening on the street. He wasn't delirious, he says. Then sometimes they could hear the sounds of the Draegermen digging. They shouted.

Finally, the sound of falling rock and the two living ones wakened from a doze to see men, one after the other, with miners' lamps on their hats, sliding dream-like into their tomb.

Carried outside into the spring midnight, Scadding saw the previously deserted mine property crowded with hundreds of motor cars, headlights gleaming; throngs of people, miners, newspapermen. They took him into a room of the mine office, Dr. Robertson to another room. Scadding was placed in a cot beside the window facing east.

He could not sleep, fascinated by the crowds, the excitement, lights, activity. Whenever he was left alone in the room, he sat up in bed and looked out the window at the jubilant miners, newspapermen, people from the towns around, singing hymns and old-time songs altogether, the auto headlights shining in the night, hundreds of eyes. "A beautiful lady in blue. She thought I was someone she knew."

Couldn't Sleep.

Scadding found himself possessed of an odd, compelling desire to see the sun. He couldn't sleep. Attendants came in and made him lie down, but as soon as they left he sat up again and looked at the crowds outside and felt a craving easily the same basis as other provinces.

Compromise on Combines Act.

The new Combines Investigation Act, passed by the Commons and amended in the Senate, necessitated a compromise at the end and the Government accepted the Senate's proposals "with reluctance," as Labor Minister Rogers put it.

The Senate amendment stipulated that before an investigation may be launched by the commissioner who will be appointed under the revised Act, approval must be obtained from a judge of the Exchequer Court or the president of the Dominion Trade and Industry Commission.

Mr. Rogers said he feared the provision would slow up procedure, but was willing to give it a trial for one year. In that period, he said, there would be ample opportunity to test it.

"As we are approaching an era of rising prices," he said, "we believe it essential to have power in the Act to deal with any abuses which may arise from the great powers vested in large business interests to enhance prices beyond the level justified by the law of supply and demand."

Mr. Bennett, who had fought against some of the powers the original bill would have conferred on the commissioner, expressed satisfaction with the change. He said it would give a greater assurance of civil liberty and would lead to greater confidence in the act since it did not now subject persons to penal treatment before they were proved guilty.

Fight Tariff Increase.

The last dispute of the session occurred within the Liberal party as a group of low tariff proponents took strenuous objection to an increase in the furniture tariff.

Assailing the increased duties as inconsistent with Liberal policy and unnecessary were R. J. Deachman, Huron North; John Glenn, Marquette; Gordon Ross, Moose Jaw; Dr. A. M. Young, Saskatoon, and Malcolm McLean, Melfort. For several hours they pleaded with the government to drop the item, but Mr. Dunning was firm.

The Minister declared out of some 600-odd changes in the tariff the furniture rate was the only one revised upward this session. The position of the industry necessitated the action, and with the recommendation for increased protection the Tariff Board had compiled a direction to the industry to put its house in order and improve its internal organization.

Later the situation would be reviewed again and meanwhile the increased rate was to be regarded as a temporary measure.

Seizing on the differences in the Liberal ranks Mr. Bennett in a joking way undertook to defend the government against its own supporters. He commended it for maintaining the principles of tariff protection.

Before the last election Prime Minister Mackenzie King had declared it was the policy of the Liberal party to reduce tariffs to the level prevailing in 1930 when the Liberals left office, Mr. Bennett said. He gave a comparison of tariffs and taxes on certain items based on actual invoices for goods imported from United States.

One item was artificial silk. The levies aggregated 37½ per cent. in 1930 and 14% per cent. in 1937. On another item the figure was 36% and 23¾ per cent. on another 31% and 53 per cent.

These, Mr. Bennett continued, were the imposts which were placed on the Canadian consumer in order that the Liberal party might preach Free Trade at elections and practice Protection in office.

In Opposition, the Liberals declared they were fighting "shoulder to shoulder" against high tariffs. Now they were fighting "back to back."

"Furniture has triumphed and the flag of victory waves over Waterloo," he said, pointing to Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce and member of Waterloo North. The furniture item represented a great advance and proved the Liberal Government proposed to follow the policies of its predecessors and serve the interests of Canada.

"But," he said, "perhaps in moments of leisure they may reflect on the remarks of a British statesmen that an organized Liberal Government is organized hypocrisy."

Congratulations!

"So I congratulate the Government at the end of the session upon having maintained in office the principles that they opposed when they sat on this side of the House," said the Opposition leader.

"It is a striking exhibition of how reward for the interests of the country can overcome pre-election statements and I congratulate the country that we have on the treasury benches men of such flexibility and adaptability that they are able to accept the great principles of Protection which have saved this country in the past and will continue to preserve it in the future."

Mr. Bennett expressed the hope the Government would long continue to practice its present tariff policies. It was a matter of satisfaction that it had "no excellently manifested belief in that measure of inconsistency which constitutes the variety in public life so essential to maintaining its interest in say nothing of the amusement which it affords."

Finance Minister Dunning congratulated Mr. Bennett on his wit and expressed the hope the speech would "not be his swan song" as Opposition Leader.

He protested Mr. Bennett's tariff comparison as unfair. The figures included the sales tax which was now eight per cent. and in 1930 was one per cent. They did not represent tariff protection alone. They gave the impression the Government was keeping tariffs much higher than was the case.

Had Mr. Bennett taken the figures before his own Government went out of office the figures would have been "astronomical."

9 MEN ARE SHOT, C.I.O. OKLAHOMA MOVE COLLAPSES

Galena shooting and the beating of a number of men here.

Announced intention of the C.I.O., through its affiliate, the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, to attempt organization in this newly prosperous district provided the background for the outbreak.

Want No More Strikes.

The C.I.O., through President Reid Robinson of the International (Yellow Button) Union, called a meeting here Sunday afternoon.

President Evans of the Tri-State (Blue Card) Union called one for noon "as a show of strength." Reporters estimated 5,000 Blue Card men massed here.

Evans explained the Blue Card Union opposition to the C.I.O. called a strike which lasted seven weeks. We organized the Tri-State and broke the strike. We don't want any more strikes or anyone connected with the international taking our men."

Evans said the international has only a few members; that but has 3,000, most of whom were Yellow Button men before the strike two years ago.

As miners swarmed here from all over the district yesterday, Orson Hickman, secretary of the Picher Union, handed them pick handles from Tri-State headquarters.

About noon, 30 men carrying Blue Cards raided the unoccupied International Union office. Fights followed. More than a dozen men were treated for minor injuries. There was no C.I.O. meeting.

From Tri-State headquarters word spread that the C.I.O. would meet at nearby Treece, Kas. Three truckloads of pick handle-armed men went to Treece and splintered furniture in international headquarters.

The trek to Galena started. There the Blue Card men started a pick handle brandishing march toward international headquarters. On arrival a man broke ranks and smashed a union building window.

Immediately there was a burst of gunfire from inside.

Three marchers dropped, wounded. Others, confused, fled in all directions. A few picked up their fallen comrades.

IN BED FOR WEEKS WITH BACKACHE

Quick Relief With Kruschen

It was advice from her mother that led this woman to take Kruschen Salts for her backache, and before she had finished the first bottle she was feeling better. This is the letter she writes:—

"About this time last year I had severe pains in my back and was prostrate for three weeks. I could not even rise in bed. I tried several well-known remedies, but to no avail. Then I wrote to my mother telling her of my trouble. She wrote to me by return of post urging me to try Kruschen Salts. I immediately bought a bottle and I can truthfully say before I had taken the fifth dose I could sit up. I kept on taking them and in less than two weeks I was about again. I am never without Kruschen now."—(Mrs.) A. G.

Unless the kidneys function properly, certain acid wastes, instead of being expelled, are allowed to pollute the blood-stream and produce troublesome symptoms: backache, rheumatism, and excessive fatigue. Kruschen Salts is an excellent diuretic or kidney aperient, valuable in assisting the kidneys to excrete acid impurities.

A Revolutionary SUPER-LUBRICANT FOR MOTOR CARS

RED INDIAN ... the best motor oil
PLUS
*CLARALLOY ... a new chemical EQUALS
RED INDIAN Aviation Oil FOR MOTOR CARS

RED INDIAN AVIATION OIL for motor cars is the latest and most advanced development in engine lubrication. *Two years of exhaustive laboratory work and road tests definitely prove that it provides three times the protection of ordinary oils.

ITS TRIPLE FILM STRENGTH

- Sharply reduces engine-wear — practically eliminating repair bills due to oil failure.
- Increases gasoline mileage by making it possible to use lighter grades of motor oil.
- Eliminates bearing wear and bearing corrosion.
- Reduces carbon deposits and saves on oil consumption.
- Decreases starting wear. Its thick, triple-tough film clings to all metal surfaces, providing adequate lubrication for the coldest starts.
- Decreases road-dust wear by forming a protective film around abrasive dust particles.

*These statements have been proved by actual road tests and laboratory experiments.

RED INDIAN AVIATION OIL is a premium oil—Yes. But remember, its triple protection gives value far in excess of the few cents more it costs. CHANGE TO SUMMER GRADE OIL NOW—WITH RED INDIAN AVIATION OIL.

*WHAT IS CLARALLOY?

CLARALLOY is a super-refined chemical whose discovery marks the most advanced development in E.P. (Extreme Pressure) Lubricants. The three outstanding characteristics of CLARALLOY are:

(1) It triples the film-strength of the finest mineral oil;
(2) Makes it cling more closely to metal surfaces;
(3) Creates an increased "oiliness" which gives adequate lubrication under all operating conditions.

Each one of these additional qualities, which CLARALLOY gives to Red Indian Aviation Oil, is of vital importance to motorists because each one provides additional protection from engine-wear. CLARALLOY plus RED INDIAN pure, wax-free oil=Red Indian Aviation Oil; the sensational, new lubricant which has Triple Film Strength.

Compare These Scientific Facts:

Using the finest mineral oil, test bearings seize under pressure of 4,000 lbs. per Square Inch

With CLARALLOY added, the same oil withstands test bearing pressure of 12,000 lbs. per Square Inch

THE THOUSANDS OF MOTORISTS

who have proved the rugged stamina and unfailing protection of Red Indian Motor Oils are assured of a continuation of the same dependable lubrication service to which they have been accustomed. But there are times when the most carefully driven motor must face unusual wear,—a rushed start, extreme high speed, searing heat. Is it to guard against these unexpected, inevitable sources of engine-wear that we announce this revolutionary new super lubricant.

OPENED NOVEMBER, 1912

Founded twenty-five years ago the little church of St. George in the south-end drew one of the largest congregations in its history when on Sunday evening, the Venerable O. Warren, D.D., Archdeacon of York dedicated a brass tablet to "the glory of God and in grateful memory of the late Rev. James Price first incumbent of the parish", in the redecorated sanctuary.

Normally seating a congregation of 160 persons, the church accommodated 225 worshippers for the special service of dedication. Many of the visitors present were connected with the founding of the parish a quarter of a century ago, and to these and other visitors present the rector the Rev. T. S. Gault extended a warm welcome.

The service was one of a series of special services and functions being held by the congregation this year in connection with the silver jubilee anniversary.

Opened In November 1912

A beautiful reredos recently installed by the wardens and congregation depicting the Last Supper, is to be formally dedicated in November next on the actual anniversary of the original opening of the church for Divine Worship. It was opened by the Bishop of Toronto on November 3, 1912.

The Rev. C. A. G. Spence, rector of Apsley assisted Archdeacon Warren and the Rev. Mr. Gault at the service, while the choir sang the antiem "King of Kings" for the occasion.

Prior to dedicating the memorial tablet, Archdeacon Warren recalled the pappy relationship established many years ago between himself and the people of Peterborough and Ashburnham. He was glad to see present so many of those with whom he had found that glad experience.

A Double Purpose

"We are here for two purposes. We are here to commemorate the beginning of this church and congregation and here also to recall to our minds with gratitude and appreciation the memory of the late James Price the first incumbent of this parish," the Archdeacon said.

Recalling the circumstances connected with the founding of the parish, Archdeacon Warren remarked there had been a move for the extension of the Church of England in the south-end, because there was reason to believe the city would grow in that direction and that there would be an influx of population. While that expectation had been only partly realized, he said, that was no reason for regretting the step that had been taken. "There is always an outlook for the future," he asserted, "where faithful members of the Church of God are found." He asked the congregation not only to think of the past but to look across to the future and the opportunities for Christian service which the future offers.

Tribute To Late Rector

He spoke of the ministary of the late Rev. Mr. Price and said he had displayed a good deal of the courage and determination of the Welsh race to which he belonged. "This parish was secured largely through his exertions and evidently some of you have been giving thought to that fact," Archdeacon Warren exclaimed with reference to the memorial tablet which he later dedicated.

After dedication of the tablet by the Archdeacon and the unveiling which was performed by A. Cuffe, the rector read a letter from O. Hay and A. Knott the churchwardens, in which plans in connection with the silver jubilee anniversary celebrations throughout the year were outlined.

Commenting on the work which has recently been undertaken in the church, the wardens extended thanks, "for the wholehearted cooperation given by the rector and wardens, by the church members and friends," in having the sanctuary and chancel redecorated and a reredos installed.

Special Thanks

Special thanks in this connection was tendered to the following: Harold R. Scott for hardwood flooring; A. Cuff for donation of a communion rail; J. Brunson, for the brass memorial plate; and the Women's Auxiliary for the plaque placed in the reredos; and to Peterborough No. 3 Cub Pack and others who gave financial assistance.

There was no canvass for funds in connection with church improvements, all the gifts being free-will offerings.

In a sermon which he preached from Deuteronomy 6:V "And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul and with all thy might," Archdeacon Warren declared the text epitomized one of the greatest commandments given to man by God.

"The commandment," he said, "is a principle of life and is to be so regarded and so honored."

The speaker urged that the basis of real religion was the recognition by the individual of God as the living God. "Where that recognition is not, there is no religion and where it is you have the reality of life", he said.

Declaring religion to be a real, vital thing and defining it as "the reciprocal action between man and God", Archdeacon Warren said he was not afraid of the future of religion because religion is the basis of all social and moral harmony among men.

Officiates At Dedication

The Venerable G. Warren, D.D., Archdeacon of York seen at (LEFT) in the upper picture with the Rev. T. S. Gault, rector of St. George's Church, was officially concerned together with the late Canon Davidson and the Bishop of Toronto in formation of the parish twenty-five years ago. He preached at the evening service on Sunday to a record congregation and also dedicated a memorial tablet to the late Rev. James Price first incumbent of the parish. The lower picture gives some idea of recent improvements made in the chancel and sanctuary where a plaque depicting the last supper has been installed in the reredos by the wardens and congregation. The reredos is to be dedicated in November next on the anniversary of the opening of the church for worship in 1912. —(Examiner Photos).

Last summer the City Council passed a motion that was not heard of afterward forbidding swimming at the Jacks at the foot of Dublin Street. GENERAL ELECTRIC EMPLOYEES' STOCK $464,800 TOTALS

Amount Representing 9,296 Shares Owned By Workmen In Local Plant

7 PER CENT. INTEREST

Investment by Peterborough employees of the Canadian General Electric Company in special preferred stock issued by the company now amounts to $464,800, representing 9,296 shares.

In the local plant this year 730 employees, or 64 per cent of the 1135 who are eligible for the company's thrift plan, subscribed for 2,519 shares valued at $125,950.

In addition to the cumulative dividend of 5 per cent annually the company has announced an extra payment of 2 per cent, applying to the year 1936, giving employees a return of 7 per cent on their stock for last year.

Instituted in 1927

The Canadian General Electric Company introduced their employees' savings and investments plan in 1927. It was realized that although thrift is a virtue that has long been extolled, like so many other virtues it is honored probably more in the preaching than the practising. The company approached the problem in a practical manner, although itself incurring considerable expense.

In order to encourage the employees to cultivate the habit of thrift and provide a convenient method of saving, with the opportunity safely to invest their savings with favorable returns, the company devised the investment plan in 1927. It provided that employees with one or more years of continuous service were entitled to purchase each year from one to ten shares of the preferred stock of the company having a par value of $50 a share. In the beginning the employees could buy the regular preference stock. When the stock was retired on November 15, 1935, the company created an issue of 5 per cent special employees' preferred stock for the express purpose of the employees' savings and investment plan, the distribution of this new stock being restricted exclusively to the company's employees.

Extra Dividends

It was also provided that, in addition to the cumulative dividend of 5 per cent yearly, an extra payment would be made when the company's operating results were sufficiently favorable to warrant an additional distribution. This policy resulted in the increase of the dividend rate from 5 to 7 per cent for 1936.

Payment for shares subscribed for by employees may be made in cash, or extended over one year by deductions made from each pay throughout the year. Employees may turn in their shares in whole or in part at any time and receive the amount paid in, plus accrued unpaid dividends.

Many of the eligible employees not subscribing this year hold shares purchased in previous years. Their stock is included in the 9,296 shares, of $464,800 value, now held by employees of the local factory.

During the ten years the plan has been in operation, employees throughout the entire company have received $736,191 in dividends and extra payments.

Chief Geologist Is Recommending Survey Of Madoc-Marmora Area

Extension of a geological survey of the Madoc-Marmora district is being planned by the federal Department of Mines for this summer.

Representations were recently made to the Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Mines, by J. J. Duffin, Kurz Ferguson and C. A. Casserman, members of Parliament for Peterborough and Hastings ridings, urging that a survey be carried on in that area. The request was referred to the mines and geology branch.

"I have now been advised by the director of that branch that the chief geologist is recommending in his programs of field operations for the coming season that there be included an investigation of the district including Madoc and Marmora," C. W. Jickling, secretary to the Minister, has informed the three Members. "This will be a continuation of the work previously undertaken."

ROTARY TO HAVE PART IN PARADE CORONATION DAY

Committee Appointed To Make Arrangements—J. E. Anderson Addresses Club

SHAKESPEARE'S ADVICE

The Peterborough Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at the Empress today appointed a committee composed of J. L. Gillespie, J. K. Hughes and James Juby to consider what part the Rotary Club would take in connection with the Coronation Day parade. Rotarian James Dutton explained that the co-operation committee desired the co-operation of the service clubs which it was hoped would either arrange for individual floats in the parade or combine to provide one float.

The speaker today was J. E. Anderson, K.C., of Lindsay, Crown Attorney of Victoria County who delivered a very interesting analysis of the advice given in Shakespeare's "Hamlet" by Polonius to his son. Mr. Anderson who was introduced by Rotarian T. J. Carley, pointed out that as men grew older they found it increasingly difficult to reorientate themselves and the tendency was to go back to those impressions formed in early youth. In that connection the speaker said that as a young man going to college he had been impressed by this striking passage from Shakespeare and he felt that nowhere in literature could there be found such sound and helpful advice as was contained in these admonitions of a father to his son. Mr. Anderson took the passage sentence by sentence and showed how closely each one applied to everyday affairs today. The advice to beware of entrance to a quarrel and the following warning that once in a quarrel to fight with all one's might he felt was exactly the position of the British Empire in her relation to world affairs and the closing portion of the Polonius message to be true to one's self was interpreted to the effect that a person's first duty was to the occupation to which he had devoted his life. The members of a Rotary Club for instance had a responsibility to the trade or calling in which they were engaged that came ahead of their responsibility to the club but it followed that being true to that calling and to their own families they could not be false to any man.

Rotarian James Dutton expressed thanks to the speaker on behalf of the club.

President Chris Graham announced that it was expected that Rotarian Fred L. Roy who will be in England for the Coronation will be able to represent the Peterborough Rotary Club at the convention of Rotary International at Nice, France in June.

WILLIAM BOWMAN DIES IN WINDSOR

Old Showman and Expert Stilt-Walker Well Remembered In Peterborough

News of the death of William Bowman in Windsor recently was received by local friends on Saturday. He had been in declining health from high blood pressure for a year or more.

Born on July 12, about sixty-five years ago, son of William and Mary Bowman, he possessed a talent for showmanship which seemed to follow him to the grave, for he was buried on the 17th of March. As a youth he became an expert stilt-walker, and was engaged in that featured role with circuses and side shows. Many people in Peterborough can remember him as the one and only stilt-walker they ever saw in this city when he was in his heyday of "big money" years ago. At one time he was associated with Harry Lindley's old stock company, and in later years he was advance man for Bert Johnston's tourist show. Mr. Bowman was also a "pitch man", engaging in the business of selling novelties of all kinds at fairs and on market places up and down the country.

The Bowman family is well remembered in Peterborough. William Bowman, senior, was proprietor of the old Oxford Hotel in the building on the east side of George Street, immediately north of the C.P.R., and afterwards in the property now known as King's Hotel on Simcoe street. Mrs. Bowman was a concert singer in her younger days and was known to audiences throughout Central Ontario.

During the war "Billie" Bowman enlisted and went overseas, and his funeral in Windsor was marked by military honors. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Carrie Sheppard of Windsor.

Park Street Calls Thorold Minister

At a meeting following the evening service at Park Street Baptist Church on Sunday, it was decided to extend a call to Rev. C. O. Berger, B.Th., of Thorold Baptist Church. Mr. Berger was present as the preacher at Park Street Church on Sunday, and the members of the church and congregation were delighted with his messages. It is expected that a reply to the invitation will be received by the church officials by Wednesday of this week.

PROUD EMPIRES HAD THEIR DAY BUT JEW REMAINS

Ill Luck Visited The Persecutors Of Jewish Race Evangelist Klink Says

GOD'S TIMEPIECE

A capacity crowd filled the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church on Water Street on Sunday night to hear Evangelist Otto Klink speak on "The Jew, God's Great Timepiece." The speaker said: "What we have today we owe to the Jews; what we know about God we owe to the Jews; we are indebted to the Jews for the Bible, as every word written in the Bible was written by Jews." He forcibly reminded that the nations that have treated the Jew well have prospered, and those who have ill-treated him, without a single exception, met misfortune.

"Spain is in the throes of civil war, because of the terrible things that have happened there. In 1492 a decree was passed exiling every Jew in the land. Abarbanel, a Jew of highest position and culture, offered King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella a sum of 300,000 ducats to recall the decree. Suddenly the chief inquisitor, Torquemada, appeared. 'Judas Iscariot,' he cried, 'sold his Master for thirty pieces of silver. You will sell Him for 300,000 ducats.' His appeal settled the matter. Their empire would not recall the decree, nor accept the bribe. Spain is paying for it now.

"The Jew is the miracle of history. He is absolutely amazing. Proud Empires—the Babylonian, the Medo-Persian, the Grecian, the Roman—have come, lived their little day, disappeared, and left not a wrack behind. The Jew, more ancient than them all, remains more vigorous than ever.

"The Jew constitutes a very small proportion of the human race. Today it is estimated there are about 20,000,000 Jews in the world. Roughly speaking the population of the world is 2,000,000,000. The Jew constitutes, therefore, about one per cent. of the whole, and yet he is leader in almost everything. According to prophecy, the Jews are returning to Palestine. When the Jews returned to their land from Babylon in B.C. 536, we are told that the number was a little short of 50,000. Up to now over 400,000 have returned coming out of 64 nations."

At one time during the service Mr. Klink dramatically unfurled the Jewish flag, Magen Dovid, the Star of David, stating that this flag will ultimately wave over the entire world during the Millenium.

The Rambling REPORTERS

"A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME"

Kirma, "the great Psychic" who entranced local audiences during a recent visit to the city, is now engaged in similar pursuits in Hamilton. And that brings to mind the story of the local small boy who became enamored of Kirma and the study of hynotism and sent off some hard-earned change to purchase a book on the subject, whose fine printing he studies with zeal after school hours. He has progressed far enough in the science to offer to hynotize his school-mates at the rate of a dime a head, but has been somewhat hampered of late by the information, imparted by his seniors, that it is sometimes impossible to rouse the subject from the trance-like state. He calls himself "The Great Physic!"—C.L.M.

LADIES' UNION THANKOFFERING

W.M.S. And Ladies' Aid Of St. Paul's Hear Talk By Pioneer

Miss Mary Murray of Toronto, guest speaker at the meeting on Friday afternoon of the united meeting of the Ladies' Aid and Women's Missionary societies of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, in an Easter Thankoffering gathering, spoke very pleasingly of her work, which is the regular visitation of hospitals, houses of providence and girls' reformatories, under appointment from the Women's Missionary Society.

Miss Murray is a pioneer in this work, being the first appointee of the W.M.S., and has been engaged in it for the past forty-two years. Out of her long experience, many interesting facts were gleaned by her listeners who were impressed by the sunshiny way and spiritual uplift of the speaker, who takes messages of living hope to those cast down and words of cheer to the lonely. Miss Murray spoke of the great assistance given by different auxiliaries in sending clothes for the needy.

The speaker introduced by St. Paul's deaconess, Miss Elizabeth Walker.

Devotional exercises were on the theme of the Resurrection, in keeping with the occasion. After a brief business session, Mrs. J. M. Arnold sang "Just a Little Way Farther to go", accompanied by Mrs. Ed Harrie.

At the close of the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed, with the service of refreshments.

COLLEGIATE JOTTINGS

BACK TO WORK.

The distribution of report cards and the smell of freshly-oiled floors and desks are the only reminders that Easter and the holidays have come and gone for P.C.V.S. Only those in the higher forms have been, should we say, the "lucky" people to receive their reports yet. Those who have not are waiting patiently for the good or bad news.

SPORTS.

Basketball is nearing the end of the annual trail at P.C.V.S. The Junior boys took back on the most successful year of the three teams. They won their group honors, only to be defeated by Welland in the play-offs in Toronto. Many of their players will be available for duty next year, so they are already looking optimistically toward next winter.

The Juvenile hockey team enjoyed a highly successful season. Under the able coaching of Jack Patterson of Special Commercial, the squad captured honors in the South-End League, winning the Schneider Cup. The team has title co-position during their schedule but succeeded in coming out on top.

The Senior boys' basketball team is still a leading contender in the City League basketball loop. A second game of the play-offs with St. Paul's team is scheduled for to-night in the Y.M.C.A. The P.C.V.S. team won into the same 17 points down. The St. Paul's squad is composed mainly of ex-P.C.V.S. basketeers such as Harry Marsh, Gord McIntyre, Ross Fullerton and Jim Thomson.

PHYSICAL DISPLAY.

The presentation of a gymnastic exhibition is gruelling fare for the girls of P.C.V.S. Such a display, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Jenkins and Miss M. A. Bailey, is to be afforded next Thursday and Friday evenings in the school gymnasium. The purpose is to show parents and the public what the girls are doing in their physical training classes. There will be marches, dances, physical exercises and exhibition demonstrations.

BAND LEADER.

George Hall, president of the Students' Council, has made a new name for himself. He is entitled to the appellation "maestro." He has taken over the leadership of The Examiner Newsboys' Harmonica Band. The maestro has over twenty musicians, some farrier advanced than others. He is drilling them with an eye to the future and an ear to the harmonicas.

BELL TELEPHONE SHOW.

People of the Vocation School remained in the auditorium Wednesday morning after the rest of the school was dismissed, to witness some modern pictures presented by the Bell Telephone Company. The pictures outlined the early development of the telephone and the conversion of dial-to-dial telephone service. Movie-minded fans in the Academic school would like to have remained, but their presence was required elsewhere.

SCHOOL STATIONERY.

Collegiate students now have a distinct school stationery to dignify their correspondence. The stationery was obtained by the Camera Club and the stock is already a brisk demand. The stationery comes in two shades: a light grey and plain white. Both bear the school crest embossed at the top of the page and on the flap of the envelope.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The 1937 edition of the school Echoes is expected to be ready for distribution next week. From all reports are massive should be one of the best in the history of the school.

With the fine scallop showing occasionally among boys of the school has turned to the neighbor of the Dutch Curse. Two or last years officers have left school and it is a question who will fill these vacancies. Drilling is expected to begin in a couple of weeks if the cadets drive.

Classes throughout the school were suspended Friday afternoon for the Vocational school exhibition. Five periods were held in the morning instead of the usual four.

CHANGING NAME BRITISH EMPIRE CALLED CHEAP

E. C. Cyril Dyson Of Toronto Addresses Open Forum At George Street

THREE GREAT QUEENS

A British Empire which has been a blessing to the peoples of the world down through the many centuries was depicted by E. C. Cyril Dyson, member of the Toronto Board of Education, in an address to the Open Forum in George Street Church Sunday evening. Only so long as the Empire continues to be a blessing will it remain a world power, he said.

"When the British Empire fails to be a medium of blessing to other peoples it will fall just as surely as the other empires have failed in the past," Mr. Dyson said. He declared the entire history of the world bears out this statement and cited history of the ancient Greek and Roman empires for examples. Describing the spread of Christianity by means of Roman empire, he claimed that when the empire declined as a civilizing influence it collapsed and the British Empire followed in its stead.

Three Queens

It was under three queens that the British Empire originated and saw its greatest expansion, he continued. They were Boadicia, queen of ancient England, Elizabeth in the 16th Century, and Victoria. Of Boadicia, he said, "We hear her defying the powers of Rome as she lay dying from a spear wound. So it was that a woman gave birth to the idea of England's nationhood."

Speaking of the growth of the idea of empire, he said that in signing the Magna Carta in the 13th Century that marked the real beginning. "Magna Carta has undoubtedly been the foundation of the greatness of the Empire," he asserted. He pointed to a modern illustration in which the bill was brought into effect in a peculiar way. A young peer was to be tried for an offense against the existing laws of the land and the Magna Carta made it necessary to try him before a court of men of the same rank.

A member of the audience shouted: "And they let him go too."

"I am not concerned about that at this time," the speaker replied.

Wind and Waves

Not Sir Francis Drake but the wind and the waves were responsible for defeat of the Spanish Armada and the consequent domination of England on the seas, Mr. Dyson said. "When we talk of Drake finishing his game of bowls before going to sea we forget the wind and the waves," he said. "For it is an historical fact they did more to beat the Spanish Armada than did all the English sailors. It was through the hand of providence that England became mistress of the seas on that day."

He denounced those who would change the name "British Empire" to "British Commonwealth of Nations" claiming the former has historical significance which the latter can never have. "No, the Empire is good enough for me," he said. "It seems to me to be a move by cheap politicians. Let them keep their hands off our traditions."

Charles Elliott was elected president of the Forum for the coming year at yesterday's meeting, the concluding Forum gathering of the seasonal series. A report of the nominating committee was accepted in its entirety and its slate of officers will take over direction when meetings are resumed in the Fall. Mr. Elliott succeeds E. L. Sackville as the post. Other officers will be Rev. M. C. Par, honorary president; Dr. R. W. Frank, R. L. Goring, and J. E. Smith, vice-presidents; Allan Brown, secretary; and Jack Beatty, treasurer.

Possibility that women will be admitted into full membership was suggested when the retiring president said such a move was under consideration by the executive. The way was left open to add to the executive one or more women at the first full meeting.

HOPES TO BREAK GLASGOW'S GRIP ON CUP HONORS

Aberdeen Meets Celtic In Final For Scottish Trophy, April 24

MAY LEAVE GLASGOW

GLASGOW, April 12 (CP).—Aberdeen's chance of breaking Glasgow's strangle-hold on the Scottish Football Cup at, being subjected to minute examinations as the Dons prepare to meet Celtic in the final of the historic competition at Hampden Park, April 24.

Since 1888 the trophy has never left Glasgow. "The Old Firm" of Rangers and Celtic have monopolized it since that year, the Light Blues being successful five times and the Celts twice. Outside of this city, all Scotland is pulling for Aberdeen to break the formidable record in its first appearance in the final.

While Celtic has won 14 cups since the competition started in 1873, the Aberdonians' best performance until this season was in 1920 when the northern squad was defeated 3-1 by Hamilton Academicals in the semi-finals.

Aberdeen's advance among Scotland's first-ranking soccer clubs has been consistent in recent years. Since 1930 the Dons have been among league championship contenders, last year finishing in third position. During the present season the Pittodrie Park team was top dog until a few weeks ago when Rangers assumed command. Only a bad reversal of form can keep the Dons out of the runner-up position.

Celtic has failed to reach the form that carried the eleven to the league championship last year, but, led by Jimmie McGrory, world's most prolific goalgetter, it has every prospect of finishing in third place.

Based on the meetings of the finalists in league play this year, the thousands who will throng Hampden Park at the end of the month will find it hard to pick a winner. Early in the campaign Aberdeen lost at Celtic Park 3-2 but came back in the New Year to score the only goal of the tilt at Aberdeen. The Celts' experience in cup-final play may be a deciding factor.

Chief strength of Aberdeen lies in its resourceful attack led by M. Armstrong, hustling centre-forward. Willie Mills retains all his skill at inside-left but the limelight has been stolen by D. Strauss, South African right winger, in his first year with the Dons. Strauss is one of the few wingers who can be relied upon to get goals consistently and his name appears on the score sheet in most games.

Veterans In Celts

All-round dependability has kept the Celts in the forefront. J. Kennaway is one of the game's outstanding goalkeepers and in front of him backs and forwards play with an understanding that has the effect of wearing down teams not so favorably balanced. McGrory, although approaching the veteran stage, remains a tower of strength and a few weeks ago scored the 400th goal of his career.

Aberdeen has had the harder road to the final, although lucky enough to draw a third-round bye. Inverness Thistle went under 6-0 before the Dons at the initial hurdle and this success was followed by a 4-2 victory over the powerful Third Lanark team. In the fourth round the northerners won 3-1 at Hamilton and took the measure of Morton by a 2-0 score in the semi-final at Easter Road, Edinburgh.

A low-placed second-division outfit, Stenhousemuir, gave Celtic a shock in the first round. At Stenhousemuir, the Celts were forced to fight hard to draw 1-1 but won the replay at Parkhead 3-0. Albion Rovers and East Fife were disposed of in short order by 5-2 and 3-0 scores but Motherwell made things hot in the fourth round. After dividing eight goals in Glasgow the Celts emerged with a 3-1 verdict at Motherwell. The semi-final with Clyde was played at Tynex Park, Celtic winning 3-0.

ST. PAUL'S TAKE CITY CAGE TITLE

Defeat P.C.I. By 31-21 Score In Second Playoff To Win Senior Championship

St. Paul's won the City Basketball League senior championship at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday evening with a 31-21 decision over P.C.I. to take the playoff round by a 60-33 count. A large crowd saw an exciting and rugged battle all the way with the speed and experience of the Saints too much for their rivals, the latter also being handicapped by playing on a smaller floor than their own gym court.

The P.C.I. players turned on the heat in the first half to gain a 13-12 edge and looked like possible game winners. However, in the second stanza, the arrival of Captain G. McIntyre of the Saints swung the balance and P.C.I. were held to six points as the victors collected 19. McIntyre played his best game of the year and led with eight points. Thorburn, loop leader in scoring, was checked closely by Kelly. After the latter left with four fouls, Johnston came on to limit Thorburn to seven points. Sedgewick also got seven, with Pulkinghorn and Maran notching four each. These four members of the 1937 St. Paul's, junior church loop Ontario finalists, were outstanding.

Galley, though not appearing too spectacular, accounted for 18 points for the P.C.I. crew, being strong offensively. Turner and Kelly played good games with Gunsolus proving a smart game general. Johnston, who played with the junior school squad, flashed a lot of promise for future years in the cage sport. The teams:

St. Paul's — Marsh, Ascott, Weir, Sedgewick, Thorburn, McIntyre, Pulkinghorn.

P.C.I. — Cemmell, Galley, Kelly, Gunsolus, Dougherty, Johnston, Smith, Turner.

Referees — J. C. McClenaghan and H. Hammell.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THE LACROSSERS have a bubble tonight at eight in Duffus' and a good turnout is anticipated. They want to check on possible playing grounds here and a likely grounding for the season among other matters. You've got to give these gutsy-stick enthusiasts credit—they are working hard to bring the game back and may have considerable success this summer. A strong O.A.L.A. intermediate league and a good local representative would mean a lot locally, always provided a decent and central box for home tilts is lined up. No dope yet on the Tri-County Loop but it may function again if some of the hard feelings on the horizon last autumn have dissipated during a mild winter.

GUYS PLANNING to try out with the Peies' senior ball team are invited to drop around to the "Y" tomorrow night at seven and begin getting in shape with setting-up exercises. These indoor drills will be run off three nights a week during April, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays from seven to eight. Under direction of Manager Fred Collins. Open to anyone who has a reasonable chance of copping a berth—and a regular attendance at gym won't hurt their chances. No charge to the players, and the exercise should help a lot.

JACK JOHNSTON, a lanky young chap blew in from Edmonton, via Northern Ontario, some time ago. He wanted work but hadn't much luck liking up a job—even when he informed local officials he was a senior right-hand hurler. So what does he do? So he runs an ad in this paper to get work on a farm. He had an answer and now he's out around Warsaw somewhere toiling on a farm and still hoping to get a job at Peterborough so he can play ball this summer. Whether he is a good heaver or not remains to be seen, but you've got to raist him for sincerity and ambition. No laziness there.

BACK IN the winter our Colts played an exhibition puck game in Lindsay. Between periods some Lindsay gals also played hockey. After a delay or something, they declined to leave the ice and had a sit-down strike which got a lot of publicity. Now a Major Patton of London, England, has written to the Bongo sports scribe asking for information on this sit-down strike as he's writing a book or something on hockey. He inquires if the gals used any "unladylike language to melt all the ice", and the Post writer rises to inquire if Lindsay damsels are "bally barbarian colonials". Come, come, Major, is that cricket, egad?

THE PUCK playoff parade is passing rapidly these days. Yesterday at Detroit, the N'Yawk Rangers took a 2-1 edge in the five-game playoffs by copping a 1-0 nod in Stanley Cup finals. Syracuse Stars won the International loop title with a 3-0 verdict over Philadelphia. Preston gals again copped the ladies' Canadian title with a 4-2 decision 'gainst the Winnipegs. Sudbury Tigers are but one game away from the Allan Cup since their 6-5 triumph over the highly-touted North Battleford band. And a late rally Saturday eve in Toronto saw Copper Cliff come through with a 4-3 nod over Winnipeg in the first of the Memorial Cup playoffs. A win for Nervoes over Barrie in Midland tomorrow will settle the junior "B" championship. One more week will finish the whole kit and kiboodle up for this year.

ST. PAUL'S won the senior men's City Basketball League title at the "Y" on Saturday night when they took P.C.I. over the jumps by a 31-21 count. The round score was 60-33 for the Saints and they earned it on their speed, experience and class. The Students made this second tilt close enough with a fighting display, however. A large crowd of fans saw an exciting and rugged joust. Congrats to the winners. In an exhibition tussle up there the same p.m., the P.C.I. juniors pulled out a 23-18 win over Dominion Life, poor sniping proving a bit expensive for the losers.

CHURCH SOFTBALL League holds its annual re-organization meeting in the Y.M.C.A. next Friday night at 7.30 o'clock. New executive will be elected, entries taken and general plans for the season made at this time. Two members from each Sunday School in th city are allowed to vote at this session but as many others as wish to attend and listen in are invited. This is the time and place to bring up suggestions for the betterment of the large Church League, and the officers are hoping for a big turnout to get the ball rolling for the 1937 season.

EFFORTS to organize the intermediate Bay of Quinte baseball loop fell flatter than a striker's pay envelope the other evening, only Belleville and Napanee being represented. Apparently all the promoting to get the Trenton Fliers interested in intermediate ball flopped as the R.C.A.F. fellows failed to put in an appearance. This may be an indication that the Airmen intend hanging aboard the senior C.O.B.L. bandwagon—at least, let's hope so. Probably the Central League will hold its next meeting here this coming Saturday and the Fliers' decision will then be known. In the meantime, it'll hustle Belleville to have even an intermediate team.

Repeat Title Win Unlikely For Champion Buffalo Club

Bisons Minus Several Of '36 Stars, Through Graduation To Majors

OUTFIELD PROBLEMS

PLANT CITY, Fla., April 12.—(AP)—Buffalo Bisons, 1936 pennant and playoff victor of the International Baseball League, may find the repeating process difficult since several of last year's stars have been graduated to the major leagues. A half dozen players went from Manager Ray Schalk's herd to the big show and at least half of them will remain there.

While a squad of 33 athletes is working out here, skipper Schalk still hasn't solved the first base, left field and centre field problems, held respectively last year by Elmo Fletcher, now with Boston Bees; Johnny Dickshot from Waukegan, Ill., bidding for a job with Pittsburgh Pirates; and Beauty McGowan, clever centre fielder, picked last season as the International League most valuable player.

Good Mound Staff.

The Bison boss isn't worried over his mound situation, especially with the return of Southpaw Charley Perkins and Fabian Kowalik, who have been in other fields for the past two years.

Perkins, a red-headed lefty who greatly aided the Bisons' pennant triumph of four years ago, retired following the 1934 season. Kowalik, a sinker-ball right hander who won 18 games for the Bisons in 1934, has since been with Chicago Cubs, Phillies and Bees.

The only other major acquisition during the winter was Ray Pepper, big Bond outfielder bought from the Browns. Pepper always has been a good hitter and fielder in this league and his .362 batting average in the American League last season is expected to be bettered by some 25 points.

MORENZ WAS ONE OF SPORT GREATS

Brooklyn Trainer Also Recalls High Worth of Charlie Gardiner

NEW YORK, April 12.—(CP).—Ed Froelich, trainer of Brooklyn's "daffiness" boys in the National Baseball League, and handler of top-flight athletes for 11 years, rates two hockey players who have departed the scene—Howie Morenz and Charlie Gardiner—among the three greatest stars he ever handled. The other was the late Ken Mrenan, backfield ace of Northwestern University football squads.

A staff-writer of the New York World-Telegram recalls Froelich, former trainer of Chicago's National Hockey League Black Hawks at the Brooklyn training camp at Clearwater, Fla., in reminiscent mood. He quoted Froelich:

"Morenz was to hockey what Babe Ruth was to baseball. He was the greatest centre ice man the sport has known—probably the greatest it will know. Gardiner, a goalie, had the same rating in his department, and his display of genius in 1932 is something that will live in hockey history. His head was virtually sewn together when he came up to the final title game that year.

"Six stitches were closing a wound over one eye, four stitches were doing the same for a wound over the other eye and 10 stitches held together a wound on his shaky, all suffered within three days of the final battle with the Boston Bruins. But he had the wounds covered and wore a football helmet for additional protection and went out and held the Bruins scoreless, to give the Black Hawks the championship."

Froelich described Ken Meenan, who was in Northwestern football in 1931, as the greatest blocking tackle he ever saw. He played only one year of varsity football, however.

He was badly injured in a motorcycle accident and when told by the doctors they would have to amputate a leg he said he would rather die than lose it—and he got the wish.

TIPS DISCUSSED

Britain's Golf Secretaries Organize Uniform Tip for Caddies

LONDON, April 12 (CP). — What to tip a caddie? That is the question now before the golf clubs of Britain. The golf secretaries organization is seeking opinions from all clubs with a view to making the charge and tip uniform. "At one player put it: 'No tip is satisfactory now. Either it is too high for the player to afford or too low for the caddie.'"

The association would put an end to that well-known embarrassment of having to ask your host at a new club "how much do you give your boy?" About 35 cents is believed to be the most widely accepted figure for a round, including tip. For a day's play with lunch money the chosen figure is $2.00.

The association's circular met with general response but not all clubs shared the same opinion of the merits of a regular rate. Some pointed out that under the proposed scheme the poor caddie would get the same as the good and that consequently the really helpful caddies would soon lose their initiative.

One response was to the point, preferring merely a settled charge: "There can be no solution of the caddies' difficulty as long as the question of tipping remains in force."

PRESTON GIRLS REGAIN TROPHY

Defeat Winnipeg Olympics 4 To 2 In Second Game Of Title Series

GALT, Ont., April 12 (C.P.). — (C.P.). — The tugging and hauling was over to-day and the Beaverbrough Trophy, symbolical of the Dominion women's hockey championship, was again in possession of the Preston Rivulettes.

Not in years has Soper Park arena, scene of many a stirring battle on the ice, been packed with fans to witness a hockey game. It took the girls to do it, as Rivulettes defeated the Winnipeg Olympics 4-2 on Saturday night and won the two-game, total-goal series for the Canadian title 7-3.

More than 3,000 looked on as the girls embraced in centre ice after the game, signalling the return to Preston of the title relinquished by default last year. The hard-fought series attracted more than 5,000, something male hockeyists have been unable to do in 19 years. The Saturday night crowd was the largest ever here in a decade.

The veteran front line of Marn Schmuck, Hilde Hanscombe, and Gladys Hawkins, who scored all Preston's goals, was largely responsible for the return of the title to the Rivulettes. The trio has been the chief reason why Preston has lost only one game in seven years of competition.

For Winnipeg, Maureen Gault and Beth Jamieson stood out. The smooth-working forwards accounted for the Olympics' tallies. They were backed up by Margaret Topp, who alternated on the forward line and defense and played throughout the 60 minutes without relief.

The trophy and miniatures were presented to Rivulettes after the game by Mrs. Myrtle Cook McGowan, president of the Dominion Women's Hockey Association.

Dominion Life Loses To Junior Collegians

In an exhibition cage contest Saturday night at the "Y" the P.C.I. juniors took a 23-18 win over Dominion Life. The City League team had most of the play to force the Students back a large part of the game but poor shooting cost them the decision. The school team usually scored on breakaways. Dougherty and Weir were opportunists who cashed in regularly. The losers were behind all the way, though only by one point at half-time. Their 18 points were divided quite evenly, all getting a field basket and none more than two. Grose and Smart went best for them in keeping play largely out of the Dominion's territory. Dougherty with 14 points shone for the winners. Weir had six and Johnston and Sedgewick were also prominent. The teams:

P.C.I.— Weir, Johnston, Dougherty, Craig, Craig, Gillespie, Sedgewick, Dougherty.

Dominion Life—Wreen, Hammell, White, Smart, Grose, McArthur.

Referees—J. C. McClenaghan and D. Charlton.

RANGERS 1-0 VICTORY PUTS TROPHY NEAR

Colville Scores While Gallagher Is Off For Tripping Heller

KERR SHINES AGAIN

Tilt Veritable Slug-Fest With Eleven Penalties Handed Out

DETROIT, April 12.—(CP)— New York's Rangers advanced to within a game of Stanley Cup custody last night, defeating the champion Detroit Red Wings, 1 to 0, before 18,-735 customers as Davie Kerr returned to his masterful form in the Rangers' net.

Neil Colville's short drive on a rebound, when Detroit Defenseman Johnny Gallagher was in the penalty box for tripping, provided the victory margin for the third game of the five-game cup series. The goal was scored just twenty-three seconds after the second period started.

The Red Wings and Rangers battled at high spirit, drawing eleven penalties for the roughness of the play. Ebbie Goodfellow of Detroit and Babe Pratt of New York produced the fistic highlight, drawing five-minute penalties in the third period after swapping punches lustily.

His Fourth Playoff Shutout.

Kerr, who scored his fourth shutout in seven playoff games, was the New York star. Jumping about in the nets, he stopped drive after drive in the late stages of the game as the Red Wings put on the power with five-man rushes in an attempt to tie the score.

Because of the many penalties, however, there were frequent moments when five-man rushes were impossible.

Pratt, in addition to his major penalty for the Goodfellow fight, was in the box on two other occasions. Once he tangled with Modere Bruneteau a few seconds after Bruneteau and Joe Cooper left the penalty box for a bit of high-sticking. Less than half a minute after he completed serving his five minutes in the third, he battled with Ebbie Lewis on the right boards and both were banished.

Gallagher's tripping of Ott Heller opened the way for the Ranger goal. On a face-off in the Detroit corner, Cooper got the puck to Pratt at the blue line, who fired a long drive that Cooper deflected slightly. Goaler Earl Robertson stopped the puck, but Neil Colville was in on the rebound to hit the open net.

Heller and Alex Shibicky, both with brain concussions suffered Thursday when Detroit evened the series, played with special headguards, but Shibicky was on the ice only at infrequent intervals.

The teams resume the series here Tuesday, with the Rangers needing only one victory to take the Stanley Cup from the Red Wings.

Rangers — Goal, Kerr; defence, Coulter, Heller; centre, Watson; wings, Murdoch, Keeling. Subs., Pratt, Johnson, Shibicky, N. Colville, Boucher, Dillon, Cooper, M. Colville, Patrick.

Detroit—Goal, Robertson; defence, Goodfellow, Bowman, centre, Barry; wings, H. Kilrea, Lewis. Subs., Gallagher, McDonald, Howe, W. Kilrea, Sorrell, Pettinger, Bruneteau, Mackie, Sherf.

REDMEN NAB 4-3 VICTORY LAST MINUTE

Red Hamill Makes Good In One Big Moment After Mediocre Game

TOUCH AND GO

Monarchs Jump Into Lead In First Then Add Two In Third

By William H. Dunnaday
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 12.—A tensed Toronto hockey populace impatiently awaits tonight's renewal of what promises to be one of the keenest-fought junior finals in Memorial Cup history. There will be plenty of backers (or both Copper Cliff Redmen and Winnipeg Monarchs as the teams take the ice in the second game of a best-of-five series.

Redmen, in a spectacular finish drubbed the young Westerners 4-3 in overtime here Saturday night, and after the game a large crowd cheered conquerors and conquered alike. Monarchs were less than three minutes from victory when the Nickel Belters went on the spree that turned what looked like bitter defeat to sweetest triumph.

"We were lucky to win—it must have been heartbreaking for those Winnipeg kids," said Maxie Silverman, Redmen's coach. "But our boys showed they had the fight—I never saw anything like it. I know Redmen can play much better — if Monarchs can play any better, boy, what a series this will be."

Maxie said Monarchs were by far the toughest team his club had faced this season. He placed the rather disappointing showing of some of his stars to the relentless checking of the Winnipegers, something they were not used to. But he figures the team will look better tonight.

Backing for Both

Scores of telegrams came from Winnipeg and other Western points pouring praises on Monarchs in defeat. There was also a steady stream of congratulatory messages delivered to Redmen after the game. All Northern Ontario was watching the doing of the Copper Cliff kids.

As Coach Harry Neil thumbed through a few telegrams in his hotel yesterday he said: "We won't let them down—these kids will fight their hearts out to please the folks back home. We've been down in playoff series before and fought our way back. I think we'll even it up all right."

Neil had hopes of building his second-string line to full strength to-night with addition of Paul Rheault, right winger, and Jack Atchison, left winger. Both boys are out with injuries and whether or not they play depends on what the club doctor rules.

Monarchs, who had some difficulty keeping their feet early in Saturday's game, will take the ice for a brief workout at noon to-day. Neil said the skates were ground different to what the boys had been used to, and special precautions would be taken to-night.

Bob Feller Rookie Sensation of the Baseball World

The rookie sensation of the baseball world, Bob Feller, 18-year-old hurler for Cleveland Indians, is highly praised by Manager Steve O'Neill of the Indians. Here is Bob in action as he hurls his speedball platewards. O'Neill claims it would not surprise him a bit if Feller wound up the season with 20 wins to his credit.

NEW ORLEANS, April 12—Our line-up is set," said Steve O'Neill. "We have a better infield, we'll get better pitching and we'll have plenty of punch."

The manager of the Indians picked up a pencil and looked at the team's roster.

"I'm not picking the club to win a pennant," he said, "but we will be the most dangerous team in the league, and if the Yankees slump, you can look out for us.

How's This for Lineup?

"We haven't had to experiment with a lot of recruits. Our club was pretty well set when we left for training camp. How's this for a lineup?"

O'Neil checked off a batting order, with Lyn Lary leading off, Roy Hughes hitting second, Earl Averill third man up and Hal Trosky in the cleanup spot. Then came Julius Solters, Bruce Campbell or Jeff Heath, Sammy Hale, Frankie Pytlak and the pitcher.

"I think Lary is the best leadoff man in the league," said Steve. "I was glad when we got him from the Browns because he helps to solve the second base problem that has been one of the Indians' troubles for years. The club has had a dozen second basemen and shortstops in the last 10 years. Now with Lary at short and Sammy Hale at second, we have a fine combination. Hale is a natural at second.

"Roy Hughes has been shifted from second to third and has been doing even a better job than I expected, and I expected plenty.

"Solters will take Vosmik's place in left field, and he has looked great and worked hard this spring. Averill will be in centre, of course, and I'm not sure about right yet, but I can put any one of three men there and not go wrong—Campbell, Heath or Weatherly. Campbell has looked fine in training camp, and may get the call over Heath. Weatherly has been ill this spring, but he's getting back in shape now. He had a siege of flu and must rest up."

Harder's Arm Better

O'Neil expects a vast improvement in pitching. Mel Harder's arm is strong again after the removal of two teeth. Earl Whitehill, obtained in a trade with the Senators, is expected to add effectiveness to the staff which has two other southpaws, the veteran Lloyd Brown and Charles Fischer, back from Buffalo where he won 13 games last year against two lost. The ability of Johnny Allen, ace of the staff, is not questioned. Chief O'Neil looks for a surprising comeback by Willis Hudlin, who was able to win only one game last year. Hudlin's bad year was one of a succession of shocks that sent the Indians reeling out of the first division, after seven years in third or fourth position.

But the most important pitching personage in the camp is 18-year-old Bob Feller, the amazing speed king from the corn belt who is facing his first full year of major competition with all the confidence of youth and the greatest fast ball seen since Walter Johnson left the circuit.

Pytlak Says He's Ready

"Pytlak knows he is going to be the catcher this year, and he knows how much depends on him. We can go pretty far with Pytlak back there regularly. I know he'll help Feller a lot, too. Pytlak is a pretty steady head in there when a young pitcher is working. The kid has a lot of confidence in him, and already they understand each other."

If Pytlak is ready to do a full year's work for the Indians, and he says he is, there is no doubt the team will be, as O'Neill says, the most dangerous in the league. With Pytlak catching regularly, effectiveness of other Tribe fingers—Denny, Galehouse, Try Feni Knowles, Joe Heving and Whitey Wyatt—is sure to improve. To date Pytlak's feelings have been mostly the products of his active imagination. If Steve has mastered the young man's mind, the Indians won't have a question mark behind the bat. And the team may be very tough.

At The Baseball Training Camps

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 12 (A.P.). — Red Ruffing, New York Yankees' forgotten man, takes on added stature when the champions drop two in a row. The Yankees' four starters, Lefty Gomez, Bump Hadley, Monte Pearson, and Johnny Broaca, have been wavering in their last few starts which makes Buffalo's 20 victories in 1936 look big.

DECATUR, Ala. — Hank Hether, who got a bit off Bob Feller (with his head) is back in New York Giants' lineup with the encouraging report that contact with one of the Cleveland Indians' prodigy's curves leaves you dizzy for only a week.

COLUMBIA, S.C. — Heinie Manush, an American League batting champion in 1926, is a lot more than a pinch-hitter for the Dodgers, bought for that purpose, the ex-Detroit star has won himself a place in the Brooklyn outfield and steady hitting in the past week has raised his average to better than .500.

SUDBURY TIGERS TAKE 2ND GAME FROM BEAVERS

6-3 Victory Puts Easterners Only One Away From Allan Cup Honors

SCORE FOUR IN FINAL

CALGARY, April 12.—(CP). — Sudbury Tigers swept from behind with a third-period offensive here Saturday night to defeat North Battleford Beavers 6 to 3 in the second game of the best-of-five Allan Cup hockey finals.

Losers 4 to 1 in the first game Thursday night, the Western Canada champions seemed on the way to victory, as they led 2 to 2 at the end of the second period. But the Beavers lost their drive as a Tiger rally sixteen seconds after the start of the third period tied the score. They wilted as Sudbury went into the lead.

A victory in the third game tonight would give the powerful Ontario miners the series with three straight wins, and return to the East the trophy won last year by Kimberley Dynamiters.

Chamberlain Gets Three

Erwin (Farmer) Chamberlain, Sudbury left-winger, garnered the lion's share of honors for the night as he rifled three goals into the Beaver citadel. The Shawville streak notched the first counter of each period. His third tally was the Sudbury shot early in the final session that crumpled the Beaver assault. All Chamberlain's goals were made on solo efforts.

The other Sudbury goals were fired by Centre Jim Dewey, Defenseman Verdell Price and Mel Hill, dynamic right-winger. Dewey and his former Moose Jaw mate, Dave Duchak waged a great middle battle, and honors were about even.

Duchak, the precise playmaker, counted twice for the Beavers. His left-winger, speedy Cam Burns, got the other North Battleford goal, and was awarded one assist. Clarence Shillington, third member of Beavers' first-string forward line, made the plays for two of his team's goals. Almost 3,000 fans watched two periods of hockey at its best until Sudbury turned loose their power in the third.

Teno Saves Sudbury.

Sudbury's diminutive netminder, Charlie Teno, saved his team time and again in the first and second sessions as Beavers pressed. His great work probably prevented Beavers taking an insurmountable lead.

Eddie O'Keefe, hard-working centre, stood out for North Battleford, but he was unable to finish plays. Four or five times he pulled Teno sprawling out of the net, but the centre always missed the vacant goal. Knocked out when boarded by Julea Cholette early in the first period, O'Keefe was carried from the ice, but came back to play a great game.

Six of the nine goals were scored while the teams were short-handed. North Battleford getting its three markers while a Tiger was on the penalty bench and Sudbury a like number when it had a man advantage.

Sudbury—Goal, Teno; defence, Price, Regan; centre, Dewey; wings, Hill, Grosso; subs., Hastie, Cholette, Chamberlain, Marshall.

North Battleford.—Goal, Davis; defence, McIntyre, Myles; centre, Duchak; wings, Shillington; Burns; subs., O'Keefe, S. Allen, G. Allen, Schwab.

Officials — Earl Cresswell, Chestoks, Alta.; Bert Hodges, Toronto.

SYRACUSE STARS LOOP CHAMPIONS

Pound Ramblers 4 To 1 And 5 To 0 In Double Week-End Finals

SYRACUSE, N.Y., April 12.—(AP) —Syracuse Stars, who topped the Western division of the International-American Hockey League during the regular season mostly because they could score faster than their rivals, have become the first champions of the double-barreled circuit by producing a defence to go with their attack.

The Stars took a pair of decisive victories over the Philadelphia Ramblers, Eastern division champs, over the past week-end to win the title series, three games to one. After breaking the deadlock with a 4-1 victory at Philadelphia Saturday, they turned the affair into a rout on their home ice last night, winning 5-0.

The speedy skating and accurate shooting of the Syracuse players was the main factor in both victories, but the defence, in which Goalie Pitt Stein played an important part, made much of the shooting possible. The Ramblers, a better-than-average group of goal-getters themselves, couldn't keep up the argument for more than one period of each game.

In the "crucial" contest, breaking the home ice "jinx" Saturday, Syracuse forged ahead in the last few seconds of the opening period and added a goal in each of the later stanzas, while Stein held the Ramblers at bay.

That meant so much to me.

GRAHAM.—Memory's loving tribute to my dear Mother, Elisabeth Graham, who the Lord called home three years ago to-day, April 12, 1934.

Three lonely years have passed, dear mother,
Since the angels came for you;
Your loving face comes smiling through,
Each lonely hour that I have spent
Is woven through and through
With the golden thread of memory,
Dear mother, just for you.

—Sadly missed by her loving daughter Hazel, and son-in-law Robert, and Grandchildren.

GRAHAM. — In loving memory of our dear Mother, Elisabeth Graham, who died April 12, 1934.

READ THIS FIRST:

Charles Stuckey, senior member of a London law firm with a questionable reputation, is informed by cable from America that Miss Jacqueline Smith, daughter of one of his few respectable clients now on the continent with her mother, has inherited $1,500,000 from an American uncle. Colonel Alec Lutman, who has a hold over Stuckey, learns of the inheritance and proposes a scheme to which Stuckey reluctantly agrees. The plan calls for Jim Asson, an ex-convict, to marry Jacqueline, having her assign her property—before Stuckey informs her of the inheritance—to her new husband. Lutman plans to take three-fifth of the inheritance, Stuckey and Asson each one-fifth. Lutman and Asson go to Cobenzil to cultivate Jacqueline and her mother, stopping at the same hotel where Mrs. Smith finds herself in dire financial straits. Asson, in the role of a wealthy Englishman, already has impressed Mrs. Smith as an admirable "catch" for her daughter. After a week the Colonel urges Jim to hasten his proposal. Jacqueline is surprised when the hotel waiter receives her mother a bottle of wine unless she pays for it at once. The Colonel urges Jim to follow her to the lounge and press his suit.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 10

"I say, Jacqueline, what have I done?" asked Jim Asson when Jacqueline said she felt like kicking him.

"Oh, it's not you, Jim, in particular! I just want to kick something!"

With a feeling of relief Asson took out his cigaret case and lighted a cigaret, and as he did so Jacqueline turned to him with a smile.

"Sorry, Jim," she said. "I needn't vent my rotten bady temper on you, need I?"

"That's all right, Jacqueline. Worried, aren't you?"

She nodded.

"Something wrong?"

"Most things. Everything."

"I thought as much," said Asson, with a sympathetic nod. "In the dining room just now, when you got up and dashed off—"

"Oh, you saw that, did you?"

"I couldn't help noticing, Jacqueline."

"Well?"

"Well, I wondered why—I mean, you'd hardly started your dinner."

"Because I'd had enough, Jim."

"But you hadn't got farther than the fish—"

"Enough of everything, I mean," interrupted Jacqueline. "Enough of the whole rotten scheme of things. Perhaps it has never struck you, Jim, that the whole scheme of things is rotten."

"Can't say it has," admitted Asson.

"It is, anyway," the girl assured him. "You haven't noticed it because you're led a sheltered and pampered life, Jim, and have never had your face shoved smack up against the rottenness of things. I don't suppose you've ever known what it is even to be short of money, have you?"

"Oh, money!" said Asson lightly.

"Exactly—oh, money!' Money's nothing to you, Jim. You can't understand why people make such a fuss about money, can you? That's because you've always had plenty of it and have never been sufficiently interested to try to imagine how those people feel who don't know where to turn for their next shilling. You don't know what it means to be hard up."

"Well, I do," said Jacqueline bitterly, "and you can take my word for it, Jim, that it means a whole lot of rottenness. It means that any nasty little bounder can spit in your eye and you've got to put up with it. It means that you've got to slink through life with your tail down and your ears back, and it's hateful, degrading. You'd never think a man was justified in stealing money, would you, Jim?"

"Stealing? Good heavens, of course not!"

"Of course not!" she repeated, with a slight smile. "You'd think that if he got caught and put in prison for it, he'd only got what he deserved, wouldn't you?"

Asson glanced at her doubtfully. It struck him that the topic was not one to be pursued.

"Well, naturally—" he began, but she cut him short.

"Naturally, you would," she said. "But I wouldn't. Not necessarily. I'd understand that having no money might have so humiliated and shamed him that he'd become desperate—felt that he could stand no more of it—and made him decide that he'd get some somehow, no matter what the consequences might be. I've felt like that myself sometime. But you haven't, have you?"

"Well, no—I can't say I have," said Asson uneasily. "But I say, Jacqueline, I can understand anyone feeling like that, you know. It must be pretty awful for you."

"It is, Jim. But I suppose it's very bad taste to talk about it."

"I don't see why—not with me, Jacqueline. I mean, we know each other pretty well now, and we're very good friends, and—well, as a matter of fact it's not really news to me."

"No, I don't suppose it would be news to anyone in the hotel. But just how did you spot it, Jim? How did I give the game away? I'd like to know, because if you're broke to the wide, the last thing you must do is to let people know it. Did you notice that my heels were down or that my stockings were darned?"

"I didn't notice anything," he assured her. "I just sort of got a feeling that you were up against things somehow, and then Mrs. Smith—"

"Oh, has mother been talking?"

"Well, I was chatting with her this morning, you know, and one or two things she said sort of gave me the clue. I think she feels it, Jacqueline, not being able to give you everything she'd like to, and it's rough luck, her investments all going to pot—"

"Investments?" Jacqueline smiled. "Yes, poor mother! She only has one investment left now. That's me, Jim. She has put a lot of money into me in the hope that one day she'll get it back with interest. I'm to marry a rich man, Jim, and mother is to live in the best hotels for the rest of her days."

Asson's eyes betrayed his sudden anxiety.

"I say, Jacqueline, you're not—not engaged to be married, are you?"

She shook her head.

"No, Jim; I'm still on offer."

Asson nodded and for a time smoked in silence. Then:

"Why not marry me, Jacqueline?"

She glanced at him with amusement in her eyes.

"Is that original, Jim? I mean, did you think of that yourself or did someone suggest it to you?"

"I thought of it myself, Jacqueline. Why not marry me, anyway?"

"Why not?" She shrugged a shoulder. "I could give you lots of reasons why I shouldn't. But it's up to you, Jim, if you really want me to marry you, to tell me why I should. Can you? Try!"

Asson frowned slightly. Things weren't going quite as he had hoped they would, and there was a cold-bloodedness about the whole affair of which he fell. Lutman would certainly not approve. He glanced at her, wondering if the moment had come when he might venture on the intimacy of taking her hand. Meeting Jacqueline's glance, he decided against it.

"Well, we get on pretty well together, don't we?" he said, gazing at the end of his cigaret. "That's one reason, anyway."

"I get on very well with heaps of people, Jim," she smiled. Colonel Lutman, for instance—and the boy who cleans the boots—but I don't feel like marrying either of them."

"I wish you wouldn't, Jacqueline. I'm serious. I'm asking you to marry me. As a matter of fact, we'd get on splendidly together, and you'd be free of—well, all the rotten sort of things you were talking about just now. You'd have plenty of money, for one thing."

"That's one good reason, anyway, Jim."

"And then there's your mother. Of course, I would see that she was well provided for."

Jacqueline nodded.

"Good reason No. 2, Jim. Mother gets a dividend on her investment. Any more reasons?"

"Well, we'd be able to have a pretty good time, Jacqueline. We could travel about—"

"Travel?" She shook her head. "You've misfired badly there, Jim. I'm feeling just now that I never want to see a train or a hotel again. I feel that there's nothing on earth I want so much as a home where everything belongs to me. I want my own front door and a latchkey, spoons and forks that aren't stamped with the name of a hotel, a bathroom that nobody else uses, somewhere where I can stay put and feel I belong there and know that, unless I choose to, I need never pack a trunk or write a luggage label again. Say I should have all that and I'd call it a good reason No. 3."

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE HIGH WATER

"Pitter! Patter! Putter!"

That was the rain coming down in Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountains, where Uncle Wiggily lived in his hollow stump bungalow.

"Oh, dear!" said Mrs. Longears.

"Oh, dear!" squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who was twinkling his pink nose and wondering when he might have an adventure.

"Listen to the rain," said his wife.

"It always rains in April," answered the rabbit gentleman. "You know the old saying 'April showers bring May flowers.'"

"But it rains so much," objected Nurse Jane. "Do you think it will ever stop, Uncle Wiggily?"

"It always has," answered Mr. Longears, with a laugh.

"But it is coming DOWN so hard," said his wife.

How Silly!

"You wouldn't want it to rain UP, I hope," went on the rabbit uncle. "Think of how silly that would be. You'd have to carry your umbrella upside down and wear your rubbers on your head. Ha! Ha!"

"Oh, there is no use talking to you," said Mrs. Longears. "You always make a joke of everything. I suppose now you'll be saying that even if it is raining you're going out to look for an adventure."

"That's exactly what I am going to do, my dear," said the rabbit. And with another twinkle of his pink nose, he put on his rubber boots, took his umbrella and away he hopped.

"Did you ever see such a rabbit?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"Never," answered Nurse Jane. "At the same time he is very jolly. And as it is rather gloomy in this rain, perhaps Mr. Longears may come back to tell us about a jolly adventure he had."

"Oh, he will have an adventure all right," said Mrs. Longears with a little sniff. She didn't exactly have a cold, but she sniffed just to make believe she thought she was smarter than her husband. Rabbit lady wives are often like that.

"I hope the children don't get soaking wet coming home from school," said Nurse Jane.

"I hope so, too," said Mrs. Longears.

Then she pressed her nose against the window to look out at the rain and Nurse Jane did the same thing. The pet dog, who was running past the bungalow in his raincoat, looked at the window and laughed so that his whiskers wobbled.

If They Knew

"Why do you suppose the pet dog is laughing?" asked Nurse Jane.

"I'm sure I don't know," said Mrs. Longears. But if she and Nurse Jane could have seen how funny their noses looked from outside when they pressed them flat against the window glass they, too, would have laughed, as did the pet dog.

Uncle Wiggily hopped on and on, over the fields and through the woods. It was raining harder and harder. He reached a brook over which he used to jump in dry weather, but now the water in the brook was so high the rabbit said to himself:

"I shall have to jump very hard to get across. But I think I can."

He took a run, gave a jump and thought he would clear the brook and land on the opposite bank.

Instead, however, Uncle Wiggily came down ker-splash right in the middle of the high water.

"Help! Help! Help!" he cried as he found himself floating down the brook. The water was over his rubber boots. Then he heard a voice:

"Have no fear! I'll help you!"

And what happened next you shall hear in the story after this. It will be about Uncle Wiggily's cellar.

And I hope the cake of yeast doesn't take too much time in the bathtub to show it how to go in swimming.

LAKEFIELD

FINE CONCERT BY SCHOOL GLEE CLUB

Lakefield Organization Aided By Norwood Singers Scores Big Triumph

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, April 12. — The lovers of Lakefield and vicinity were treated to a delightful program of musical selections on Friday evening, when the Lakefield High School Glee Club presented their annual concert in the Memorial Hall, under the capable direction of Mr. Renaud, director of music in the schools here.

The program opened with a chorus by the Glee Club, who presented a neat appearance in their white middies, dark skirts and red ties. The 25 Glee Club members were supported in their vocalizing by six male voices: two tenors, two baritones, and two basses. The addition of male voices to the soprano and contraltos of the feminine Glee Club brought a contrast into the numbers which added to their charm.

The first selection, "Hail Now the King," was followed by a lovely part song, "Son of My Soul."

Miss Doris Charlton then announced a second group of choruses: "Evening and Morning," and "While Shine." The latter was a rollicking tune which appealed especially to the audience because of its gay rhythm.

Mrs. Renaud rendered a piano solo, "The Polish Dance," as a break in the vocal program, and the male quartette sang a number, "Of All the Wives I Ever See."

Of the next group of choruses, comnosed of "Creation Hymn," "Trees," and "The Sleigh," the second, "Trees," a novel arrangement of a popular tune, was most popular with the audience, with "The Sleigh," a snappy winter song, coming in for its share of applause.

Mr. Renaud's rendition of the selection, "Until," as a baritone solo, was so popular that he was forced to give an encore. This time he sang "Two Little Magpies," a short humorous selection.

Trio Enjoyed

A girls' vocal trio, presented by Misses Phyllis Webster, Nona Lynburner and Cora Charlton, was thoroughly enjoyed. They sang, first, "On a Farm Down in Indiana," and responded to an encore with a novel arrangement of "Till We Meet Again."

"A Quest," "San Lucia," and "The Rain" were sung by the full chorus; the male quartette made a decided hit when they sang a catchy part-song, "Who's Catching Fish on Sunday?" They responded to an encore with "Poor Old Ned."

The full chorus then sang, "The Search," "We, the Spirits of the Air," and the "Widow's Serenade." Mr. Renaud sang again, this time choosing the selection, "Tommy-Lad." He responded with a number, requested he said by the girls. It was entitled, "Love is a Bubble." The chorus then sang again, the selections this time being "Billy Boy," "O Shenandoah," and "Mice and Men"; Mr. William Stares, bass, handling the solo part in "O Shenandoah."

Mrs. Renaud played a piano solo in G flat Minor and a last group of four selections, by the full chorus, brought the program to a close. The choruses sung were "Then to the Lambs," "My Little Banjo," a short but attractive number, "Saviour Thy Children Keep," a sacred selection, and finally, "Saviour, Now the Day is Ending," a suitable conclusion to a delightful evening.

Just before the last song was sung Mr. Renaud expressed his appreciation of the work done by the Glee Club members. "They have been rehearsing twice a week for some time," he said. "We are training them for the future, not for the present. It is real hard work, and I am proud of them." Hearty applause on the part of the audience indicated that the members of the audience shared Mr. Renaud's feelings on the matter.

Messrs. Earl and Maynard Bongard, tenors; Jack Stewart and Ronald Webster, baritones, and William Stares and Dewart McNeeley, bass, all members of Norwood United Church choir, provided the male voices.

Mrs. Renaud accompanied a number of the selections on the piano.

It was hard for the audience to believe as they listened to the delightful harmony of those forty voices, that the voices were those of their own school children, and that these children had learned to sing in such perfect harmony in three short school years.

The Lakefield High School Glee Club is putting on their concert in Norwood next Friday; they will also sing in Peterborough in the near future.

PLAN SOCIAL EVENING

Lakefield Y.P.S. Ends Season's Activities Next Month.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, April 10. — Zelma Darling, missionary convenor, was in charge of the program at the regular weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of Lakefield United Church, held on Monday. After an hour's recreation which opened the meeting, the business session was held. It was decided to close the year's activities the second week in May, when a special social evening will be held.

Zelma Darling, missionary convenor, took charge of the meeting for the program, which was of a missionary nature. After the opening hymn, Nura Webster read the Scripture lesson, and Mary Webster led in prayer. Mary Webdale and Myrtle Armstrong sang a duet, being accompanied by Mrs. J. R. Hall. Irene Darling gave a paper on the second chapter of the study book. Helen Burgess read a poem, and Rev. G. F. Kelly brought the program to a close with a short prayer. Here is a drawing of the projected bridge across the St. Lawrence River, construction of which will begin about May 1. The new bridge, expected to cost almost $7,000,000, will start at Collins Bay on the American side, jump the St. Lawrence River to Wells Island and will cut across the island for several miles. The next water span will be across Lost Channel to again cross the island for about one mile. The remaining spans will be from Wells Island across several smaller islands in the St. Lawrence River to end finally on the Canadian side at Rockport, Ontario. The bridge will be a "Thousand-Island" bridge, being constructed amidst the beauty of the countless river islands.

Plans For Removing Poles Are Outlined By Chairman

Ultimate Cost Of Replacing Power Equipment Estimated At $75,000

THE WATER SITUATION

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, April 12. — At a joint meeting of the Water and Light Commission and the Council held in the Board Room of the Utilities Commission on Friday night, chairman of the board, J. O. Benor, outlined to the Mayor and members of the Council the plan which was formed to take advantage of the Bell Telephone Company's alteration to their lines and remove poles from Front and Bridge Streets.

Mr. Benor estimated the cost of the work which the Commission proposed to do at the present time at about $600, which would include the removal of poles from the main street as well as putting a conduit in the trench which the Bell Telephone Company were making from Ranney and Bridge Streets. Although it is the plan of the Commission to ultimately remove all pole lines from the streets, it was felt that the work should be spread out over a period of three or four years in order that the burden on the taxpayers should not be increased. The net cost of replacing the present equipment, which has passed the stage of efficiency, rendering it next to impossible for the consumers to get sufficient power at all times, would be nearly $75,000.

Chlorination Equipment.

Word was received by the Commission from the Board of Health had recommended should be installed at the town pumping station where the present equipment was reported to be inadequate to cope with the varying pressure. There were two plans under consideration at the present time—one to install a new chlorination pump at a cost of approximately $3,500, and the other to build a reservoir which could be incorporated into the present system at a cost of close to $15,000. It was pointed out that the town faced a serious menace every winter when anchor ice crippled the pumping station, leaving the town without any water pressure, which, in the case of a fire, would prove disastrous.

Chairman Benor pointed out that the town was without water for six consecutive hours during one night of the past winter when both the town's plant and the Woollen Mill pumps were stopped by anchor ice.

Following a vote of thanks by the Council to the Commission for their co-operation, the meeting was adjourned.

BETHANY

ST. MARY'S A.Y.P.A. WILL TAKE PART

Decides To Send Delegation To Dramatic Contest At St. John's

BETHANY, April 13.—The A.Y.P.A. of St. Mary's Church, Manvers parish, held their regular meeting at the rectory on Wednesday with 12 members in attendance. Owing to the very soft roads and a very busy season of maple syrup making, the attendance was much depleted.

Members answered the roll call by explanation of a chosen Bible verse.

Discussion regarding missionary work in an Indian school was an interesting topic of business hours of the evening.

In reply to an invitation from Peterborough district council, it was decided that a worthy delegation would attend the dramatic contest to be held in St. John's parish hall in the latter part of this month.

A social hour was spent in contests and games.

Winners of the hymnal contest were Mrs. Holden and Robt. Sisson.

Ben Page rendered in pleasing manner "The Old Rugged Cross" as a trumpet solo. A vocal duet by Messrs. John and Doug Smith was much appreciated. The rector, Rev. A. R. Holden gave an interesting address upon how the calendar date of Easter was decided.

A sing-song conducted by Robert and Isobel Sisson, was splendidly rendered by the assemblage. Robt. Reid gave a reading entitled "Questionaire."

The program of entertainment was under the management of Miss Gladys Wright and Gordon Smith. Refreshments were served by the hostess and assistants, and a happy evening was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Personals.

Mr. Gervin Hadden of Oakville, was a guest of his uncle, Mr. Joseph Hadden and returned to his home on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. L. Ledmann of Ottawa, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Hamilton and the doctor for a few days.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, April 12.—Construction Camp No. 1, some 22 miles north of Madoc, has received the announcement from the employment office that work will be closed there in a few days.

Several men were laid off there a few days ago preparatory to the final close, but owing to the impassability of the roads from the spring thaw the final cleaning up and disposal of the various material on hand, has been unavoidably delayed.

Mrs. Moore gave an estimate of the outside cost, which was approved. A vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Moore for all her work.

Probable dates for the district business and district annual to be held at Norwood were reported, but may be altered. The May meeting, May 13, in the Institute rooms will be the branch annual and every member is requested to be present and to bring some one else. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Mollvena for giving her home for the afternoon. The National Anthem closed the meeting. Mrs. Mollvena passed delicious home-made candy. She also exhibited the group picture of the massed children's choir, in which the six Warsaw girls could be distinguished.

LINDSAY

WOOD CONTRACTS LET 6,000 CORDS

Lindsay Chemical Plant Deal Will Be Taken Out Of Haliburton

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, April 14.—Canadian Industrial Alcohol, Limited, which operates a chemical plant in Lindsay, has awarded a contract for six thousand cords of wood, which will be cut in Haliburton, near Bobcaygeon, and along the I.B. & O. Railway. The plant is running at full capacity at present, and this year bought five thousand cords of wood in this section.

Scugog Lake is now clear of ice. The water is reported to be the lowest it has been in a great many years. Sturgeon, Pigeon, Cameron and Balsam Lakes are still ice-locked.

The local Hydro Commission has lodged a protest before the Ontario Hydro Commission against paying the maintenance cost of Line 7. This line from the east serves Lindsay with power, but also serves industrial and rural districts surrounding this town, who pay little towards the upkeep of this line. The Commission felt that the Hydro should also assume a portion of the cost as the line was used to carry power from Fenelon Falls to the eastern Ontario system.

Port Hope Councillor Would Burn Armouries As Coronation Spectacle

PORT HOPE, April 14.—At a meeting of representatives of various organizations here Monday night, it was definitely decided to hold a Coronation celebration in Port Hope on May 12th. Deputy Reeve Walter J. Crowhurst was chosen as secretary of the committee, and another meeting to further arrangements will be held on Thursday night.

In all probability, the celebration will be divided into two parts, a service for children at the Capitol Theatre, and another observance for adults in the auditorium of the United Church.

It was decided to have a pyrotechnic display in connection with the celebration, and this drew the remark from Hugh Bird: "I would suggest that the Armories be burned down. The town would rid itself of an eyesore and at the same time a spectacular sight would be afforded." It might be explained that the Armories consists of a large barn-like building in the centre of the town.

CLAIMS OLDEST BREAD IN WORLD

Prince Edward Island Resident Has Piece Baked 150 Years Ago

CHARLOTTETOWN, April 14. — (CP).—O. A. McCormack of Broughton Island in the Magdalen Islands, has a piece of bread which he claims is "the oldest in the world." It was baked, he said by his great grandmother on a Good Friday 150 years ago.

The "piece" is about two and a half inches square; has the appearance of "bannock"—flat with rounded corners and appears to have been baked on a griddle instead of an oven, as the sample shows the marks of irons, similar to griddle irons. It is quite hard and has kept its original color with not a sign of mould.

Mr. McCormack produces proof as to the age of the sample of bread, and says the claim of E. M. Cooley of Troy Ohio, who possesses a piece of United States' Civil War hardtack may be relegated to the discard.

Other claimants for honors in holding the oldest piece of the staff of life were W. S. Scales of Concord, New Haven, who owned a piece of hardtack from the Spanish-American War and Mrs. Nora M. Remsberg of Porterville, Cal., who boasted she had in her possession a piece of bread baked by her mother-in-law 50 years ago.

SEEKS TO ANNUL CHILD MARRIAGE

New England Bridegroom's Fortune On Wedding Day Was $6

DORCHESTER, Mass., April 14 —(CP)—Marriage of a 14-year-old girl and a 30-year-old boy, both of Dorchester, seemed headed for reefs in the sea of matrimony as the girl's mother sought its annulment.

Geraldine Helen Jordon, seventh grade pupil and Joseph R. Murphy were married in Seabrook, N.J. Driven there by a friend, they obtained the license and returned later. A justice of the peace married them. Joseph's fortune totalled $6.

Mountaining living costs are accompanying the return of prosperity in India.

SAYS EDUCATORS PROFITING UNDULY

Manitoba Member Claims Two Received $5,000 For Serving On Committees

WINNIPEG, April 14 (C.P.). — Charges of Major-General H. D. B. Ketchen (Cons., Winnipeg) that Manitoba educators have profited by serving on committees authorizing use books they have written or edited will be investigated by a special committee named by the Legislature last night.

Speaking in debate on a bill to reorganize the Department of Education, General Ketchen said two employees of Manitoba's educational system had received $5,000 between them in connection with a text book for use in the province's schools.

The Conservative member refused to identify the men before the House but said he would give their names to Education Minister Ivan Schultz. The bill passed second reading and will be given a public hearing in Law Amendments Committee.

ETHIOPIANS FLEE ITALIAN BOMBS

Cross To British Territory After Italian Airmen Strafe Village

LONDON, April 14 (C.P.-Havas) —British authorities at Bergera in British Somaliland, near the Ethiopian border, were reported to-day to be organizing a relief camp for thousands of Ethiopian natives, many of them wounded, who fled into British territory yesterday.

Gunfire sounded across the Ethiopian frontier as the fugitives arrived, accompanied by two Ethiopian chiefs. An Italian bombing plane was reported to have flown over Borama village looking for the fugitives, who had forded a border river.

A British missionary named Mackenzie, expelled from Addis Ababa, was understood to be helping the authorities in taking care of the Ethiopians, many of whom were women and children.

LACK OF FUEL NO CAUSE

Verdict Of Death From Natural Causes Returned At York Inquest.

TORONTO, April 14 (CP)—A verdict of death from natural causes resulting from an infection of the left ear, was returned by a coroner's jury investigating the death of six-months-old Patricia Bird of York Township last night. Several weeks before the child's death the Bird family, on relief since September, 1935, ran short of coal, being forced to burn wood for a day and a half. Mr. Bird said he experienced difficulty in obtaining an emergency coal ration. The jury decided lack of fuel was not a contributing factor to the infection.

CCM

The LONG-LIFE Bicycle

DID you ever stop to consider the tens of thousands of revolutions that are made by the fast moving parts of a bicycle every day that it is ridden—and of the millions of revolutions that means in a year?

Yet, in spite of [illegible] CCM bicycle gives [illegible] service. This is because of the accuracy with which it is made and because of the fine steels used in its manufacture—these steels are heat-treated in C.C.M.'s own furnaces. These qualities are especially important in the three fast-moving parts—the brake, the front hub and the big main sprocket bearing or hanger.

First in importance is the C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake which is a marvel of mechanical ingenuity and accuracy. The least touch of back-pedalling and on goes the brake, smooth and sure, increasing in its effectiveness as you increase the back pressure. Then a forward turn and the C.C.M. Hercules instantly drives you onward.

Then comes the C.C.M. Triplex Hanger to which the main sprocket, cranks and pedals are attached. [illegible] virtually the [illegible]. All of include hard-[illegible] cranks, an accurate [illegible] other true running parts. Because of the smooth running of the C.C.M. Triplex Hanger all of your pedalling effort is converted into power to roll you along.

The other fast-moving part of a C.C.M. bicycle—the front hub—is a strong and carefully built mechanism with a sturdy axle, ball bearings and hardened steel races.

These three accurately made important parts of a C.C.M. Bicycle together with steel rims, rustless steel spokes, seamless steel tubing combine to make the C.C.M. "The Long-Life Bicycle".

Remember, when you go to buy a bicycle, that a C.C.M. has everything that you can find in any bicycle plus many exclusive C.C.M. features, plus long life.

READ THIS FIRST:

Charles Stuckey, senior member of a London law firm with a questionable reputation is informed by cable from America that Miss Jacqueline Smith, daughter of one of his few respectable clients, now on the continent with her mother, has inherited $1,500,000 from an American uncle. Colonel Alec Lutman, who has a hold over Stuckey, learns of the inheritance and proposes a scheme to which Stuckey reluctantly agrees. The plan calls for Jim Ason, an ex-convict to marry Jacqueline, having her assign her property—before Stuckey informs her of the inheritance—to her husband. Lutman plans to take three-fifths of the inheritance, Stuckey and Ason each one-fifth, Lutman and Ason go to Cobenall to cultivate Jacqueline and her mother, stopping at the same hotel where Mrs. Smith finds herself in dire financial straits. Ason, in the role of a wealthy Englishman, already has impressed Mrs. Smith as an admirable "catch" for her daughter. After a week the Colonel urges Jim to hasten his proposal. Jacqueline is chagrined when the hotel waiter refuses her mother a bottle of wine unless she pays for it at once. The Colonel urges Jim to foiler her to the lounge, and gives his suite, figurined on by Colonel Lutman, Jim, at the end of a week tries to convince Jacqueline she should marry him. Posing as Jim's trustee, Lutman goes to work on Jacqueline. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 12

JACQUELINE nodded to the Colonel's inquiry about Jim Ason asking her to marry him.

"I may say that I am delighted. He could not, in my opinion, have made a more suitable choice—a charming young lady, a charming mother, everything set fair for a happy married life. The boy is very delighted about it and so am I."

"But I haven't agreed to marry him yet, Colonel."

He nodded.

"So I understand. That is why, as Jim's trustee, I wanted to have a little chat with you. Jim would hardly like to mention such matters himself, but there is a financial side of marriage, Miss Jacqueline. I want to assure you that the financial arrangements will be satisfactory in every way. Jim is a very wealthy man, and I can promise you that when you marry him the course of true love will run quite smoothly." He smiled again. "It will run, in fact, to a very considerable figure."

The girl nodded.

"Thanks, Colonel Lutman. I suppose this sort of thing has to be discussed."

"Unfortunately, yes," said Lutman. "Naturally, you resent the intrusion of such sordid details into love's young dream, but you may trust me to keep it unobtrusive as possible. There is, of course, your mother to be considered. She is not well, Jim tells me, too well and, of course, since she is your mother, I'm anxious to remedy that. He thinks that an income must be settled on her so that she may live as you would wish her to live, and as Jim can well afford it, I am happy to agree. The same figure...."

"If the marriage comes off, Colonel, you and Jim can settle that with mother. But I don't know yet; I haven't decided. I'm trying to decide now."

He nodded.

"And, in arriving at your decision, Miss Jacqueline, may I, without seeming impertinent, suggest that you should pay particular attention to the position of your mother? It lies in your power to place her beyond..."

"I'm not likely to forget that."

"I'm sure you're not," said Lutman. "But I'm wondering whether you have any idea just how difficult things are for your mother. I have got to know her fairly well, and she has confided in me to a certain extent—and I have a great admiration for her—the way she has struggled on with a very pitiable..."

"Mother's always doing that, Colonel Lutman. We had to wait several days at a hotel in Vienna because she had forgotten to send for her money and we couldn't leave until it arrived. It was nice of you to come to her rescue."

"I'm afraid you don't understand fully realize just what she has been—and still is—up against. Perhaps."

His hand went to his breast pocket, and for a few moments he hesitated.

"Yes—under the circumstances—I think I am justified," he said. He drew a wallet from his pocket, took from it a folded slip of paper, and handed it to the girl. "Just look at that, Miss Jacqueline, will you?"

Jacqueline unfolded the slip of paper, looked at it, and frowned. It was a check signed by her mother —for $750—payable to Colonel Alec Lutman. As she looked at it she was aware of a strange sinking feeling inside her.

"Well?"

"Your mother asked me to cash that for her a few days ago."

"And—and you did?"

"Of course. She needed the money urgently, she said, and did not want to wait until it arrived from her bank in London."

Jacqueline forced a smile.

"Mother's always doing that, Colonel Lutman. We had to wait several days at a hotel in Vienna because she had forgotten to send for her money and we couldn't leave until it arrived. It was nice of you to come to her rescue."

"I'm afraid you don't understand fully realize just what she has been—and still is—up against. Perhaps."

"Mother's always doing that, Colonel Lutman. We had to wait several days at a hotel in Vienna because she had forgotten to send for her money and we couldn't leave until it arrived. It was nice of you to come to her rescue."

"It means that there was no money in your mother's account and that the bank refused to meet the check."

"But I'm sure—mother wouldn't dream—she can't possibly have known...."

Lutman took the check and slipped it into his pocket.

"I'm afraid," he said, "that she can't possibly have failed to know. I don't wish to distress you; I am only telling you this because I think it's my duty to make you realize, if I can, how difficult things are for your mother and how much depends on your decision. But it is, frankly, ridiculous to pretend that Mrs. Smith did not know she was giving me a check which would be met. She is not so wealthy that she does not realize whether she has $750 or not."

"But I won't believe that mother would—of course, I know she does stupid things—through not thinking...."

"That is a charitable way of looking at it. Miss Jacqueline, but other people might use harder words. They might call it fraud."

The girl flushed angrily.

"It wouldn't make any difference what they called it," she said. "Your mother made a mistake, a foolish thing," he said. "There is no avoiding the fact that she has done a very serious thing—a criminal thing—which might easily lead to the most unpleasant consequences. If the matter were reported to the police...."

"Colonel Lutman, you wouldn't—you're not suggesting...."

"That I should report it? I should be very unhappy to bring any disagreeable consequences on your mother, Miss Jacqueline. I am merely pointing out to you what her foolish action might easily lead to. And I want you to realise just how hard pressed she must have been to do a criminally foolish thing like that. And it rests with you to see that she is never in such a position again. You have the chance to marry Jim Ason, and I think you should consider very seriously, for your mother's sake, whether you can afford to turn it down."

Jacqueline made no answer, and Colonel Lutman rose.

"The sooner you tell Jim you'll marry him, the better, Miss Jacqueline. It'll save a whole lot of trouble," he said, and strode away along the terrace.

For some moments Jacqueline did not move. She sat, with flushed cheeks and angry eyes, staring straight in front of her. "It'll save a whole lot of trouble," Colonel Lutman had said. Had that been a warning—a threat? The thought flashed into her mind that Colonel Lutman was desperately anxious that she should marry Jim Ason. [illegible] that check at a

UNCLE WIGGILY TAKES A RIDE

All of a sudden there was a big splash!

"Do you see it, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane who was standing at the top of the cellar stairs in the rabbit gentleman's fuller sump bungalow. "Do you see it?"

"I not only-ish-sub-ingle-cot only SEE it but I FEEL it!" sputtered Mr. Longears. "Oh, wat-gut!"

"Whatever is the matter, Wiggy, my dear?" asked the rabbit lady wife of Mr. Longears. "Why are you making such funny noises in your cellar?"

"I'm not making funny noi-set noises in my cellar!" said the rabbit gentleman. "I'm making them in my mouth."

"But you are down cellar, aren't you?" asked Mrs. Longears. "He is down cellar, isn't he, Nurse Jane?" she asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

Went Plop!

"Oh, yes," squeaked Nurse Jane. "Uncle Wiggily came home in the rain, after he had been riding in the washtub boat of the frog boys down the high water brook. Then I heard a queer noise in the cellar and I asked him to walk down and take a look."

"Did you do that, Wiggy?" called Mrs. Longears from the top of the cellar stairs.

"I didn't WALK down I TUMBLED down," said Uncle Wiggily. "I fell in the deep water. That's the truth-truth- I mean trouble," he gasped for there was water in his nose and mouth.

"Deep water in our cellar!" cried Mrs. Longears. "However did it get there, Wiggy, my dear?"

"I think it must have run in from the high water in the brook which I also fell in and from which Bally and Bawby Notail rescued me in their washtub boat," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, high water in our cellar!" sighed Mrs. Longears.

"I should say it was high," spoke Mr. Longears. "It's a regular flood like the Mississippi or Ohio rivers. I'm in water up to my neck now. I didn't know what was down here when Nurse Jane told me to look. But I know now."

Hears Bumps

"Wiggy, Come up before you drown," cried his wife. "Oh, what are you doing now?" she called down as she heard thumps and bumps.

"I'm trying to open a cellar window to let some of the high water run out so it will get low," answered the rabbit. "I'll come up as soon as I get a window open. If I don't the water will come up from the kitchen."

"Oh, mercy me!" exclaimed Nurse Jane.

She and Mrs. Longears heard more thumps and bumps. They heard the swish and swirl of high water in the cellar. They heard the window being opened. Then, all of a sudden Uncle Wiggily shouted:

"Here I go. Good-bye!"

"Where are you going, Wiggy?" asked his wife.

"I'm going for a ride," he answered. "I'll be back as soon as I can. Don't worry." More thumps and bumps sounded. Nurse Jane ran to the kitchen window in time to see Uncle Wiggily, standing up in a wooden washtub and floating from the cellar window as the flood water swirled out of it.

"Wiggy! Wiggy!" cried his wife. "Come back to me!"

"As soon as I can I will," he answered. Away he went riding even faster than he had in the frog boys' tub boat. It was a great Spring flood in Woodland. But don't worry, the rabbit gentleman will be all right.

And if the front door doesn't put on airs and stop going in the back yard to talk to the garage I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's tree house.

EDEN'S REST CURE.

LONDON (CP)—Mrs. Anthony Eden has declared that a day away from London, necessitating two train journeys and two political meetings, was "nothing less than a welcome rest cure" for her husband, the Foreign Secretary.

CARDS' HITTING HAS BEEN WEAK TRAINING CAMP

But Frankie Frisch Claims They Have a Chance To Win Pennant

PLENTY OF LIFE

Frankie Will Again Start At Second For Nineteenth Year

By BILL BEAUCHER
Central Press Canadian Writer

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 14 —Manager Frankie Frisch had a sore thumb. Not only that, but the Cardinals were not hitting this spring. Besides that very afternoon Johnny Mize, first baseman upon whom the team depends for some home runs this year, had been found guilty of swinging at the old No. 3 pitch (the slow one).

The game had just ended, and the Cardinals had made a lot of mistakes (besides not hitting). Mr. Frisch knows, of course, that it is human to err, but when the boys throw away some chances that thinking might have saved, they are going to hear from Mr. Frisch. So when I came across him in the clubhouse, he was bubbling with things to say. Yes, of course he'd talk about the ball club.

Chances for a pennant?

Not So Easy?

"Yeah," said the old Fordham Flash, "we have a chance. But it's not going to be easy. I read a piece the other day that the Gas House Gang would win this year easy. I never was lucky enough to play on a team that won a permanent easy. I hope these fellows don't get the idea they're to win everything without hustling.

"When a team isn't hustling, you see some such game as you saw out there just now. It looked more like beanbag to me.

"You could spot some of the men loafing this afternoon. And you saw who was hustling, didn't you? Before we go along much farther, you'll see all the Cardinals hustling. Those who have loafing to do can do it down on the farm."

Frisch rubbed his taped thumb, which was slightly swollen. He had played second himself that day. Frankie will be 40 years old when September comes. For a second baseman that's—well, that's seasoned. But that afternoon, the Flash had been his old flitterish self, starting a couple of sparkling double plays at second, socking a fast one for three bases.

"I figure I'll be able to start the season at second," he said. "Never felt better than I do this spring. You know how it is—I don't figure to go all season. My legs won't hold up. Stu Martin did a great job at second when I had to quit last year, but Stu is weak after an appendicitis attack. He'll be ready again, I figure, if I had to fold up. I'm not trying to fool myself. This will be my nineteenth year as a player. But I guess I can start.

"We've got to get some more hitting, some power hitting. I'm not so much worried about pitching, with Warneke, Dizzy and Paul Dean. Jim Winford and one of the new boys for starters. Ryba and Andrews look fine. Catching is all right, too. Mickey Owen is turning out to be a capable kid. Only 20 years old, but has a good head for the job. He and Ogrodowski will handle that okay.

"We need heavier hitting (he said something like that before), but our reserves are better this year. Look at the infield—Mize, Pepper Martin, Durocher, Stu Martin, Don Gutteridge, Jim Brown, and myself—isn't that enough infield for any ball club? Don Gutteridge (a chattel from the Columbus chain store), has looked erratic this spring at third, but he'll come out of that, I hope. We're going to start him, anyway, I guess, and shift Pep (Martin) to the outfield. Gutteridge probably will lead off. Plenty fast.

Rustlers Galore

"I'm giving Don Padgett and Stan Bordagaray all possible chances to win an outfield job. I'm not worried about Merwick or Martin. They'll hustle and they'll hit. Maybe this Padgett (a recruit from Columbus) or Bordagaray (obtained from Brooklyn in a trade) will give us some better hitting."

Frisch rubbed his thumb again, lifted the tape from it and looked around the steaming room. Pepper Martin emerged from a shower.

"We have got some real hustlers on this club," said Frisch, "and you're looking at one now. Have you heard Pepper's orchestra and glee club? Bill McGee (recruit pitcher from Columbus) plays fiddle. So I guess we'll have to make Bill a starting pitcher. Bill looks great this spring. He's one of the hardest working boys on the club. Fine spirit. That band of Pepper's is a lot of fun. Besides, it keeps the players closer together. The gang has a lot of life and if we get some hitting, I mean some power hitting—"

Just then Johnny Mize, first baseman who clouted .329 last year, walked past. Frisch nailed him.

"Going for the slow pitch this year, huh?" said the leader of the Gas House Gang. (Mize had popped up a weak fly when he cut with all his might at a slow one that afternoon). "Better wait for the good ones, Johnny. If you learn how to hit that kind, let me know how you do it, will you?"

With that, Frisch ducked into a shower.

CAN EVEN IT UP THINK BEAVERS

All In Fine Condition While Sudbury Crippled With Injuries

CALGARY, April 14 (CP).—North Battleford Beavers, growing tougher as they Allan Cup hockey series with Sudbury Tigers progresses, are confident they can even the game count at 3-all in the fourth contest to-night.

Their 7-3 victory on Monday in overtime after tying the score 14 seconds before the third period ended injected much confidence into the Beavers. Manager Jack Abbott said last night. He believes his fast Saskatchewan team can come back after losing the first two games.

Abbott said the players are in good condition. Sudbury Athletes, on the other hand, are troubled with injuries.

Rudolph (Bingo) Kampman, regular defenceman, received a gash in his right foot in the first game, and has not been in the line-up since. He is not expected to play to-night.

Baltimore Orioles Expected To Set Fast Pace This Year

To Manage Petes

FRED COLLINS

Named manager of the Petes' senior ball team for 1937, this veteran baseball coach from Western Canada—who has been living in Peterborough the past year—has already begun indoor training sessions for prospective players in the "Y" gym. His appointment as manager was a popular one and instituted by the players themselves.

Felt To Be One Of Strongest In Field In Some Years

NO CHAMPIONSHIP CLAIMS

By RANDALL CASSELL

WINTER GARDEN, Fla., April 14 (AP)—Winter book favorites in the International Baseball League, Baltimore Orioles hope to make the experts look good by stepping out this summer and setting a fast, winning pace for the rest of the clubs in President Frank J. Shaughnessy's circuit.

Neither John Mahlon Ogden, general manager, nor Guy Stundy, manager, are making any pennant claims but it is no secret both feel this year's Baltimore team is one of the strongest on the field in several years. Ogden set about making some sound trades to strengthen the club for 1937 during the winter season.

Two Real Winners

Heading the pitching staff are two real winners from last year, Harry Matuzak and Harold (Hy) Vandenberg. Matuzak won 18 games, 14 with the Orioles while Vandenberg had a 9-and-4 record with the Birds after being bought from Syracuse in mid-season.

Jim Bivin, who won eight out of 16 remains from last season along with Bill Ohrman who was out most of the summer. Winter deals brought Leon Chagnon in from Montreal, Gordon (Dusty) Rhodes won from the Athletics and Leon Pettit from Albany.

George Savino and Milton Gray will handle the catching duties.

Both were Orioles in 1936, Gray hitting .237 for the Flock after coming from Johnstown (Middle Atlantic League) where he hit .327. Savino hit .277 last year but has done better in the past and is ready for a big season.

The infield is entirely set with the return by New York Giants of Les Powers for first base. Les covered the position for the Birds last summer after being sought from the Newark club.

To Play Second

Roy Schalk, costing the Birds around $8,000, was bought from Newark during the winter to play second base. Schalk will team up nicely with Bill (Red) Hoffner, lithe shortstop. Smoky Joe Martin is back for third base duty. He hit .297 last year. For utility duty there are Hal King, bought from Montreal, and Lyle Judy the base-stealing star of 1935 when he pilfered 107 Springfield of the Western Association.

In the outfield the Orioles have great offensive strength there in George (Peach) Puccinelli, brought from Athletics; Ab Wright and Woodley Abernathy, holdover stars from 1936, and Ed Remorenko, big Russia youth, drafted from Trenton.

SPORTS DAY by DAY

Digging Up the Legal Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THE MEN'S City Softball League goes into its next session at eight o'clock next Tuesday evening in the Duffus' Board Room. It's an open meeting to elect officers, take entries and make plans for the season. A big turnout is hoped for. The last meeting resulted in a committee being formed to outline a slate of officers for the '37 season and there should be no hitch Tuesday in getting the circuit organized again. Although there are a few rumors floating around, we don't know what teams will be in this summer. At least four are necessary and six would be better. Swartz Clothiers, who went into O.A.S.A. playdowns last season, are out this year and the players scattered to the four winds. Games will likely be at Central once again.

LOCAL "Y" grapplers are getting into shape for their matches with the boys from the Ottawa Y.M.C.A. who come here this Saturday eve. The locals have been coached by H. B. Cowan, Sr., former Canadian welterweight amateur champion. So far, the Peterborough crew have had no outside competition while the visitors have wrestled in public before. These are the Ottawa matmen with their weights: Bud Budree 130; Dave Baker 145; Cec. Holmes (instructor) 150; Stan Rhrose, 157; Harry Appleton, 160; and Wendell Day, 170. Local grapplers are: Bill Hogan, 135; Steve Csumrik, 142; Jim Thorburn, 142; Fred Williams, 150; Bill Taylor, 160; and Ross Pulkinghorn, 165.

* * * * * *

LOOKS LIKE Trenton Fliers will enter an O.A.L.A. intermediate Central Ontario grouping. Squad Leader Lawrence wrote Secretary Charlie Carson of the Petes the other day saying the Airmen were interested and asking to be notified of the next group meeting. He suggested a loop of Trenton, Peterborough, Belleville, Oshawa and Kingston. The locals aren't so keen about the latter, and Bellbville may or may not enter. However, a fourth team can be dug up somewhere—provided Oshawa comes in as expected—and a nifty circuit formed. The Airport has nine good lacrossers on hand so far, we understand.

* * * * * *

DOWN IN the InterCounty Baseball League they're thinking of having floodlights for games. The idea is to sell shares to obtain a lighting plant and then rent it around to the various clubs six nights a week, the portable plant probably paying for itself in a season. It is an idea and might mean an increase in attendance, though personally we never could get excited about baseball under the lights. Just a diehard maybe, and anyway no one ask for our opinion. But there it is, regardless. Probably the floodlight plan in the western loop will flop eventually.

* * * * * *

WITH MINOR baseball pretty much on the ropes up in this neck of the woods, it's very refreshing to hear of one centre where it flourishes. At the O.B.A.A. convention in Oshawa recently, one delegate tried to put over an amendment to keep clubs from stealing junior ballsters from another. It was defeated, largely on the eloquent speech of "Peck" Ward of Niagara Falls. Ward said: "We in the Falls lose some to other towns every year but we are not kicking. Service clubs in Niagara Falls sponsor teams and do it right. We had two dozen minor teams last year and won two Ontario titles. We will have as many clubs this year and maybe two more champions. What I say is let other towns steal our minor players—we can produce them faster than they can take them!" He got a big round of applause.

MORE THAN a dozen ballsters began indoor training last eve at the "Y" with Jim McClenaghan, aided by Nels Stanger, putting 'em through their paces. Manager Fred Collins and a number of the senior officers looked on. The boys had setting-up exercises, some basketball, medicine ball and a bit of track work, with rubdowns latter. They'll continue tonight and on Friday. Some of the players expected out had to work, fellows like Starr and Vic Brown. Others on hand included: Jakaffy, Johnston, Long, Callaghan, Ellis, Burton, L. Hollingsworth, Whatley, Kitchen, Confrelly, Bartlett, Mowry and Whitehill. Maybe a few others, too. A couple of weeks of this sort of exercising and the players should be in fine shape for their outdoor training season.

Patrick Praises Detroit Wings

And Playing Of Barry In Particular

DETROIT, April 14. — Coach Lester Patrick had nothing but praise for the Wings and Barry in particular after last night's game.

"It was a beautiful goal and a beautiful play," he said, "and was scored from an almost impossible position. Too bad for us."

Turning to Davie Kerr, the Silver Fox grabbed his hand and said: "Think nothing of it, kid. You were marvelous."

"What the hell—it's only a game, boys," veteran Frankie Boucher said with a big smile. "There's another game coming. They battered us the first two periods and outplayed us tonight."

Then he split a bottle of cold beer with old Ching Johnson.

The coach's son who made good—husky Lynn Patrick—lolled about in his underwear and sang a song which went something like "When You're Roundup Days Are Over." Then he slapped Nell Colville playfully on the lower part of his bare back.

"Hurry up and get dressed, rookie," he said, "and let's get some sleep. Thursday comes soon and we're going to take 'em sure."

Ski Notes

By Andy Rutter.

Well, fellow-members, non-members and all those interested in skiing, get ready for the great annual banquet. The date has been set for Wednesday, April 21, in the banquet hall of the Y.M.C.A., and dinner will be served at 6.15 sharp. The entertainment during the evening will consist of moving pictures of local skiers in action, and I understand that some splendid shots have been filmed. After a little musical entertainment, business of the annual meeting will be called and dispensed with as soon as possible. The highlight of the evening's entertainment should be the showing of some really remarkable films taken at the German Olympics, others in Switzerland and Banff. These will be shown by Sam Cliffe of the Toronto Ski Club, and it is hoped H.T.C. will be able to bring a group of skiers from the Ontario Ski Zone Council down with him. Remember, whether you are a skier, member or not, you are welcome, and every effort will be made to see that you have a good time.

EARL ROBERTSON RECEIVES PRAISES OF JACK ADAMS

You're In There For Next Game Detroit Leader Tells Young Goalie

DETROIT, April 14. — (CP) — Flushed with excitement, hat, tie and other raiment awry, pudgy Jack Adams pulled Goalie Earl Robertson from his dressing-room seat, yelled: "Robbie, you're wonderful, you're going to stay in there for the next game," and hugged him with gorilla-like arms.

The minor leaguer, rushed in the breach when the Wings' regular netminder, Normie Smith, was forced out with an arm injury during the N.H.L. championship series with Montreal Canadiens, said nothing. He gulped a few times, however, and a big smile broke over his perspiring features. He'd just scored the first shutout in eight games — since the playoffs began—against New York's galloping Rangers.

"Nice going. I'm mighty proud of you," Adams shrieked at his warriors. "What a hockey club. With three all-stars out with injuries we beat those high-flying Rangers 1 to 0. The next win is Thursday, boys."

Barry Is Quiet.

Dark-haired Marty Barry, who shot home the winning goal from an almost impossible angle in the third period, didn't say a word. He didn't get a chance in the face of yelled congratulations, back-slaps and handshakes from teammates and well-wishers.

He smiled at Robertson and posed for pictures with his arm around Robbie's neck. Then he posed with Syd Howe and Johnny Sorrell, who assisted him on the score. Other teammates crowded around in various stages of undress. Everything was rosy.

Owner James Norris Sr., was so excited he choked over his usual piece of orange.

"You outplayed them all the way," he said and invaded the orange bowl again.

Little Larry Aurie hobbled up on his crutches to Robertson and shook his hand. They looked at each other for several seconds and then: "I can't think, Larry," handsome Earl said. "They could take me out and shoot me now. I'd die happy."

C.I.O. Heads Heap Abuse On Hepburn

Martin Says Premier, "A Little Two-By-Four," Cannot Block Fight For Democracy

RUMOR PLANT TO BE SHUT

Organizers Reply If It Is, All G.M. Factories In U.S. Will Be Closed Too

By Ivens Kelly
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OSHAWA, Ont., April 12.—(CP).—Still deadlocked over the C.I.O. issue, Oshawa's General Motors strike today entered a new week—fifth day since the walkout — after a week-end of collapsed negotiations and two great mass meetings for the 3,700 strike idle.

Efforts toward a settlement of the strike ended in Premier Hepburn's office in Toronto Saturday, when the Premier refused to admit Hugh Thompson, organizer for John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

A delegation from the Oshawa local of the United Automobile Workers of America, C. I. O. affiliate, sought to have Thompson included in their conference. When this failed, they withdrew from the Premier's office.

On the question of C.I.O. recognition the strikers at a mass meeting Saturday night and another gathering Sunday—the second an open air meeting—heard C.I.O. heads declare pressure would be brought upon General Motors in the United States toward a swift end to the strike.

A noisy welcome was given Homer Martin, president of the U.A.W., who told his listeners that "if they don't make motor cars in Canada under union conditions, they won't make any in the United States at all."

Martin came by plane and auto from Detroit, Saturday, to address the strikers. He told them that General Motors officials in Detroit would be given "a little time to make up their minds, but we won't be too patient."

From the same platform, Organizer Thompson asked: "Do you want me to withdraw if I am the person standing in the way of you getting back to your jobs?"

"No," yelled back the strikers.

There were such terms as "Herr Hepburn," and "would-be Hitler" applied by speakers to the Premier.

Martin declared he respected and revered the Ontario Government, Canada and the Empire, but that the Premier—"a little two-by-four"—could not sweep aside 1,000-year-old traditions of English people who had struggled for democracy.

At the Sunday gathering Organizer Thompson charged there was a split in the Ontario Government over the relief question, maintain-

Gullibility Honors Go To U.S. Public

Washington, April 12 (AP)

AN international prize for gullibility should be established, a group of Department of Agriculture officials said today, and awarded to the United States public for its purchase of "cure-alls."

Dr. Theodore G. Klumpp and a group of colleagues in the Federal food and drug administration said the public spends $300,000,000 a year on medicines, nostrums, cure-alls, and other preparations "which have no curative values whatsoever."

3,000 Madrid Troops Slain Surprise Raid

Government Troops Caught In Cross-Fire During Battle Outside Capital

REBELS HEARTENED

WITH INSURGENTS, OUTSIDE MADRID, April 12 —(AP)— More than 3,000 government troops were estimated to have been slaughtered west of Madrid today in a surprise attack against the right flank of the government army.

An official insurgent communique described the rout of Gen. Jose Miaja's command as one of the greatest insurgent victories on the Madrid front.

The fourth day of the determined government drive to raise the siege of the capital was declared to have been definitely halted by the loss of life which amounted to almost one man in four.

The government troops were caught in a cross fire from two strong insurgent positions north of the Casa de Campo, former royal preserve over which Miaja's troops have inched their way for four days.

The government artillery barrage opened in the early morning, centered on the shallow no-man's zone, in some cases only a scant dozen yards wide. As the curtain of shells rolled forward, 16,000 infantrymen advanced in staggered waves to attack the insurgent positions on the Aguila Hill and Perdices Hill.

As the Milicianos struggled up the slopes, filling the valley between, General Saliquet, the area commander, gave the command to his troops to fire. Of the 16,000 men who charged the legionnaires positions, 3,000 were reported officially to have been left dead on the field.

83 Holdouts Now Bother Union Heads

Hope To Convert Parts Department Workers At Session Tonight

SOME ALREADY IN LINE

Martin Aiming To Have G.M. Heads Of Parent Company Force Canadian Officials In Line

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP). — Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, in close touch with Oshawa General Motors strike events, today reiterated he was confident settlement would be reached without assistance of "hirelings of John L. Lewis."

While no formal conferences were held, the Premier was in constant communication with the interests involved in the strike, affecting 3700 workers. Mr. Hepburn and General Motors officials were reported unchanged in their stand against conferring with any representatives of Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

If Homer Martin, President of the United Automobile Workers of America affiliated with the C.I.O., is successful in having General Motors heads in the United States advise Canadian officials to come to terms, the question will be removed from government hands, it is understood at Queen's Park.

HOLDOUTS JOIN PICKETS

OSHAWA, Ont., April 12 (CP)—Picket lines in front of the parts and service building at General Motors of Canada, Limited, today included men who had worked there as strikebreakers Saturday and have since joined the United Automobile Workers' Union, its officials said.

Plans were being made for a meeting tonight of parts and service department employees and invitations will be extended the 83 non-union men who worked there Saturday and today. Union officials hope at this meeting they may be able to persuade these employees their interests will be best served by joining the union, they said.

"We will use the 'grape vine' system of inviting them to the meeting," a union official said. "One or two union men will be detailed to invite each employee who went back to work this morning."

Another official of the union declared its attempts to enlist the remaining workers in the union would be its only course in trying to close the parts department. Boos and jeers and calls of "Scabs," "Rats," and "Finks" were directed at them by a group of nearly 300 pickets on duty outside the building.

Windsor Waits on Oshawa.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 12 (C.P.). —Employees of the shutdown Windsor plant of General Motors paraded outside the factory to-day approximately 125 strong, still looking to Oshawa for a settlement that will put them back to work, while their leaders completed plans for a visit on Thursday of Homer Martin, president of the U.A.W.A.

Martin, and R. M. Cappellini, a C.I.O. representative from the Pennsylvania coal fields, will address a meeting composed of U.A.W. members and other workers from the G.M. and other plants.

The men reiterated their denial they are striking. They said their lay-off on Thursday after a strike had been called at Oshawa came as a surprise. They called the closing of the local plant a "lock-out."

Union officials said they have been assured whatever settlement is reached between the union negotiators and the company officials at Oshawa will apply here. That is the understanding they received from the Oshawa unions when they pledged their support to the C.I.O.

Organizer Barred

Hugh Thompson, C. I. O. organizer from Detroit and spokesman for the union headed by John L. Lewis in the auto strike at Oshawa plants of General Motors, was barred from the office when Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario met a delegation representing the strikers following an earlier conference with auto company executives. The premier flatly refused to see Thompson, who is shown outside the premier's office in the Ontario legislative buildings during the parley.

OSHAWA, April 12 (C.P.). — A four-member committee of workers at the Robson Leather Company plant here planned to-day to meet company officials to seek an increase in wages and recognition of their newly-formed union, Local 11 of the Canadian Shoe Workers' Union.

The decision was made at a mass meeting yesterday, Robert MacDonald, president, announced.

"We are asking the management for a general increase for the 320 workers," Mr. MacDonald said. "The union has 100 per cent. of the workers as members."

In an address to union auto workers he criticised Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan "one of the great governors in the history of our country."

Cabinet Decides Nation Has No Rights Inside Three-Mile Limit

LONDON, April 12.—(AP)—Prime Minister Baldwin told the House of Commons today that Great Britain, while guarding her shipping "at sea" in the Bay of Biscay, could not protect British food ships, actually entering the besieged port of Bilbao, Spain.

The prime minister outlined this stand, reached at a Sunday meeting of the cabinet, at a moment when H.M.S. Hood, the world's largest warship, had reached a position off Bilbao after a quick voyage from Gibraltar.

Baldwin, while insisting the British government was neither extending belligerent rights to the Spanish insurgent besiegers of Bilbao nor tolerating "any interference with British shipping at sea," explained:

"They (the government), are, however, warning British shipping that in view of conditions at present prevailing in the neighborhood of Bilbao they should not, for practical reasons and in view of the risks against which it is at present impossible to protect them, go into the area as these conditions prevail."

Refugees Jam Port.

Six British food ships yesterday were driven off from Bilbao, which is choked with hungry refugees, by the insurgent fleet.

H.M.S. Hood was sent to the Bay of Biscay, Baldwin disclosed, because the government wanted a British naval force there "under the direct command of an officer of flag rank"—in view of the "difficult position" off Bilbao.

Clement Atlee, leader of the opposition, asked: "Does not the government's position amount to a blockade of Bilbao?"

"No," replied Baldwin.

Amid Labor cheers, Atlee retorted:

"Then, in view of the unsatisfactory nature of these answers, I give notice that I shall ask for a day to discuss the failure of His Majesty's government to give protection to merchant ships."

Even before the prime minister spoke, authorized sources had indicated the Bilbao situation was regarded as a "local" one in which it was not feasible for British warships to extend the protection of their guns to British merchant ves-

$30,000 Fire Razes Block In Dunnville

Newspaper, Utilities, Hydro Offices Gutted Along With Legion Hall

SUSPECT POOR WIRING

DUNNVILLE, Ont., April 12 (CP) —Most serious fire here in 20 years occurred early today when the Harrison block, containing five stores and the Canadian Legion Hall, was gutted. Damage was estimated at $20,000 to $30,000.

Stores in the ground floor were the Dunnville Public Utilities and Hydro office, Dunnville Gazette office, O. H. Chambers auction rooms, Ing Bros. Laundry, and Geo. Krahling's shoe repair shop.

Fire was first discovered in Chambers auction rooms late night and the fire brigade was on the scene immediately. More than 20 of the hose boys, assisted by volunteers, worked to check the flames, spreading rapidly throughout the building.

Cause of the fire is unknown, but it is believed faulty electric wiring was the cause. This is the second time the building has been destroyed by fire. Originally the old opera house, it was turned into an office building about 1912, and was burned in 1919.

Rebuilt at that time, the lower floor was divided into store spaces, with the second storey being used as a factory space, bowling alley, and finally taken over by the Canadian Legion in 1934, and remodelled.

Legion Hardest Hit.

The Legion are probably the heaviest losers in this fire, having spent about $2,000 in improvements, and having close to $1,000 worth of furniture and equipment in the building at the time. They report only about $1,500 insurance.

"King Anthony" Claims Throne Forbids Crowning George VI

Former London Policeman Sends Injunction To Archbishop Of Canterbury

USES LEGAL PHRASES

LONDON, April 12 (A.P.). — The self-styled "King Anthony" Hall, still claiming the throne, yesterday sent an "injunction" to the Archbishop of Canterbury forbidding him to crown "Albert Wettin," as he styles King George VI, on May 12.

The Archbishop's office declined to comment on the "injunction" or to say whether it had actually been received.

The former London policeman, who calls himself "King Anthony the First," couches his "injunctions" in legal phrases, but they apparently have no legal status.

Hall bases his claim to the throne on alleged direct descent from the Tudors. In 1936 he said: "The Wettins, or Windsors as they began to call themselves during the Great War," were not of the Royal blood of England.

Last December he warned the Duke of Norfolk not to attend the then King Edward's Coronation.

South Africa shipped gold valued at $40,000,000 to Great Britain in one week recently.

Mine Group Resents Interference—Bloody Week-End Sees Beatings, Floggings

SHIFTS CONTINUE WORK

PICKER, Okla., April 12 (AP)—Truculent lead and zinc workers returned to their jobs today in an atmosphere made tense by a bloody week-end in which nine were shot, with leaders of an unaffiliated group announcing determination to "prevent C.I.O. unionization of this territory."

Officials estimated that several hundred men, the approximate normal total, went to work on the midnight shift in the area near Picher.

The wounding of eight men and a boy at Galena, Kas., yesterday by gunfire from a headquarters of the International Union of Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers, climaxed a week-end of beatings and floggings and brought their terse statement of plans of the group opposed to the Committee for Industrial Organization:

"All mines and smelters will be open as usual Monday. All men will go back to work.

"We will continue our attempts to prevent C.I.O. unionization of this territory."

Signed by President F. W. (Mike) Evans, that notice was posted at the headquarters here of the tri-state mine, metal and smelter workers union, which claims 8,000 members in this rich mine area of Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas.

The week-end toll included the flogging of Constable Ray Keller at Hockerville, Okla., in addition to the

Income-Ducking Sewer Pipe Magnate's Son Carries Secret To Death

VICTIM PLANE CRASH

NEW YORK, April 12 (CP).—Heirs of John M. Phillips, New York sewer pipe manufacturer, sought today for the fortune of more than $1,000,000 he left scattered around North America in various unnamed banks and safety deposit boxes in Canada and the United States.

At the same time Mrs. Marian A. Phillips Cassidy, widow of the pipe magnate, and the United States Government were locked in a battle of the estate, the Government alleging Phillips never paid income taxes though he amassed a fortune of more than $10,000,000, at one time.

Phillips was known to have made deposits in Montreal banks. The United States Department of Internal Revenue recently was forced by a Federal Court decision to return jewels valued at $100,000 which it had seized for delinquent income taxes and Mrs. Cassidy said her late husband hid his money to avoid income tax payments.

For years before he died in 1928, Phillips made frequent secret trips away from New York depositing huge sums of money under false names in banks whose location he revealed only to his son Francis, who carried the secret with him when he died in a plane crash.

On one occasion, it was said, Francis Phillips drove to Canada, deposited $200,000 in a Canadian bank and went on a party. On his return he had forgotten the name of the bank.

USED HUNTERS' TACTICS

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP). — Maximum fine of $500 with the alternative of two months in jail was imposed on Dr. Norman King Wilson, Toronto eye, ear, nose and throat specialist who pleaded guilty to-day to attempting to maim, kill or injure a dog.

A second charge of causing unnecessary cruelty to animals was withdrawn and Dr. Wilson paid the fine. Stanley Shiata, defence counsel, entered a plea of guilty on behalf of the physician. H. C. Walker represented the Toronto Humane Society who laid the charges.

Inspector William Weatherstone of the Humane Society said he was called April 1 by police and found a black mongrel dog, part Scottie, lying in a "pool of blood" and Dr. Wilson standing nearby.

"I put the dog in the wagon and Dr. Wilson came over to me," the Inspector said. "He said to me, 'I cut the dog's throat.' He also said there were too many dogs around here. I asked him why he did it and he said the dog had been around his place barking for some time. He told me he used a penknife to do it.

Trio Drift For 48 Hours In Open Boat, Lake Erie

Ten Boats Pass Crippled Craft Before Fishermen Pick Them Up

COVER 45 MILES

WINDSOR, Ont., April 12.—(CP). —Paces swollen by wind and rain, two men and a 16-year-old boy slept soundly for the first time since the engine of their 35-foot motor launch failed Friday. The trio was picked up in Lake Erie yesterday after drifting about for two days and two nights.

Eldest of the three, John Balak, German-born fisherman of near Amherst Pointe, 28 miles south of here, slept soundly at his beach shanty, while his 23-year-old brother, Joe, along with his young nephew, Ambrose Balak, rested at their homes here.

From Friday to Sunday the three were at the mercy of the waves, wind and cold as the engine in their open launch stalled with a broken magneto. They drifted in a zig-zag course and estimated they covered approximately 45 miles.

They went without food and sleep though twice they might have landed the boat on the shores of small islands, kindled a bonfire and waited for rescue parties.

Instead they decided to stick with the ship. They were afraid it might be damaged or wrecked against the rocky island shores had they tried to land.

Ten boats passed them by until finally three Kingsville fishermen, Harold and Steve Call and Gordon Sherman, noticed them when they went to lift a net.

"We've been here in the lake since Friday," the elder Balak shouted. "The magneto she won't work."

The fishermen took the three aboard their 30-foot boat and fed them sandwiches and tea.

THE MAIL-IT-AWAY EDITION.

The Examiner will publish its second Tourist and Mail-It-Away edition, much earlier than in 1936. We expect it will be ready for publication shortly after the middle of May.

The reason for the change in date is that we are informed by a number of people from Ohio and New York State to whom last year's edition was forwarded that they would like it sooner when making plans for vacation.

The response to solicitation for advertising has been prompt and generous this year. An effort is being made in picture and story to cover as much of the Kawartha Lakes district as possible. We would suggest that those who have friends outside of this area to whom they would like to send copies of this edition get their lists ready. This office will attend to mailing and postage, and full announcement of that will be made later.

The plan will be tried this year of using full-size photographs of typical scenes in this district for front pages of various sections. We are attempting to produce a thoroughly creditable edition and we suggest you make plans now for reserving copies for mailing away.

Cruiser Hood Will Escort Food Ships Relief Of Bilbao

London Cabinet In Emergency Session Decides To Risk International Incident

WARNED BY FRANCO

Told Insurgent Fleet Will Fire On Any Vessels Entering Besieged Port

LONDON, April 12 (CP)—The 42,100-ton battle cruiser Hood, alone almost the equal of the total tonnage of the Spanish Insurgent fleet, today was proceeding from Gibraltar to the waters off Bilbao in northern Spain to convoy British merchant vessels through an Insurgent blockade of the besieged Basque capital.

Either Prime Minister Baldwin or Foreign Secretary Eden was to make an important declaration on British policy in the House of Commons this afternoon, and it was believed it would be announced the cabinet, at a two-hour meeting last night, had decided to give naval protection to merchant shipping on the high seas but not in Spanish territorial waters.

The cabinet was reported to have decided a dangerous precedent would be set if fleet convoys escorted merchant vessels inside the three-mile limit.

Several merchantmen, carrying sorely-needed food to Bilbao, are at St. Jean De Luz, France, awaiting the government's decision on whether naval vessels will escort them through the Insurgent blockade of 10 ships. Foodstuffs are not included in the material of war banned by the non-intervention committee.

Plenty of Naval Backing

Under the government's plan, it was believed, the Hood and other British naval vessels in the vicinity —the cruiser Shropshire and the destroyers, Blanche, Beagle, Brazen and Brilliant — would escort the freighters as far as the three-mile limit and then allow them to proceed into port at their own risk.

It was believed Insurgent warships would be reluctant to enter the three-mile limit—within the range of government shore batteries.

Long before the Ministers met to consider the situation at 10 Downing street, Foreign Secretary Eden and Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, met high administrators for a series of conferences.

Cabinet Stays on Job.

They had remained in their offices at Whitehall through the week-end, indicating the gravity with which British officials regard the situation.

The cabinet had to consider an Insurgent warning their fleet had been ordered to fire on British freighters if they attempted to enter Bilbao. British warships would make no difference, diplomatic sources at St. Jean De Luz on the Franco-Spanish frontier, said General Francisco Franco told Sir Henry Chilton, British Ambassador to Spain.

"We are prepared to risk an international incident," the note was said to have read, "but the ships will not get through."

The destroyer Blanche carried an Admiralty warning to six British freighters now to remain at St. Jean De Lux and not attempt to go to Bilbao.

Shipping circles expected the order to be amplified later by advice to abandon their basque destinations or proceed within the three-mile limit at their own risk.

The captain of one ship, the Marie Llewellyn, asked the Spanish consulate at Bayonne for instructions, failing which, he said, he would ask French courts for permission to sell the cargo of potatoes for the Bilbao government.

Blockade Is Denied.

The defence council of the Basque government, allied with Madrid broadcast a denial from Bilbao that a true blockade had been established under the meaning of International law.

"In fact, Bilbao, like other ports along the Basque coast controlled by the Basque government," the announcement said, "is defended from any attempt at blockade by long range shore batteries placed along the entire coast and also by naval units of the Republican fleet."

The note was interpreted as a bid to British ships to disregard the insurgent warnings and bring badly needed food to the port.

Orders In Writing For Pilots In Air

Chicago, April 12—(AP)

WRITTEN communications delivered to airplane pilots as they speed at 200 miles an hour were seen today as a likelihood of the "very near future" by James T. Flynn, Chief of Communications for American Airlines.

Flynn said pending tests would determine the feasibility of using "facsimile" reception machines, already tested on the ground, in airliners. Such a machine, he said, will enable pilots to receive weather maps, instructions and despatch orders in exact reproduction of the original prepared in the ground control office. The original would be placed in a transmitter, transformed into radio impulses, picked up by the plane's receiver, and reproduced in the cockpit.

62-DAY SESSION COMES TO CLOSE MEMBERS LEAVE

Tweedsmuir Officiates — Premier King Expresses Appreciation Of Bennett Co-operation

SHORTEST SINCE 1921

OTTAWA, April 12 (C.P.). — The long marble corridors of the Parliament Buildings were given over to tourists to-day, the session ended and members scattered to their homes in distant parts of the country.

With a last-minute rush, Parliament cleaned up the business of the session on Saturday night with Lord Tweedsmuir officiating at the prorogation ceremonies in the red-walled Senate Chamber.

Before another session begins a Royal Commission will have begun an investigation of the financial relationship of the Dominion and the Provinces. Importance attached to the coming inquiry was indicated in the Speech from the Throne which reviewed the business of the session and described the probe as a necessary first step towards "readjustments in the governmental structure of Canada."

For 62 days Parliament deliberated over the nation's business and at the end Prime Minister Mackenzie King expressed his warm appreciation of co-operation and assistance given the Government by Conservative Leader Bennett.

Mr. Bennett replied with a declaration he had done just what he considered it his duty to do having regard to the Government's heavy responsibilities. He believed the legislation enacted during the session would prove of benefit to the people, but warned the Government the country was still faced with "many grave situations."

London Next.

In a few days Mr. King, Mr. Bennett, members of the Cabinet, and a group of members of the House and Senate will be on their way to London to attend the Coronation of King George VI. One of the last steps of the session yesterday was passage of an address of loyalty to His Majesty by both Houses. Mr. Mackenzie King will present the address.

The session was the second of the 18th Parliament and was the shortest regular session since 1921. Parliament assembled on January 14, and from the first sought to attain the goal of a mid-April prorogation.

In thanking Mr. Bennett for his helpful attitude throughout the session, the Prime Minister said the Opposition leader's good humor since his recent trip around the world was remarkable.

"If a trip around the world is good for the leader of the Opposition's humor," retorted Mr. Bennett, "I hope the Prime Minister will lose no time in taking one should he ever be in opposition again, and I hope he will not go alone but will take with him some of his colleagues."

Just before the session ended, Mr. Bennett joined with Social Credit Leader John Blackmore in voicing a protest against the recent report of the Bank of Canada on the financial position of Alberta. They alleged Alberta was receiving less favorable consideration from the Dominion Government than were Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

This brought a denial from Finance Minister Dunning. He said the Alberta Government had requested a survey of its finances by the bank on the same basis as the earlier surveys made by the bank for Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Ever since taking office he had dealt with Alberta on

Belgium Nips Fascist Hopes At The Polls

Brussels Gives Premier Von Zeeland Overwhelming Victory

275,840 TO 69,242

Hostile Crowds Attack Any Rexist Supporters Caught On Streets

BRUSSELS, April 12 (AP)—Buried under a blizzard of ballots, Leon Degrelle set to work today to rebuild his shattered Fascist party while followers of Premier Paul Von Zeeland celebrated the triumph of "law and liberty" in the Brussels bye-election yesterday.

The young premier, accepting the challenge of Degrelle, contested with the Fascist leader for a seat in parliament, and won by a vote of 275,840 to 69,242 in an overwhelming rejection of the Fascist program offered by the Fascist party.

Highly excited crowds, closely watched by police, roamed Brussels boulevards as returns came in. The throngs shouted hostile cries against the Fascists and made menacing gestures toward any passerby suspected of favoring the Rexists.

The mere presence of the Rexist newspaper Le Pays Reel in a coat pocket was sufficient to arouse the crowd's anger.

Mock funeral processions carrying effigies of Degrelle and singing Chopin's funeral march moved slowly through the streets. Police made several arrests to prevent serious disorders.

Van Zeeland polled 76.89 per cent of all votes cast, in his first bid for votes.

The Rexist candidate, backed by Flemish Nationalist allies, received 4,479 votes less than the two obtained in the last election in May, 1936.

Degrelle polled 19.05 per cent of the vote. The remainder of the ballots were void.

Observers said the stinging defeat did not necessarily mean the end of the Fascist movement, but that a reorganization seemed inevitable.

CLYDE SHIP MEN THREATEN STRIKE

100,000 Propose To Walk Out Unless 13,000 Apprentices Get More Pay

GLASGOW, April 12 (C.P. Cable). —More than 100,000 workers in the Clydeside shipbuilding industry will hold a one-day strike on Friday unless employers agree to a conference on Wednesday with representatives of 13,000 striking apprentices.

Making the decision at a Sunday meeting, the Clyde and District Shipbuilding Engineering Unions also decided to ask for a conference between union representatives and Ministry of Labor conciliation officials with a view to the Government's intervention.

Every shipbuilding and engineering shop in the district would be affected by the one-day shutdown.

The striking apprentices are seeking wage increases and better working conditions. Clydeside members are likely to raise the question in the House of Commons to-morrow.

THE Royal Road TO THE CORONATION

The Happy Couple at Their Brilliant Wedding

ABOVE we present Their Majesties in one of the happiest moments of their lives. This is their wedding picture and His Majesty, going back once more to his days of war service, is attired in the uniform of a group captain of the R.A.F.

They were married in April of 1923 in historic Westminster Abbey with the Archbishop of Canterbury performing the ceremony, and, suitably enough, the Primate of Scotland assisting in the service along with the Archbishop of York. Six of her closest friends were bridesmaids for Lady Elizabeth, while Prince Henry, now Duke of Gloucester and Prince George, now Duke of Kent, supported the duke. It was one of the Abbey's most colorful and pleasant ceremonies, but even greater than the pageantry of the wedding was the unanimous approval given the union by the people of the realm.

That the King's second son was marrying a fellow subject and that that fellow subject was the daughter of a family that could claim long and honorable connection with the history of England and Scotland as well as a distinguished war record to which the lady herself had added, caught the popular imagination as have few events of modern times even in the annals of a loved royal house. From the highest to the lowest of hundreds of thousands who packed London's streets to see the procession before and after the ceremony, came a wildly enthusiastic tribute that touched the hearts of the happy couple.

And they touched the heart of their people. It is recorded that Lady Elizabeth placed her bouquet of white roses upon the tomb of the Unknown Soldier as she entered the Abbey and that a wedding gift of some $10,000 was utilized by the couple to supply outings to children in large industrial areas—two events unimportant in themselves perhaps but indicative of the kindly thoughtfulness that has endeared this couple to the empire. Perhaps when they travel through the cheering thousands who crowd London on May 12, memorable incidents of their early lives together will return to gratify Their Majesties as will the memory of their long-appreciated charm, the people they rule.

Horse-Drawn Fire Equipment Can Still Find Market

WOODSTOCK, Ont., April 12 (CP)—There's still a market for horse-drawn fire extinguishing equipment, according to Chief H. G. Gillespie of Woodstock. Chief Gillespie received a letter from a Galt, Ont., man asking if the nearby Ingersoll fire station still had the old wagon used before mechanization of the department. The man wanted it to assist in showing heavy-draught horses in fairs. Gillespie explained.

Holds G.M.C Concessions In His Hands

Brands Thompson, Martin Slick Fellows Making Fat Living Off Canadian Workers

LEWIS ADVICE UNNEEDED

Claims Aim Is To Make Canadian Costs So High As To End Export Trade

TORONTO, April 12—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn held firmly today to his refusal to confer with any American leader of the 3,700 striking General Motors of Canada workmen. He believes he could bring about a speedy settlement of the strike "if we can get these paid professional American agitators out of Ontario."

The premier has on his desk a memorandum of concessions General Motors would make to its Oshawa employees. But the premier will not disclose the memorandum's provisions to any delegation of strikers which includes Hugh Thompson, Detroit organizer for the Committee for Industrial Organization of which the United Automobile Workers of America is a subsidiary.

He charged Thompson and Homer Martin, president of the U.A.W.A. were "slick fellows who operate from outside Ontario and make a fat living out of the pay envelopes of our working class." He said last night they are bending every effort to prevent a settlement of the strike.

Mr. Hepburn met a delegation from the union in his office Saturday afternoon but he refused to admit Thompson. The delegation sought vainly to have the premier change his mind but he said he would not budge from his position.

Before he met the strikers, Mr. Hepburn conferred with Harry Carmichael, vice-president and general manager of General Motors of Canada, and James B. Highfield, general plant manager at Oshawa.

Need No Outside Advice.

Last night the premier said the strike could be settled "without having the hirelings of John L. Lewis, the master mind behind all the unrest and disturbance in the United States, come in here and tell us what to do.

"I'm not going to attempt to reply to all the abuse which Martin at Oshawa last night heaped upon the head of the government here," he added.

Mr. Hepburn claimed that "behind the veiled screen" of the present situation was a deliberate attempt on the part of the Lewis interests and their U. S. allies to make motor production cost so high in Canada that General Motors and other automobile industries here could not hope to compete with the United States and other countries in export manufacture.

Miss Helen Savigny of Stewart Hall, who teaches at one of the rural schools, was honored recently by her girl friends of the neighborhood at a handkerchief shower held at the home of Miss Corona Hanbidge of Otonabee township, who was assisted by her guests, Miss Jean Pratt and Miss Eileen Scholes, of Peterborough.

The handkerchiefs were concealed in various parts of the room, and were discovered by Miss Savigny by the help of clever little verses composed by the guests, each verse in turn giving a clue to the hiding-place of the next handkerchief.

In the evening, at the home of Miss Hanbidge, Miss Savigny, who has been a member of the Stewart Hall United Church Sunday School since childhood and has also played the organ in the church for several years, was guest of honor at a farewell party prior to her departure for her school in the northern section of the county of Peterborough. Games of Monopoly were played, and refreshments were served.

Local Singer In Large Productions.

Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park has several out-of-town singing engagements this week. On Tuesday and Wednesday she will take part (as the young Shepherd) in the production of the opera "Tannhauser" (in English) at Massey Hall, Toronto, and on Thursday night she will be soloist at the Spring Festival of the Elgar Choir in Hamilton.

The production of "Tannhauser", which is described as one of the "season's musical highlights", is under auspices of the Opera Guild of Toronto, Paul Althouse, leading Wagnerian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, New York, has been secured for the title role, which he has sung with great success on numerous occasions at the Metropolitan, having also been selected by Edward Johnson to sing "Tannhauser", the Metropolitan's first production of that opera, this season. In the roles of Elisabeth and Venus, the soprano voices of Doris Godson Gilmour and Jeanne Pengelly will be heard. For the principal male parts, there are Norman Lucas, Robert Haley, Gordon McLaren, Reginald Heal, Murray Bosley and Irvine Levine. A chorus of eighty will support the leading singers. For the Bacchenale, twenty-four dancers from the studio of Boris Volkoff will be used, under direction of Mr. Volkoff. An orchestra of fifty will be in the pit, conducted by Cesar Borre, who is responsible for the entire production. Stage settings said to be of unusual beauty, further enhanced by the two hundred colorful costumes worn by principals and chorus, will help to make this production one of the most elaborate ever attempted in Canada.

THIS very dainty, feminine season in women's clothes highlights the word "soft." It is applied to suits, dresses, blouses, everything but shoes. It does not mean slatified, either, but that certain something that gives what used to be known as the "woman's touch" to garments.

Lace and other such sheer and patterned fabrics lend themselves readily to this type of clothes. All the Paris dressmakers are using lace, tulle, and similar materials in both daytime and evening clothes. Roseviennе shows smartly wearable street clothes, including navy crepe dress with matching lace peplum and same lace at neck, front ruffles and cuffs.

Lace blouses are numerous and very lovely. Some are made as tailored as silk or cotton, like the model presented here, left. This is made of heavy, white lace, and was designed by Landouska of Paris. It has that certain feminine touch we were talking about a moment ago and which gives the "soft" effect to the tailored suit. The blouse, aside from the beautiful pattern of the lace, is very simple, with puff sleeves, a peplum effect at the waist, and buttons down from the very plain neckline.

Resembles Eyelet Embroidery.

Alix is another Paris dress designer who shows white lace blouses of a new type resembling eyelet embroidery. This same lace is used for afternoon frocks in navy.

Lace, indeed, lends itself ideally to the smart afternoon frock of formal character. The one shown at right, presented by Chanel, has been very popular. It is of black cire lace, the fullness in the skirt posed at the front, and, quite in keeping with the modern trend, the shoulder breadth is slightly emphasized.

Among the novelties of the season may be quoted an afternoon bridge costume of grey and black embroidery over blue lace. And a long afternoon coat of wool lace trimmed with velvet bands.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

WOMEN were made to give our eyes delight:
A female sloven is an odious sight.
—Young.

Dear Friends:

Sympathize with me my friends, for I have been making a dress! The stuff was bought one mild day about a month ago, and what I cannot understand about myself is, why, oh why, do I get the urge every time Winter is going out, to go buy myself some goods and make a dress?

But there is something about the nice new materials and the alluring patterns which gets me down every time. I picture to myself how nice I will look in the darned thing. I struggle to get a table big enough to cut the pattern out, I strive to get the time to do it, and all the while someone keeps making demands on me.

But at l ng last I struggled to see which piece was which, found the way to lay it on the goods and pinned it there, and cut it, determined to sew it next day, or know the reason why. (I know it now alright.)

Well it lay for about two weeks longer, and finally I started to baste it together yesterday. The first fine enthusiasm had died down by then, and what started out to be an adventure in dressmaking, became a wearisome business indeed.

I would just get the idea of which part went with which, when the 'phone would ring, or someone would come to the door, so I would lay it down carefully, do what had to be done, and come back to it again. I guess you are wondering if I am an expert dressmaker? I am not. Never had a lesson in my life, but what's a little thing like making a dress? (Here is where you laugh.)

At long last, and fully exasperated by this time, I got it all basted together, but as it is a sort of lacy material, the basting threads would keep coming out. If I so much as turned it around. Well I tried it on and it is now too long, and in certain places, too big, so I have a course of altering here, taking up there, shortening another place, and my theme song is still. "Why oh why did I ever start to make the blasted thing in the first place?" (And echo answers, why?)

All the dress patterns seem to be made for the long leggy kind, and I an neither long nor leggy, and I also have a tendency to bulge in the wrong places.

When I was easy to fit, it never occurred to me to make a dress, but then there was a decent income, and now there isn't, so what? So go ahead and do your struggling old thing, and find a laugh to brighten it all up.

So I'll try to fit the dress to my fairy? form and I only hope the struggle won't take all the joy in wearing it away in the effort, but if ever any of my friends see me looking at dress goods and patterns, I hope they clip me over the head, for if ever they saw my struggles they would laugh their heads off.

However, I've never made one yet that I could not wear, so that's some pin. But now after I stitch it together, I must fit it on all by myself, measure it, fit it again, and before I am through I shall have had to try it on about twenty times, and I mean twenty.

It used to be easy to make a dress, but now they have swing skirts as well as swing music, so this means seams and more seams. The directions also used to be easy to follow, but now they have them as if you were a fully experienced person in that kind of work, so you just give yourself your head, and trust to luck that you are right. It's like looking at an intricate piece of music to a beginner. And so if you happen to run across me this summer (or maybe Fall) wearing a new dress, just remember the trial I went through to get it. Made you laugh? That's good.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Not So Good

Beverage rooms were closed temporarily in Oshawa when the strike at the plant of General Motors was declared, it being explained it was a precautionary measure to avoid trouble.

But there are beverage rooms in Whitby and Whitby is not many miles removed from Oshawa. Whitby reports that beer parlors in that town have been doing a thriving business since the ones in Oshawa were closed.

People in Oshawa to get a drink of beer in Whitby—or several drinks—do not walk between the two points.

They will drive that distance in cars, and after they have consumed their beer—much or little of it—they will drive home again.

Both Oshawa and Whitby are located on No. 2 Highway, the most heavily trafficked road in the country. Taking steps to prevent trouble in Oshawa may be found one way of creating trouble elsewhere.

Coronation Day at Home

It is not possible for all the folk in Peterborough to go to the Coronation, but we can have our own party on that day, May 12. Plans have been made, and they are fitting and ambitious as they should be, but there remains some blank places to be filled in. There are certain things which a committee can do, but it remains for people who are not on any committees to attend to matters about which committees can only plan and suggest.

There is the parade and on that parade depends the degree of pageantry which will be injected into the proceedings. Preparing the floats is something which the committee cannot do. It requires individual and collective effort, and it needs thought, planning and a degree of imagination. These floats should represent something of historical interest, and the scope for selection is wide—local or district, provincial, national or empire-wide. It is not the desire of the committee that the floats should be prepared primarily for advertising purposes, and that decision is wise nature to be written on a piece of paper then work proceeds. The whole stress is being placed on a document, and when the date on that document wears out the whole business must start again.

The frequency and size of these strikes may be a modern example of that old phrase about the expulsive force of a new affection or a new desire. The expulsive part is that men are willing to put to one side the considerations which they at one time valued, and one of them was the desire to work and seek to advance. Also the willingness to turn suddenly against the people or firm or individual with whom they have been long associated. This new outlook has gripped people who have been for years in the employ of the firm against which they have recently struck. By striking they know they are seeking to bring the company to its knees; they know they are going to weaken its position and stop its output, and they must know if they do not win in a short time they are also going to weaken their own financial position. And yet the blunt truth is that organizers are able to bring all these things to pass today to a greater extent than has ever been done before.

The amazing part of it is the willingness with which people will quit work and go on strike. We have been passing through a period when employment has been in many cases hard to find; where revenue has been difficult to secure, and where wages and salaries and dividends have suffered. During that period we have studied and investigated and probed and sought for information to try and find a cure for the condition which we refer to as depression. In the meantime we have spent money—in all $750,000,000 in 1936—to try and extend some form of relief to those who have not been able to live under their own power. And during it all we have looked forward to the day when things would be better. We have looked back at 1929 as the sort of year we would like to have again.

There are evidences that we are getting out of the rough spot through which we had to pass. There are more opportunities to work today than there were two or three years ago; there has been a falling off of the numbers on relief lists, and a good many men have the satisfaction now of working and providing for their own families—something which was denied them in some cases for a good many years.

A continuation of strikes now will make it hard enough to continue the process of recovery, and we doubt if actual gain which can be felt in the pockets of the workers is going to come by way of the strike. Quite often the strike ends by an agreement which leaves both parties to it seeking their pound of flesh.

He Tossed the Caber

From Goderich in Huron County comes word of the death of John D. MacDonald, said to have been the strongest man in the county when he was in his prime. A good deal of the story about his death is taken up with reciting that John MacDonald once won the tossing the caber contest at the Caledonian games in Lucknow, in Bruce County, and as a result there was a celebration in which the entire countryside joined.

That is not hard to believe because tossing the caber was indeed a big man's job. The caber is in some way related to a small telephone pole. We remember when it used to be brought to the fair grounds on the dray wagon for the Caledonian games. If it had to be lifted off at least two men handled it.

Tossing the caber was always about the last thing on the programme. The younger folk could run their races, the pipes could blow and the dancers could trip about on the platform; those who tossed weights could heave and be done with it, but that feeling of expectancy remained until the tossing of the caber was announced. Then there was silence. We cannot recall more than two men who could do it in that district, for the man who could toss the caber needed great hands, great arms and shoulders, a great spine and great legs. He had to be great all over. First that giant pole was up-ended, then the tosser got his hands on the butt end and balanced it against his shoulder. The trick is to give it such a heave in the air that it will turn completely over and fall away from the tosser. The contestant bent low; there were a few short steps before he reached the mark; he stayed low to get leverage for the final effort; the muscles upon his shoulders and arms stood out like handsome and manly armament. When he straightened up from his toss the folk on the grandstand always stood up, but there was never a sound until the caber toppled over the right way. Then all the power of lung broke loose. The great man generally put a gown about him and walked silently away. But fame followed. For days after he would be pointed out on the street and once again the story would be told. Small wonder that much of the space in the obituary of this John MacDonald was taken up with reciting how once he tossed the caber and won the big event of the Caledonian games. It called for a man of superb strength to do it.

Frequency of Strikes

The strike weapon is used today with a frequency unheard of in previous years, and the mass movements which few men can cause is something little short of amazing. It means that a few—a very few—are doing the thinking for the many, and also that the personal contact of the employer with his employees is being dissipated almost to the point of non-existence. We see it in its major form in United States today where one man speaks and acts upon behalf of tens of thousands. We see the same thing in lesser degree in our neighboring city of Oshawa.

Everything appears to stand or fall on recognizing a certain form of unionism, and that form of unionism is a one-man variety. If that one man causes a signature to be written on a piece of paper then work proceeds. The whole stress is being placed on a document, and when the date on that document wears out the whole business must start again.

When a Man Eats

We learn from reading a despatch from Stratford that Sergt. George Walker of the local police force has created another record. It had nothing whatever to do with unearthing a crime, nor yet with romping over back fences in pursuit of some bad man. It was all done in a pleasant place and under congenial circumstances.

The Sergeant, we learn, is in the habit of attending the anniversary supper of Knox Presbyterian Church, and upon such occasions supplies of wholesome victuals are usually large and even larger. The Stratford officer has been there before and each year he seeks to do a little better than the one previous. Whether the Sergeant provided his own facilities for keeping count we do not know, but read he succeeded in stoking away 17 pieces of pie and four pieces of cake after having partaken of two helpings of meat and potatoes. How great in size were the wedges of pie is something not mentioned, but if they were of even average size for church supper affairs it would mean the defender of the law had placed within his boiler at least three entire pies as well as four pieces of cake, and it is an established fact that Presbyterians generally make their cakes two or three stories high. So on the sure foundation of meat and potatoes there was raised what indeed must have been a very great superstructure.

On the law of caloric requirement figured according to the man's needs and publicity he should have had a sufficient supply to last him for three and a-half days. When came the next day and the breakfast table the Sergeant should merely have made a gesture with his hand toward the chair at the head of the table and thereby have indicated there was sufficient steam in the boiler to run for several stations before stopping beside the water tank or coal chute. Probably the Board of Managers of the church have the matter under advisement, for if the habit of the gallant Sergeant should happen to become common practice there would be no profit from the annual church supper. It would surely result in a deficit and we do not believe the Presbyterians of Stratford or elsewhere would long countenance such a situation.

Professor Pitkin's reply to the Quebec Legislature is that he does not have to ask anybody's permission about what he thinks. Of course he will have to be logical enough to admit that anybody is privileged to think what they like about him.

In spite of strong protests from township organizations the Liquor Control Board has allowed another beverage room to open in York Township. It is that kind of thing that is building up public opinion against liquor administration in Ontario.

TELEPHONE

(By A. R. K.)

¶ When Joe calls on the telephone, I twitch a while and then I groan, and look alarming sour; I know that I am staked and caught, and that before Joe thinks to stop, 'twill be about an hour.

¶ Joe has a lot of things to say, that he could tell me any day, nor would they take much time; but when he gets me on the phone, he just goes talking on alone, he wants no word of mine.

¶ And all I ever have to say, when Joe gets started on that way, is just a yes or no; he talks about his aches and pains, about his losses and his gains, about his joy and woe.

¶ You'd think he had it written out, the things he was to talk about, I don't converse at all; he tells me how he feels in spring, that he was spry as anything, much better than last fall.

¶ He talks about some stuff he's read, he's tried to stow it in his head, but he forgot a date; he'll look it up, it won't take time, and will I kindly hold the line, I chant my hymn of hate.

¶ When Joe gets on the line I know, that I can't either come or go, he often calls at eight; and long before he gets half through, I think of all I have to do —and all my chores must wait.

Our Statesmen At Their Labors

Parliamentary Reports

Mr. J. G. ROSS (Moose Jaw): This item is of considerable importance to people throughout Canada. I do not think there is anything that is more needed to-day in practically every household than new furniture. We have gone through a bare time in the last five or six years and it is very difficult for people in Canada, no matter in what section, to replace furniture. This industry's case was put before the Tariff board some time ago and a report was submitted. I have a copy of the report, ressional paper 1936, which was laid on the table on March 23, 1937. The Minister of Finance spoke of the effective rate as 27 per cent. That is the tariff, but the three per cent excise is also a tariff and is an effective rate of tariff protection. Therefore you must add to the 27 per cent, 3 per cent on the duty paid value. The duty paid value of $100 worth is $127, and with 3 per cent on top of that you get, not 27 per cent, but something between 30 and 31 per cent. The change that is to be made will mean 37½ per cent under the intermediate tariff, with 10 per cent off under the Canada-France agreement, bringing it to 33 2-3 per cent; and then you add to that the 3 per cent in the same way; in other words it is 3 per cent on $133.60, which brings the tariff rate back to 37½ per cent.

According to the tariff board report, page 7, the furniture industry in Canada started in 1850, eighty-seven years ago. In 1920—the year before I was born—there were 1,200 plants in Canada; in 1900 there were 160, in 1920 there were 349, and they range from that to 404 in 1935. So this industry is quite an old infant. I do not thing we need argue that it should be further protected by tariff in order to get it on its feet. If it is not on its feet now, it should be in the grave.

The second argument used is the number of employees, and the wages and salaries. On page 71 of the report of the tariff board we find that in 1926 there were 9,800 employed in the furniture industry in Canada. They were paid $10,457,420 in wages and they produced $31,292,442 worth of goods. I would remind the house that at that time we were under a tariff of, I believe, 27 or 30 per cent—20 per cent under the general.

In 1927 the employees numbered 11,038, wages were $12,041,621, and the product amounted to $35,733,818. It will be seen that at that time each man in the industry was receiving better than $1,000 a year.

Coming down to 1928, the employees numbered 12,550, with wages of $13,609,344, and $41,825,534 in products.

In 1929 there were 13,082 employees, $14,812,073 in wages, and $44,138,176 of products.

In 1930 the employees dropped to 11,980, wages amounted to $12,774,536—still over $1,000 per man—and $36,809,195 in products.

In 1931, the employees numbered 10,007, wages $10,47,097—it is down to the even $1,000 now—and products $27,135,171.

Under the higher tariff it will be noticed that the production went down from $1,000 to $800 per year. Also by these figures it is seen that at the time we produced the most furniture in Canada, we imported the greatest amount from the United States. In 1929 the imports were $3,100,000, and in that year $44,000,000 worth was the peak of the production in Canada.

In regard to the suggested higher wages in Canada, at page 37 of the tariff board's report we find some figures. I have heard the argument around the house and in the lobbies in the last few days that the Canadian furniture industry is competing with an industry which has moved south in the United States where coloured labour is being used at very low wages.

Mr. EDWARDS: That is perfectly true.

Mr. ROSS (Moose Jaw): The tariff board does not say so. The tariff board says that taking all sections of the United States the wages paid in cents per hour in the furniture industry are 42-6, and:

	Wages paid cents per hour
Rockford, Illinois	49-7
Grand Rapids, Michigan	42-0
Jamestown, New York	49-7
Southern Indiana	40-0
Southern States, average	36-0
Southern States, larger towns	41-0

The lowest average wage in the United States is 36 cents per hour in the southern states. The wages in Canada, as found by the tariff board, were for Ontario 35 cents per hour in 1930, and 39-55 in 1936. In other words, over 2 cents an hour lower than for the wages in the south in the furniture industry. In Quebec province in 1935 the wages paid were 36-93 cents per hour, and 37-35 in 1937, or over 10 cents an hour lower than paid to coloured labour in the southern states. In British Columbia the wage paid was 52 cents an hour, or 3 cents lower than in the southern states. In other words, the lowest average wage paid in the United States in the furniture factories was 3 cents an hour higher than the highest average wage paid in the furniture industry in Canada. Surely that is an answer to that argument of my hon. friends. These are not my figures; they are from the report of the tariff board.

THE KING'S DAY.

(British Canadian)

METHODICALLY George VI makes each week fit into a day.

Every morning he sets aside time for audiences, the afternoon for reading and signing state papers, the evening for relaxation.

Relaxation is not for long, however, because there is plenty of work waiting for the King when he has a spare moment. Often after dinner, before going to bed early, the King spends an hour or two in his study reading reports.

Like his father, he is an early riser, when the weather improves he intends to ride each morning in Rotten Row, Hyde Park.

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics.

MUST CHANGE

Editor Examiner,

Sir: It will do us harm to go Nazi this letter from General Higgins, an Englishman and one of the world figures of the Salvation Army. The point referred to is the necessity of a return from modernism to religion, and therefore also of teaching it to the young with the other information given them, as for example, in public schools. If they do not acquire, as fully one-third of the children do not, some knowledge of Christianity in this way, they will never learn it at all. The result we see is deplorable.

J. H. BURNHAM.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, Peterborough.

Dear Sir:—Thank you for your note. I agree with you as to the danger which still abounds upon the lines of which you write. Be assured I feel as strongly as I did when you heard me speak in Toronto a few years back and I constantly refer to my addresses to the necessity of a return to faith and Biblical truths.

Yours very sincerely,
EDW. J. HIGGINS

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Editor Examiner,

Sir:—The time is drawing near when we will again have with us that curse of the summer months—daylight saving time. Two or three years ago the majority citizens of Peterboro voted against this, yet our noble council high-handedly set aside the wishes of the people. Now, we were taught in school (somebody please correct me if I'm wrong) that a council represents the people, and is in office to carry out the wishes of the people. In this case, the opposite seems to hold true,—the people are here for the council.

Now then, what benefits has this so-called daylight saving time, other than to allow the gentleman-who-can-afford-it to play a longer round of golf? The commercial traveller is benefited by it too, but after all, who cater to him. He takes money out of the town. Why not cater to the farmer? Peterboro is the shopping center for a large rural district, and the farmer leaves money in the city. And what about our small children and wee babies? We have to put them to bed in hot bedrooms, before the rooms have had a chance to cool off, because the sun is still shining then.

And what about ourselves? It doesn't really get cool until it's dark, therefore if we want to get ourselves a little cool before we go out we have to wait till nearly ten o'clock, because according to D.S.T. it doesn't get dark until then.

Can't we, the majority, who voted against this nuisance, assert our wishes?

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space in your paper.

I remain,
Yours truly,
A MOTHER.

Peterborough, April 10.

Figures Are Discouraging.

(From the Toronto Telegram.)

LATEST relief and unemployment figures made public at Ottawa show a slow emergence from the depression, so slow in fact as to be somewhat discouraging. The number of unemployed workers in January of this year was 500,000 as compared with 826,000 in January of 1936 and only 73,000 fewer than in January, 1935, when business and industrial recovery was only commencing. Relief recipients still numbered 1,091,615 in February last. It is evident that the relief problem is to remain with the country for a long time to come. How serious this is to the taxpayer may be gathered from the fact that the total cost of direct assistance last year was some $9,000,000 greater than in 1933 when the depression was at its deepest point. The comparative figures for the two years were $80,263,176 and $70,917,274.

Higher food costs and additional services help to account for the increase in the total. It is more difficult to find an explanation for the failure of unemployment to decline in keeping with the increase in business activity. One reason may be that many thousands of persons have become demoralized by long years of idleness and hesitate to make an effort to support themselves. There are no doubt a great many others who have no intention of ever working again, being satisfied to depend upon public aid. These may be a comparative few but they help to account for the stubborn persistence of large unemployment figures in the face of improved conditions.

The Sault Star tells in a recent issue of the case of a young man who refused a job at $45 a month although his family is on relief. His excuse was that the salary wasn't big enough and there was no opportunity in the work. The Regina Leader-Post tells of a number of unemployed men in Brandon who could not be induced to take farm jobs that were offered at from $20 to $25 a month with board and lodging. There are many similar incidents which have come to light from time to time.

A hard core of unemployment remains in Canada when will not be easily worn down. The burden which it places upon the country is made greater by work-dodgers who are taking advantage of the relief system. It is this angle which should be receiving close attention from relief authorities as work opportunities widen.

DO IT NOW.

(Kitchener Record)

THE Home Improvement Plan, sponsored by the National Employment Commission, is designed to give two-fold assistance. It aims to put people to work and it provides home-owners with the means to help themselves in restoring and improving the attractiveness of their surroundings by enabling them to do the work at a low financing cost.

A point that strikes us as worth stressing is the fact that the plan pays the best dividends right now. It's just another case where procrastination may prove expensive. The cost of materials is going up. A dollar will buy more now than it will a few months hence.

Those who intend taking advantage of the Home Improvement Plan would be well-advised to—DO IT NOW.

THE AVERAGE DRIVER.

(Galt Reporter)

YOUR average motorist, according to a spokesman for the Harvard university bureau for street traffic research, has good intentions, is fairly skilful and is, on the whole, a safe driver. Then why are thousands on this continent dying in traffic accidents and hundreds of thousands of others being injured every year? The average driver who is, on the whole, a safe driver can not be exempt from responsibility.

The Harvard bureau spokesman places responsibility squarely upon that driver. He does get into accidents. Why? Not because he is unskilled or habitually reckless. He gets into accidents and becomes involved in slaughter because "he has certain minor failings which assume major importance when he is in a hurry." It is the duty of the average driver, therefore, to face his minor failings squarely and see to it that they do not become dominant in emergencies and make him responsible for manslaughter and serious property damage.

BUSINESS KNOWS.

(Oshawa Times)

GOVERNMENT heads need not worry as to the part to be taken by Canadian business men in the movement for re-employment. Such leadership is certain to be maintained throughout the industrial order.

For one thing, business men know that mass purchasing power is the one factor capable of bringing economic improvement.

Then too, these same business men are aware of the fact that public spending, with its inevitable effect upon taxation, can be reduced only when there is no longer any need for huge relief allotments.

Canadian business has a vital stake in recovery. It is certain to make any and every move that gives promise of speeding the wheels of industry and putting earned dollars in the pocket of the average citizen.

Any other course would be economically suicidal. And there is nothing to indicate that those at the helm of production and marketing are desirous of wiping themselves off the face of the earth.

ing a committee of General Motors workers was told a week before the strike by Hon. David Croll, Minister of Labor and Welfare, that relief would be provided those in need. Mr. Hepburn he said, refused to permit allowance and should "keep his nose out of our business."

Telling of support from General Motors workers in the United States, Thompson declared they "will not stand for conditions here." He charged that the corporation planned quitting cheaper labor in Oshawa. And that the average yearly wage paid Canadian employees was between $600 and $700.

General Motors of Canada is an international organization, he told the cheering strikers, and "it is owned by General Motors in the United States."

At the Saturday night meeting C. H. Millard, president of the Oshawa local of the U.C.W.A., said there would be no change today in allowing the company to move shipments from the parts building. About 80 workers and the office staff of 40 entered the building Saturday to the accompaniment of jeers and hoots from the picket line. There was no attempt made to interfere with them. Normally about 80 manual workers are employed in the department.

Millard said there would again be no attempt to prevent anyone going into the building but that some of the 60 who went in Saturday have since joined the union.

An unofficial report flew about Oshawa last night that Premier Hepburn had announced General Motors has no intention of reopening and the plants would remain closed indefinitely. (The premier at that time could not be reached in Toronto regarding the report).

On hearing the report Thompson quickly prophesied "we will close up plants in the United States indefinitely."

Mayor Alex Hall said if the report were true, then the people of Oshawa should be told "how he intends to implement the promise of threat."

The Mayor questioned by newspapermen, said he had made no decision whether the Federal Department of Labor should be approached with a view to intervention in the dispute.

Late last night General Motors, in a statement by J. R. Highfield, general factory manager, took issue with statements of strike leaders and at the same time declared $25,000 is being lost to the workers daily because of the strike. Loss to other firms in 80 centres throughout Canada, based on purchase of supplies and raw materials for a year, the statement added, was $150,000 daily.

The company disputed strike leaders' claims of wages as low as 30 cents an hour and maintained 42 cents was the minimum under non-production, paid to janitors and cleaners.

A charge that workers sometimes toiled 16 hours a day also was untrue, the statement said. It set average earnings of $1250 a year for 1936 for 2,500 employees, disputing Thompson's claim of $600 and $700. There were 800 workers through brief employment and certain part time jobs, earning less than $1,000.

DOCTOR CUTS DOG'S THROAT

He also told me he was very sorry he had not made a good job of it."

Dr. Wilson, who said he had been a surgeon for 30 years, told of the dog barking near his house for the last two weeks. On several occasions he had reported it to the police but not to the Humane Society.

"On catching the dog it became unmanageable and bit the boy who caught it," he said. It was vicious, although the bite the boy had was not bad. I held the dog for a moment wondering what to do with it. I was half a mile from home and could not imagine how I could carry such a vicious dog all that way without someone getting hurt.

"I took the most humane way of disposing of the dog at my disposal. It was the way hunters did out in the woods. I then called the police and asked them to come and shoot the dog."

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Wheat futures skidded downward on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today when traders lacked bullish news for any aggressive support. The market ran into some stop-loss selling. At the close values were off 4% to 3% cents lower, with May at 1.43¾, July $1.37¾ and October $1.21 ¾ to ⅞.

Disappointing trends in overseas markets and lack of export purchases during the week-end induced nervous holders to liquidate their holdings. In the last hour wheat prices were trading almost four cents below Saturday's close.

Price range throughout the session was wide, while volume of trade was believed small.

Premier Hepburn Meets General Motors Officials

Seeking a solution to the deadlock which leaves the huge General Motors' Corporation factories at Oshawa, Ont., idle while 3700 employees are out on strike, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario met officials of the auto corporation at his Queen's Park office. The group are pictured as they went into conference. LEFT to RIGHT are J. B. Highfield, General Motors' plant manager; Louis Fine, labor mediator for the Ontario government; Harry J. Carmichael, vice-president and general manager for G.M. in Canada; and Premier Hepburn.

Guarantee Safety.

Despite this, the Basque government at Bilbao offered guarantees of safety to any British ship entering the Spanish territorial limit and said government shore guns were capable of protecting ships at a distance of 11 miles from shore, despite the presence of Bilbao of 10 insurgent blockade ships.

Premier Baldwin put the Bilbao situation like this:

"It has been necessary to take into account the practical aspect of the problem arising from the efforts of insurgent forces to invest Bilbao by land and sea."

He added mines had been laid on both sides of the sea approaches to Bilbao, and that there was the ever-present danger of damage from insurgent aircraft.

Aside from the menace to Bilbao from the sea, General Emilio Mola's insurgent armies are pressing the city by land, from the south and east. Bilbao itself—capital of the Basque autonomous regime and a principal ally of the Spanish Valencia government in the civil war—is thronged with 300,000 persons, many of them reduced to rice rations.

JOHN H. CARNEGIE DIES IN TORONTO

Old Peterborough Boy And Represented North Victoria In Legislature

TORONTO, April 12.—A former member of the Provincial Legislature and well-known at Osgoode Hall, John Hilliard Carnegie died on Saturday at his home, 363 Huron Street. He had been ill only a few days. He was at one time prominent as a canoeist, and in 1890 a runner-up for the North American Championship Cup. He was 72 years of age.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Lodge, A. F. & A.M., and also a member of Bloor Street United Church. In his youth he was an ardent cricketer. He was twice married, first to Miss Elizabeth Lauria of Toronto, and latterly to Miss Edith Green of Toronto. Surviving are two sons, John A. of Prince Albert, Sask., and James of Toronto, and four daughters: Mrs. John P. Carter of Cochrane, Ont.; Ethel of Bowmanville, Catherine and Charlotte, at home.

John Hilliard Carnegie was a member of a family that played a great part in the development of Peterborough. His father, the late John Carnegie, a former member of the Legislature for this riding, was interested in the Auburn Woollen Mills and was for a long time proprietor of the Peterborough Review. The family residence was located at the present site of the filtration plant on the Lakefield road.

J. H. Carnegie was born here and received his education in Peterborough. Afterward he moved to Cobourg, and was elected to the Ontario Legislature as member for North Victoria. Later he was appointed to a position in the civil service. His last years were spent in Toronto.

The funeral took place at Little Lake Cemetery this afternoon on the arrival of the motor cortege from Toronto.

YOUNG MEN ATTEND ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Friday Night Supper Club Holds Its Annual Church Parade

"Too often older people get into a rut from which they can not stir one way or another," Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr told one hundred members of the Friday Night Supper Club who were in attendance at the morning service in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Sunday. "A rut is only a grave with the ends knocked out. Older people need to retain some of the enthusiasm and hopefulness of youth."

It was the occasion of the annual club church parade. The young men marched to the church in a body from the Y.M.C.A. They were headed by their chairman, Charles Shaw; their president, Jack Richardson, and other members of the executive.

Speaking on the hopefulness of youth, Dr. Barr said the youth of today is being harshly criticized for its enthusiasms and impetuosity. Underneath it all, however, youth is serious and trying to solve the ethics of life, as are the other generations, he said.

He said there are three contending philosophies of conduct beckoning to youth to-day. First, he outlined the "robber" philosophy based on the principle "What's mine is mine and what's yours is yours if I don't get it." The second, a less-altistic philosophy is based on the principle "What's mine is mine and what's yours is yours if you can keep it," he said. He outlined the third as the Good Samaritan view with the guiding principle, "What's mine is mine, and what's mine is yours if you need it."

"These three contending ideas may be considered as governing life today," Dr. Barr said. "Youth must not get cynical because the first is apparently winning out."

He deplored the tendency of older people to settle down into smug self-complacency and ask the question, "What is the use?"

Four Supper Club members, George Broadley, George Hall, Don Ross and Harry Marsh sang as a quartette.

The United Kingdom now has 1,560,000 passenger automobiles.

Beautiful Lady In Blue Remains With Alf. Scadding

One Year Since Three Men Became Incarcerated In Nova Scotia Mine

THEME SONG OF TRAGEDY

By TED FARAH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 12 (CP) — The rumbling, crashing, terrifying fall of rock in the wet sump-like darkness of a mine shaft and a song about a beautiful lady in blue are grotesquely associated in the brain of moon-faced little Alf Scadding a year after his experience at Moose River, N.S.

Scadding was one of three Toronto men incarcerated in Moose River gold mine last April 12; one of the two who came out alive 10 days later while millions shared emotionally in relief at the ordeal's end.

Dr. D. E. Robertson, sturdy, mustached 55-year-old physician, is the other survivor. Herman Magill, mine owner, died.

In the lives of the two survivors there seems to be a contrasting destiny, a year after those days and nights last spring when strange, powerful currents of sympathy from thousands of persons from coast to coast acutely aware of Moose River, fused in mind and will of a continent behind the clanging, thudding picks and shovels of Nova Scotia Dragermen working toward the rescue.

Dr. Robertson, with a profession and a strongly defined direction in life before the incident, carries on his work, the general course of his life little changed, his position in relation to society unaltered.

National Figure

Scadding, without any real vocation before those 10 days underground, 10 days which made him a national figure for weeks following the rescue, finds the experience dominating his life.

In his middle forties, married and a father, Scadding lost all his toes in an operation after the rescue. He now walks slowly, haltingly. When he is making his way along city streets he looks eagerly into the faces of passers-by to see if he knows them or if they know him. If there is a look of recognition, he waves a cheery, energetic greeting. Sometimes he makes mistakes and greets people he doesn't know. He has had a taste of celebrity and he nurses a dream of cashing in, through mine promotion, on the publicity that came to him out of Moose River.

Dr. Robertson is doing his best to forget the whole thing. He prefers not to make any comment on the anniversary.

Scadding discloses for the first time that the Moose River incident had a theme song. For three months before the fall of rock which imprisoned him and the other two 141 feet underground, Scadding was assistant to Magill on the property.

During that time he passed many days in the mine office listening to dance music on the radio. One song impressed itself on his brain. He liked to hear it and it kept recurring in his consciousness. He got to know about two lines of the lyric.

Frequently Sang Song

After the first couple of days underground, while the three men were lying with their bodies pressed together to keep from shivering, sometimes became aware that he was singing the words "A beautiful lady in blue," she thought I was someone she knew. Da na da da da,' and so on to fill in the parts where he didn't know the lyric. Then he would stop and think "Gosh, if the Doc hears me singing this he'll think I've gone out of my mind." So he would stop singing aloud and hum under his breath.

He didn't try to shut the song out of his mind. It was soothing and protected him against less pleasant thought.

Twelve months after that strange ordeal Scadding still remembers sharply many of the details. There is still a certain amount of terror in the recollection of the first four or five hours underground. Those hours were the worst. Dr. Robertson had loaned Magill money to finance the mine and he simply was on the property as a visitor. The three went down the shaft to show the doctor the mine.

The first intimation came with that rumbling crashing sound of wet rock falling; then an incredible air pressure which swept Scadding's hat from his head and blew it 20 feet away, pressing hard against his body. For four or five hours after that they could hear the rock falling, see it sliding down the shaft, walls crumbling. They wondered where it would give next. Then followed that long siege of waiting in the wet, cold darkness, their bodies huddled together for warmth.

Magill Apologized

A few times Magill apologized abjectly for getting them "into this mess." Both Dr. Robertson and Scadding insisted it was not his fault and they all were in the same boat.

Once the doctor noticed that the other two were holding themselves stiff to keep from shivering. "Don't do that," he told them. "Shiver. That's nature's way of promoting circulation."

Then, at the end of the first week, that macabre incident in the dark. Magill sitting up and asking for a drink of water; Scadding getting it for him in a cup one of the workers had left underground. Magill saying "I can't drink it. My throat's closed." He fell back into a lying position, striking his head. The doctor examining him. "Mac's gone." They kept him lying between them for an hour in the hope of restoring his circulation.

Scadding constantly wondering. "I wonder if mother will read about this in the paper." His mother had a serious heart condition and he was fearful of the effect on her. Then he would muse on the fact that all three had served in the Great War. "Will they give us a military funeral, the three of us together? Will they bury us all together or separately?" And some times, even after he knew the rock had been drilled down to their level and communication was established through a tube, he thought they might never get through to them. "If they don't get us now and someone gets in here years later and they only find skeletons, will they be able to tell which is which?"

Then, again and again, the beautiful lady in blue.

Sure He Heard Voices.

Hour after hour they dozed, slept, shivered. Twice toward the end Scadding was sure he heard voices, sounds of children at play, small dogs barking, as if he were lying in bed on a spring day with his window opening on the street. He wasn't delirious, he says. Then sometimes they could hear the sounds of the Dragermen digging. They shouted.

Finally, the sound of falling rock and the two living ones wakened from a doze to see men, one after the other, with miners' lamps on their hats, sliding dream-like into their tomb.

Carried outside into the spring midnight, Scadding saw the previously deserted mine property crowded with hundreds of motor cars, headlights gleaming; throngs of people, miners, newspapermen. They took him into a room of the mine office, Dr. Robertson to another room. Scadding was placed in a cot beside the window facing east.

He could not sleep, fascinated by the crowds, the excitement, lights, activity. Whenever he was left alone in the room, he sat up in bed and looked out the window at the jubilant miners, newspapermen, people from the towns around, singing hymns and old-time songs altogether, the auto headlights shining in the night, hundreds of eyes. "A beautiful lady in blue. She thought I was someone she knew."

Couldn't Sleep.

Scadding found himself possessed of an odd, compelling desire to see the sun. He couldn't sleep. Attendants came in and made him lie down, but as soon as they left he sat up again and looked at the crowds outside and felt a craving for the light and brilliance of the morning sun.

The celebrations and singing faded gradually outside, and after a while it became lighter. Scadding sat up, looked out the window and saw the sun rising, large and golden in the east. He felt its warm, light-giving benediction for a moment, then lay back.

"Everything's okay now," he said to himself and he fell asleep.

That was a year ago. But it all can be brought back sharply in his memory by an evocative melody about a beautiful lady in blue.

OBITUARY

MRS. T. EDGAR DAWSON

Three deaths in one family in five weeks is a rather rare occurrence, but such was the case when Mrs. T. Edgar Dawson, of Bailieboro, passed away in Nicholl's hospital, Peterborough, on Friday, April 2, three days after her only son, Gerald L., and five weeks after her husband.

Mrs. Dawson, whose maiden name was Eva C. Lucas, was born in Garden Hill, on May 12th, 1872, and in early childhood moved with her parents, John Wm. Lucas and Margaret Pain, to Bailieboro, where she received her public school education. She afterward attended the DeMills Ladies' College at Oshawa.

Always interested in religious things, she used her talents in many ways in Christ Church, Bailieboro (Anglican) and exerted such a helpful influence upon her Sunday School class that some of her former pupils, now living in Toronto, honoured her memory by attending her funeral. After her marriage in September 1897 to T. Edgar Dawson, she was equally useful in the Methodist Church, where her quiet, consistent and godly life won for her many firends and her unselfish service in the W.M.S., Ladies' Aid and church brought blessing to many.

At the funeral service on Sunday afternoon at 2.30, a former pastor, Rev. R. M. Patterson, of Sunderland, paid tribute to her worth to the church, the home and the community and referred to her passing by quoting the short poem entitled, "She is just away." Rev. D. M. Smith, of Baltimore, led in prayer and Rev. W. Simpson (Anglican) read the Scripture, and many friends expressed sympathy by their presence and floral offerings.

The pall-bearers were Ira Dawson, John Greer, Stewart Graham, John Reid, Charles Dean and James McCamus, and the flower bearers were Aylmer Dawson, Kenneth Dawson, Dawson Rutherford, Edwin Eagleson, Allan Preston and Howard Fair.

In the plot in the Bailieboro cemetery, her body was laid to rest beside those of her husband and son.

Cherishing the memory of a loving and devoted mother are the two daughters, Jean and Ruth, a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gerald Dawson and the two grandchildren, David and Margaret, also a brother, William, of Ottawa.

62-DAY SESSION COMES TO CLOSE MEMBERS LEAVE

exactly the same basis as other provinces.

Compromise on Combines Act.

The new Combines Investigation Act, passed by the Commons and amended in the Senate, necessitated a compromise at the end and the Government accepted the Senate's proposals "with reluctance," as Labor Minister Rogers put it.

The Senate amendment stipulated that before an investigation may be launched by the commissioner who will be appointed under the revised Act, approval must be obtained from a Judge of the Exchequer Court or the president of the Dominion Trade and Industry Commission.

Mr. Rogers said he feared the provision would slow up procedure, but was willing to give it a trial for one year. In that period, he said, there would be ample opportunity to test it.

"As we are approaching an era of rising prices," he said, "we believe it essential to have power in the Act to deal with any abuses which may arise from the great powers vested in large business interests to enhance prices beyond the level justified by the law of supply and demand."

Mr. Bennett, who had fought against some of the powers the original bill would have conferred on the commissioner, expressed satisfaction with the change. He said it would give a greater assurance of civil liberty and would lead to greater confidence in the act since it did not now subject persons to penal treatment before they were proved guilty.

Fight Tariff Increase.

The last dispute of the session occurred within the Liberal party as a group of low tariff proponents took strenuous objection to an increase in the furniture tariff.

Assailing the increased duties as inconsistent with Liberal policy and unnecessary were R. J. Deachman, Huron North; John Glenn, Marquette; Gordon Ross, Moose Jaw; Dr. A. M. Young, Saskatoon, and Malcolm McLean, Melfort. For several hours they pleaded with the government to drop the item, but Mr. Dunning was firm.

The Minister declared out of some 600-odd changes in the tariff the furniture rate was the only one revised upward this session. The position of the industry necessitated the action, and with the recommendation for increased protection the Tariff Board had coupled a direction to the industry to put its house in order and improve its internal organization.

Later the situation would be reviewed again and meanwhile the increased rate was to be regarded as a temporary measure.

Seizing on the differences in the Liberal ranks Mr. Bennett in a joking way undertook to defend the government against its own supporters. He commenced it for maintaining the principles of tariff protection.

Before the last election Prime Minister Mackenzie King had declared it was the policy of the Liberal party to reduce tariffs to the level prevailing in 1930, when the Liberals left office, Mr. Bennett said. He gave a comparison of tariffs and taxes on certain items based on actual invoices for goods imported from United States.

One item was artificial silk. The levies aggregated 37½ per cent. in 1930 and 74½ per cent. in 1937. On another item the figure was 36% and 68% per cent. on another 37% and 53 per cent.

These, Mr. Bennett continued, were the imposts which were placed on the Canadian consumer in order that the Liberal party might preach Free Trade at elections and practice Protection in office.

In Opposition, the Liberals declared they were fighting "shoulder to shoulder" against high tariffs. Now they were fighting "back to back."

"Furniture has triumphed and the flag of victory waves over Waterloo," he said, pointing to Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce and member of Waterloo North. The furniture item represented a great advance and proved the Liberal Government proposed to follow the policies of its predecessors and serve the interests of Canada.

"But," he said, "perhaps in moments of leisure they may reflect on the remarks of a British statesmen that an organized Liberal Government is organized hypocrisy."

Congratulations!

"So I congratulate the Government at the end of the session upon having maintained in office the principles that they opposed when they sat on this side of the House," said the Opposition leader.

"It is a striking exhibition of how regard for the interests of the country can overcome pre-election statements and I congratulate the country that we have on the treasury benches men of such flexibility and adaptability that they are able to accept the great principles of Protection which have saved this country in the past and will continue to preserve it in the future."

Mr. Bennett expressed the hope the Government would long continue to practice its present tariff policies. It was a matter of satisfaction that it had "so excellently manifested belief in that measure of inconsistency which constitutes the variety in public life so essential to maintaining its interest, to say nothing of the amusement which it affords."

Finance Minister Dunning congratulated Mr. Bennett on his wit and expressed the hope the speech would "not be his swan song" as Opposition Leader.

He protested Mr. Bennett's tariff comparison as unfair. The figures included the sales tax which was now eight per cent. and in 1930 was one per cent. They did not represent tariff protection alone. They gave the impression the Government was keeping tariffs much higher than was the case.

Had Mr. Bennett taken the figures before his own Government went out of office the figures would have been "astronomical."

9 MEN ARE SHOT, C.I.O. OKLAHOMA MOVE COLLAPSES

Galena shooting and the beating of a number of men here.

Announced intention of the C.I.O. through its affiliate, the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, to attempt organization in this newly prosperous district provided the background for the outbreak.

Want No More Strikes.

The C.I.O., through President Reid Robinson of the International (Yellow Button) Union, called a meeting here Sunday afternoon.

President Evans of the Tri-State (Blue Card) Union called one for noon "as a show of strength." Reporters estimated 5,000 Blue Card men massed here.

Evans explained the Blue Card Union opposition to the C.I.O. called a strike which lasted seven weeks. We organized the Tri-State and broke the strike. We don't want any more strikes or anyone connected with the international taking our men."

Evans said the international has only a few members; that his has 8,000, most of whom were Yellow Button men before the strike two years ago.

As miners swarmed here from all over the district yesterday, Glenn Hickman, secretary of the Picher Union, handed them pick handles from Tri-State headquarters.

About noon, 30 men carrying Blue Cards raided the unoccupied International Sporadic street fights followed. More than a dozen men were treated for minor injuries. There was no C.I.O. meeting.

From Tri-State headquarters word spread that the C.I.O. would meet at nearby Treece, Kas. Three truckloads of pick handle-armed men went to Treece and splintered furniture in international headquarters.

The trek to Galena started. There the Blue Card men started a pick handle handshaking march toward international headquarters. On arrival a man broke ranks, and smashed a union building window.

Immediately there was a burst of gunfire from inside.

Three marchers dropped, wounded. Others, confused, fled in all directions. A few picked up their fallen comrades.

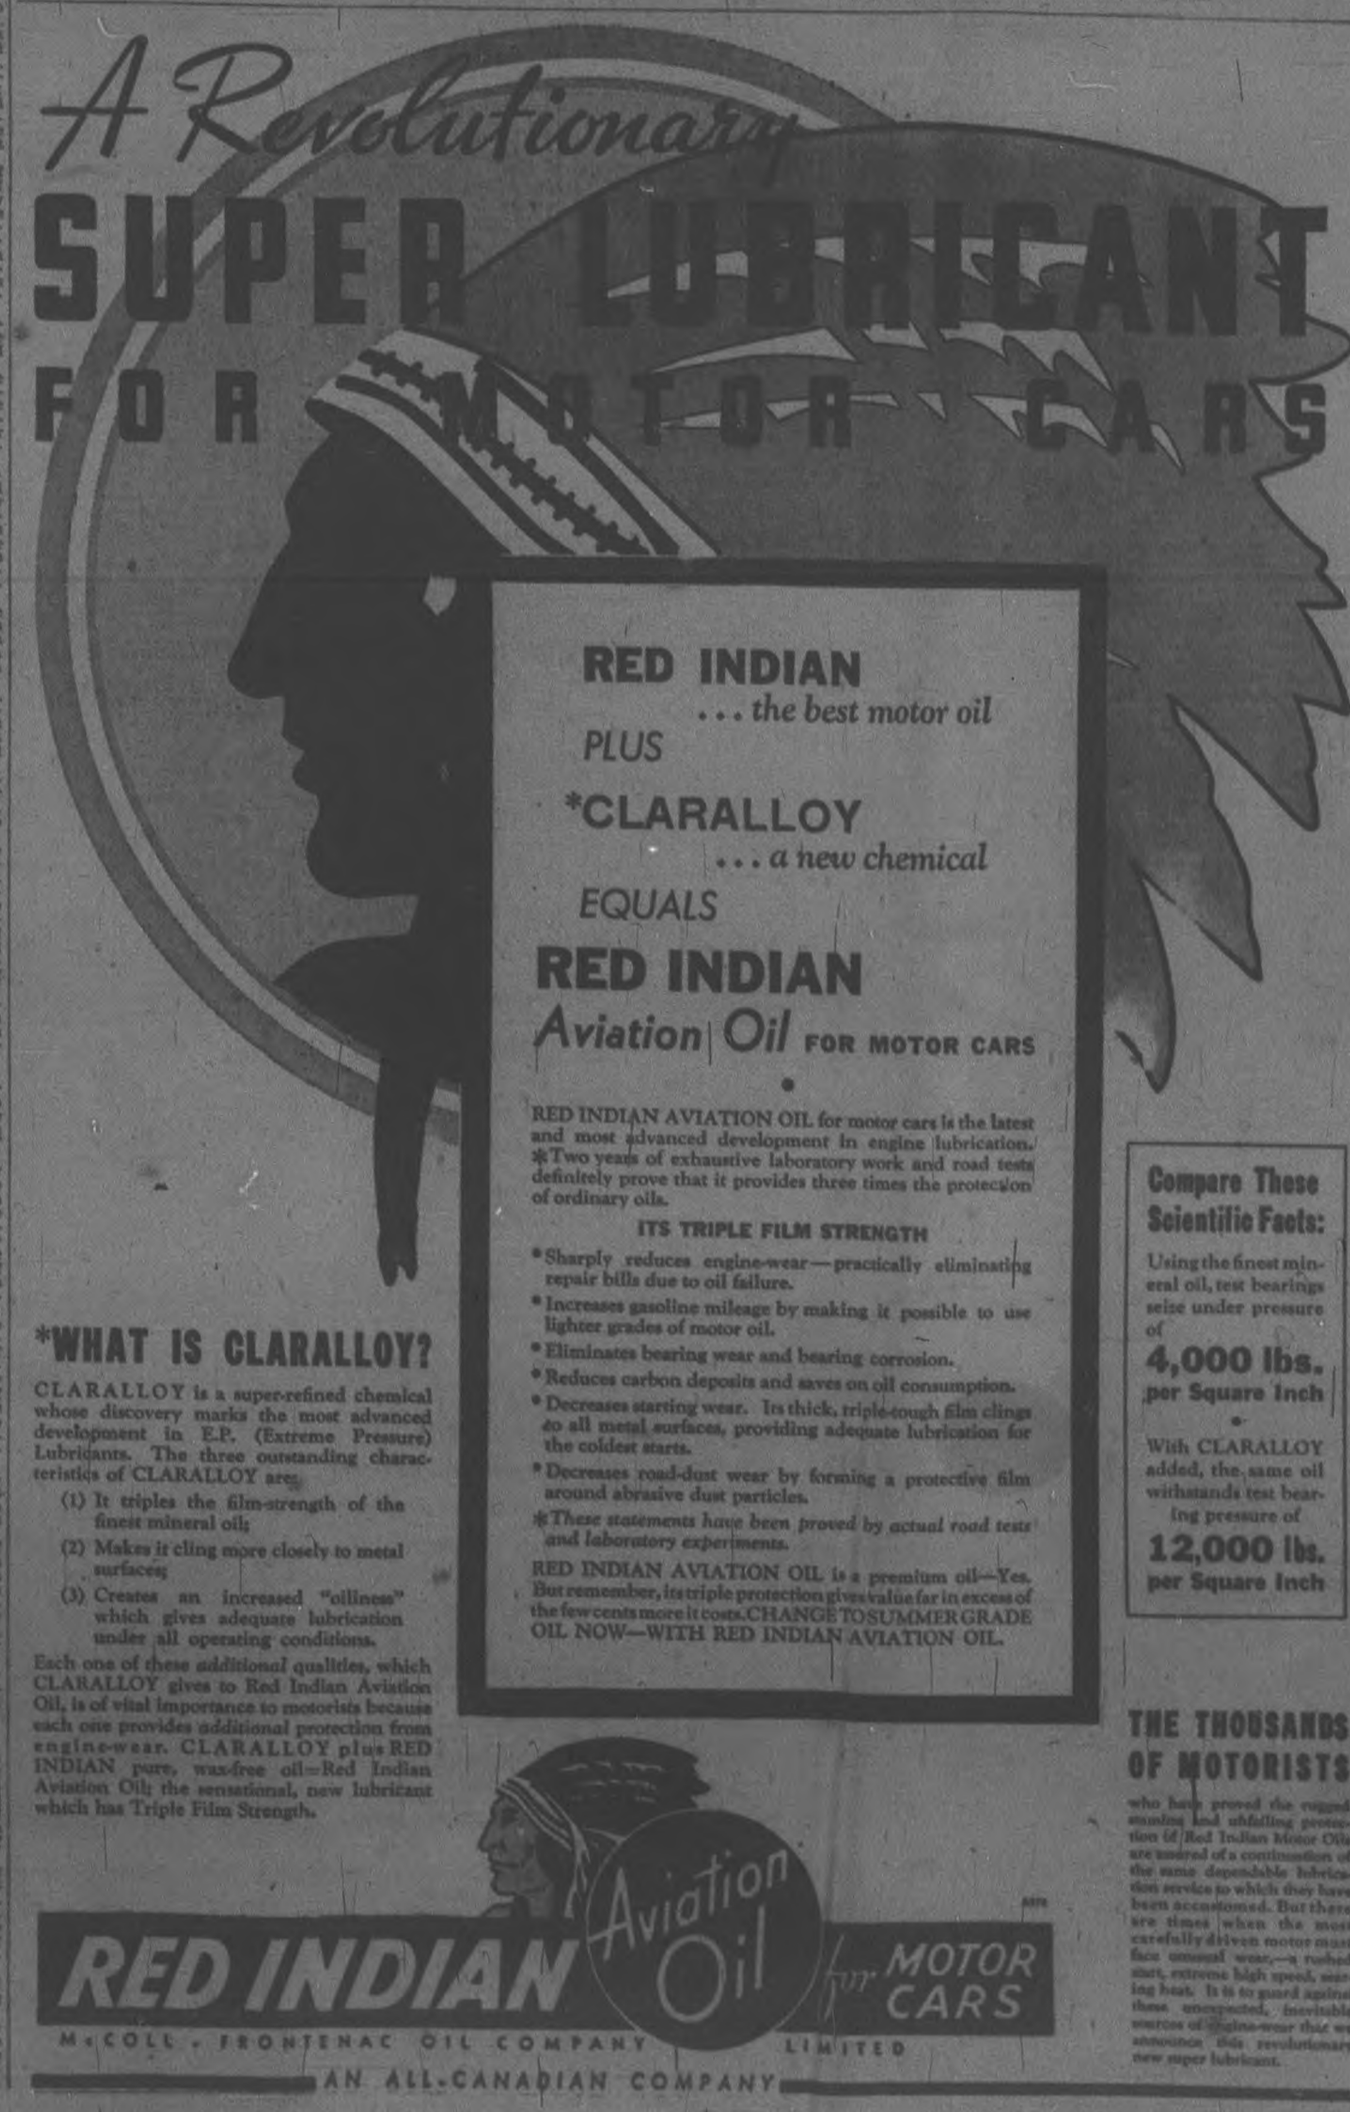
IN BED FOR WEEKS WITH BACKACHE

Quick Relief With Kruschen

It was advice from her mother that led this woman to take Kruschen Salts for her backache, and before she had finished the first bottle she was feeling better. This is the letter she writes:—

"About this time last year I had severe pains in my back and was prostrate for three weeks. I could not even rise in bed. I tried several well-known remedies, but to no avail. Then I wrote to my mother telling her of my trouble. She wrote to me by return of post urging me to try Kruschen Salts. I immediately bought a bottle and I can truthfully say before I had taken the fifth dose I could sit up. I kept on taking them and in less than two weeks I was about again. I am never without Kruschen now."—(Mrs.) A. O.

Unless the kidneys function properly, certain acid wastes, instead of being expelled, are allowed to pollute the blood-stream and produce troublesome symptoms: backache, rheumatism, and excessive fatigue. Kruschen Salts is an excellent diuretic or kidney aperient, valuable in assisting the kidneys to excrete acid impurities.



*WHAT IS CLARALLOY?

CLARALLOY is a super-refined chemical whose discovery marks the most advanced development in E.P. (Extreme Pressure) Lubricants. The three outstanding characteristics of CLARALLOY are:

(1) It triples the film-strength of the finest mineral oil;

(2) Makes it cling more closely to metal surfaces;

(3) Creates an increased "oiliness" which gives adequate lubrication under all operating conditions.

Each one of these additional qualities, which CLARALLOY gives to Red Indian Aviation Oil, is of vital importance to motorists because each one provides additional protection from engine-wear. CLARALLOY plus RED INDIAN pure, wax-free oil=Red Indian Aviation Oil; the sensational, new lubricant which has Triple Film Strength.

- Increases gasoline mileage by making it possible to use lighter grades of motor oil.
- Eliminates bearing wear and bearing corrosion.
- Reduces carbon deposits and saves on oil consumption.
- Decreases starting wear. Its thick, triple-tough film clings to all metal surfaces, providing adequate lubrication for the coldest starts.
- Decreases road-dust wear by forming a protective film around abrasive dust particles.

*These statements have been proved by actual road tests and laboratory experiments.

RED INDIAN AVIATION OIL is a premium oil—Yes. But remember, its triple protection gives value far in excess of the few cents more it costs. CHANGE TO SUMMER GRADE OIL NOW—WITH RED INDIAN AVIATION OIL.

Compare These Scientific Facts:

Using the finest mineral oil, test bearings seize under pressure of

THE THOUSANDS OF MOTORISTS

who have proved the rugged stamina and unfailing protection of Red Indian Motor Oils are assured of a continuation of the same dependable lubrication service to which they have been accustomed. BRASS TABLET IS DEDICATED AT ST. GEORGE'S

Archdeacon Warren of Toronto Conducts Dedication Service In North Monaghan Church

OPENED NOVEMBER, 1912

Founded twenty-five years ago the little church of St. George in the south-end drew one of the largest congregations in its history when on Sunday evening, the Venerable G. Warren, D.D., Archdeacon of York dedicated a brass tablet to "the glory of God and in grateful memory of the late Rev. James Price first incumbent of the parish", in the presence of a congregation which filled the beautifully decorated sanctuary.

Normally seating a congregation of 160 persons, the church accommodated 225 worshippers for the special service of dedication. Many of the visitors present were connected with the founding of the parish a quarter of a century ago, and to these and other visitors present the rector the Rev. T. S. Gault extended a warm welcome.

The service was one of a series of special services and functions being held by the congregation this year in connection with the silver jubilee anniversary.

Opened in November 1912

A beautiful reredos recently installed by the wardens and congregation depicting the Last Supper, is to be formally dedicated in November next on the actual anniversary of the original opening of the church for Divine Worship. It was opened by the bishop of Toronto on November 3, 1912.

The Rev. C. A. G. Spence, rector of Apsley assisted Archdeacon Warren and the Rev. Mr. Gault at the service, while the choir sang the antnem "King of Kings" for the occasion.

Prior to dedicating the memorial tablet, Archdeacon Warren recalled the happy rsiationship established many years ago between himself and the people of Peterborough and Ashburnham. He was glad to see present so many of those with whom he had found that glad experience.

A Double Purpose

"We are here for two purposes. We are here to commemorate the beginning of this church and congregation and here also to recall to our minds with gratitude and appreciation the memory of the late James Price the first incumbent of this parish," the Archdeacon said.

Recalling the circumstances connected with the founding of the parish, Archdeacon Warren remarked there has been a move for the extension of the Church of England in the south-end, because there was reason to believe the city would grow in that direction and that there would be an influx of population. While that expectation has been only partly realized, he said, that was no reason for regretting the step that had been taken. "There is always an outlook for the future," he asserted, "where faithful members of the Church of God are found." He asked the congregation not only to think of the past but to look ahead to the future and the opportunities for Christian service which the future offers.

Tribute To Late Rector

He spoke of the ministry of the late Rev. Mr. Price and said he had displayed a good deal of the courage and determination of the Welsh race to which he belonged. "This parish was secured largely through his exertions and evidently some of you have been giving thought to that fact." Archdeacon Warren exclaimed with reference to the memorial tablet which he later dedicated.

After dedication of the tablet by the Archdeacon and the unveiling which was performed by A. Cuffe, the rector read a letter from G. Ray and A. Knott the churchwardens, the latter which plans in connection with the silver jubilee anniversary celebrations throughout the year were outlined.

Commenting on the work which has recently been undertaken in the church, the wardens extended thanks, "for the wholehearted cooperation given by the rector and wardens, by the church members and friends," in having the sanctuary and chancel redecorated and a reredos installed.

Special Thanks

Special thanks in this connection was tendered to the following: Harold R. Scott for hardwood flooring; A. Cuff for donation of a communion rail; J. Branson, for the brass memorial plate; and the Women's Auxiliary for the plaque placed in the reredos; and to Peterborough No. 3 Cub Pack and others who gave financial assistance.

There was no canvass for funds in connection with church improvements, all the gifts being free-will offerings.

In a sermon which he preached from Deuteronomy 6:V, "And thou shall love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul and with all thy might," Archdeacon Warren declared the text epitomised one of the greatest commandments given to man by God.

"The commandment," he said, "is a principle of life and is to be so regarded and so honored."

The speaker urged that the basis of real religion was the recognition by the individual of God as the living God. "Where that recognition is not, there is no religion and where it is you have the reality of life", he said.

Declaring religion to be a real, vital thing and defining it as "the reciprocal action between man and God", Archdeacon Warren said, he was not afraid of the future of religion because religion is the basis of all social and moral harmony among men.

Officiates At Dedication

The Venerable G. Warren, D.D., Archdeacon of York seen at (LEFT) in the upper picture with the Rev. T. S. Gault, rector of St. George's Church, was officially concerned together with the late Canon Davidson and the Bishop of Toronto in formation of the parish twenty-five years ago. He preached at the evening service on Sunday to a record congregation and also dedicated a memorial tablet to the late Rev. James Price first incumbent of the parish. The lower picture gives some idea of recent improvements made in the chancel and sanctuary where a plaque depicting the last supper has been installed in the reredos by the wardens and congregation. The reredos is to be dedicated in November next on the anniversary of the opening of the church for worship in 1912.

PIER COLLAPSED.

Last summer the City Council passed a motion that was not heard of afterward forbidding swimming at the Jacks at the foot of Dublin Street. Unless some repair work is done at this point there will be no need of a similar order this summer, for the Tuggey pier, so popular with the swimmers, has collapsed and one corner is resting in the water.

"ARE SIN, DISEASE, AND DEATH REAL?"

"Are sin, disease, and death real?" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for First Church of Christian Science, Peterborough, on Sunday. The Golden Text was, "The Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and ransomed him from the hand of him that was stronger than he." (Jeremiah 31:11.) Selections from the Bible included the following from Genesis 1: 1, 31. "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And God saw everything that he had made, and, behold, it was very good." Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy included the following from page 207: "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause. Sin, sickness, disease, and death belong not to the Science of being. They are the errors, which presuppose the absence of Truth, Life, or Love."

Harold Brooks entered a plea of not guilty to a similar charge and on application of the Crown was remanded for one week.

GENERAL ELECTRIC EMPLOYEES' STOCK $464,800 TOTALS

Amount Representing 9,296 Shares Owned By Workmen In Local Plant

7 PER CENT. INTEREST

Investment by Peterborough employees of the Canadian General Electric Company in special preferred stock issued by the company now amounts to $464,800, representing 9,296 shares.

In the local plant this year 730 employees, or 94 per cent of the 1135 who are elegible for the company's thrift plan, subscribed for 3,519 shares valued at $125,960.

In addition to the cumulative dividend of 5 per cent annually the company has announced an extra payment of 2 per cent, applying to the year 1936, giving employees a return of 7 per cent on their stock for last year.

Instituted in 1927

The Canadian General Electric Company introduced their employees' savings and investment plan in 1927. It was realized that although thrift is a virtue that has long been extolled, like so many other virtues it is honored probably more in the preaching than the practising. The company approached the problem in a practical manner, although itself incurring considerable expense.

In order to encourage the employees to cultivate the habit of thrift and provide a convenient method of saving, with the opportunity safely to invest their savings with favorable returns, the company devised the investment plan in 1927. It provided that employees with one or more years of continuous service were entitled to purchase each year from one to ten shares of the preferred stock of the company having a par value of $50 a share. In the beginning the employees could buy the regular preference stock. When this stock was retired on November 16, 1935, the company created an issue of 5 per cent special employees' preferred stock for the express purpose of the employees' savings and investment plan, the distribution of this new stock being restricted exclusively to the company's employees.

Extra Dividends

It was also provided that, in addition to the cumulative dividend of 5 per cent yearly, an extra payment would be made when the company's operating results were sufficiently favorable to warrant an additional distribution. This policy resulted in the increase of the dividend rate from 5 to 7 per cent for 1936.

Payment for shares subscribed for by employees may be made in cash, or extended over one year by deductions made from each pay throughout the year. Employees may turn in their shares in whole or in part at any time and receive the amount paid in, plus accrued unpaid dividends.

Many of the eligible employees not subscribing this year hold shares purchased in previous years. Their stock is included in the 9,296 shares of $464,800 value, now held by employees of the local factory.

During the ten years the plan has been in operation, employees throughout the entire company have received $728,131 in dividends and extra payments.

ROTARY TO HAVE PART IN PARADE CORONATION DAY

Committee Appointed To Make Arrangements—J. E. Anderson Addresses Club

SHAKESPEARE'S ADVICE

The Peterborough Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at the Empress today appointed a committee composed of J. L. Gillespie, J. K. Hughes and James Juby to consider what part the Rotary Club would take in connection with the Coronation Day parade. Rotarian Janies Dutton explained that the celebration committee desired the co-operation of the service clubs which it was hoped would either arrange for individual floats in the parade or combine to provide one float.

The speaker today was J. E. Anderson, K.C., of Lindsay, Crown Attorney of Victoria County who delivered a very interesting analysis of the advice given in Shakespeare's "Hamlet" by Polonius to his son. Mr. Anderson who was introduced by Rotarian T. J. Cadley, pointed out that as men grew older they found it increasingly difficult to reorientate themselves and the tendency was to go back to those impressions formed in early youth. In that connection the speaker said that as a young man going to college he had been impressed by this striking passage from Shakespeare and he felt that nowhere in literature could there be found such sound and helpful advice as was contained in these admonitions of a father to his son. Mr. Anderson took the passage sentence by sentence and answed how closely each one applied to everyday affairs today. The advice to beware of entrance to a quarrel and the following warning that once in a quarrel to fight with all one's might he felt was exactly the position of the British Empire in her relation to world affairs and the closing portion of the Polonius message to be true to one's self was interpreted to the effect that a person's first duty was to the occupation to which he had devoted his life. The members of a Rotary Club for instance had a responsibility to the trade or calling in which they were engaged that came ahead of their responsibility to the club but is followed that being true to that calling and to their own families they could not be false to any man.

Rotarian James Dutton expressed thanks to the speaker on behalf of the club.

President Chris Graham announced that it was expected that Rotarian Fred L. Roy who will be in England for the Coronation will be able to represent the Peterborough Rotary Club at the convention of Rotary International at Nice, France in June.

WILLIAM BOWMAN DIES IN WINDSOR

Old Showman and Expert Stilt-Walker Well Remembered In Peterborough

News of the death of William Bowman in Windsor recently was received by local friends on Saturday. He had been in declining health from high blood pressure for a year or more.

Born on July 12, about sixty-five years ago, son of William and Mary Bowman, he possessed a talent for showmanship which seemed to follow him to the grave, for he was buried on the 17th of March. As a youth he became an expert stilt-walker, and was engaged in that featured role with circuses and side shows. Many people in Peterborough can remember him as the one and only stilt-walker they ever saw in this city when he was in his heyday of "big money" years ago. At one time he was associated with Harry Lindley's old stock company, and in later years he was advance man for Bert Johnston's tourist show. Mr. Bowman was also a "pitch man", engaging in the business of selling novelties of all kinds at fairs and on market places up and down the country.

The Bowman family is well remembered in Peterborough. William Bowman, senior, was proprietor of the old Oxford Hotel in the building on the east side of George Street, immediately north of the C.P.R., and afterwards in the property now known as King's Hotel on Simcoe street. Mrs. Bowman was a concert singer in her younger days, and was known to audiences throughout Central Ontario.

During the war "Billie" Bowman enlisted and went overseas, and his funeral in Windsor was marked by military honors. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Carrie Sheppard of Windsor.

Park Street Calls Thorold Minister

At a meeting following the evening service at Park Street Baptist Church on Sunday, it was decided to extend a call to Rev. C. C. Boyter, B.Th., of Thorold Baptist Church. Mr. Boyter was present as the preacher at Park Street Church on Sunday, and the members of the church and congregation were delighted with his messages. It is expected that a reply to the invitation will be received by the church officials by Wednesday of this week.

Chief Geologist Is Recommending Survey Of Madoc-Marmora Area

Extension of a geological survey of the Madoc-Marmora district is being planned by the federal Department of Mines for this summer.

Representations were recently made to the Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Mines, by J. J. Duffus, Rorie Ferguson and C. A. Cameron, members of Parliament for Peterborough and Hastings ridings, urging that a survey be carried on in that area. The request was referred to the mines and geology branch.

"I have now been advised by the director of that branch that the chief geologist is recommending in his program of field operations for the coming season that there be included an investigation of the district including Madoc and Marmora," C. W. Jackson, secretary to the Minister, has notified the three Members. "This will be a continuation of the work previously undertaken."

PROUD EMPIRES HAD THEIR DAY BUT JEW REMAINS

Ill Luck Visited The Persecutors Of Jewish Race Evangelist Klink Says

GOD'S TIMEPIECE

A capacity crowd filled the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church on Water Street on Sunday night to hear Evangelist Otto Klink speak on "The Jew, God's Great Timepiece." The speaker said: "What we have today we owe to the Jews; what we know about God we owe to the Jews; we are indebted to the Jews for the Bible, as every word written in the Bible was written by Jews." He forcibly reminded that the nations that have treated the Jew well have prospered, and those who have ill-treated him, without a single exception, met misfortune.

"Spain is in the throes of civil war, because of the terrible things that have happened there. In 1492 a decree was passed exiling every Jew in the land. Abarbanel, a Jew of highest position and culture, offered King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella a sum of 300,000 ducats to recall the decree. Suddenly the chief Inquisitor, Torquemada, appeared. 'Judas Iscariot,' he cried, 'sold his Master for thirty pieces of silver. You will sell Him for 300,000 ducats.' His appeal settled the matter. Their decree not accept the bribe. Spain is paying for it now.

"The Jew is the miracle of history. He is absolutely amazing. Proud Empires—the Babylonian, the Medo-Persian, the Grecian, the Roman—have come, lived their little day, disappeared, and left not a wrack behind. The Jew, more ancient than them all, remains more vigorous than ever.

"The Jew constitutes a very small proportion of the human race. Today it is estimated there are about 20,000,000 Jews in the world. Roughly speaking the population of the world is 2,000,000,000. The Jew constitutes, therefore, about one per cent. of the whole, and yet he is leader in almost everything. According to prophecy, the Jews are returning to Palestine. When the Jews returned to their land from Babylon in B.C. 536, we are told that the number was a little short of 50,000. Up to now over 400,000 have returned coming out of 64 nations."

At one time during the service Mr. Klink dramatically unfurled the Jewish flag, Magen Dovid, the Star of David, stating that this flag will ultimately wave over the entire world during the Millenium.

The Rambling REPORTERS

"A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME"

Kirma, "the great Psychic" who entranced local audiences during a recent visit to the city, is now engaged in similar pursuits in Hamilton. And that brings to mind the story of the local small boy who became enamored of Kirma and the study of hypnotism and sent off some hard-earned change to purchase a book on the subject, whose fine printing he studies with zeal after school hours. He has progressed far enough in the science to offer to hypnotize his school-mates at the rate of a dime a head, but has been somewhat hampered of late by the information, imparted by his seniors, that it is sometimes impossible to rouse the subject from the trance-like state. He calls himself "The Great Physic!"—C.I.M.

LADIES' UNION THANKOFFERING

W.M.S. And Ladies' Aid Of St. Paul's Hear Talk By Pioneer

Miss Mary Murray of Toronto, guest speaker at the meeting on Friday afternoon of the united meeting of the Ladies' Aid and Women's Missionary societies of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, in an Easter Thankoffering gathering, spoke very pleasingly of her work, which is the regular visitation of hospitals, houses of providence and girls' reformatories, under appointment from the Women's Missionary Society.

Miss Murray is a pioneer in this work, being the first appointee of the W.M.S., and has been engaged in it for the past forty-two years. Out of her long experience, many interesting facts were gleaned by her listeners who were impressed by the sunshiny way and spiritual uplift of the speaker, who takes messages of living hope to those cast down and words of cheer to the lonely. Miss Murray spoke of the great assistance given by different auxiliaries in sending clothes for the needy.

The speaker introduced by St. Paul's deaconess, Miss Elizabeth Walker.

Devotional exercises were on the theme of the Resurrection, in keeping with the occasion. After a brief business session, Mrs. J. M. Arnold sang "Just a Little Way Further to go", accompanied by Mrs. Ed Barrie.

At the close of the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed, with the service of refreshments.

COLLEGIATE JOTTINGS

BACK TO WORK.

The distribution of report cards and the smell of freshly-oiled floors and desks are the only reminders that Easter and the holidays have come and gone for P.C.V.S. Only those in the higher forms have been, should we say, the "lucky" people to receive their reports yet. Those who have not are waiting patiently for the good or bad news.

SPORTS.

Basketball is nearing the end of the annual trail at P.C.V.S. The Junior boys look back on the most successful year of the three teams. They won their group honors, only to be defeated by the Senior team in the play-offs in Toronto. Many of their players will be available for duty next year; so they are already looking optimistically toward next winter.

The Juvenile hockey team enjoyed a highly successful season. Under the able coaching of Jack Patterson of Special, Commercial, the squad captured honors in the South-End League, winning the Schneider Cup. The team ran into stiff opposition during their schedule, but succeeded in coming out on top.

The Senior boys' basketball team is still a leading contender in the City League's basethall loop. A second game of the play-offs with St. Paul's team is scheduled for tonight in the Y.M.C.A. The P.C.V.S. team goes into the game 17 points down. The St. Paul's squad is composed mostly of ex-P.C.V.S. basketballers, such as Harry Marsh, Cecil McIntyre, Ross Pulkingham and Jim Thorburn.

PHYSICAL DISPLAY.

The presentation of a gymnastic exhibition is something new for the girls of P.C.V.S. Such a display, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Brisbin and Miss M. A. Bailey, is to be afforded next Thursday and Friday evenings in the school gymnasium. The purpose is to show parents and the public what the girls are doing in their physical training classes. There will be marches, dances, physical exercises and basketball demonstrations.

BAND LEADER.

George Hall, president of the Students' Council, has made a new name for himself. He is entitled to the appellation "maestro." He has taken over the leadership of The Examiner Newsboys' Harmonica Band. The maestro has over twenty musicians, some further advanced than others. He is drilling them with an eye to the future and an ear to the harmonicas.

BELL TELEPHONE SHOW.

Pupils of the Vocation School remained in the auditorium Wednesday morning after the rest of the school was dismissed to see some motion pictures presented by the Bell Telephone Company. The pictures outlined the early development of the telephone and the operation of ship-to-shore telephone service. Movie-minded fans in the Academic school would like to have remained, but their presence was required elsewhere.

SCHOOL STATIONERY.

Collegiate students now have a distinct school stationery to dignify their correspondence. The stationery was obtained by the Camera Club and the stock is supplied at a brief demand. The stationery comes in two shades, the light grey and plain white. Both bear the school crest embossed at the top of the page and on the flap of the envelope.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The 1937 edition of the school Echoes is expected to be ready for distribution next week. From all reports are favorable should be one of the best in the history of the school.

With the fine weather coming on conversation among boys of the school has turned to the subject of the Cadet Corps. Two of last year's officers have left school and it is a question who will fill these vacancies. Drilling is expected to begin in a couple of weeks if the exams pass.

Classes throughout the school were suspended Friday afternoon for the Vocational school exhibition. Five periods were held in the morning instead of the usual four.

CHANGING NAME BRITISH EMPIRE CALLED CHEAP

E. C. Cyril Dyson Of Toronto Addresses Open Forum At George Street

THREE GREAT QUEENS

A British Empire which has been a blessing to the peoples of the world down through the many centuries was depicted by E. C. Cyril Dyson, member of the Toronto Board of Education, in an address to the Open Forum in George Street United Church Sunday afternoon. Only so long as the Empire continues to be a blessing will it remain a world power, he said.

"When the British Empire fails to be a medium of blessing to other peoples it will fall just as surely as the other empires have failed in the past," Mr. Dyson said. He declared the entire history of the world bears out this statement and cited history of the ancient Greek and Roman empires for examples. Describing the spread of Christianity by means of Roman empire, he claimed that when the empire declined as a civilizing influence it collapsed and the British Empire followed in its stead.

Three Queens

It was under three queens that the British Empire originated and saw its greatest expansion, he continued. They were Boadicia, Queen of ancient England, Elizabeth in the 16th Century, and Victoria. Of Boadicia, he said, "We hear her defying the powers of Rome as she lay dying from a spear wound. So it was that a woman gave birth to the idea of England's nationhood."

Speaking of the growth of the idea of empire, he said that in signing the Magna Carta in the 13th Century that marked the real beginning "Magna Carta has undoubtedly been the foundation of the greatness of the Empire," he asserted. He pointed to a modern illustration in which the bill was brought into effect in a peculiar way. A young peer was to be tried for an offense against the existing laws of the land and the Magna Carta made it necessary to try him before a court of men of the same rank.

A member of the audience shouted: "And they let him go too."

"I am not concerned about that at this time," the speaker replied.

Wind and Waves

Not Sir Francis Drake but the wind and the waves were responsible for defeat of the Spanish Armada and the consequent domination of England on the seas, Mr. Dyson said. "When we talk of Drake finishing the game of bowls before going to fight we forget the wind and the waves," he said. "For it is an historical fact they did more to beat the Spanish Armada than did all the English sailors. It was through the hand of providence that England became mistress of the seas on that day."

He denounced those who would change the name "British Empire" to "British Commonwealth of Nations" claiming the former has historical significance which the latter can never have. "No, the Empire is good enough for me," he said. "It seems to me to be a move by cheap politicians. Let them keep their hands off our traditions."

Charles Elliott was elected president of the Forum for the coming year at yesterday's meeting, the concluding Forum gathering of the seasonal series. A report of the nominating committee was accepted in its entirety and its slate of officers will take over direction when meetings are resumed in the Fall. Mr. Elliott succeeds E. L. Sackville to the post. Other officers will be Rev. M. C. Parr, honorary president; Dr. R. W. Frank, R. L. Goring, and J. E. Smith, vice-presidents; Allan Brown, secretary; and Jack Beatty, treasurer.

Possibility that women will be admitted into full membership was suggested when the retiring president said such a move was under consideration by the executive. The way was left open to add to the executive one or more women at the first full meeting.

HOPES TO BREAK GLASGOW'S GRIP ON CUP HONORS

Aberdeen Meets Celtic In Final For Scottish Trophy, April 24

MAY LEAVE GLASGOW

GLASGOW, April 12 (CP).—Aberdeen's chance of breaking Glasgow's stranglehold on the Scottish Football Cup are being subjected to minute examinations as the Dons prepare to meet Celtic in the final of the historic competition at Hampden Park, April 24.

Since 1929 the trophy has never left Glasgow. "The Old Firm" of Rangers and Celtic have monopolized it since that year, the Light Blues being successful five times and the Cells twice. Outside of this city, all Scotland is pulling for Aberdeen to break the formidable record in its first appearance in the final.

While Celtic has won 14 cups since the competition started in 1873, the Aberdonians' best performance until this season was in 1905 when the northern squad was defeated 3-1 by Hamilton Academicals in the semi-finals.

Aberdeen's advance among Scotland's first-racking soccer clubs has been consistent in recent years. Since 1930 the Dons have been among league championship contenders, last year finishing in third position. During the present season the Pittodrie Park team was top dog until a few weeks ago when Rangers assumed command. Only a bad reversal of form can keep the Dons out of the runner-up position.

Celtic has failed to reach the form that carried the eleven to the league championship last year, but, led by Jimmie McGrory, world's most prolific goalgetter, it has every prospect of finishing in third place.

Based on the meetings of the finalists in league play this year, the thousands who will throng Hampden Park at the end of the month will find it hard to pick a winner. Early in the campaign Aberdeen lost at Celtic Park 3-2 but came back in the New Year to score the only goal of the tilt at Aberdeen. The Celts' experience in cup-final play may be a deciding factor.

Chief strength of Aberdeen lies in its resourceful attack led by M. Armstrong, hustling centre-forward. Willie Mills retains all his skill at inside-left but the limelight has been stolen by D. Strauss, South African right winger, in his first year with the Dons. Strauss is one of the few wingers who can be relied upon to get goals consistently and his name appears on the score sheet in most games.

Veterans In Celts

All-round dependability has kept the Celts in the forefront. J. Kennaway is one of the game's outstanding goalkeepers and in front of him backs and forwards play with an understanding that has the effect of wearing down teams not so favorably balanced. McGrory, although approaching the veteran stage, remains a tower of strength and a few weeks ago scored the 400th goal of his career.

Aberdeen has had the harder road to the final, although lucky enough to draw a third-round bye. Inverness Thistle went under 6-0 before the Dons at the initial hurdle and this success was followed by a 4-2 victory over the powerful Third Lanark team. In the fourth round the northerners won 2-1 at Hamilton and took the measure of Morton by a 2-0 score in the semi-final at Easter Road, Edinburgh.

A low-placed second-division outfit, Stenhousemuir, gave Celtic a shock in the first round. At Stenhousemuir the Celts were forced to fight hard to draw 1-1 but won the replay at Parkhead 3-0. Albion Rovers and East Fife were disposed of in short order by 5-2 and 3-0 scores but Motherwell made things hot in the fourth round. After dividing eight goals in Glasgow the Celts emerged with a 2-1 verdict at Motherwell. The semi-final with Clyde was played at Ibrox Park, Celtic winning 3-0.

ST. PAUL'S TAKE CITY CAGE TITLE

Defeat P.C.I. By 31-21 Score In Second Playoff To Win Senior Championship

St. Paul's won the City Basketball League senior championship at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday evening with a 31-21 decision over P.C.I. to take the playoff round by a 60-33 count. A large crowd saw an exciting and rugged battle all the way with the speed and experience of the Saints too much for their rivals, the latter also being handicapped by playing on a smaller floor than their own gym court.

The P.C.I. players turned on the heat in the first half to gain a 15-12 edge and looked like possible game winners. However, in the second stanza, the arrival of Captain G. McIntyre of the Saints swung the balance and P.C.I. were held to six points as the victors collected 16. McIntyre played his best game of the year and led with eight points. Thorburn, loop leader in scoring, was checked closely by Kelly. After the latter left with four fouls, Johnston came on to limit Thorburn to seven points. Sedgewick also got seven, with Pulkinghorn and Marsh notching four each. These four members of the 1937 St. Paul's, junior church loop Ontario finalists, were outstanding.

Galley, though not appearing too spectacular, accounted for 16 points for the P.C.I. crew, being strong offensively. Turner and Kelly played good games with Gunsolus proving a smart game general. Johnston, who played with the junior school squad, flashed a lot of promise for future years in the cage sport. The teams:

St. Paul's — Marsh, Ascott, Weir, Sedgewick, Thorburn, McIntyre, Pulkinghorn.

P.C.I. — Gemmell, Galley, Kelly, Gunsolus, Dougherty, Johnston, Smith, Turner.

Referees — J. C. McClenaghan and H. Hammell.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THE LACROSSERS have a huddle tonight at eight in Duffin' and a good turnout is anticipated. They want to check on possible playing grounds here and a lively grooming for the season among other matters. You've got to give those gutted-stick enthusiasts credit—they are working hard to bring the game back and may have considerable success this summer. A strong O.A.D.A. intermediate league and a good local representative would mean a lot locally always provided a decent and central box for home tilts is lined up. No dope yet on the Tri-County Loop but it may function again if some of the hard feelings on the horizon last autumn have dissipated during a mild winter.

* * * * * *

GUYS PLANNING to try out with the Peter' senior ball team are invited to drop around to the "Y" tomorrow night at seven and begin getting in shape with setting-up exercises. These indoor drills will be run off three nights a week during April, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays from seven to eight. Under direction of Manager Fred Collins. Open to anyone who has a reasonable chance of copping a berth—and a regular attendance at gym won't hurt their chances. No charge to the players, and the exercise should help a lot.

JACK JOHNSTON, a lanky young chap blew in from Edmonton, via Northern Ontario, some time ago. He wanted work but hasn't much luck lining up a job—even when he informed local officials he was a senior right-hand hurler. So what does he do? So he runs an ad in this paper to get work on a farm. He had an answer and now he's out around Warsaw somewhere toiling on a farm and still hoping to get a job in Peterborough so he can play ball this summer. Whether he is a good hurler or not remains to be seen, but you've got to nail him for sincerity and ambition. No laziness there.

BACK IN the winter our Golts played an exhibition puck game in Lindsay. Between periods some Lindsay gals also played hockey. After a delay or something, they declined to leave the ice and had a sit-down strike which got a lot of publicity. Now a Major Patton of London, England, has written to the Scarge sports scribe asking for information on this sit-down strike as he's writing a book or something on hockey. He inquires if the gals used any "unladylike language to melt all the ice", and the Post writer rises to inquire if Lindsay damsels are "bally barbarian colonials". Come, come, Major, is that cricket, egad?

THE PUCK playoff parade is passing rapidly these days. Yesterday at Detroit, the N'Yawk Rangers took a 2-1 edge in the five-game playoffs by copping a 1-0 nod in Stanley Cup finals. Syracuse Stars won the International loop title with a 3-0 verdict over Philadelphia. Preston gals again copped the ladies' Canadian title with a 4-2 decision 'gainst the Winnipegs. Sudbury Tigers are but one game away from the Allan Cup since their 6-5 triumph over the highly-touted North Battleford band. And a late rally Saturday eve in Toronto saw Copper Cliff come through with a 4-3 nod over Winnipeg in the first of the Memorial Cup playoffs. A win for Norvoes over Barrie in Midland tomorrow will settle the junior "B" championship. One more week will finish the whole kit and kiboodle up for this year.

ST. PAUL'S won the senior men's City Basketball League title at the "Y" on Saturday night when they took P.C.I. over the jumps by a 31-21 count. The round score was 60-33 for the Saints and they earned it on their speed, experience and class. The Students made this second tilt close enough with a fighting display, however. A large crowd of fans saw an exciting and rugged bout. Congrats to the winners. In an exhibition tussle up there the same p.m., the P.C.I. juniors pulled out a 22-16 win over Dominion Life, poor aiming proving a bit expensive for the losers.

CHURCH SOFTBALL League holds its annual re-organization meeting in the Y.M.C.A. next Friday night at 7.30 o'clock. New executive will be elected, entries taken and general plans for the season made at this time. Two members from each Sunday School in th city are allowed to vote at this session but as many others as wish to attend and listen in are invited. This is the time and place to bring up suggestions for the betterment of the large Church League, and the officers are hoping for a big turnout to get the ball rolling for the 1937 season.

EFFORTS to organize the intermediate Bay of Quinte baseball loop fell flatter than a striker's pay envelope the other evening, only Belleville and Napanee being represented. Apparently all the promoting to get the Trenton Fliers interested in intermediate ball flopped as the R.C.A.F. fellows failed to put in an appearance. This may be an indication that the Airman intend hopping aboard the senior C.O.B.L. bandwagon—at least, let's hope so. Probably the Central League will hold its next meeting here this coming Saturday and the Fliers' decision will then be known. In the meantime, it'll hustle Belleville to have even an intermediate team.

* * * * * *

PICKING 'EM off the grapevine: The town of Trenton may have an artificial ice rink for next winter at the east end of town . . . . Bowling alleys are being constructed now in the Lindsay rink . . . . Goodfellow of Kingston and Cobourg, who had a try-out with Howley's Leafs, is en route home . . . . Bill Fry of Belleville is busy trying to line up a lacrosse team for a group which will include Peterborough . . . . C.O.E. and Westelox senior gals will settle the cage title Friday at the Y.W.; dunno what time it is yet . . . . Provincial Lawn Bowling District 14 has an important meeting here tonight . . . . Joe McCarthy and Mickey Cochrane with $35,000 each are the highest paid big league ball managers . . . . Kingston Ponies are going to begin indoor workouts shortly.

Repeat Title Win Unlikely For Champion Buffalo Club

Bisons Minus Several Of '36 Stars, Through Graduation To Majors

OUTFIELD PROBLEMS

PLANT CITY, Fla., April 12.—(AP)—Buffalo Bisons, 1936 pennant and playoff victor of the International Baseball League, may find the repeating process difficult since several of last year's stars have been graduated to the major leagues. A half dozen players went from Manager Ray Schalk's herd to the big show and at least half of them will remain there.

While a squad of 33 athletes is working out here, Skipper Schalk still hasn't solved the first base, left field and centre field problems, held respectively last year by Ellis Fletcher, now with Boston Bees; Johnny Dickshot from Waukegan, Ill., bidders for a job with Philadelphia Phillies; and Beauty McGowan, clever centre fielder, picked last season as the International League most valuable player.

Good Mound Staff.

The Bison boss isn't worried over his mound situation, especially with the return of Southpaw Charley Perkins and Fabian Kowalik, who have been in other fields for the past two years.

Perkins, a red-headed lefty who greatly aided the Bisons' pennant-triumph of four years ago, retired following the 1934 season. Kowalik, a sinker-ball right hander who won 18 games for the Bisons in 1934, has since been with Chicago Cubs, Phillies and Bees.

The only other major acquisition during the winter was Ray Pepper, big blond outfielder bought from the Browns. Pepper always has been a good hitter and fielder in this league and his .362 batting average in the American League last season is expected to be bettered by some 25 points.

MORENZ WAS ONE OF SPORT GREATS

Brooklyn Trainer Also Recalls High Worth of Charlie Gardiner

NEW YORK, April 12.—(CP)—Ed Froelich, trainer of Brooklyn's "dafiless boys" in the National Baseball League, and handler of top-flight athletes for 11 years, adds two hockey players who have departed the scene—Howie Morenz and Charlie Gardiner—among the three greatest stars he ever handled. The other was the late Kerr Meenan, backfield ace of Northwestern University football squads.

A staff-writer of the New York World-Telegram, candid Froelich, former trainer of Chicago's National Hockey League Black Hawks at the Brooklyn training camp at Clearwater, Fla., in reminiscent mood. He quoted Froelich:

"Morenz was to hockey what Babe Ruth was to baseball. He was the greatest centre ice man the sport has known—probably the greatest it will know. Gardiner, a goalie, had the same caliber in his position and his display of genius in 1933 is something that will live in hockey history. His head was virtually sewn together when he came up to the final title game that year.

"Six stitches were closing a wound over one eye, four stitches were going over the same for a wound over the other eye and 10 stitches held together a wound on his scalp, all suffered within three days of the final battle with the Boston Bruins. But he had the wounds covered and wore a football helmet for additional protection and went out and held the Bruins scoreless, to give the Black Hawks the championship.

"Froelich described Ken Meenan, who was in Northwestern football in 1934, as the greatest blocking tackle he ever saw. He played only one year of varsity football, however.

He was badly injured in a motorcycle accident and when told by the doctors they would have to amputate a leg he said he would rather die than lose it—and he got his wish.

TIPS DISCUSSED

Britain's Golf Secretaries Organize Uniform Tip for Caddies

LONDON, April 12 (CP). — What to tip a caddie? That is the question now before the golf clubs of Britain. The golf secretaries organization is seeking opinions from all clubs with a view to making the charge and tip uniform. As one player put it: "No tip is satisfactory now. Either it is too high for the player to afford or too low for the caddie."

The association would put an end to that well-known embarrassment of having to ask your host at a new club "how much do you give your boy?" About 50 cents is believed to be the most widely accepted figure for a round, including tip. For a day's play with lunch money the chosen figure is $2.00.

The association's circular met with general response but not all clubs shared the same opinion of the merits of a regular rate. Some pointed out that under the proposed scheme the poor caddie would get the same as the good and thus consequently the really helpful caddies would soon lose their initiative.

One response was to the point, preferring merely a settled charge: "There can be no solution of the caddies' difficulty as long as the practice of tipping remains in force."

PRESTON GIRLS REGAIN TROPHY

Defeat Winnipeg Olympics 4 To 2 In Second Game Of Title Series

GALT, Ont., April 12 (C.P.). — (C.P.). — The juggling and kissing was over to-day and the Beaverbrough Trophy, symbolical of the Dominion women's hockey championship, was again in possession of the Preston Rivulettes.

Not in years has Soper Park arena, scene of many a stirring battle on the ice, been packed with fans to witness a hockey game. It took the girls to do it, as Rivulettes defeated the Winnipeg Olympics 4-2 on Saturday night and won the two-game, total-goal series for the Canadian title 7-3.

More than 2,000 looked on as the girls embroiled in centre ice after the game, signalling the return to Preston of the title relinquished by default last year. The hard-fought series attracted more than 5,500, something male hockeyists have been unable to do in 10 years. The Galt rink eight played to capacity crowds in the two games.

The veteran front line of Marn Schmuck, Hilda Hanscombe, and Gladys Hawkins, who scored all Preston's goals, was largely responsible for the return of the title to the Rivulettes. The trio has been the chief reason why Preston has lost only one game in seven years of competition.

For Winnipeg, Maureen Gault and Beth Jamieson stood out. The smooth-working forwards accounted for the Olympics' tallies. They were backed up by Margaret Topp, who alternated on the forward line and defence and played throughout the 60 minutes without relief.

The trophy and miniatures were presented to Rivulettes after the game by Mrs. Myrtle Cook McGowan, president of the Dominion Women's Hockey Association.

Dominion Life Loses To Junior Collegians

In an exhibition cage contest Saturday night at the "Y" the P.C.I. juniors took a 22-16 win over Dominion Life. The City League team had most of the play to force the Students back a large part of the game but poor shooting cost them the decision. The school team mainly scored on breakaways. Dougherty and Weir were opportunists who cashed in regularly. The losers were behind all the way, though only by one point at half-time. Their 16 points were divided quite evenly, all getting a field basket and none more than two. Gross and Armagnant beat for them in keeping play largely out of the Dominion's territory. Dougherty with 14 points shone for the winners. Weir had six and Johnston and Sedgewick were also prominent. The teams:

P.C.I.— Weir, Johnston, Dye, Crazy, Craig, Gillespie, Sedgewick, Dougherty.

Dominion Life—Wesse, Hammell, White, Smart, Grose, McArthur.

Referees—J. C. McClenaghan and D. Charlton.

RANGERS 1-0 VICTORY PUTS TROPHY NEAR

Colville Scores While Gallagher Is Off For Tripping Heller

KERR SHINES AGAIN

Tilt Veritable Slug-Fest With Eleven Penalties Handed Out

DETROIT, April 12.—(CP)— New York's Rangers advanced to within a game of Stanley Cup custody last night, defeating the champion Detroit Red Wings 1 to 0, before 12,-735 customers as Davie Kerr returned to his masterful form in the Rangers' net.

Ned Colville's short drive on a rebound, when Detroit Defenseman Johnny Gallagher was in the penalty box for tripping, provided the victory margin for the third game of the five-game cup series. The goal was scored just twenty-three seconds after the second period started.

The Red Wings and Rangers battled at high spirit, drawing eleven penalties for the roughness of the play. Ebbie Goodfellow of Detroit and Babe Pratt of New York produced the fistic highlight, drawing five-minute penalties in the third period after swapping punches lustily.

His Fourth Playoff Shutout.

Kerr, who scored his fourth shutout in seven playoff games, was the New York star, Jumping about in the nets, he stopped every drive after drive in the late stages of the game as the Red Wings put on the power with five-man rushes in an attempt to tie the score.

Because of the many penalties, however, there were frequent moments when five-man rushes were impossible.

Pratt, in addition to his major penalty for the Goodfellow fight, was in the box on two other occasions. Once he tangled with Modere Bruneteau a few seconds after Bruneteau and Joe Cooper left the penalty box for a bit of high-sticking. Less than half a minute after he completed serving his five minutes in the third, he battled with Herbie Lewis on the right boards and both were banished.

Gallagher's tripping of Ott Heller opened the way for the Ranger goal. On a face-off in the Detroit corner, Cooper got the puck to Pratt at the blue line, who fired a long drive that Cooper deflected slightly. Goaler Earl Robertson stopped the puck, but Neil Colville was in on the rebound to hit the open net.

Heller and Alex Shibicky, both with brain concussions suffered Thursday when Detroit evened the series, played with special headguards, but Shibicky was on the ice only at infrequent intervals.

The teams resume the series here Tuesday, with the Rangers needing only one victory to take the Stanley Cup from the Red Wings.

Rangers — Goal, Kerr; defence Coulter, Heller; centre, Watson; wings, Murdoch, Keeling. Subs., Pratt, Johnson, Shibicky, N Colville. Boucher, Dillon, Cooper, M. Colville, Patrick.

Detroit—Goal, Robertson; defence, Goodfellow, Bowman; centre, Barry; wings, H. Kilrea, Lewis. Subs., Gallagher, McDonald, Howe, W. Kilrea, Sorrell, Pettinger, Bruneteau, Mackie, Sherf.

REDMEN NAB 4-3 VICTORY LAST MINUTE

Red Hamill Makes Good In One Big Moment After Mediocre Game

TOUCH AND GO

Monarchs Jump Into Lead In First Then Add Two In Third

By William H. Dunsday
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 12.—A tensed Toronto hockey populace impatiently awaits tonight's renewal of what promises to be one of the keenest-fought junior finals in Memorial Cup history. There will be plenty of backers for both Copper Cliff Redmen and Winnipeg Monarchs as the teams take the ice in the second game of a best-of-five series.

Redmen, in a spectacular finish, thrusted the young Westerners 4-3 in overtime here Saturday night, and after the game a large crowd cheered conquerors and conquered alike. Monarchs were less than three minutes from victory when the Nickel Belters went on the spree that turned what looked like bitter defeat to sweetest triumph.

"We were lucky to win—it must have been heartbreaking for those Winnipeg kids," said Maxie Silverman, Redmen's coach. "But our boys showed they had the fight—I never saw anything like it. I know Redmen can play much better — if Monarchs can play any better, boy, what a series this will be."

Maxie said Monarchs were by far the toughest team his club had faced this season. He placed the rather disappointing showing of some of his stars to the relentless checking of the Winnipegers, something they were not used to. But he figures the team will look better tonight.

Backing for Both

Scores of telegrams came from Winnipeg and other Western points pouring praises on Monarchs in defeat. There was also a steady stream of congratulatory messages delivered to Redmen after the game. All Northern Ontario was watching the doing of the Copper Cliff kids.

As Coach Harry Neil thumbed through a few telegrams in his hotel yesterday, he said: "We won't let them down—these kids will fight their hearts out to please the folks back home. We've been down in playoff series before and fought our way back. I think we'll even it up all right."

Neil had hopes of building his second-string line to full strength to-night with addition of Paul Rheault, right winger, and Jack Atchison, left winger. Both boys are out with injuries and whether or not they play depends on what the club doctor rules.

Monarchs, who had some difficulty keeping their feet early in Saturday's game, will take the ice for a brief workout at noon to-day. Neil said the skates were ground different to what the boys had been used to, and special precautions would be taken to-night.

Roy, youngest son of the famous Hayness hockey family, was the toast of Redmen. The peppery wingman figured in all but the winning goal in Copper Cliff's great comeback from the shadows of defeat. The deciding tally went to Red Hamill, who made good in his one big chance after a rather mediocre display.

Monarchs took a goal lead in the first period and added two more early in the third. It seemed as though only a miracle could keep them from victory—it happened. Alf Pike, whose penalty cost Monarchs two goals, scored one himself in Winnipeg's cause, the other pair goin sto Johnny McCreedy.

Bob Feller Rookie Sensation of the Baseball World

The rookie sensation of the baseball world, Bob Feller, 18-year-old hurler for Cleveland Indians, is highly praised by Manager Steve O'Neill of the Indians. Here is Bob in action as he hurls his speedball platewards. O'Neill claims it would not surprise him a bit if Feller wound up the season with 20 wins to his credit.

Indians Thought Dangerous Bob Feller May Win 20 Games

Pytlak's Ability To Play Full Season Big Aid To Pitchers

HARDER'S ARM BETTER

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, April 12—Our line-up is set," said Steve O'Neill. "We have a better infield, we'll get better pitching and we'll have plenty of punch."

The manager of the Indians picked up a pencil and looked at the team's roster.

"I'm not picking the club to win a pennant," he said, "but we will be the most dangerous team in the league, and if the Yankees slump, you can look out for us.

How's This for Lineup?

"We haven't had to experiment with a lot of recruits. Our club was pretty well set when we left for training camp. How's this for a lineup?"

O'Neil checked off a batting order, with Lyn Lary leading off, Roy Hughes hitting second, Earl Averill third man up and Hal Trosky in the cleanup spot. Then came Julius Solters, Bruce Campbell or Jeff Heath, Sammy Hale, Frankie Pytlak and the pitcher.

"I think Lary is the best leadoff man in the league," said Steve. "I was sold when we got him from the Browns because he helps to solve the second base problem that has been one of the Indians' troubles for years. The club has had a dozen second basemen and shortstops in the last 10 years. Now with Lary at short and Sammy Hale at second, we have a fine combination. Hale is a natural at second.

"Roy Hughes has been shifted from second to third and has been doing even a better job than I expected, and I expected plenty.

"Solters will take Vlasnik's place in left field, and he has looked great and worked hard this spring. Averill will be in centre, of course, and I'm not sure about right yet, but I can put any one of three men there and not go wrong—Campbell, Heath or Weatherly. Campbell has looked fine in training camp, and may get the call over Heath. Weatherly has been ill this spring, but he's getting back in shape now. He had a siege of flu and must rest up."

Harder's Arm Better

O'Neil expects a vast improvement in pitching. Mel Harder's arm is strong again after the removal of two teeth. Earl Whitehill, obtained in a trade with the Senators, is expected to add effectiveness to the staff which has two other southpaws, the veteran Lloyd Brown and Charles Fischer, back from Buffalo where he won 13 games last year against two lost. The shinny of Johnny Allen, ace of the staff, is not questioned. Chief O'Neill looks for a surprising comeback by Willis Hudlin, who was able to win only one game last year. Hudlin's bad year was one of a succession of shocks that sent the Indians reeling out of the first division, after seven years in third or fourth position.

But the most important pitching personage in the camp is 18-year-old Bob Feller, the amazing speed king from the corn belt who is facing his first full year of major competition with all the confidence of youth and the greatest fast ball seen since Walter Johnson left the circuit.

"I won't surprise me a bit," said O'Neill, "if he wins 20 games. He can go pretty far with Pytlak back there regularly. I know he'll help Feller a lot, too. Pytlak is a pretty steady head in there when a young pitcher is working. The kid has a lot of confidence in him, and already they understand each other."

If Pytlak is ready to do a full year's work for the Indians, and he says he is, there is no doubt the team will be, as O'Neill says, the most dangerous in the league. With Pytlak catching regularly, effectiveness of other Tribe fingers—Denny, Galehouse, Ivy Paul Andrews, Joe Heving and Whitey Wyatt—is sure to improve. To date Pytlak's frailties have been mostly the products of his active imagination. If Steve has mastered the young man's mind, the Indians won't have a question mark behind the bat. And the team may be very tough.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 12 (A.P.). — Red Ruffing, New York Yankees' forgotten man, takes on added stature when the champions drop two in a row. The Yankees' four starters, Lefty Gomez, Bump Hadley, Monte Pearson, and Johnny Broaca, have been wavering in their last few starts which makes Ruffing's 20 victories in 1936 look big.

DECATUR, Ala. — Hank Hesbe, who got a hit off Bob Feller (with his head) is back in New York Giants' lineup with the encouraging report that contact with one of the Cleveland Indians' prodigy's curves leaves you dizzy for only a week.

COLUMBIA, S.C. — Heinie Manush, an American League batting champion in 1926, is a lot more than a pinch-hitter for the Dodgers, bought for that purpose, the ex-Detroit star has won himself a place in the Brooklyn outfield and steady hitting in the past week has raised his average to better than .500.

SUDBURY TIGERS TAKE 2ND GAME FROM BEAVERS

6-3 Victory Puts Easterners Only One Away From Allan Cup Honors

SCORE FOUR IN FINAL

CALGARY, April 12.—(CP). — Sudbury Tigers swept from behind with a third-period offensive here Saturday night to defeat North Battleford Beavers 6 to 3 in the second game of the best-of-five Allan Cup hockey finals.

Losers 4 to 1 in the first game Thursday night, the Western Canada champions seemed on the way to victory, as they led 3 to 2 at the end of the second period. But the Beavers lost their drive as a Tiger rally sixteen seconds after the start of the third period tied the score. They wilted as Sudbury went into the lead.

A victory in the third game tonight would give the powerful Ontario miners the series with three straight wins, and return to the East the trophy won last year by Kimberley Dynamiters.

Chamberlain Gets Three

Erwin (Farmer) Chamberlain, Sudbury left-winger, garnered the lion's share of honors for the night as he rifled three goals into the Beaver citadel. The Shawville streak potched the first counter of each period. His third tally was the Sudbury shot early in the final session that crumpled the Beaver assault. All Chamberlain's goals were made on solo efforts.

The other Sudbury goals were fired by Centre Jim Dewey, Defenseman Verdell Price and Mel Hill dynamic right-winger, Dewey and his former Moose Jaw mate, Dave Dunchak waged a great midice battle, and honors were about even.

Duchak, the precise Haymaker, counted twice for the Beavers. His left-winger, speedy Cam Burke, got the other North Battleford goal, and was awarded one assist. Clarence Shillington, third member of Beavers' first-string forward line, made the plays for two of his team's goals. Almost 5,000 fans watched two periods of hockey at its best until Sudbury turned loose their power in the third.

Teno Saves Sudbury.

Sudbury's diminutive netminder, Charlie Teno, saved his team time and again in the first and second sessions as Beavers pressed. His great work probably prevented Beavers' taking an insurmountable lead.

Eddie O'Keefe, hard-working centre, stood out for North Battleford, but he was unable to finish plays. Four or five times he pulled Teno sprawling out of the net, but the centre always missed the vacant goal. Knocked out when boarded by Jules Cholette early in the first period, O'Keefe was carried from the ice, but came back to play a great game.

Six of the nine goals were scored while the teams where short-handed. North Battleford getting its three markers while a Tiger was on the penalty bench and Sudbury a like number when it had a man advantage.

Sudbury—Goal, Teno; defence, Price Regan; centre, Dewey; wings, Hill, Orasso; subs., Hastie, Cholette, Chamberlain, Marshall.

North Battleford.—Goal, Davis; defence, McIntyre, Myles; centre, Duchak; wings, Shillington; Burke; subs., O'Keefe, S. Allen, O. Allen, Schwab.

SYRACUSE STARS LOOP CHAMPIONS

Pound Ramblers 4 To 1 And 5 To 0 In Double Week-End Finals

SYRACUSE, N.Y., April 12—(AP) —Syracuse Stars, who topped the Western division of the International-American Hockey League during the regular season mostly because they could score faster than their rivals, have become the first champions of the double-barreled circuit by producing a defence to go with their attack.

The Stars took a pair of decisive victories over the Philadelphia Ramblers, Eastern division champs, over the past week-end to win the title series, three games to one. After breaking the deadlock with a 4-1 victory at Philadelphia Saturday, they turned the affair into a rout on their home ice last night, winning 5-0.

The speedy skating and accurate shooting of the Syracuse players was the main factor in both victories, but the defence in which Goalie Phil Stein played an important part, made much of the shooting possible. The Ramblers, a better-than-average group of goal-getters themselves, couldn't keep up the argument for more than one period of each game.

In the "crucial" contest, breaking the home ice "jinx" Saturday, Syracuse forged ahead in the last few seconds of the opening period and added a goal in each of the later stanzas, while Stein held the Ramblers at bay.

That meant so much to me.

GRAHAM.—Memory's loving tribute to our dear Mother, Elizabeth Graham, who the Lord called Home three years ago to-day, April 12, 1934.

Dear mother, just for you.
—Sadly missed by her loving daughter Hazel and son-in-law Robert, and Grandchildren.

GRAHAM. — In loving memory of our dear Mother, Elizabeth Graham, who died April 13, 1934.

Calm and peaceful she is sleeping,
Peaceful rest that follows pain;
We who loved her, sadly miss her,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Sadly missed by Son and Daughter-in-law.

SMITH. — In loving memory of Henry Smith, who died April 13, 1931.

Those whom we love so out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
—Ever remembered by his Wife and Family.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. J. Marshall and family wish to express their sincere thanks to the many friends for their kindness and expressions of sympathy during their recent sad bereavement.

READ THIS FIRST:

Charles Stuckey, senior member of a London law firm with a questionable reputation, is informed by cable from America that Miss Jacqueline Smith, daughter of one of his few respectable clients, now on the continent with her mother, has inherited $1,500,000 from an American uncle. Colonel Alec Latman, who has a hold over Stuckey, learns of the inheritance and proposes a scheme to which Stuckey reluctantly agrees. The plan calls for Jim Asson, an ex-convict, to marry Jacqueline, having her assign her property—before Stuckey informs her of the inheritance—to her new husband. Latman plans to take three-fifth of the inheritance, Stuckey and Asson each one-fifth. Latman and Asson go to Cobenall to cultivate Jacqueline and her mother, stopping at the same hotel where Mrs. Smith finds herself in dire financial straits. Asson, in the role of a wealthy Englishman, already has impressed Mrs. Smith as an admirable "catch" for her daughter. After a week the Colonel urges Jim to the lounge and press his suit.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 10

"I say, Jacqueline, what have I done?" asked Jim Asson when Jacqueline said she felt like kicking him.

"Oh, it's not you, Jim, in particular; I just want to kick something."

With a feeling of relief Asson took out his cigaret case and lighted a cigaret, and as he did so Jacqueline turned to him with a smile.

"Sorry, Jim," she said. "I needn't vent my rotten baby temper on you, need I?"

"That's all right, Jacqueline. Worried, aren't you?"

She nodded.

"Something wrong?"

"Most things. Everything."

"I thought as much," said Asson, with a sympathetic nod. "In the dining room just now, when you got up and dashed off..."

"Oh, you saw that, did you?"

"I couldn't help noticing, Jacqueline."

"Well?"

"Well, I wondered why—I mean, you'd barely started your dinner."

"Because I'd had enough, Jim."

"But you hadn't got farther than the first..."

"Oh, I'm not hungry, Jim. I'm sick—sick of everything. I mean," interrupted Jacqueline. "Enough of the whole rotten scheme of things. Perhaps it has never struck you, Jim, that the whole scheme of things is rotten."

"Can't say it has," admitted Asson.

"It is, anyway," the girl assured him. "You haven't noticed it because you've led a sheltered and pampered life, Jim, and have never had your face shoved smack up against the rottenness of things. I don't suppose you've ever known what it is even to be short of money, have you?"

"Oh, money!" said Asson lightly. "Exactly—oh, money!" Money's nothing to you, Jim. You can't understand why people make such a fuss about money, can you? That's because you've always had plenty of it and have never been sufficiently interested to try to imagine how those people feel who don't know where to turn for their next shilling. You don't know what it means to be hard up."

"Well, I do," said Jacqueline bitterly, "and you can take my word for it, Jim, that it means a whole lot of rottenness. It means that any nasty little bounder can spit in your eye and you've got to put up with it. It means that you've got to slink through life with your tail down and your ears back, and it's hateful, degrading. You'd never think a man was justified in stealing money, would you, Jim?"

"Stealing? Good heavens, of course not!"

"Of course not!" she repeated, with a slight smile. "You'd think that if he got caught and put in prison for it, he'd only got what he deserved, wouldn't you?"

Asson glanced at her doubtfully. It struck him that the girl was hot one to be pursued.

"Well, naturally..." he began, but she cut him short.

"Naturally, you would," she said. "But I wouldn't. Not necessarily. I'd understand that having no money might have so humiliated and shamed him that he'd become desperate—felt that he could stand no more of it—and made him decide that he'd get some somehow, no matter what the consequences might be. I've felt like that myself sometime. But you haven't, have you?"

"Well, no—I can't say I have," said Asson uneasily. "But I say, Jacqueline, I can understand anyone feeling like that, you know. It must be pretty awful for you."

"It is, Jim. But I suppose it's very bad taste to talk about it."

"I don't see why—not with me, Jacqueline. I mean, we know each other pretty well now, and we're very good friends, and—well, as a matter of fact, it's not really news to me."

"No, I don't suppose it would be news to anyone in the hotel. But just how did you spot it, Jim? How did I give the game away? I'd like to know, because if you're broke to the wide, the last thing you must do is to let people know it. Did you notice that my heels were down or that my stockings were darned?"

"I didn't notice anything," he assured her. "I just sort of got a feeling that you were up against things somehow, and then Mrs. Smith..."

"Oh, has mother been talking?"

"Well, I was chatting with her this morning, you know, and one or two things she said sort of gave me to understand that you were rather hard up, and I thought..."

"Oh, I see. I think she feels it, Jacqueline, not being able to give you everything she'd like to, and it's rough luck, her investments all going to pot..."

"Investments?" Jacqueline smiled. "Yes, poor mother! She only has one investment left now. That's me, Jim. She has put a lot of money into me in the hope that one day she'll get it back with interest. I'm to marry a rich man, Jim, and mother is to live in the best hotels for the rest of her days."

Asson's eyes betrayed his sudden anxiety.

"I say, Jacqueline, you're not—not engaged to be married, are you?"

She shook her head.

"No, Jim; I'm still on offer."

Asson nodded and for a time smoked in silence. Then:

"Why not marry me, Jacqueline?"

She glanced at him with amusement in her eyes.

"Is that original, Jim? I mean, did you think of that yourself or did someone suggest it to you?"

"I thought of it myself, Jacqueline. Why not marry me, anyway?"

"Why not?" She shrugged a shoulder. "I could give you lots of reasons why I shouldn't. But it's up to you, Jim, if you really want me to marry you, to tell me why I should. Can you? Try!"

Asson frowned slightly. Things weren't going quite as he had hoped they would, and there was a cold-bloodedness about the whole affair of which, he felt, Latman would certainly not approve. He glanced at her, wondering if the moment had come when he might venture on the intimacy of taking her hand. Meeting Jacqueline's glance, he decided against it.

"Well, we get on pretty well together, don't we?" he said, gazing at the end of his cigaret. "That's one reason, anyway."

"I get on very well with heaps of people, Jim," she smiled. Colonel Latman, for instance—and the boy who cleans the boots—but I don't feel like marrying either of them."

"I wish you wouldn't rag, Jacqueline. I'm serious. I'm asking you to marry me. As a matter of fact, we'd get on splendidly together, and you'd be free of—well, all the rotten sort of things you were talking about just now. You'd have plenty of money, for one thing."

"That's one good reason, anyway, Jim."

"And then there's your mother. Of course, I would see that she was well provided for."

Jacqueline nodded.

"Good reason No. 2, Jim. Mother gets a dividend on her investment. Any more reasons?"

"Well, we'd be able to have a pretty good time, Jacqueline. We could travel about..."

"Travel?" She shook her head. "You've misfired badly there, Jim. I'm feeling just now that I never want to see a train or a hotel again. I feel that there's nothing on earth I want so much as a home where everything belongs to me. I want my own front door and a latchkey, spoons and forks that aren't stamped with the name of a hotel, a bathroom that nobody else uses, somewhere where I can stay put and feel I belong there and know that, unless I choose to, I need never pack a trunk or write a luggage label again. Say I should have all that and I'll call it good reason No. 3."

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE HIGH WATER

"Pitter! Patter! Putter!"

That was the rain coming down in Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountains, where Uncle Wiggily lived in his hollow stump bungalow.

"Oh, dear!" said Mrs. Longears.

"Oh, dear!" squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who was twinkling his pink nose and wondering when he might have an adventure.

"Listen to the rain," said his wife.

"It always rains in April," answered the rabbit gentleman. "You know the old saying 'April showers bring May flowers.'

"But it rains so much," objected Nurse Jane. "Do you think it will ever stop, Uncle Wiggily?"

"It always has," answered Mr. Longears, with a laugh.

"But it is coming DOWN so hard," said his wife.

How Silly!

"You wouldn't want it to rain UP, I hope," went on the rabbit uncle. "Think of how silly you would look if you'd have to carry your umbrella upside down and wear your rubbers on your head. Ha! Ha!"

"Oh, there is no use talking to you," said Mrs. Longears. "You always make a joke of everything. I suppose now you'll be saying that even if it is raining you're going out to look for an adventure."

"That's exactly what I am going to do, my dear," said the rabbit. And with another twinkle of his pink nose, he put on his rubber boots, took his umbrella and away he hopped.

"Did you ever see such a rabbit?" asked Mrs. Longears.

"Never," answered Nurse Jane. "At the same time he is very jolly. And as it is rather gloomy in this rain, perhaps Mr. Longears may come back to tell us about a jolly adventure he had."

"Oh, he will have an adventure all right," said Mrs. Longears with a little sniff. She didn't exactly have a cold, but she sniffed just to make believe she thought she was smarter than her husband. Rabbit lady wives are often like that.

"I hope the children don't get soaking wet coming home from school," said Nurse Jane.

"I hope so, too," said Mrs. Longears.

Then she pressed her nose against the window to look out at the rain. Nurse Jane did the same thing. The post dog who was running past the bungalow in his raincoat, looked at the window and laughed so that his whiskers twiddled.

If They Knew

"Why do you suppose the post dog is laughing?" asked Nurse Jane.

"I'm sure I don't know," said Mrs. Longears. But if she and Nurse Jane could have seen how funny their noses looked from outside when they pressed them flat against the window glass they, too, would have laughed, as did the post dog.

Uncle Wiggily hopped on and on, over the fields and through the woods. It was raining harder and harder. He reached a brook over which he used to jump in dry weather, but now the water in the brook was so high the rabbit said to himself:

"I shall have to jump very hard to get across. But I think I can."

He took a run, gave a jump and thought he would clear the brook and land on the opposite bank.

Instead, however, Uncle Wiggily came down ker-splash right in the middle of the high water.

"Help! Help! Help!" he cried as he found himself floating down the brook. The water was over his rubber boots. Then he heard a voice:

"Have no fear! I'll help you!" And what happened next you shall hear in the story after this. It will be about Uncle Wiggily's cellar.

And I hope the cake of yeast doesn't take the sponge cake up in the bathtub to show it how to go in swimming.

LAKEFIELD

FINE CONCERT BY SCHOOL GLEE CLUB

Lakefield Organization Aided By Norwood Singers Scores Big Triumph

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, April 12. — The lovers of Lakefield and vicinity were treated to a delightful program of musical selections on Friday evening, when the Lakefield High School Glee Club presented their annual concert in the Memorial Hall, under the capable direction of Mr. Renaud, director of music in the schools here.

The program opened with a chorus by the Glee Club, who presented a neat appearance in their white middies, dark skirts and red ties. The 35 Glee Club members were supported in their vocalizing by six male voices; two tenors, two baritones and two basses. The addition of male voices to the sopranos and contraltos of the feminine Glee Club brought a contrast into the numbers which added to their charm.

The first selection "God Save the King," was followed by a lovely part song, "Son of My Soul."

Miss Doris Charlton then announced a second group of choruses: "Evening and Morning," and "White Sluice." The latter was a rollicking tune which appealed especially to the audience because of its gay rhythm.

Mrs. Renaud rendered a piano solo, "The Polish Dance," as a break in the vocal program, and the male quartette sang a number, "Of All the Wives I Ever See."

Of the next group of choruses, composed of "Creation Hymn," "Tress," and "The Sleigh," the second, 'Tress,' a novel arrangement of a popular tune, was most popular with the audience with "The Sleigh," a snappy winter song, coming in for its share of applause.

Mr. Renaud's rendition of the selection, "Until," as a baritone solo, was so popular that he was forced to give an encore. This time he sang "Two Little Magpies," a short humorous selection.

Trio Enjoyed

A girls' vocal trio, presented by Misses Phyllis Webster, Nona Lenburner and Cora Charlton, was thoroughly enjoyed. They sang, first, "On a Farm Down in Indiana," and responded to an encore with a novel arrangement of "Till We Meet Again."

"A Quest," "San Lucia," and "The Rain" were sung by the full chorus; the male quartette made a decided hit when they sang a catchy part-song, "Who's Catching Fish on Sunday?" They responded to an encore with "Poor Old Ned."

The full chorus then sang, "The Search," "We, the Spirits of the Air," and the "Widow's Serenade." Mr. Renaud sang again, this time choosing the selection, "Tommy-Lad." He responded with a number, requested he said by the girls. It was entitled, "Love is a Bubble." The chorus then sang again, the selections this time being "Billy Boy," "O Shenandoah," and "Mice and Men"; Mr. William Stares, bass, handling the solo part in "O Shenandoah."

Mrs. Renaud played a piano solo in C Flat Minor, and a last group of four selections, by the full chorus, brought the program to a close. The choruses sung were, "Listen to the Lambs," "My Little Banjo," a short but attractive number; "Saviour Thy Children Keep," a sacred selection, and finally, "Saviour, Now the Day is Ending," a suitable conclusion to a delightful evening.

Just before the last song was sung Mr. Renaud expressed his appreciation of the work done by the Glee Club members. "They have been rehearsing twice a week for some time," he said. "We are training them for the future, not for the present. It is real hard work, and I am proud of them." Hearty applause on the part of the audience indicated that the members of the audience shared Mr. Renaud's feelings on the matter.

Messrs. Earl and Maynard Bonsard, tenors; Jack Stewart and Ronald Webster, baritones, and William Stares and Dewart McNeeley, bass, all members of Norwood United Church choir, provided the male voices.

Mrs. Renaud accompanied a number of the selections on the piano.

It was hard for the audience to believe, as they listened to the delightful harmony of those forty voices, that the voices were those of their own school children, and that those children had learned to sing in such perfect harmony in three short school years.

The Lakefield High School Glee Club is putting on their concert in Norwood next Friday; they will also sing in Peterborough in the near future.

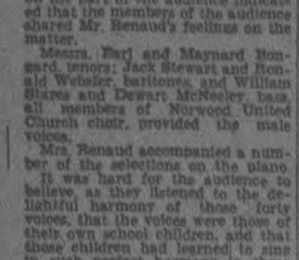
PLAN SOCIAL EVENING

Lakefield Y.P.S. Ends Season's Activities Next Month.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, April 10. — Zelma Darling, missionary convenor, was in charge of the program at the regular weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of Lakefield United Church, held on Monday. After an hour's recreation which opened the meeting, the business session was held. It was decided to close the year's activities the second week in May, when a special social evening will be held.

Zelma Darling, missionary convenor, took charge of the meeting for the program, which was of a missionary nature. After the opening hymn, Nora Webster read the Scripture lesson, and Mary Webster led in prayer. Mary Webdale and Myrtle Armstrong sang a duet, being accompanied by Mrs. J. R. Hall. Irene Darling gave a paper on the second chapter of the study book. Helen Burgess read a poem, and Rev. O. P. Kelly brought the program to a close with a short prayer. After the program the group joined in active games.



Costly New Bridge To Link U.S. And Canada At Rockport

Here is a drawing of the projected bridge across the St. Lawrence River, construction of which will begin about May 1. The new bridge, expected to cost almost $7,000,000, will start at Collins Bay on the American side, jump the St. Lawrence River to Wells Island and will cut across the island for about one mile. The remaining spans will be from Wells Island across several smaller islands in the St. Lawrence River to end finally on the Canadian side at Rockport, Ontario. The bridge will be a "Thousand Island" bridge, being constructed amidst the beauty of the countless river islands.

Plans For Removing Poles Are Outlined By Chairman

Ultimate Cost Of Replacing Power Equipment Estimated At $75,000

THE WATER SITUATION

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, April 12. — At a joint meeting of the Water and Light Commission and the Council held in the Board Room of the Utilities Commission on Friday night, chairman of the board, J. O. Benor, outlined to the Mayor and members of the Council the plan which was formed to take advantage of the Bell Telephone Company's alteration to their lines and remove poles from Front and Bridge Streets.

Mr. Benor estimated the cost of the work which the Commission proposed to do at the present time at about $600, which would include the removal of poles from the main street as well as putting a conduit in the trench which the Bell Telephone Company were making from Ranney and Bridge Streets. Although it is the plan of the Commission to ultimately remove all pole lines from the streets, it was felt that the work should be spread out over a period of three or four years in order that the burden on the taxpayers should not be increased. The net cost of replacing the present equipment, which has passed the stage of efficiency, rendering it next to impossible for the consumers to get sufficient power at all times, would be nearly $75,000.

Chlorination Equipment.

Several estimates have been received for new chlorination equipment which the Board of Health had recommended should be installed at the town pumping station where the present equipment was reported to be inadequate to cope with the varying pressure. There were two plans under consideration at the present time—one to install a new chlorination pump at a cost of approximately $1,500, and the other to build a reservoir which could be incorporated into the present system at a cost of close to $15,000. It was pointed out that the town faced a serious menace every winter when anchor ice crippled the pumping station, leaving the town without any water pressure, which, in the case of a fire, would prove disastrous.

Chairman Benor pointed out that the town was without water for six consecutive hours during one night of the past winter when both the town's plant and the Woollen Mill pumps were stopped by anchor ice.

Following a vote of thanks by the Council to the Commission for their co-operation, the meeting was adjourned.

BETHANY

ST. MARY'S A.Y.P.A. WILL TAKE PART

Decides To Send Delegation To Dramatic Contest At St. John's

BETHANY, April 12—The A.Y.P.A. of St. Mary's Church, Manvers parish, held their regular meeting at the rectory on Wednesday with 12 members in attendance. Owing to the very soft roads and a very busy season of maple syrup making, the attendance was much depleted.

Members answered the roll call by explanation of a chosen Bible verse.

Discussion regarding missionary work in an Indian school was an interesting topic of business hours of the evening.

In reply to an invitation from Peterborough district council, it was decided that a worthy delegation would attend the dramatic contest to be held in St. John's parish hall in the latter part of this month.

A social hour was spent in contests and games.

Winners of the hymnal contest were Mrs. Rodden and Robt. Sisson.

Ben Pigg rendered in pleasing manner "The Old Rugged Cross" as a trumpet solo. A vocal duet by Messrs. John and Doug Smith was much appreciated. The rector, Rev. A. K. Holden gave an interesting address upon how the calendar date of Easter was decided.

A sing-song conducted by Robert and Isobel Sisson, was splendidly rendered by the assemblage. Robt. Reid gave a reading entitled "Questionaire."

The program of entertainment was under the management of Miss Gladys Wright and Gordon Smith. Refreshments were served by the hostess and assistants and a happy evening was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

Personals.

Mr. Gervin Rodden of Oakville, was a guest of his uncle, Mr. Joseph Rodden and returned to his home on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. L. Liedmann of Ottawa, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Hamilton and the doctor for a few days.

Mr. Walter Stauffer of Edmonton, accompanied his friend, Mr. E. P. Patterson, of Waterways, to Bethany and both gentlemen are guests of Dr. and Mrs. Hamilton for a few days.

Miss Evelyn McKinnon is very busy disposing of radio licenses in and around the surrounding district.

CAMP TO CLOSE

Work Will Cease North of Madoc in Few Days

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, April 12.—Construction Camp No. 1, some 22 miles north of Madoc, has received the announcement from the employment office that work will be closed there in a few days.

Several men were laid off there a few days ago preparatory to the final close, but owing to the impassability of the roads from the spring thaw the final cleaning up and disposal of the various material on hand, has been unavoidably delayed.

WARSAW

WILL PLANT TREES IN SCHOOL GROUND

Warsaw Institute Decides Upon Coronation Feature—Play Is Enjoyable

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, April 12.—Warsaw Women's Institute met at Mrs. O. B. McIlvena's home on Thursday afternoon. The branch was well represented and the meeting interesting. Mrs. Weller presided. In the absence of the secretary Mrs. Robert Moore read the minutes and did other secretarial work. A few hand hooks on co-operative enterprises were distributed and asked to be handed to others, so that all may have read them, ere the next meeting. $5.00 promised the United Church for the use of these is to be paid.

Three courses are being planned, to be ready by July 1. Ever since the cenotaph was enclosed Mrs. Robert Moore has practically supplied the flowers and done all the work of caring for them. Watering has been a large task. Mrs. Moore was one of a committee appointed last month to ask the council to have piping laid to water the plot, and reported the council was willing for the Institute to do as it saw fit. Mrs. Moore gave an estimate of the outside cost, which was approved. A vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Moore for all her work.

It was decided to plant annuals, bright constang and low flowering for this summer and bulbs, etc., in the autumn. The flower baskets have not been satisfactory as they were often used as targets for balls.

Moved by Mrs. H. Clements, seconded by Mrs. Wilkinson, that the branch purchase and plant two red maples in connection with the coronation, in the school grounds, subject to the trustees' approval. Carried.

WOOD CONTRACTS LET 6,000 CORDS

Lindsay Chemical Plant Deal Will Be Taken Out Of Haliburton

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, April 14.—Canadian Industrial Alcohol, Limited, which operates a chemical plant in Lindsay, has awarded a contract for six thousand cords of wood, which will be cut in Haliburton, near Bobcaygeon, and along the I.B. & O. Railway. The plant is running at full capacity at present, and this year bought five thousand cords of wood in this section.

Bourgg Lake is now clear of ice. The water is reported to be the lowest it has been in a great many years. Sturgeon, Pigeon, Cameron and Balsam Lakes are still ice-locked.

The local Hydro Commission has lodged a protest before the Ontario Hydro Commission against paying the maintenance cost of Line "L". This line from the east serves Lindsay with power, but also serves Omemee and rural districts surrounding this town, who pay little towards the upkeep of this line. The Commission felt that the Hydro should also assume a portion of the cost as the line was used to carry power from Fenelon Falls to the eastern Ontario system.

Port Hope Councillor Would Barn Armouries As Coronation Spectacle

PORT HOPE, April 14.—At a meeting of representatives of various organizations here Monday night, it was definitely decided to hold a Coronation celebration in Port Hope on May 12th. Deputy Reeve Walter J. Crowhurst was chosen as secretary of the committee, and another meeting to further arrangements will be held on Thursday night.

In all probability, the celebration will be divided into two parts, a service for children at the Capitol Theatre, and another observance for adults in the auditorium of the United Church.

It was decided to have a pyrotechnic display in connection with the celebration and this drew the remark from Hugh Bird: "I would suggest that the Armories be burned down. The town would rid itself of an eyesore and at the same time a spectacular sight would be afforded." It might be explained that the Armories consists of a large barn-like building in the centre of the town.

CLAIMS OLDEST BREAD IN WORLD

Prince Edward Island Resident Has Piece Baked 150 Years Ago

CHARLOTTETOWN, April 14. — (CP).—D. A. McCormace of Brougton Island has in his possession a piece of bread which he claims is the oldest in the world." It was baked, he said, by his great grandmother on a Good Friday 150 years ago.

The "piece" is about two and a half inches square; has the appearance of "bannock"—flat with rounded corners and appears to have been baked on a griddle instead of an oven, as the sample shows the marks of irons, similar to griddle irons. It is quite hard and has kept its original color with not a sign of mould.

Mr. McCormace produces proof as to the age of the sample of bread, and says the claim of E. M. Cooley of Troy Ohio, who possesses a piece of United States' Civil War hardtack may be relegated to the discard.

Other claimants for honors in holding the oldest piece of the staff of life were W. S. Scales of Concord, New Haven, who owned a piece of hardtack from the Spanish-American War and Mrs. Nora M. Remberg of Porterville, Cal., who boasted she had in her possession a piece of bread baked by her mother-in-law 50 years ago.

SAYS EDUCATORS PROFITING UNDULY

Manitoba Member Claims Two Received $5,000 For Serving On Committees

WINNIPEG, April 14 (C.P.). — Charges of Major-General H. D. B. Ketchen (Cons., Winnipeg) that Manitoba educators have profited by serving on committees authorizing text books they have written or edited will be investigated by a special committee named by the Legislature on motion of Premier John Bracken.

Speaking in debate on a bill to reorganize the Department of Education, General Ketchen said two employees of Manitoba's educational system had received $5,000 between them in connection with a text book for use in the province's schools.

The Conservative member refused to identify the men before the House but said he would give their names to Education Minister Ivan Schultz. The bill passed second reading and will be given a public hearing in Law Amendments Committee.

ETHIOPIANS FLEE ITALIAN BOMBS

Cross To British Territory After Italian Airmen Strafe Village

LONDON, April 14 (C.P.-Havas) —British authorities at Bergera in British Somaliland, near the Ethiopian border, were reported to-day to be organizing a relief camp for thousands of Ethiopian natives, many of them wounded, who flod into British territory yesterday.

Gunfire sounded across the Ethiopian frontier as the fugitives arrived, accompanied by two Ethiopian chiefs. An Italian bombing plane was reported to have flown over Borama village looking for the fugitives, who had forded a border river.

A British missionary named Mackenzie, expelled from Addis Aba, was understood to be helping the authorities in taking care of the Ethiopians many of whom were women and children.

LACK OF FUEL NO CAUSE

Verdict Of Death From Natural Causes Returned At York Inquest.

TORONTO April 14 (CP)—A verdict of death from natural causes resulting from an infection of the left ear, was returned by a coroner's jury investigating the death of six-months-old Patricia Bird of York Township last night. Several weeks before the child's death the Bird family, on relief since September, 1935, ran short of coal, being forced to burn wood for a day and a half. Mr. Bird said he experienced difficulty in obtaining an emergency coal ration. The jury decided lack of fuel was not a contributing factor to the infection.

The LONG-LIFE Bicycle

DID you ever stop to consider the tens of thousands of revolutions that are made by the fast moving parts of a bicycle every day that it is ridden—and of the millions of revolutions that means in a year?

Yet, in spite of [illegible] bicycle because of the [illegible] service. This [illegible] accuracy with which it is made and because of the fine steels used in its manufacture—these steels are heat-treated in C.C.M.'s own furnaces. These qualities are especially important in the three fast-moving parts—the brake, the front hub and the big main sprocker bearing or hanger.

First in importance is the C.C.M. Hercules Coaster Brake which is a marvel of mechanical ingenuity and accuracy. The least touch of back-pedalling and on goes the brake, smooth and sure, increasing in its effectiveness as you increase the back pressure. Then a forward turn and the C.C.M. Hercules instantly drives you onward.

Then comes the C.C.M. Triplex Hanger to which the main sprocker, cranks and pedals are attached, virtually the [illegible]. All of [illegible] made in [illegible] include hardened cranks, an accurate [illegible] other true running parts. Because of the smooth running of the C.C.M. Triplex Hanger all of your pedalling effort is converted into power to roll you along.

The other fast-moving part of a C.C.M. bicycle—the front hub—is a strong and carefully built mechanism with a sturdy axle, ball bearings and hardened steel races.

These three accurately made important parts of a C.C.M. Bicycle together with steel rims, rustless steel spokes, seamless steel tubing combine to make the C.C.M. "The Long-Life Bicycle".

Remember, when you go to buy a bicycle, that a C.C.M. has everything that you can find in any bicycle plus many exclusive C.C.M. features, plus long life.

READ THIS FIRST:

Charles Stuckey, senior member of a London law firm with a questionable reputation is informed by cable from America that Miss Jacqueline Smith, daughter of one of his few respectable clients, now on the continent with her mother, has inherited $1,500,000 from an American uncle. Colonel Alec Lutman, who has a hold over Stuckey, learns of the inheritance and proposes a scheme to which Stuckey reluctantly agrees. The plan calls for Jim Anson, an ex-convict to marry Jacqueline, having her assign her property—before Stuckey informs her of the inheritance—to her husband. Lutman plans to take three-fifths of the inheritance, Stuckey and Anson each one-fifth. Lutman and Anson go to Cobtzell to cultivate Jacqueline and her mother, stopping at the same hotel where Mrs. Smith finds herself in dire financial straits. Anson, in the role of a wealthy Englishman, already has introduced Mrs. Smith to an admirable "catch" for her daughter. After a week the Colonel urges Jim to hasten his proposal. Jacqueline is chagrined when the hotel waiter refuses her mother a bottle of wine unless she pays for it at once. The Colonel urges Jim to follow her to the lounge, and press his suite, spurred on by Colonel Lutman, Jim, at the end of a week tries to convince Jacqueline she should marry him. Posing as Jim's trustee, Lutman goes to work on Jacqueline. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 12

JACQUELINE nodded to the Colonel's inquiry about Jim Anson asking her to marry him.

"I may say that I am delighted. He could not, in my opinion, have made a more suitable choice—a charming young lady, a charming mother, everything set fair for a happy married life. The boy is very delighted about it and so am I."

"But I haven't agreed to marry him, yet, Colonel."

He nodded.

"So I understand. That is why, as Jim's trustee, I wanted to have a little chat with you. Jim would hardly like to mention such matters himself, but there is a financial side of marriage, Miss Jacqueline. I want to assure you that the financial arrangements will be satisfactory in every way. Jim is a very wealthy young man, and I can promise you that when you marry him the course of true love will run quite smoothly." He smiled again. "It will run, in fact, to a very considerable figure."

The girl nodded.

"Thanks, Colonel Lutman. I suppose this sort of thing has to be discussed."

"Unfortunately, yes," said Lutman. "Naturally, you resent the intrusion of such sordid details into love's young dream, but you may trust me to make it as inoffensive as possible. The fact is, before your mother to be considered. She is not, Jim tells me, too well off and, of course, since she is your mother, you would wish to remedy that. He thinks that an income must be settled on her so that she may live as you would wish her to live, and as Jim can well afford it, I am happy to agree. The exact figure...."

"If the marriage comes off, Colonel, you and Jim can settle that with mother. But I don't know yet; I haven't decided. I'm trying to decide now."

He nodded.

"And, in arriving at your decision, Miss Jacqueline, may I, without seeming impertinent, suggest that you should pay particular attention to the position of your mother? It lies in your power to place her beyond...."

"I'm not likely to forget that."

"I'm sure you're not," said Lutman. "But I'm wondering whether you have any idea just how difficult things are for your mother. I have got to know her fairly well, and she has confided in me to a certain extent—and I have a great admiration for her—she way she has struggled to keep up appearances since her husband died. Of course, you know that there is practically nothing left of the money he left her?"

"I know all about that, Colonel Lutman."

"I wonder! She has, I know, always done her best not to let you know what difficulties she has had to cope with, but under the circumstances, since you are about to make a decision which affects her future happiness so vitally, I think you should know. I think you should fully realize just what she has been—and still is—up against. Perhaps."

His hand went to his breast pocket, and for a few moments he hesitated.

"Yes—under the circumstances—I think I am justified," he said. He drew a wallet from his pocket, took from it a folded slip of paper, and handed it to the girl. "Just look at that, Miss Jacqueline, will you?"

[illegible] unfolded the slip of paper, looked at it, and frowned. It was a cheque drawn by her mother —for $750—payable to Colonel Alec Lutman. As she gazed at it she was aware of a strange sinking feeling inside her.

"Well?"

"Your mother asked me to cash that for her a few days ago."

"And—and you did?"

"Of course. She needed the money urgently, she said, and did not want to wait until it arrived from her bank in London."

Jacqueline forced a smile.

"Mother's always doing that, Colonel Lutman. We had to wait several days at a hotel in Vienna because she had forgotten to send for her money and we couldn't leave until it arrived. It was nice of you to come to her rescue."

"It means that there was no money in your mother's account and that the bank refused to meet the check."

"But I'm sure—mother wouldn't dream—she can't possibly have known...."

Lutman took the check and slipped it into his pocket.

"I'm afraid," he said, "that she can't possibly have failed to know. I don't wish to distress you; I am only telling you this because I think it's my duty to make you realize, if I can, how difficult things are for your mother and how much depends on your decision. But it is, frankly, ridiculous to pretend that Mrs. Smith did not know she was giving me a check which would not be met. She is not so wealthy that she does not know whether she has $750 or not."

"But I can't believe that mother would—of course, I know she does stupid things sometimes, not thinking....."

"That is a charitable way of looking at it, Miss Jacqueline. But other people might use harsher words. They might call it fraud."

The girl flushed angrily.

"It wouldn't make the slightest difference what they said...."

"Your mother may have made a foolish thing," he said, "but there is no avoiding the fact that she has done a very serious thing—a criminal thing—which might easily lead to the most unpleasant consequences. If the matter were reported to the police...."

"Colonel Lutman, you wouldn't—you're not suggesting...."

"That I should report it? I should be very unhappy to bring any disagreeable consequences on your mother, Miss Jacqueline. I am merely pointing out to you what her foolish action might easily lead to. And I want you to realize just how hard pressed she must have been to do a criminally foolish thing like that. And it rests with you to see that she is never in such a position again. You have the chance to marry Jim Anson, and I think you should consider very seriously, for your mother's sake, whether you can afford to turn it down."

Jacqueline made no answer, and Colonel Lutman rose.

"The sooner you tell Jim you'll marry him, the better, Miss Jacqueline. It'll save a whole lot of trouble," he said, and strode away along the terrace.

For some moments Jacqueline did not move. She sat, with flushed cheeks and angry eyes, staring straight in front of her. "It'll save a whole lot of trouble," Colonel Lutman had said. Had that been a warning—a threat? The thought leaped into her mind that Colonel Lutman was desperately anxious that she should marry Jim Anson, and that meant that check as a means to an end. Her mother had been—was being—blackmailed!

UNCLE WIGGILY TAKES A RIDE

All of a sudden there was a big splash!

"Do you see it, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane who was standing at the top of the cellar stairs in the rabbit gentleman's below stump bungalow. "Do you see it?"

"I not only-sib-sub-urple-not only SEE it but I FEEL it!" spluttered Mr. Longears. "Oh, wug-gub!"

"Whatever is the matter, Wiggy, my dear?" asked the rabbit lady wife of Mr. Longears. "Why are you making such funny noises in your cellar."

"I'm not making funny sol-sol noises in my cellar!" said the rabbit gentleman. "I'm making them in my mouth."

"But you are down cellar, aren't you?" asked Mrs. Longears. "He is down cellar, isn't he, Nurse Jane?" she asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

Went Plop!

"Oh, yes," squeaked Nurse Jane, "Uncle Wiggily came home in the rain, after he had been riding in the washtub boat of the frog boys down the high water brook. Then I heard a queer noise in the cellar and I asked him to walk down and take a look."

"Did you do that, Wiggy?" called Mrs. Longears from the top of the cellar stairs.

"I didn't WALK down I TUMBLED down," said Uncle Wiggily. "I fell in the deep water. That's the trub-trub- I mean trouble," he gasped for there was water in his nose and mouth.

"Deep water! In our cellar!" cried Mrs. Longears. "However did it get there, Wiggy, my dear?"

"I think it must have run in from the high water in the brook which I also fell in and from which Billy and Bawby Notail rescued me in their washtub boat," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, high water in our cellar!" sighed Mrs. Longears.

"I should say it was high," spoke Mr. Longears. "It's a regular flood like the Mississippi or Ohio rivers. I'm in water up to my neck now. I didn't know what was down here when Nurse Jane told me to look. But I know now."

Bears Bumps

"Wiggy, I Come up before we are drowned," said his wife. "Oh, what are you doing now?" she called down as she heard thumps and bumps.

"I'm trying to open a cellar window so let some of the high water run out as it will get low," answered the rabbit. "I'll come up as soon as I get a chance. If I don't the watermelon will come up from the kitchen."

"Oh, mercy me!" exclaimed Nurse Jane.

She and Mrs. Longears heard more thumps and bumps. They heard the swish and swirl of high water in the cellar. They heard the window being opened. Then, all of a sudden Uncle Wiggily shouted.

"Here I go. Good-bye!"

"Where are you going, Wiggy?" asked his wife.

"I'm going for a ride," he answered. "I'll be back as soon as I can. Don't worry." More thumps and bumps sounded. Nurse Jane ran to the kitchen window in time to see Uncle Wiggily, standing up in a wooden washtub and floating from the cellar window as the flood water swirled out of it.

"Wiggy! Wiggy!" cried his wife. "Come back to us!"

"As soon as I can I will," he answered. Away he went riding even faster than he had in the frog boys' tub boat. It was a great Spring flood in Woodland. But don't worry, the rabbit gentleman will be all right.

And if the front door doesn't put on airs and stop going in the back yard to talk to the garage I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's tree house.

CABINET ORDERED BACK HEPBURN AGAINST LEWIS

Any In Opposition Must Leave Ranks Premier Announces

Says Fight Is Against U. S. Union Chief And Communists Now Marching Hand-In-Hand

REDS ACTIVE IN OSHAWA

Proposes To Check On Every Cabinet Member — No Dissenters So Far

TORONTO, April 13. — (CP) — United support of his cabinet will be demanded by Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario in his stand against John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

The premier this afternoon made known his attitude on his cabinet's position regarding the Oshawa General Motors strike. The 3,700 strikers are members of the United Automobile Workers of America, affiliated with Lewis' C.I.O.

It was a fight against "the forces of John L. Lewis and Communism which are now marching hand-in-hand," said the premier. If any member was out of sympathy with the present policy in connection with the Oshawa strike, there was only one course, the premier said. "The only thing for that member of the cabinet to do is resign," he declared.

(Hugh Thompson, C.I.O. organizer advising the Oshawa strikers, Saturday night in an Oshawa address said there was a split in the Ontario cabinet over Mr. Hepburn's strike policy and his opposition to the C.I.O.)

To Accept Any Resignations

In a calm description of the situation, the Ontario Premier said no Cabinet resignations were offered to him but he admitted if he asked for resignations they would be forthcoming.

"I called in every member of the Cabinet who was in town at the time and there was not a dissenting voice," said Mr. Hepburn in describing his decision to adopt a strong stand against the C.I.O. appearance in the Dominion.

Present at this Cabinet meeting, he said, were Hon. Harry C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary; Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways and Public Works; Hon. Paul Leduc, Minister of Mines; Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health, and Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Lands and Forests.

Those absent were Hon. David A. Croll Minister of Labor; Attorney General Arthur Roebuck and Hon. Dr. L. J. Simpson, Minister of Education. Dr. Simpson is holidaying in Bermuda.

Will Check Whole Cabinet

"I will, in the course of time, want to know, of course, if every member of my cabinet is solidly behind me in our fight against the forces of John L. Lewis and of Communism which are marching hand-in-hand," continued Mr. Hepburn. "There is a definite tie-up between those two forces and I have nothing in common with either of them. Nervous Chinese Bungle Execution

Peipin, April 13.—(AP) NERVOUS executioners, who used five bullets for their task, killed Fan Shao-Chang, 36-year-old embezzler of public funds, as an "object lesson" to Peipin's citizenry today. Fan, a bank official convicted of embezzling $16,000 in public funds, was dragged before an immense crowd by soldiers and forced to kneel before a pair of military executioners. Their guns barked, but the excitement of the occasion spoiled their aim. Three more bullets tore into Fan's head before officials pronounced him dead.

SUSPECT BOYS OR LUNATIC

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., April 13 (C.P.). — Three attempts to wreck trains and an equal number of unexplained fires to-day sent police on the trail of a hypothetical lunatic or a group of small boys.

Officers said they believed the train-wreck attempts, three in that number of weeks, were the work of a mentally-deranged adult rather than boys. They declared it seemed unlikely boys could have carried heavy ties such as were placed last Saturday night in three piles along the eastbound Canadian Pacific Railway tracks at the north-west end of the town.

A freight train ploughed through the obstructions, but the crew had been warned after the piles of ties were signted by the crew of a west-bound train and the engineer was proceeding cautiously.

Two previous attempts were made to wreck Canadian National Railways trains by placing obstructions on the rails, ties once and small boulders once. After Saturday's attempt officers found a child's mitt and small footprints near the scene, but did not believe they were connected with the incident.

Three fires, two destroying garages and automobiles, and a third occurring in a blocked room at the Collegiate Institute, gave rise to belief there was some connection between them and the wrecking attempts.

A large detachment of Canadian Pacific Railway Police arrived here yesterday and there were reports officials might seek assistance of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to track the saboteur.

Wagner Act Ford's Jinx Says Martin

Will "Force" Him To Deal With Union, Head Of U.A.W.A. Predicts

STRIKE UNNECESSARY

Plan Intensive Membership Drive In Detroit Factory At Once

DETROIT, April 13 (AP).—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, predicted today the United States Government would "force" the Ford Motor Company to deal with the union under the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

Jubilant over the Supreme Court decision upholding the Wagner Act, he declared that "a strike to force Henry Ford to recognize the U.A.W.A. will not be necessary now."

Union officials announced an intensive membership campaign among Ford workers would be begun immediately. One method of operation, Ed. Hall, second vice-president said, will be to broadcast appeals to Ford employees from an airplane flying over the Ford Rouge plant.

No comment was forthcoming from the Ford Company or from Henry Ford, who announced recently from his winter home at Ways, Ga., that his company would inaugurate the highest wages in history "as soon as this labor mess is over."

He made that statement shortly after reports were published the Ford Company planned a $10 minimum wage, far in excess of union demands, to combat the U.A.W.A. membership drive.

Want Men Reinstated.

Martin said the U.A.W.A. would seek immediate reinstatement by the Fruehauf Trailer Co. of seven employees allegedly discharged for union activities, with payment of wages dating to the summer of 1935, when they were dismissed. The Fruehauf Company was one of five defendants in cases decided yesterday by the Supreme Court.

The General Motors situation was somewhat complicated by a strike in the Oshawa (Ont.) plant of General Motors of Canada.

Martin and other U.A.W.A. officials were to confer with General Motors executives on the Canadian strike, and on proposed changes in the terms of the recent agreement covering United States plants.

Martin denied reports the National Executive Board of the U.A.W.A. was contemplating disciplinary action against local leaders and organizers in connection with strikes that have occurred in General Motors plants.

87-MILE GUNS ON CZECH FRONT

New German Batteries Capable Of Bombing Neighbor's Capital

LONDON, April 13—(CP-Havas) —Guns reported capable of bombarding Praha, the Czechoslovak capital, from a distance of 140 kilometres—87 miles—have been set up near the German-Czech frontier in the neighborhood of Hoyerswerda, North Bautzen, The Manchester Guardian declared to-day in an article on Germany's military preparations.

Surveying the new border defences of The Reich, the Liberal newspaper said "The fortifications on the Czechoslovak frontier are less strongly defensive in character and show that the German general staff do not think in terms of defence but in terms of offence on this frontier."

Bringing Out Crash Victims

Down snow-covered trails, through forests, across icy-watered streams, rescuers carry the body of this and seven other aeroplane crash victims. One by one, all eight bodies were carried from the scene of the crash on the mountain spot southeast of McNary, Arizona, where a 21-passenger TWA aeroplane, being ferried across the United States from Burbank, Calif., to New York city, crashed into a mountain. The aeroplane was ripped to shreds by the impact. None were saved.

Famished Chinese Deserting Children In Streets To Die

Over 2,102 Bodies Picked Up In Chungking Alone During March

TRAGIC SCENES

CHUNGKING, Szechwan Province, China, April 13 (AP). — Parents in towns and villages of Central and Eastern Szechwan are tossing their children into the streets to die because of inability to feed them, reports reaching here to-day said. The tragic scenes have resulted from the drought and famine, said authorities who disclosed that 2,102 bodies of famine victims had been picked up off the streets of this city alone in March.

The United Church of Canada Mission, with headquarters at Toronto, has organized a relief program through its stations in the province, with funds raised in Canada.

From an obscure village to the north came a typical story, confirmed by local missionaries:

A wood cutter delivered a bundle of firewood to a customer but failed to await payment, even though the need for money to buy the little available food is acute.

The purchaser's curiosity was aroused and he opened the bundle immediately to disclose a starving child wrapped within.

The father, unable to provide food for the infant, had tried unsuccessfully to give him away and finally decided to force the child he couldn't feed on another family.

LADY EATON LOSES VALUABLE BARN

Brigades From Maple, Aurora And Richmond Hill Called To Blaze At King

KING, Ont., April 13—(CP) — Charred wood and smouldering hay and grain to-day marked the site of the large main barn of Eaton Hall farm, property of Lady Eaton, destroyed in a fire here last night. Fire brigades from Maple, Aurora and Richmond Hill were summoned to this village about 15 miles north of Toronto to save adjoining buildings. No estimate of the damage was available.

The fire was discovered by Peter Black, farm carpenter, who saw the flames leaping through the roof of the clock tower in the centre of the barn. Spontaneous combustion or a short circuit setting fire to hay was believed cause.

Frantic horses and livestock were herded from the barn. Ballycran, an Irish cheviot hunter recently purchased by Timothy Eaton, gave his rescuer, Bob McDowell, a hard fight before taken from the burning barn. Prize Holstein cattle were led out by the hastily mustered farm staff.

Cattle loving their discomfort after being led from heated stalls to chilly fields added to the general roar of burning wood and shouting workers. Frightened horses galloped about adjoining fields while grooms attempted to round them up and place them in other barns. Fearing injury to the valuable animals the attempt was abandoned.

Thompson Says Union Not Discussing Wage Increases—Want 75-Cent Minimum

OSHAWA, Ont., April 13.—(CP)— An official reply was mailed today from General Motors of Canada to the offer of Hon. Norman Rogers, federal minister of labor, to mediate the dispute between the company and its 3,700 workers, now on the sixth day of their strike.

The workers have accepted the minister's offer to conciliate the dispute but an executive of the company indicated last night General Motors will decline his suggestion, at least for the present. The company has been cooperating with Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario in his efforts to settle the strike.

Mr. Rogers made his offer through Mayor Alex Hall of Oshawa. The mayor transmitted it to both the United Automobile Workers of America and the company and expects a reply from General Motors to-day.

A meeting of union stewards last night formally welcomed federal intervention after Organizer Hugh Thompson had assured Mayor Hall of the union's willingness to bring the dispute to federal conciliation.

Prefer Croll In Deal.

The stewards also passed a vote of confidence in Hon. David Croll, Ontario Minister of Labor, who conducted early negotiations between General Motors and the strikers. The stewards expressed regret he was not given a free hand to continue what he had so well begun."

The union leaders voted against discussion of wage increases which Mr. Hepburn said in Toronto had been submitted to him by General Motors. Thompson had said earlier: "We will not discuss it because it hasn't been made to us directly. In any event our demands are for a minimum for all workers of 75 cents an hour."

Thompson charged that the offer the premier announced was not the highest General Motors told Mr. Hepburn it was prepared to make. "He might as well come out now with the ultimate offer instead of beating around the bush," Thompson declared. The increases Mr. Hepburn announced were seven cents an hour to employees receiving 55 cents an hour or less and

RAILWAY GROUP GET CUT BACK

Canadian Brotherhood's Ten P.C. Reduction To Come By Degrees Before April 1, 1938

OTTAWA, April 13—(CP)—Restoration of the basic wage rates by April 1, 1938, to some 10,000 employees of the Canadian National Railways who are members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees is the unanimous recommendation of a Board of Conciliation report released by the Labor Department to-day.

In effect the recommendation calls for the same terms as were agreed upon by the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways in recent negotiations with the running trades. The 10 per cent deduction from the basic wage rates would be completely restored by degrees over a period of one year.

The Board was appointed on the application of the Brotherhood, which includes clerical employees, freight shed staffs, station and baggage room staffs and motive power and car department employees, after their request for restoration of the 10 per cent cut had been refused by the railway.

Judge F. L. Bradley of Ottawa was chairman while Howard E. Jones, K.C., of Montreal, represented the employees and W. Sanford Evans of Winnipeg, represented the railways. The Board recommends the effect of the railway made on April 1.

Ambush Nabs Masked Pair Foxboro Area

Police Lie In Wait After Tip Youths Planned To Rob Aged Recluse

ONE PUTS UP FIGHT

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 13—(C.P.).—Lying in ambush outside the home of Charles Monahan, 83-year-old recluse resident one mile east of Foxboro on Mudcat Lake, police arrested John Osterhout, 22, Stockdale, and Allen Sine, 23, of Wallbridge, as they attempted a break-in. The youths were arrested without a struggle as they were well covered by guns, when the police stepped out of a thicket. Both wore white masks over the lower part of their faces.

After information was received police proceeded to the home and waited two hours. It is understood the intention was to make the arrest inside the house, but the aged man was so nervous, plans were changed and the police hid in the bushes near the house. When the pair were told to "stick them up," Osterhout submitted quietly, but Sine started to swing his fists and breaking away started to run but was halted when he ran into a fence surrounding the house, and Constable McPhee clapped the cuffs on him. The boys were brought to Belleville and will be arraigned today, but the nature of the charges have not been divulged.

G.M. Exports May Be Made U. S. Plants

Worried Over Cable From England Stating Shipping Delay Will Upset Schedules

NO MEDDLING IN CANADA

Thompson Doubts Export Plan From U.S.—"Not Be Making Cars There Very Long"

OSHAWA, Ont., April 13.—(CP). —Spokesman for General Motors of Canada here to-day stated Canada's export market for the firm's automobiles might have to be supplied from United States if the 3,700 workers in the plant continued on strike.

"The strike is causing serious worry in the export business," the spokesman said. He mentioned a cable from their English agent and stated the English market might have to be supplied from United States sources.

Five day's production have been lost since the strike was called at 7.01 a.m. Thursday by the local union of the United Automobile Workers of America, affiliated with John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization. Production loss approximates 2,500 cars at the average daily production of 500, said the spokesman.

The London cable said: "Greatly appreciate cable giving latest information re situation in Oshawa. Any serious delay shipments would upset schedule."

No Fight With Labor.

The spokesman reiterated General Motors had "no fight with labor organizations as labor organizations." Harry J. Carmichael, vice-president and general manager, it was explained, was a member of the Patternmakers' Union when he came to Canada to work in a St. Catharines foundry in 1912-1913.

It was declared General Motors Corporation United States would not interfere in the Oshawa situation.

Informed of the company's statement, Hugh Thompson, United Automobile Workers of America representative, said he doubted General Motors could supply its export market in England with United States cars.

"I don't think they'll try anything like that," he said. "In fact, I don't think they'll be making cars over there very long."

Regret Hepburn's Move.

TORONTO, April 13 (CP). — Members of the National Labor Council last night passed a resolution regretting actions of Premier Mitchell Hepburn in the Oshawa motors strike.

A difference of opinion appeared during the meeting with Delegate William Riche charging favoritism on the Premier's part, and James Beattie explaining Mr. Hepburn's action in bolstering police ranks was to be prepared for strike-breakers

Eden Champions Britain On "Safety First Policy"

Takes Courage To Face Criticism Of Being Poor-Spirited For Refusing To Lead Europe Into War

EASIER TO RATTLE SABRE

LONDON, April 13 (C.P.). — Britain's "safety first" policy in respect to her shipping in Spanish waters received a mixed reception to-day.

While Labor and Liberal spokesmen criticized the decision not to fire naval projection to food ships bound for blockaded Bilbao, the Government's policy was championed by Foreign Secretary Eden in a speech at Liverpool when he said:

"It is easy and popular to rattle the sabre, but it is more difficult and unpopular to face the criticism of being 'safety-spirited' because we refuse to lead Europe over a precipice."

The question will be debated when Clement Attlee, Leader of the Opposition, asks for a formal vote of censure against the Government in the House of Commons to-morrow. Sir Hugh Dalton, Labor member, yesterday outlined by Prime Minister Baldwin was "unsatisfactory" and amounted to a "blockade" of Bilbao.

Other Concessions Complete Solution Hepburn Believes

Company Officials Deny Detroit Heads Interfering To Urge Union Deal

"CANADIAN SITUATION"

Agreement In U.S. Never Made To Include Oshawa Plant Says Carmichael

TORONTO, April 13 (CP)—General Motors' concrete offer to its 3,700 striking employees stood revealed today, along with a renewed plea by Premier Mitchell Hepburn for consideration of damage such disturbances could bring to industrial life of Canada.

In a statement last night the premier outlined concessions made through him to the Oshawa employees. The offer presented wage increases of seven cents an hour for those earning 55 cents or less, and five cents for an hourly rate greater than 55 cents. It provided for the "shop steward" system and gradual abolition of the "efficiency system."

The offer, said the premier, meant a "complete solution of the problems" so far as wages and working conditions were concerned.

After detailing proposed adjustments in hours, seniority rights and rest periods, Mr. Hepburn urged "serious and immediate consideration" to the company's offer, adding that each day of delay meant failure to grasp present opportunities for export trade.

"I hold no brief whatsoever for the General Motors Company nor any industrial or financial organization," said the premier, "but am simply assuming my responsibility as chief executive of the province of Ontario."

No Pressure From U.S.

Meanwhile, Harry J. Carmichael, Canadian vice-president and general manager of General Motors of Canada, denied the suggestion the heads of the General Motors Corporation at Detroit had given any intimation they would advise the management of the Canadian company to reach an agreement with the C.I.O. Automobile Workers' Union.

Don't Neglect That Persistent, Hacking Cough

Get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup from your druggist or dealer. It strikes at the foundation of the trouble. A few doses will convince you it is just the remedy you require.

It helps to stimulate the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation, subdues inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts, loosens the phlegm and mucus, and aids nature to dislodge the morbid accumulations.

When this is done the persistent, hacking cough will disappear, no lying awake nights, no inflammation of the bronchial tubes.

The Royal Road To The Coronation

The King's family: Seated, Queen Mary and the Princess Royal; Standing, LEFT to RIGHT, the then Prince of Wales, Prince Henry, the late King George V, His Majesty (then Duke of York) and the Duke of Kent

WORK awaited the Duke of York and almost encroached upon his honeymoon—the work of a King's son which is more exacting than that which falls to the lot of men in lesser spheres of life. But before we pass on to other scenes which have helped mould King George VI into the democratic and constitutional ruler whose coronation the world is now awaiting, we pause to look once more into the circle of his immediate family.

Yesterday we saw Their Majesties at their brilliant wedding in April of 1923. To-day we show another picture taken on that occasion, though the bride, so soon to be crowned as Britain's Queen, does not grace the occasion. It is a family group of the then Royal Family, headed by the late beloved King George V and Her Majesty the Queen Mother, gathered as they were for this marriage of the second oldest son. Four stalwart sons are here as well as Princess Mary, now the Princess Royal who herself had wedded a so-called commoner only a few months earlier. It is one of the few group pictures which show the House of Windsor together in its entirety and the wedding of the Duke of York was notable if even for the fact that it brought all members of the family together. So often the call of empire has sent one or more of this family into the four corners of earth when personal desire would rather have taken them to the family fireside.

The duke was soon to leave on his honeymoon, spent first at Polsden Lacy near Dowding, later at Glamis in Scotland before he and his bride returned to set up their abode at White Lodge, Richmond Park. They returned to enter into a new phase of their lives; this picture then marks a stepping stone in the career of King George VI.

LADIES' AID HAS CORONATION TEA

Enjoyable Event At Home Of Mrs. Eakins—St. Andrew's W.A. Meets

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, April 13—The Coronation Tea held Thursday afternoon under the auspices of Group 2, of the Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian church, at the home of Mrs. J. R. Eakins, was a very successful and entertaining event, attended by approximately seventy-five ladies.

Received in the drawing room by the hostess, Mrs. J. R. Eakins and Mrs. T. C. Ingram, they were welcomed at the door by Mrs. R. J. McKnight, convener of the group, and Mrs. S. Hall, cashier, pro tem.

The decorations were much admired and were appropriate to the Coronation season, featuring an attractive arrangement of flowers, flags and photos of the Royal family.

Red stocks and white narcissus held central place on the dining table covered with a handsome lace cloth and lighted by reflections cast from red and white candles set in silver candelabra. The coronation note was carried out also in the flag-embossed fire place where hung an enlarged photo of the King and Queen, banked by flowers and foliage and a gold-painted slogan, "Long live the King," on a red banner.

One of the banners used in the decorative scheme has been a family possession in the Eakins home since the celebration of the Queen Victoria Diamond Jubilee.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong and Mrs. (Rev.) H. R. Williams, and those assisting with the serving of delicious refreshments were: Mrs. H. A. Kerr, Mrs. (Dr.) J. W. Wright, Misses Vaneta Ingram and Grace Johnson.

During the tea hour pleasing piano selections were rendered by Miss Grace Johnson, A.T.C.M., Centreville, and Miss Vaneta Ingram contributed a vocal number, "Brown Birds Singing," accompanied at the piano by Miss Johnson.

Financial receipts were especially gratifying and the convener and members of the group are the recipients of heartiest congratulations. The event was one of the first in the village to so strongly emphasize the coming Coronation season, although other similar events are being planned for the coming weeks.

St. Andrew's W. A. Meets

A recent meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's United church held at the home of Mrs. P. I. Bentley, made plans for catering to visitors who will join in the celebration of July 12, which is being observed in Millbrook this season. They have also decided to serve meals to members of the Peterborough Presbytery who are holding a meeting in the local church, Thursday, April 29th.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. McKnight, gave a detailed report of two recent events sponsored by the W.A., each of which gave added financial support to the Association. The decisive encouragement resulted from a recent hot supper and a demonstration put on by the Canada Starch Company.

A pleasing vocal duet was rendered by Mrs. H. Johnson and Miss Hanaman during the social hour enjoyed at the close, when delicious home made candy was served by the hostess.

Easter Program

Mrs. S. E. Eakins, Anne street, was hostess Thursday afternoon to eleven members of the Junior Women's Missionary Society, when the regular meeting was held at her home conducted by the president, Miss Ada Peers.

During the meeting the girls continued with work on the Infant's layette which they are preparing as a bale to be sent to some needy home, and also gave answer to a "twenty-word text" contest and biblical questions by Miss Agnes Johnston.

Worship poems were a feature of the meeting and particularly emphasized those most symbolic of the Easter period and included, "His Gift and Mine," "This Easter Day," "Christ's Cross" and others. "Prema's Easter Dance" was presented by Miss Ada Peers and Miss Roberta Bothwell gave a splendid paper on "Why Support Christian Missions." Prayers were offered by Misses Ada Peers and Mary Eakins.

The scripture reading by Miss Agnes Johnston contained a portion of the Sunday school lesson of the 4th inst.

Miss Mary Eakins gave the secretarial report and an invitation to hold the next meeting at the home of Mrs. (Rev.) H. R. Williams was gratefully accepted.

SELWYN

SHOWER IS HELD FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Many Gifts For Miss Beatrice McConkey From Smith Friends

(Examiner Correspondence.)

SELWYN, April 13.—On Wednesday evening a very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Nichols, when a large number of their friends and neighbors gathered to honor Miss Bertrice McConkey, a bride-elect of the month.

The early part of the evening was spent in friendly chatter, until the future bride and groom (Mr. Robert Armstrong) arrived. They were then seated under a large white bell and pink and white streamers, while Miss Elva Elliott and Miss June McConkey, presented them with three large baskets of beautiful gifts, tokens of the high esteem in which the young couple are held in the community. Preceding the presentation of the gifts, a very suitable address was read to the happy couple by Miss Leatha Kidd.

After the opening of the gifts with the assistance of Misses Merle Elliott, Elva Elliott, Leatha Kidd, the young couple responded in the usual manner, by thanking everyone present and extending an invitation to visit them in their home in North Smith. Delightful refreshments were then served, and the remainder of the evening spent in card playing and dancing to music supplied by Mr. Herbert McConkey, violin, and his daughter, Miss Edna McConkey, guitar, who are father and sister respectively of the bride-to-be.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans Blewett and family of North Smith have taken up residence at Selwyn in the house on the Twelfth Line which is owned by Mr. Gilbert McManus.

COTTESLOE

PLAY FEATURES ENJOYABLE SOCIAL

U.F.W.O. Sponsor Successful Program—Prospects For Fall Grain Excellent

COTTESLOE, April 13—The pie social held in the school house on Friday evening under the auspices of the U.F.W.O. was quite a success. Mr. A. Webster was chairman for the following programme:

Music by Messrs. John Knox, Auryl Clysdale and Miss Sylvia Clysdale; Hawaiian guitar solo, Mr. George McConnell; mouth organ selection, Mr. Ray Morrow; guitar and mouth organ selection, Mrs. J. Brethour; recitations, Howard Darling and Miss Ada Clements.

The main item on the program was a one-act play presented by Warsaw young people: "Suspended Animation," taking place in Dr. Blake's office.

Dr. Blake, played by Irwin Hawthorne; Mrs. Blake, played by Mrs. Charlotte Cooper; Jack Marshall, a friend of Blake's, Creswell Tighe; George S. Sharp, patient of Blake's, Allen Moore; Miss Susan Irene Viola Winters, May Payne; detective James Kerr, Percy Cooper; Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. John Morgan.

All the players did exceptionally well.

At the close, Miss Isabel Faux was called on to draw the lucky ticket for the quilt which was No. 94, being held by Miss Katie Edwards, Norwood.

Pie, sandwiches and coffee were then served and "God Save the King" was sung.

Prospects are Good

So far, fall grains have not heaved out of the ground, and while the fields look brown the crown seems alive, and with recent rains which have settled the ground, the general feeling is fall grains and clovers have come so far safe. There was a large acreage planted last fall and with seed oats and barley at a premium, it means a great deal to the farmers, if the fall grains come through the next two or three weeks and are not killed.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. C. Davey and daughter, Ruthie, also Mrs. Gallagher and son, Wilbert, of Norwood, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr and Mrs. J. Gallagher, Seventh Line.

Miss Isabel Faux, Indian River, spent the week-end with Miss Sylvia Clysdale.

Miss Ada Clement visited on Sunday with Miss Mary Toms.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Stephens Apsley, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. MacDonald.

What might have been a more serious accident occurred on Friday afternoon when Morrison Barr, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Barr, fell from the back of the wagon as the horses stepped up, rendering him unconscious for several hours. Morrison is recovering from the shock.

In the list of those who attended the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. McMillan reported last week, Mr. and Mrs. G. Barr were inadvertently omitted.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kidd visited friends at Nassau on Sunday.

Ploughing commenced on the farm of Mr. Gordon Calder on Monday.

Food Fleet Not Risking Rebel Guns

Basque Offer Of Fleet Protection To Run Blockade Gets Little Response

CITY TO FIGHT ON

Claims Capture Impossible And Can Stand Siege Of Months

ST. JEAN DE LUZ, Franco-Spanish Frontier, April 13. — (AP) — Tightening of the insurgent warship blockade, after Great Britain's withdrawal of protection from her merchantmen within Spanish waters, threatened today to force the surrender of Bilbao to the encircling insurgent armies. Government aid was offered any ships which would run the blockade.

Basque officials, allied with the Madrid-Valencia government, acknowledged the food situation was grave but insisted they were ready to undergo a siege of months.

The capture of Bilbao, they declared, was "almost impossible."

In an effort to break the blockade and obtain provisions for the hungry troops and the city's population, swollen by refugees to more than 300,000, the Basque government asserted mastery of Spanish sea within 10 miles of the coast and offered to provide escort ships for any food carriers which would run the blockade.

Protection At Hand.

Several government warships, they declared, had arrived off Bilbao and would escort merchantmen through the insurgent fleet while shore batteries, with an effective range of 11 miles, provided additional protection.

British shippers were unwilling to take the risk, however, after the insurgent cruiser Almirante Cervera broadcast a warning "any Spanish or foreign ship entering Biscay waters will be seized or sunk."

The battle cruiser Hood, pride of the British navy and largest warship afloat, bulked conspicuous on the horizon but was under orders to resist attacks on British shipping only outside three mile zone.

Rushed to a station off Santander from Gibraltar under forced draft, she became the flagship of a miniature fleet, consisting of the cruiser Shropshire and the destroyers Brazen, Beagle, Brilliant and Blanche.

COURT UPHOLDS U.S. LABOR ACT IN MAJOR TEST

Collective Bargaining Guarantee Is Declared Legal

MAGNA CHARTA OF LABOR

WASHINGTON, April 13 — The Supreme Court gave the government a major victory yesterday by upholding constitutionality of the Wagner Labor Relations Act as applied to all business engaged in interstate commerce.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had described the Wagner Act as "The Magna Charta of Labor." It guarantees collective bargaining to workmen in negotiating with employers on wages, hours of work and other labor conditions.

Four of the Supreme Court's decisions, involving the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., the Fruehauf Trailer Co. of Detroit, the Friedman-Harry Marks Clothing Co., Inc., of Richmond, and the Associated Press, were by 5-4 margins. The court was unanimous in the Washington, Virginia and Maryland Coach Co. case.

Justice Roberts, who has held the balance of power in some decisions, delivered opinion holding the Wagner Act did not violate freedom of the press and could be applied to the Associated Press. He also delivered the unanimous decision in the coach company case.

Chief Justice Hughes, who was 75 years old yesterday, delivered the opinions in the other three cases.

"Employes," Hughes asserted in the steel decision, "have as clear a right to organize and select their representatives for lawful purposes as the respondent (Steel Corporation) has to organize its business and select its own officers and agents."

The question of collective bargaining, upheld by the court in businesses engaged in interstate commerce, has been the major point of dispute in the recent series of sit-down strikes. Under the decision, the legislation is applicable to all business held to be in interstate commerce.

MILLBROOK

ADDRESS GIVEN BY MISS M. COON

Is Guest Speaker At Millbrook W. M. S. Thankoffering Service

MILLBROOK, April 13. — The annual Easter Thank offering service of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's United church, was held in the auditorium Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock. Mrs. (Rev.) A. L. Bisnop, president, and Mrs. L. H. Rose, vice-president, were in charge with Miss Coon, who has served as missionary for twelve years in West China, as guest speaker.

She brought to all a vivid picture of conditions in the Chinese city in which she was stationed, as they were when she first arrived, with its narrow winding streets, the only means of conveyance being the sedan chair borne on the shoulders of coolies up the perilously slippery steps and amidst the jostling crowds. The present day conditions, with miles of wide roads traversed by motor cars, and fine, regular airplane routes.

The strong hand, Chang Kai-Shek has done much to bring about the improvement in political and social conditions and to change the attitude of the better classes of people to Christianity. He himself is an outstanding Christian and even the opposition to many of his supporters has stood for principles of peace and righteousness.

She gave many instances to show how the leaven of the Gospel is working through the spirit of consecration and sacrifice that leads students at the Chengtu University and other centres of learning to go out in their holidays to carry out projects of refor mand sanitation and evangelization among their outlying towns and villages.

The speaker left the conviction that though there had been in China no mass movements towards Christianity as in Korea and India, yet there was much reason for encouragement and for gratitude, that members of auxiliaries, circles, bands and congregations had a share in helping to advance the kingdom of God amongst such a worthy people.

Personals.

SPRINGVILLE

DOUGLAS FAMILY RECEIVE CHAIRS

Honored By Springville Friends On Eve Of Leaving Community

(Examiner Correspondence.)

SPRINGVILLE, April 13.—Mr. and Mrs. George Douglas and family were honored on Friday evening by their fellow-associates of Springville United Church when a large crowd gathered in the Sunday School rooms to present them with two walnut, upholstered, occasional chairs, on the eve of their departure to their new home in the vicinity of Palmerston. Although having lived but a few short years in the community, the Douglas family had endeared themselves in the hearts of all and had become closely linked with the church and its activities.

The W.M.S. cancelled their plans for a box social and united with the congregation in presenting a miscellaneous program. With Mr. S. S. Staples in the chair the program opened with community singing of favorite songs. Mrs. O. McIntosh accompanied at the piano. This was followed by a humorous playette, "A Mock Presentation" given by Misses J. Schaffer, Arleigh Murray and Mary Staples, Malcolm Cathcart, Irvin McIntosh and Charlie Whittington.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas were then called to the platform and the real presentation took place. Miss Jean Fairbairn read the address while Messrs. Walter Brown and Bruce Elliott made the presentation. Mr. Douglas expressed in a few suitable words the thanks and appreciation of Mrs. Douglas, himself and family.

A Bible was presented to Elmer Douglas by his Sunday School class, of which he was president. The presentation was made by Donald Cathcart and Archie Brown read the address. Ralph Douglas, who held the office of president of the Y.P.U., was also given a Bible. The address was read by Miss Opal Johnston and the presentation made by Charlie Whittington.

Suitable replies were made by both boys, then all joined in singing, "For they are jolly good fellows."

Other items on the program included a reading and encore by Mr. S. Fairbairn; a solo by Viola Neals accompanied by Laura Neals; other solos by Raymond Kelk and Harry Atkins. Impromptu speeches were given by Mrs. Albert Hunter, Messrs. Albert Hunter, Fred Wilson and S. S. Staples. Wm. Whitfield followed a few kindly words of farewell to the Douglas family by a song learned at his mother's knee, "Through the Dark Woods and Forests Wild."

Lunch was served at the close of the program and a social hour enjoyed by all.

NORTH SMITH, April 13.—The Ladies' Aid of Wesley United Church met at the home of Mrs. E. Blewett on Saturday evening to present her with a rose-colored blanket bound with satin. The address was read by Mrs. Levi Harris and presentation made by Mrs. R. Davis. Mrs. Blewett gave a very suitable reply, after which lunch was served and the guests departed to their homes after singing "God be with you till we meet again," and bidding her farewell on her departure to her new home in Selwyn.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Ball celebrated the 15th anniversary of their wedding on Monday, April the 5th. About 25 guests were present. The evening was spent with music and games after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess. Mr. and Mrs. Ball received many useful gifts.

On Tuesday evening last week, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Blewett entertained about 70 guests at a crokinole party held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Eve Blewett and family, who are leaving our midst for their new home. The latter part of the evening was spent in presenting Mr. and Mrs. Blewett with a sum of money, Mr. Fred Armstrong making the presentation and Mr. J. Harrison reading a touching address. Mr. Blewett gave a very nice reply. Lunch was then served and dancing indulged in till the wee sma' hours.

The Illegal Arsenal

There was a picture in the St. Catharines Standard of a young man of 19 years who had been placed under arrest it being alleged he robbed the office of a coal company at Thorold while armed. There were two young ladies in the office at the time, and it is not likely the intruder would have met with much opposition after rushing in with two guns.

In the picture there is shown a .44 calibre weapon, a large and wicked looking thing, also a .32. The smaller weapon, a .22, was found in the pocket of an overcoat belonging to the arrested man, while the others were found in a ditch.

Apparently it is possible for people to proceed with the collection of such an array of weapons, although the law is all against it. But once they have them there are no formidable barriers placed against the securing of a supply of ammunition. If an individual goes to a store where shells are sold he is supposed to give his name and address, but there is not always a close check made to see that this is being done. A stranger could go in and write down a fictitious name and address and secure a supply of ammunition. It is not required that the purchaser shall show a permit stating he is legally entitled to be in possession of a weapon, so actually there is little in the way of a person who desires to use a weapon for purposes of committing robbery being barred from securing his supply of shells. And that looks like a loose link. A weapon is harmless enough if there are no shells in it, and if there were this added restriction of showing an official permit before a sale of shells could be made it might be possible to do something more toward cracking down on these arsenals which are in the hands of those who have no business being in possession of them.

Not Much Difference

Before the House of Commons finished its business for the session Hon. R. B. Bennett took occasion to take a fling at the Liberal government for not having brought down tariffs. According to tradition the Conservative party is regarded as one of tariff, while the Liberals are looked upon as low tariff folk, and some of them give the impression at times they would be happy if there were no tariffs at all.

We believe it would be difficult enough for the follower of either party to state just why he was a Liberal or a Conservative. The line of difference has been so shaded and trimmed that it does not stand up like a formidable barrier. We have reason to doubt whether a member like Hon. Hugh Guthrie who sat for Wellington from 1900 to 1917 as a Liberal and then as a Conservative until 1935 found the general policies of the governments he was supporting to be much different.

Nor is it something with which the average person will find much fault. If there were a complete revision in the direction of less protection every time the Liberals came in, and a turn in exactly the opposite direction each time Conservatives were returned to power, the confusion would be too much for our industrial life to stand.

Buying Too Late

It is necessary to purchase seed grain for farmers in many parts of Western Canada. There was a guarantee of $9,000,000 for the buying of grain and supplies, the "supplies" meaning goods needed to operate tractors.

The contention was raised by Hon. R. B. Bennett that the governments of the western provinces and the federal government as well must have been aware several months ago that this wheat would need to be purchased for thousands of farmers, and it should have been secured at a time when the price was much lower than it is today.

There has been an increase in price of something around 20 cents per bushel since the first of the year. We have not seen it stated how many bushels are to be purchased for western farmers, but if the amount is 5,000,000 bushels, then the price jump since the first of the year would amount to $1,000,000 on that purchase.

Without seeking to be unduly critical of the manner in which governments do their purchasing, it does seem that they allowed the proper buying time to arrive and depart before securing the supplies which it was well known would be required.

Sounds Like a Threat

The strike situation at Oshawa is providing much copy for the newspapers, and much material for those who write comment on it. There was a huge meeting in that city at the week-end, and the presence of Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, gave opportunity to hear what can be regarded as an official statement of that organization. He is reported as having stated:

> General Motors of Canada will agree to our requests. If they don't make cars in Canada under union conditions, they won't make any in United States at all."

That is a plain enough statement, and there can be little trouble in its interpretation. We take it to mean that if General Motors in Canada does not sign an agreement with the U.A.W. then the U.A.W. will call off its workers in the plants of the same company in United States. The plants in United States recently signed an agreement, but apparently that would not interfere with the calling of another strike if General Motors in Canada refused to sign.

A good deal is being written regarding the entrance of a form of labor unionism from United States, and that is referred to as a sort of invasion, but there is not much point in that claim. International unions in Canada have their head offices in United States. We believe that has always been the case, although control of local unions has rested pretty much in this country. But the older unions have always been more given to negotiation than this new form of industrial unionism which apparently takes it for granted that a strike is necessary and should be called at once.

There is also something pointed in the remark of Mr. Martin when he said if General Motors "don't make cars in Canada under union conditions they won't make any in United States at all." That is very direct—a plain threat. If General Motors in the States were to be stopped from making cars it would mean two things (1) members of the union would refuse to make them, and (2) members of the union would make it their business to see that others did not make them. It is that second option which indicates a readiness to interfere with the process of manufacture, and that is something which could not be done in this country. We recognize the right of a man to work; if he prefers to work in a union shop then it is his privilege to do so; if he secures employment in a shop which is not unionized and desires to remain there then the law will see to it that he is not molested. Mr. Martin must know there are tactics which have been used in United States which would not be tolerated here.

The difference between international unionism as we have seen it in the past and this new form of unionism is that under the old plan there was Canadian participation in the management and policy, while in industrial unionism as exemplified within recent weeks there is not so much Canadian participation as there is American domination.

Teaching a Calf to Drink

We were reading in an agricultural paper where some inventor had been working on a new sort of pail which was to be used in weaning a calf. There were several rubber nipples on the bottom of the thing and the inventor was sure it would work.

If it does, then he's got something, but just at the moment we are inclined to be a trifle skeptical. Always was some person going to find a new way and a better way for teaching a calf to drink out of a pail, and no person ever did it. At least it had never reached Lot 4, Concession Ten—not in our day.

You can't very well teach a calf to drink with a spoon or by using a tea cup. Who started with a pail we never heard, but the custom seems to have gone a long way back into barnyard history. Never yet did we know or hear of a calf that wanted to take a drink out of a pail. The objection to a pail seems to be born in them and it increases as they get older and become stronger and stiffer in the neck. The legs of a calf may seem a trifle wobbly at first, but we believe they look that way because nearly all of its strength is running to the neck, and if there's any left over then it's going to the brain to build up the idea that a calf should not drink out of a pail.

Nor have we seen many people who retain their calmness and good nature during the period of instructing a calf how the thing ought to be done. There was grandfather for instance. He was a God-fearing man, full of noble thoughts and with a kindly disposition even if he was outwardly stern. Especially on a Sunday evening if he had to work on a calf he slid from grace and he'd be due to do quite a bit of repenting for the words which proceeded to come out of him. By Sunday evening he'd still be about half Sunday-dressed. He'd have on a smock, but under the smock would be a hard-boiled shirt and stiff collar, and that's no outfit to wear when going out to give a calf another lesson in drinking out of a pail.

You get the milk in the pail; then you dip your hands down into it so the calf will take hold of the fingers and start work. That used to be the theory on Lot 4, Concession Ten, but the trouble was to get the head of the calf down into the pail. You couldn't shove the thing down because the neck was made out of whalebone, steel, cement and oak beams, and if you went the other way and tried to shove the pail up to the calf's mouth then its neck seemed to grow like that of a giraffe. The calf would be covered with milk, and the instructor would be spattered with it, but the amount that would go inside the calf was alarmingly small. Nor did we ever know of any person who got real smart at the job, for when he finished off on one calf he was liable to find the next one more stubborn than the other. Perhaps this chap with his new-fangled pail has a better way. We hope he has, but we doubt it.

They Don't Feel Just Right

Always there are some more figures being released, and United States seems to do much of this. The business of gathering statistics and putting the result down in columns is highly developed in that country.

Latest example is in the Federal Food and Drug Administration force, a branch which operates under the direction of the Department of Agriculture.

The finding is this: The people of United States spend $300,000,000 a year on medicines, nostrums, cure-alls and other preparations "which have no curative values whatsoever."

Just what that proves we do not know. Probably a good many people are not feeling just right. They are not quite up to form, but they do not go to a doctor. If there was something wrong with their car they would go to the garage and ask the advice of an expert; if they were playing golf and found a bad slice in the shot they would make arrangements for some lessons, and if they were stuck on a financial problem they would likely go and see the banker. But when it comes to their own internal machinery—and most of it is of that sort—which they have never seen and about which they know nothing at all, they are ready to put up $300,000,000 to fill their own prescriptions, and officials say there is no curative value in what they get for their money. That 300 million does not by any means represent the sum total of their purchases, but that much is spent for articles which the Department has analyzed and found to have little or no value. People are a trifle odd that way.

NOTE AND COMMENT

New Jersey proposes to legislate rattle-trap motor cars off the highways. Here they do not come off until they are knocked off.

Just how calling Premier Hepburn a "little two-by-four" is going to contribute toward an amicable settlement of the Oshawa strike is not quite clear.

Parliament has put up the shutters and all that remains now is for the Coronation contingent to get their bags packed.

A story from Italy says that an Italian woman has spent 72 years in bed. There will be a lot of folk in Ethiopia will wish that a great many more Italians had followed her example.

Premier Stalin characterizes all trades unions as controlled by racketeers, criminals and bureaucrats. Of course what he really objects to is that the unions have no use for communism.

Practically every country in the world reports less unemployment and it would be helpful to know just what part the rearmament program has played in bringing about that result.

The Toronto major hockey league final the other night extracted only 15 cents admission from the patrons. It is surprising to find that the League has not long since applied for a code under the Industrial Standards Act.

Premier Hepburn has flatly refused to even meet Hugh Thompson the C.I.O. organizer and it is not likely to do any good for the latter to complain that that is not the way the game has been played in the United States.

The director of the Dominion Housing Act has sounded a warning to the construction industry not to jeopardize its rising prosperity by price increases. That is a timely tip and it is too important to be disregarded.

A jury in Toronto has found inadequate brakes responsible for the killing of an eight-year-old boy. It is disturbing to think that hundreds of cars in Ontario are probably just as badly equipped as this particular specimen. And in that condition they can soon drive 50 miles an hour!

MAY CHANGE

(By A. R. K.)

¶ Dunc is a tall and sturdy lad, nor does he seem beat up and sad, he is a pleasant sight; he has strong arms, a goodly spine, and when it comes to eating time, a splendid appetite.

¶ Dunc likes potatoes, thick-cut beef, to live on less would cause him grief, beats all what he can take; he's strong for pie and pudding too, and lots of time before he's through, he reaches for the cake.

¶ Dunc has a dainty little miss, when he's with her he's soaked in bliss, can't keep an even keel; when he was there the other day, she asked him if he'd like to stay, for she would get the meal.

¶ Dunc beamed across from ear to ear, he said she was a little dear, and he hung up his hat; he was in luck, he was indeed, for Dunc could now look down and read, the welcome on the mat.

¶ Dunc ate a little salad first, a little juice to fix his thirst, it slipped down straight within; a little cake with icing red, a little fruit, a little bread, and it was mighty thin.

¶ And Dunc looked worried like that night, he had to pull his belt in tight, and he felt hollow too; he wants a girl of larger size, the kind that lives on beef and pies—who's full when she gets through.

Point of Order Caused Trouble

(Parliamentary Debates of April 9)

Mr. WOODSWORTH: I shall have to appeal against the ruling of the Speaker.

Mr. MacNEIL: Gentlemen opposite block some bills and not others.

Mr. SPEAKER: I have given my ruling. The hon. member for Winnipeg North Centre having appealed from my ruling, those in favour of the ruling of the Speaker being sustained will say aye.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Aye.

Mr. SPEAKER: Those opposed will say nay.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Nay.

Mr. SPEAKER: In my opinion the ayes have it.

Industrial Loan and Finance Corporation

The house resumed from Tuesday, March 30, consideration in committee of Bill No. 37, respecting Industrial Loan and Finance Corporation—Mr. Vien—Mr. Sandercock in the chair.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: Mr. Speaker, we would like to know the decision of the Speaker. In this corner we heard that "the nays have it." I ask for your decision. Had we not so heard it we would have stood up for a vote.

Mr. LAPOINTE (Quebec East): The nays have it.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: That is what I said. I ask that the official reporters be asked concerning what they heard.

Mr. LAPOINTE (Quebec East): You make parliamentary government a joke.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether you are in the chair officially or not.

Mr. LAPOINTE (Quebec East): He is not.

The CHAIRMAN: I remind the hon. member for Winnipeg North Centre that the house is now in committee of the whole.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: On a point of order, Mr. Chairman, we in this corner distinctly heard the Speaker say "the nays have it." I would ask whether that is what the Speaker said. If so, we are not in committee. I appeal for a ruling from the Speaker.

Mr. DUNNING: He is not available.

Mr. POULIOT: I would make a suggestion to the hon. member for Winnipeg North Centre. He should move that you, Mr. Chairman, leave the chair and report to the Speaker what has occurred.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: Mr. Chairman, I appeal against your ruling.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Order. Sit down.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: Mr. Chairman, you stated that we are in committee of the whole. I appeal against your ruling on that point.

Mr. LAPOINTE (Quebec East): Surely we are not going to make this into a mock parliament.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: I am within my rights.

Mr. LAPOINTE (Quebec East): There is no dignity in the stand taken by my hon. friend. The Speaker has left the chair, we are in committee, and we are going to proceed in committee.

Mr. WOODSWORTH: I am appealing against the ruling of the chairman that we are in committee. There is clearly an error, and if the Minister of Justice (Mr. Lapointe) wants this house conducted in an orderly way, he should see that justice is done.

Mr. LAPOINTE (Quebec East): It will be conducted in an orderly way in spite of the hon. gentleman.

Mr. MacNEIL: On the point of order raised by the hon. member for Winnipeg North Centre, I support him.

Some hon. MEMBERS: There is no point of order.

The CHAIRMAN: There is no point of order.

Mr. STEVENS: Surely, Mr. Chairman, it cannot be contended that there is no point of order when an hon. member rises and questions whether the house is properly constituted as a committee of the whole, whether the house agrees with him or not. That is the question which has been raised. May I say that I was entirely in favour of the Speaker's ruling as I first heard it, but when he gave his decision I distinctly heard him say "the nays have it."

Mr. DUNNING: A slip of the tongue, which he immediately corrected.

Mr. STEVENS: Possibly it was, but I say in justice to the hon. members who have risen and protested, that I know it is difficult sometimes to hear in the chamber, but I distinctly heard the Speaker say "the nays have it," and the members then did not rise quickly enough. But, Mr. Chairman, surely when an hon. member rises in good faith and questions whether the committee is properly constituted, that is a legitimate point of order, and I suggest to the Minister of Justice that the proper way to secure decorum and dignity in the house is to recognize a point of order promptly, no matter what one thinks of it.

Mr. LAPOINTE (Quebec East): I know that; I merely said it was an absurdity.

HOW IT WORKS.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

FROM more than one Ontario municipality there has been reported in the press the question by a civic official or other citizen: "What right has an outside body to come in here and fix the price of milk?" The answer, of course, is that the Milk Control Board has been assigned certain duties and given wide powers by the people of the province through their elected representatives in the Legislature. The original legislation was the Milk Control Act, 1934. That would be under the late government, but there were numerous amendments at the session of 1935, and more during the session of the Legislature now concluded.

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics

SHORT LETTER

Editor Examiner,

Sir: The wicked can run at large, but the poor dog that tries to do so must suffer death and he can say nothing for himself. I call it inhuman.

DOG OWNER.

INDUSTRIAL STRIFE

Editor Examiner,

Sir: In reply to your correspondent signing himself L 2851, I would imagine he was laboring under a delusion. The meeting he had reference to apparently he did not attend. No person attempted to assume the position of a C.I.O. organizer. Neither did the speaker pose as an organizer of the textile workers. The talk that evening was clearly confined to the basic principles of trade unionism.

Apparently this letter was meant to serve the purpose of minimizing the influence of one textile worker with others. To clear the way for those subversive elements that would bring about industrial chaos, this element do not believe in seeking amicable settlement of industrial disputes but rather foment and encourage increased industrial disputes.

The prominence of the word "STRIKE" in their vocabulary reveals the purpose of their activity. We have deplorable conditions in some of our industries, but if the worker himself is going to listen to agitators outside his own trade tradeunionism must eventually be defeated.

The hesitation in answering this correspondent was motivated by the desire to place no obstacle in the path of these people making adjustments to their advantage. Further provocation has been attempted, hence the answer. We hope the incident will be considered closed, else further revelations will be made that will only be productive of hardships for certain individuals. The worker should seek first to adjust his differences in a friendly manner.

I regret, Mr. Editor, that public press should be used for a purpose such as this. The charge of imposter was thrown without any foundation and this appears to be the only method left to present the true facts.

Thanking you for any consideration you may give this communication.

The Scheme May Work.

(From the Kitchener Record.)

THREE years ago the Washington government announced a scheme to criss-cross the western plains with a great shelter belt of young and hopeful trees.

On plains where trees never grew, trees were to grow by the thousands and the hundreds of thousands, in long windrows reaching from Canada to Mexico. Droughts would be checked, dust storms would be killed in infancy, and the grateful shade of thees trees would make the midwestern states blossom like the rose.

This announcement touched off a wide blast of ridicule. Plant trees where nature obviously had meant no trees to exist? Conjure rain out of the skies with a row of spindly saplings? The trees wouldn't live, and they wouldn't do any good if they did live. Here was a boondoggle on a scale to make all other boondoggles look sick.

Washington went ahead with the job, in spite of all this laughter, until Congress finally refused to appropriate any more money for it; and just the other day the United Press wires carried a little story telling how this luckless shelter belt project looks now.

The funny part of it is that this much-derided project looks pretty good.

To day there are 1,277 miles of shelter strips. Government workers planted an average of 740 trees to the acre; despite severe droughts since the plantings, an average of 550 trees to the acre have survived. These trees now range around 20 feet or more in height, and U.S. Forest Service experts declare flatly that the shelter belt, as far as it goes is a success.

"Experience gained thus far in shelter belt and windbreak planting," says a Forest Service bulletin, "demonstrates the value of this type of work in the great plains region, where an urgent necessity exists for an extensive tree-planting program."

Carlos G. Bates, silviculturist for the Lake States Forest Experiment Station, points out that an effective windbreak such as a belt of trees will cut wind velocity from 10 to 50 per cent for a distance 20 times as great as the windbreaks height. A belt of trees 65 feet high, therefore, would cut wind velocities for upward of a third of a mile— and, to that extent, would stop dust storms at the source.

This experiment in tree planting tends to prove the old maxim—"He who laughs last laughs best."

Trees To Prevent Floods.

(From the Ottawa Journal.)

EASTERN ONTARIO has awakened to the need for some action being taken to avert the damage done by drought and floods, now believed to be the result of indiscriminate deforestation. The convention held this week at Kemptville was the beginning of a movement toward reforestation in Eastern Ontario. Farmers, forestry experts, county wardens and agricultural representatives were unanimous in their opinions as to the need for forest conservation.

The word "conservation," as expressed by its supporters, embraces the planting of windbreakers, the adoption of methods to prevent soil erosion, the planting of trees, the preservation of wooded areas, and the conservation of those conditions that prevent Spring floods and hold back water for a more even distribution throughout the year.

Conservation, as advocated, implies woodlands as a shelter and feeding-ground for game and birds. It suggests never-failing streams in which fish may live, and rivers restored to something approaching their original volume. It promises a more dependable water supply, not only for rural homes, but also for urban communities. It suggests a restored countryside that will be attractive to tourists, and a better place to live in.

It was recommended by the convention at Kemptville that the County Council set up the nucleus of a County Conservation Committee, which would make a preliminary survey of the county and report the requirements and opportunities of the county to the County Council in January, 1938. The convention also suggested that the county make a grant of $25 to the district organization and that each county finance its own conservation program.

The program of work for the County Conservation Committee was approved by the convention. It includes the following items for 1937:

1. Induce town and municipal councils and organizations to offer prizes for best plantations or best cared-for woodlots, in their municipalities.
2. Arrange with school inspectors to have at least one lesson on conservation taught during the Winter or Spring terms in all the schools, and make arrangements so that competitors in public speaking contests will discuss conservation topics.
3. Members of the County Conservation Committee should address as many public meetings as possible on the need of conservation efforts.
4. Strive to have individuals everywhere undertake some planting as a Coronation Year project.
5. Select some principal stream, and endeavor to have the property owners plant trees on banks and hillsides as a conservation effort.
6. Give consideration to the recommendations regarding a county long term program.
7. Keep editors advised regarding the Committee's program and developments.
8. Use influence to have school ground plots planted.
9. Endeavor to enlist the co-operation of all organized forces in the county.

The county long term program has been planned along general lines. It includes such activities as a survey of the county to determine land not suitable for agricultural purposes and which might better be reforested. This would take in river banks and swamps, hillsides and ravines, submarginal lands, and cut-over land. The plan would also embrace the reforesting of existing county or township owned farms not suitable for farming, and a county or township reforestation policy whereby the county or township may purchase sub-marginal and cut-over lands for the purpose of reforestation and manage them as a municipal owned enterprise, either under present or clarified legislation. This might include properties which have come back to the municipality under tax sale, and which might be deeded to the county or township. An education campaign was also suggested to promote the program which has been prepared and outlined by the convention.

RAILWAY DOGS.

(St. Thomas Times Journal)

A great railway has to budget for a multitude of things, but it seems odd that dogs should be permanent members of the staff. The Great Western Railway of England regularly take out licenses for 25 sheep dogs, chiefly for the purpose of assisting the sectionmen in keeping certain parts of the line clear of stray sheep which come down from the surrounding hills and wander on the tracks, endangering their own lives and causing delays and inconvenience to the trains.

The intelligence of the sheepdog has always won world-wide admiration, but little praise has yet come the way of the railway sheepdog; yet, ih addition to his other accomplishments, he has to acquire "track sense." He is trained, moreover, to obey commands from a considerable distance. One of his functions is to warn men who are working on the permanent way of approaching trains and he will not leave the line until all the men are safe. His "track sense" is indeed remarkable, and if caught between the sets of lines while driving away a sheep, he will lie down until the two trains have passed.

GEMS FROM LIFE'S SCRAPBOOK

AGE

"No wise man ever wished to be younger."—Swift.

"Life is eternal. We should find this out, and begin the demonstration thereof. Life and goodness are immortal. Let us then shape our views of existence into loveliness, freshness, and continuity, rather than into age and blight."—Mary Baker Eddy.

"The evening of a well spent life brings its lamps with it."—Joubert.

"Age sits with decent grace upon his visage, and worthwhile becomes his silver locks. Who wears the marks of many years well spent, of virtue, truth, well tried, and wise experience."—Rowe.

"Like a morning dream, life becomes more and more bright the longer we live, and the reason of everything appears more clear. What has puzzled us before seems less mysterious and crooked paths look straighter as we approach the end."—Richter.

"The golden age is before us, not behind us."—St. Simon.

STILL UNPROTECTED

(South Bend Tribune)

"The fur of Rhesus monkey," we read, "will grow longer overnight to protect the animal from cold." Unfortunately, nature has not seen the way of the railway sheepdog; yet, ih addition to his other accomplishments, he has to acquire "track sense." He is trained, moreover, to obey commands from a considerable distance. One of his functions is to warn men who are working on the permanent way of approaching trains and he will not leave the line until all the men are safe. His "track sense" is indeed remarkable, and if caught between the sets of lines while driving away a sheep, he will lie down until the two trains have passed.

MINISTERS PLAN SPECIAL SERVICES FOR CORONATION

Three Union Services Be Held In City On Eve Of Coronation Day

ELECT OFFICERS

Adjutant Neil Warrander of the Salvation Army was elected president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association at the annual meeting of that body held this (Tuesday) morning. Other officers were named as follows: Vice-president, the Rev. M. C. Parr, pastor of George Street United Church; secretary, the Rev. E. W. Rowland, pastor of Mark Street United Church; treasurer, the Rev. R. T. F. Brain, assistant to the rector of St. John's Anglican Church.

In connection with the religious aspect of the city's Coronation observances, a special committee was appointed, which is to comprise: The Rev. J. D. Paterson, chairman, the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, Adjutant Warrander, and the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe.

It is planned to hold three union services on the eve of Coronation Day in line with special services of intercession for the Royal Family that are to be held throughout Great Britain on the same day. These special union services will be held at All Saints' Anglican Church, St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and at Mark Street United Church.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Barr, seconded by the Rev. P. W. Crark, a resolution was passed, copies of which are to be sent forward to Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn and to Chief Commissioner E. C. Odette of the Liquor Control Board, respecting hours for the sale of beer, wine or spirits on Coronation Day.

While the Association was of the opinion that the Liquor Control Board of Ontario will probably decide to close liquor stores and wine shops and pass special regulations in regard to beverage rooms on Coronation Day, the ministers are taking the initiative by requesting in their resolution that the liquor store, wine shop, and beverage rooms in the city remain closed on Coronation Day until at least 4 o'clock p.m.

Relative to a reported visit by city police recently to the Grand Hotel where it is alleged a number of unregistered persons were found drinking beer in guest rooms, the retiring president, the Rev. J. D. Paterson, asked if the Association proposed to take any action in the matter.

The meeting was of the general opinion that lacking detailed information of the circumstances connected with the matter no action should be taken by the Association.

The question was, however, referred by the Association to Peterborough Temperance Federation for consideration and investigation by that body. The Temperance Federation is assured of the support of the Ministerial Association in any action they might decide to take on the matter.

PLAINVILLE WINS SPIRITED DEBATE

Successful In Defeating Elizabethville Team After Well Prepared Argument

(Examiner Correspondence.)

PLAINVILLE, April 13—The April meeting of the Plainville W.M.S. was held in the basement of the church Wednesday afternoon, with a rather small attendance on account of the bad roads. The program was in charge of Miss Lucy Lander.

Wednesday evening another debate in the series was held in Plainville Church, when two previous winning teams, Elizabethville and Plainville, debated.

The program commenced with a short worship service, conducted by Plainville Y.P.S. After quiet music played by Miss Mildred Dines, a solo was sung by Miss Lena Gordon. Mr. Arthur Newman read the Scripture lesson. Miss Clara King told the story of "The Legend of Diamonds." Allan Dines offered prayer. This part concluded with the singing of a hymn and Rev. H. Mellow was called on as chairman for the debate, the subject being, "Resolved that poverty rather than riches tends to develop character." Elizabethville debaters upholding the affirmative were Miss Ahna Snowden and Mr. Lionel Hugna, while Plainsville was represented by Miss Beulah Brisbin and Mr. Alfred Scott. Although both sides put up a splendid debate, decision was given in favor of Plainville. Judges were neutral, Rev. F. Payton, Elizabethville, Mrs. Quantrell, and Mrs. Clifford Manley for Plainville. Two pleasing musical numbers, violin and vocal solos, were rendered by two Elizabethville young ladies.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 13—(C.P.) — Wheat prices recovered from early three cent losses on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day on renewed buying. At the close, values were 1¼ to ⅝ cents lower, with May at $1.41⅛, July $1.36⅝ and October $1.31.

Continued weakness in overseas markets combined with favorable prospects in North American wheat zones to bring sharp declines in early trading. Operations, including stop-loss selling, were later reversed when export interests offered good support.

Canadian wheat exports were estimated at 300,000 bushels.

TEACHERS SEEK RAISE IN SALARY

Havelock School Board Plans To Plant Six Elms On Coronation Day

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, April 13.—The regular meeting of the Havelock Public School Board was held on Thursday evening at 7.30 p.m. with Chairman Charles Taylor presiding and Trustees Mrs. Brisbin, Gardiner, Roche and Pirie present.

Principal Yuill, speaking on behalf of the rest of the teaching staff, asked the Board to consider a slight increase in salaries, stating however that the teachers were not demanding it. Mr. Yuill pointed out that the salary cuts had been quite severe and that conditions should now permit a slight raise.

Also present to address the Board were two delegates from the newly-formed Home and School Association, Mrs. H. B. Puffer and Mrs. Ray Scott, requesting the permission of the Board for the use of a school room once a month for their meetings. The delegates explained the functions of the association, stating that the main purpose was to "increase co-operation between parents and teachers for the good of the children." Their request was granted on motion of Trustees Roche and Gardiner.

In regards to a complaint made at the previous meeting by a citizen against one of the teachers, the Board had both parties present at this meeting and after listening to both sides of the story left the matter in the hands of Principal Yuill, with the advice to both parent and teacher to co-operate with him in overcoming such difficulties.

An application for a position on the Public School teaching staff, should there be a vacancy, was received from Miss Barbara Spangler, of Rainy River, Ont., and ordered filed.

Public School Inspector Copp's report was read and passed on motion of Trustees Mrs. Brisbin and Gardiner. Accommodations were graded as follows, (grading from I to III); water closets, I; water supply I; school grounds, II; school building, I; class rooms, I; halls, I; cap rooms, II; teachers' room, III; desks, I to III; blackboards, I; lighting, I; heating, I; ventilation II. Total equipment was valued at $408.10, including library at $275.85; maps, globes and charts at $75, and miscellaneous articles at $75.25.

Coronation Ceremony

It was suggested by Chairman Taylor that Mr. Yuill co-operate with Reeve Seeney in arranging for a coronation ceremony, on a small scale, for the school pupils. This will be held on the morning, Coronation Day, so that it will not interfere with the combined Norwood-Havelock celebration to be held in the afternoon at Norwood Fair grounds.

As a part of the Coronation program, the Board will plant six elm trees on King street, along the north side of the school playground, and the property committee were authorized to order the trees from a nursery and make arrangements for the planting.

The members expressed their appreciation of the splendid report given by Mrs. Brisbin, delegate to the recent Ontario Educational Association, and on motion of Trustees Roche and Gardiner this report was accepted.

On motion of Trustees Gardiner and Roche the secretary was instructed to write the Department of Education, asking that an expert survey be made of the Havelock Public School, with the view to having a room set aside for pupils requiring individual attention.

The following accounts were passed and the Public School portion ordered paid on motion of Trustees Roche and Gardiner: Hydro Commission, power and lighting, $29.78; teachers' and caretaker's salaries, April, $882.83; Mrs. P. Greenley, supply teacher, March, $3.50; Robt. McCutcheon, repairing seats and poker, $1.35; Gordon Young, window cash, 50c; Mrs. Verona Brisbin, expenses to O.E.A., $12.95.

IRELAND PREPARES ITS FINAL VOTE

tution legal critics charged that on dissolution of the Dail the authority of the Speaker would lapse, with no authority to summon the new Dail. The Irish Free State might therefore be without a parliament for good. This will be countered by a provision in the dissolution proclamation fixing a date for the assembly of the new Dail.

Speculation is keen as to what President Eamon De Valera will do with Article 1 of the present constitution. This despite 24 amending Acts, unreservedly provides that the "Irish Free State (otherwise hereinafter or sometimes called Saorstat Eireann) is a co-equal member of the community of nations forming the British Commonwealth of Nations."

The exercise of executive authority in external relations is already laid down in an Act adopted by the Dail last December. It is considered extremely improbable that this will be changed by the new constitution.

It provides that "so long as the Saorstat Eireann is associated with the following nations, that is to say Australia, Canada, Britain, New Zealand and South Africa, and so long as the King is recognised by those nations as the symbol of their co-operation and continues to act on behalf of each of these nations (on the advice of the several governments thereof) for the purpose of the appointment of diplomatic and consular representatives and the conclusion of international agreements, the King so recognised may, and is hereby authorised to act on behalf of the Saorstat Eireann for like purposes as and when he is advised by the executive council so to do."

Yet, as seen by a visitor, the problems of the Irish Free State are economic rather than constitutional. With the rising of a new generation the old bitterness against England is dying down. Opposition speakers charge the new constitution is an "audacious camouflage" to cover the rising cost of living.

Contest of Bread, Sugar Prices.

The Labor Party convention at Mount Mellick passed a resolution calling on trades union organizations and the Labor Party immediately to consider the question of taking action to compel the government to control the prices of bread, sugar, butter and other necessaries of life.

Lured by high wages prevailing in British munitions factories, the migration of young Irishmen to England is growing in strength. They crowd the week-end boats. Irish girls leaving for Britain led the Department of Industry and Commerce to establish liaison with the British Ministry of Labor. As passport control between England and the Irish Free State is non-existent, accurate figures of the movement are not obtainable. But the difference between outward and inward traffic by sea to Britain was 38,906 in 1936 against 6,519 in 1930.

Occasionally one meets young Irishmen, who have enlisted in the British forces and are home on leave. The British uniform, which a few years ago might have been the signal for trouble, now scarcely arouses comment. There's a German cruiser on a courtesy visit lying off Dun Laoghaire (Kingstown). Last night the writer witnessed the curious scene of a German naval cadet saluting a British bluejacket in uniform on the main street of Dublin.

CANADIAN HONORED

Commissioner McMillan Is Appointed Chief of Salvation Army Staff.

LONDON, April 13 (CP Cable).—Commissioner John McMillan, chief of the Salvation Army in Canada, tonight was appointed chief of staff of the organization, second only to General Evangeline Booth.

McMillan succeeds Commissioner Henry W. Mapp, whose health has broken down. He began his Salvation Army career in Canada 30 years ago and has served also in the United Kingdom, the United States and Australia.

ANY OPPOSED MUST RESIGN

Communism in this province so long as I am here.

"I have every sympathy with labor and I think they know that, but I want things done in an orderly way. The greatest enemy of communism is the sincere reformer, for communism trades on adversity and works only toward the complete destruction of everything that is lawful."

Called Extra Police.

The government leader said he had arranged for augmentation of the emergency police force now concentrated in Toronto. He summoned Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Ontario Provincial Police to the city when the 3,700 General Motors workers quit their posts last Thursday, demanding recognition of the union linked with Lewis' forces, wage advances and improved working conditions.

Ontario Provincial Police have been instructed to swear in additional constables, said the premier. He said he telegraphed the Dominion administration for additional assistance. In Toronto at present are 100 R.C.M.P. officers but it was not revealed how many were sought to add to this number.

Mr. Hepburn said his action was the result of police reports from Oshawa and his discovery that "communists from outside were ready and willing to take an increasingly active part in the Oshawa situation."

Go Hard on Employers.

If trouble were caused by Communists it would be unfortunate for General Motors' employees who have conducted themselves during the strike as "respectable, law-abiding Canadian citizens."

Police centered in Toronto would be sent to Oshawa only in the event of an emergency with which the local police would be unable to meet. From all reports, the Premier said, the Oshawa situation was becoming "a little more tense."

If the C. I. O. representatives stepped out of the picture, said Mr. Hepburn, he believed settlement could be reached with the General Motors employees.

"But the thing is a deadlock now and I'm afraid it may remain that way indefinitely," he continued. "Of course, the company is free to carry on negotiations independently of me, but I know that at the moment there are no such negotiations."

The premier said he was not opposed to international labor organizations such as the American Federation of Labor.

Against The C.I.O.

"But they are as much opposed to Lewis as I am," he added. "I am against these representatives of the C.I.O. whose actions in the United States have been illegal and who have brought disorder and bloodshed in the United States where the situation is growing worse. The A.F. of L. deserves respect and that can't be said for the C.I.O."

He concluded:

"I want to commend the leaders of the Conservative party in this province for refraining from criticising the government in this crisis. This is not a political issue but it is one which affects every good Canadian citizen.

"And by the way, if there is any one better prepared to deal with this situation I am prepared to step aside and let them go ahead. Political expediency is not a consideration here. For Oshawa is only a beginning of what may be expected from the forces of Lewis and Communists."

(Hon. Norman Rogers, Dominion Labor Minister, wrote to Mayor Alex Hall of Oshawa his department was ready to assist in negotiations. Although the dominion department's appearance in the situation has been approved the workers' representatives the General Motors heads have made no statement in this connection.)

That offer was:

EDEN UPHOLDS BRITISH POLICY

He deplored "the failure of His Majesty's Government to give protection to British merchant ships."

Letting Babies Starve.

Under the headline, "Britannia Waives the Rules," the News-Chronicle declared:

"Our attachment to non-intervention is leading us to assist actively in the attempt to starve out the Basque town. The fact proclaimed to the world without an apparent blush by Mr. Baldwin yesterday is that British ships are to be warned against attempting to carry milk to starving Basque babies because the Spanish pirate has said that he will fire upon them if they do."

Eden's Liverpool speech was mainly an appeal to the powers to iron out existing misunderstanding as the only method of preventing the Spanish civil war from spreading across Spain's frontiers.

Admitting flagrant violations of the non-intervention agreement had been committed, Eden fixated the risks of a general war had nevertheless been minimized as time went on because many of the neutral states were faithfully carrying out their pledge.

Eden predicted the Spanish civil war had a lengthy and costly course to run and declared neither Fascism nor Communism would prevail when the guns were finally stilled.

He said Britain banked on the effective application of the control plan. "Once the agreement is in force," he declared, "the prolonged period of rumor, charges and counter-charges will be at an end. We will be able to ascertain facts and no longer have to deal with hearsay evidence."

He warned that further violations would be viewed by the British government "with the gravest concern."

"There are 24,000,000 reasons why Spain will never for long be dominated by the forces, or controlled by the advice, of a foreign power," Eden said. "They are the 24,000,000 Spaniards who today inhabit war-ridden Spain."

It happened on a Thursday.

The resolution passed added: "We regret that the Prime Minister of Ontario has by statements made to the press and by process of police action attempted to intimidate these strikers. We believe this to be both unfair and unwise."

Fewer At Work.

OSHAWA, Ont., April 13 (CP)—Fewer employees went to work today at the parts department of General Motors of Canada, Limited, and there were fewer boss and jaers from the picket line of strikers, part of the 3,000 workers affected by the strike started at the plant Thursday.

A total of 40—all men—entered the parts department building. On Saturday 68 and Monday 83 had gone to work, and of those a score were girl office employees. Union picketers were told by their leaders the majority of those returning today were company foremen, and that other employees would formally sign up in the union today.

Mayor Alex Hall said he had not been advised by General Motors whether it was agreeable to the Federal Department of Labor acting as intermediator in the strike following the offer addressed to the Mayor by Hon. Nor

One-Half Hour To Prepare Dinner For Working Girls

Fireless Cooker Is Urged As Way Of Hurrying Along Meal

MENUS FOR A WEEK

By MARY MOORE

THIS will warm the hearts of every cooking mother of you: "Dear Mary Moore: Here is a stenographer asking you for advice. I live alone with my mother and I prepare the meals or what I can in that limited time so I wondered if you have any recipes or meals calling for that time. I am sure I'm not the only one that would be interested.

"Hoping that you continue your wonderful work on cooking for which you have so many admirers."

(Signed) "Working Girl."

I dearly love that letter. What a modest little body she is, and how fondly her mother must love her for being so capable and efficient.

While I know that this little girl does not want to be told to buy something first off, I must get this off my chest: A fireless cooker can be bought for about three dollars (some of them for less) and makes possible meals from foods that require long cooking; that would be denied these business housekepers who have to depend on steaks and chops and other such small fry.

That's all I am going to say about the fireless cooker——if you decide to buy one write me and I will tell you the best ways of getting the most value from it.

Very often the less time a cook has to prepare meals the better the meals are from a health standpoint—for they tend to be simpler—nigen more as Nature intended us to eat.

The best possible desserts are fresh fruits. The most easily prepared food is fresh fruit.

For instance sliced ripe bananas and cream, sliced oranges, halves of grapefruit, sliced fresh pineapple salad, diced fresh pears in orange juice. And of course the dependable old prune while it cannot be called fresh is still a valuable fruit ——and so are dried apricots and all of the canned fruits which are equally easy to serve, but not quite so "good for you."

The fruits of course can be prepared and put on the table after the main course has been put to merry cooking.

About four nights of the week when you are washing the dishes some preparation must be done for the following evening's meal.

For instance, let us suppose this is your menu:

Fried Breaded Salmon Steaks
Creamed Potatoes
Cabbage and Tomato Slaw, shredded
Crackers and Cheese Marmalade
Coffee

The evening's before preparation would include boiling the potatoes with their skins on, and rolling about ½ cup of cracker crumbs very fine to dip the salmon steaks in.

When you get home the following night the first thing to do is to start warming the milk for the cream sauce for the potatoes (1 cup). Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 1½ tablespoons flour, stir, then add the warm milk and stir until thick. Put in top of double boiler to keep hot, then peel and slice potatoes and add to the sauce, with some chopped parsley.

Cover the potatoes in the double boiler, lower the heat to just keep water simmering, and they are ready to serve when the time comes.

Dip the salmon steaks in the prepared cracker crumbs. Heat pan or if you prefer broiling, preheat the broiler. Put on to cook either under broiler or in frying pan. Turn once after 5 minutes cooking.

Make the slaw. Shred about 2-3 cup fresh cabbage very thinly, slice one tomato very finely, add it to the cabbage and stir in—add salt or mayonnaise or boiled dressing or French dressing, just as you prefer.

Set the table, having the crackers and cheese and marmalade on side table. Heat plates. Just before serving plates make the coffee and slice the lemon to serve with the salmon.

SUNDAYS are not your problem, but do remember to prepare and cook enough food that it will make Monday's dinner easy. If you have a small roast do not roast it too long, so that when it is reheated Monday night all the juices are dried up. If you make mashed potatoes, do enough that they can be made into potato cakes for Monday. If you have spinach prepare an extra quantity, it is grand added to mashed potatoes and made into "potato cakes with spinach."

On Sunday, too, you might like to take time to make a bowl of fruit salad—these are standbys in our house—where our doctor head of the house eats somewhat irregularly—that bowl of fruit salad is always ready, always a favorite.

We put a chopped banana, apple, orange, some fresh pineapple, juice from canned peaches, a few odd prunes and juice, and if it seems to lack character a little lemon juice and honey are added.

If dessert is ready to dish up most of the confusion of getting a meal on the table is eliminated.

Let us suppose that the above three dinners suggested cover Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Tuesday's Menu
Macaroni and Cheese in Tomato Sauce
Buttered Canned Green Beans
Cauliflower with Cream Sauce
Chocolate Custard Coffee

While washing the dishes Monday evening put 1 cup of broken macaroni on to cook in top of double boiler over direct heat—when boiling, put over bottom of double boiler, cover and cook until tender. Drain and put in buttered casserole with 2 cups tomato juice and 1 cup grated cheese, reserving a little of the cheese to sprinkle over the top.

Sprinkle top with salt. Let stand overnight. In morning as soon as you set up turn on the oven and put in the casserole, letting it cook while you are preparing and eating breakfast. Turn off heat and leave in oven all day.

The Chocolate Custard can be easily made Monday evening too. Melt 1 square of bitter chocolate in top of double boiler, then add 2 beaten eggs, 1¼ cups milk, ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Stir well with beater and pour into small casserole or pudding dish that has been rinsed out with cold water. Let stand overnight. In morning stand in larger dish containing hot water and put in oven with casserole of macaroni. Do not let oven heat go above 325 while you are eating breakfast. Let both things finish cooking on stored heat in oven, after you have turned it off and left for the office.

As soon as you get home from the office late Tuesday afternoon remove the custards from the oven and put in ice box to chill. Turn on heat to reheat the macaroni. Put the canned beans in a pan with the liquid around them, cover and put in oven to heat through. Heat water on top of stove for cauliflower. While coming to boiling point, pare and wash cauliflower. When it is cooking make cream sauce for it. Set table.

Wednesday Night's Dinner
Beef Liver and Bacon
Creamed Canned Tomatoes
Fresh Whole Wheat Rolls
Salad on Head Lettuce of Fresh Pear, Halved Canned Peach, and Cheese Ball Coffee

Tuesday you need do nothing for Wednesday's dinner but order the Whole Wheat Rolls by leaving a note for the baker.

Your first step in preparation would be to put the corn from the can into top of double boiler with ¼ cup cream or lacking that, ¼ cup milk and 2 tablespoons butter and salt and white pepper to taste. When it comes to boiling point reduce heat to keep it simmering and it is ready to serve when the rest of the meal is.

Make your salad, drying the lettuce well after washing it. Then fry your liver and bacon, so that it does not have to wait one instant after it is done. Have the plates hot.

Thursday Night's Dinner
Cheese Omelette
Stewed Tomatoes with Onions
Creamed Spinach
Chocolate Strata Ice Box Dessert
Cheese Coffee

Wednesday night for Thursday dinner you have to grate the cheese for the omelette (which improves if left uncovered to dry out), peel the onion for the tomatoes, and make dessert.

With your week-end groceries you will have ordered a box of chocolate cookies. Make a pile of about 6 of these, spreading whipped cream between each one, and around the whole pile when done. Put in ice box to moisten and chill and set. When ready to serve slice through the centre and put one-half on each plate.

The tomatoes should be put on to stew first, then the spinach washed, and put on to cook, then the omelette made and put on to cook, then the cream sauce.

Friday
Creamed Chipped Beef on Toast
(If you usually have fish on Friday just move these menus all back one day, and use the first menu for Friday.)
Green Peas (from can or fresh if accessible)
Celery Hearts
Ripe Banana and Grapefruit Salad
Cookies Tea or Coffee

For chipped beef make a cream sauce same as described for first meal for potatoes, but add more butter, and lastly fold in the yolk of one egg, stirring briskly. Add the chipped beef and cover and leave over double boiler to keep hot. Heat the peas, make the salad, prepare the celery, make the toast. Heat the plates.

Never an advocate of long hours spent in the kitchen, I think you would be well advised to watch the cookery page for suggestions that would suit your situation admirably. I shall try to keep you in mind, and do wish you the best of luck.

QUESTION: Would you kindly send me recipes for fruit punch that does not call for wines or liquors, and will you state how many persons recipes should serve.—P.M.T.

ANSWER: Thank you for your letter.

Fruit Punch No. 1.

One cup water, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup freshly brewed tea, 1 quart soda water or ginger ale, or other charged beverage water, 2 cups strawberry syrup (syrup from canned strawberries or raspberries or cherries will do), juice 5 lemons, juice 5 oranges, 1 can finely grated pineapple, 1 cupful maraschino cherries and juice. Make syrup by boiling water and sugar 10 minutes; add the tea, strawberry syrup, lemon and orange juices and pineapple; let stand 30 minutes, then strain out the pineapple pulp, and add ice to bring the total amount up to 1½ gallons of liquid when the ice melts. When ready to serve add the cherries and soda water. Serve in punch bowl with ice added. This quantity will serve 50 people one serving each in sherbet cups.

Oriental Fruit Punch

One cup sugar, 1 cup water, 8 cloves, 1 inch stick cinnamon, ¼ tablespoon chopped Canton ginger, juice 2 lemons, juice 3 oranges, 1 drop oil of peppermint, green coloring ming leaves. Make a syrup of boiling sugar and water 6 minutes. Add cloves, cinnamon, and ginger; cover and let stand until cold. Add fruit juices, strain, color green, and add peppermint. Let stand 1 hour and pour over cake of ice. Garnish with fresh mint. This amount will fill 10 sherbet cups.

German Fruit Punch

One cup grape juice, 1 cup cider, ½ cup grape fruit juice (canned or fresh), 1 quart charged water, sugar to sweeten to taste. Mix all ingredients but the charged water and sweeten to taste. Just before serving add the charged water. This amount will serve about 15 sherbets.

Most punches are smoother in texture if sugar is added in the form of sugar syrup rather than dry. Use 1 part sugar to in part water and boil five minutes to make sugar syrup.

We hope you find the above recipes satisfactory and shall be glad to help you at any time.

QUESTION: Thank you for all the recipes which I have taken from the paper in the past, and hope to continue to do in the future.

Please have recipes for Cherry Cake, Cheese cakes, waffles to serve with Ice Cream (between the waffles in sandwich form) in the paper soon.—Mrs. L.E.L.

ANSWER: Thank you. We hope, too, that the cookery page will continue to thrive.

Cherry Pound Cake

One cup butter, 1 2-3 cups sugar, 5 eggs, 2 cups flour, 1 cup chopped candied cherries. Work butter until creamy using the hands, and add sugar, gradually, while beating constantly; then add the eggs one at a time, beating vigorously between the addition of each. Sprinkle ¼ cup of the flour over the chopped cherries. Sift the remainder of the flour into the batter, stirring in a folding motion until all is incorporated, then fold in cherries, and pour into buttered and floured loaf pan. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for a little more than an hour.

Cheese Cakes

There are two kinds of cheese cakes. I have given recipes for both.

One cup sour milk, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 cup sugar, yolks 4 eggs, juice and grated rind 1 lemon, ¼ cup chopped and blanched almonds, ¼ teaspoon salt. Scald the sweet and sour milk together, they will form curds and whey, strain off the whey and use only the curd. (You may use unflavored cottage cheese—about ¾ cup of it in place of the two milks.) To the curd add sugar, yolks of eggs slightly beaten, lemon and salt. Line tart or patty pans with rich plain pastry, fill with the mixture and sprinkle tops with chopped almonds. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until mixture is firm to touch.

Cheese Cakes No. 2

Two tablespoons butter, 3½ tablespoons flour, 4 tablespoons grated old Canadian cheese, whites 3 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne. Melt the butter, add the flour, and stir until well blended. Remove from range and add cheese, salt and cayenne. Fold in whites of eggs, beaten until stiff, and drop from tip of spoon on a buttered sheet one inch apart. Bake in a moderate oven of 350 deg. Fahr. for 12 minutes. Serve as an accompaniment to a salad.

I think a good plain waffle recipe is what you want. To use it for sandwiches, separate into fourths and use two-fourths as top and bottom of sandwich putting one-half inch slice from brick of ice cream between.

Superior Waffles

Two cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 eggs, 1½ cups milk, ¼ cup melted butter, or cooking oil. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add beaten egg yolks to milk and combine gradually with dry ingredients. Add butter or oil and beat until smooth. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and bake on a hot waffle iron.

The flavor of the above waffles may be changed by adding grated orange rind to the batter—about 1 tablespoon and replacing ½ cup of the milk with ¼ cup strained orange juice.

Waffles made with orange flavor are often served with

Orange Sauce

Whip and sweeten with confectioners' sugar ½ pint heavy cream. Add orange juice or orange extract to taste and ¼ teaspoon of orange rind, also few drops orange juice, at any time.

We hope all these recipes are suitable and shall be glad to help you at any time.

Alabama Gale Unroofs House

A gale reaching tornado velocity, sweeping the southern United States roughly in the area swept by last spring's tragic hurricanes, caused at least 12 deaths. More than two score injuries were chalked up against the weather, which toppled buildings, uprooted trees and disrupted power and communication facilities. Pictured is a home at Montgomery, Ala., the roof of which was blown to earth, landing atop an automobile. The roof collapsed after part of it had been blown away.

Sago Notes

By MARY MOORE

Attention Reader Who Wanted Information on Sago.

Sago is procured from the starchy substance which is stored in the trunk and roots of a full-grown sago palm. To obtain it the trees are cut down when they are about 15 years old, the trunks and big roots are cut in pieces, broken up, and the starch is washed out. It is exported chiefly from Singapore and Java.

Sago Cream Pudding.

One-half cup sago, 1 pint milk, yolks of 2 eggs, a speck salt, whites of 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1-3 cup sugar. Cover the sago with boiling water in top of double boiler. Add the milk as soon as the water is absorbed, and cook until the sago is clear and soft. Beat the yolks of eggs, add the salt and sugar and the hot milk mixture and cook until it thickens like a soft custard. Remove from the heat, fold in the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. Flavor when cold with vanilla. The whites of the eggs could be mixed with 4 tablespoons of sugar and beaten very stiff and spread over the pudding and returned to the oven for the meringue to brown.

Sago can be used in almost any way that you would use tapioca or rice.

DAYLIGHT SAVING STARTS

Clocks Moved Ahead One Hour on Sunday Night in Regina.

REGINA, April 13 (C.P.)—Regina citizens went about their business on daylight saving time to-day. Clocks of the only Western Canada city to adopt "fast" time were moved ahead one hour on Sunday night.

Daylight saving time was authorized in Regina by referendum last summer and was in effect from July until October 1. On the same date this year clocks will be moved back. All towns of the district are on mountain standard time.

Feared Re-arrest, So Man Escaped From Jail.

OTTAWA, April 13 (C.P.)—Police were puzzled when Joseph Leclair, 37, escaped from Carleton County jail yard last Friday with only a few hours to serve of a 30-day sentence, but to-day they believed they had the answer.

Leclair, serving the sentence for breach of the Ontario Liquor Control Act, had been "kidded" by fellow-prisoners, they said, that he would be re-arrested on another charge as soon as he stepped from the jail.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta

HE who is silent is forgotten; he who abstains is taken at his word; he who does not advance falls back; he who stops is overwhelmed, distanced, crushed; he who ceases to grow becomes smaller; he who leaves off gives up; the stationary condition is the beginning of the end.—H. F. Amiel.

Dear Friends:

Just recently I was talking to a woman, and she said "Roberta, I would like to give up for a while, to do nothing, not even think," and I told her that would never happen until she was dead, and maybe not then.

None of us can stand still. We are either going forward or back there is no half-way house in this business of living and the sooner we realize it the better. Neither can we be very passive, we must stand for something even altho' we may be rather colorless about it or lukewarm in our opinions.

If you are afraid to speak up when you should, for yourself or for the friend who is being criticised in their absence, or for the things you believe in, don't blame anyone when you are forgotten. Don't forget that life is a lusty thing, and there is lots of silence in the grave, or so we have been led to believe.

There are two kinds of abstinence, the one when you do not do a thing because it will injure you, and the other because you don't want to enjoy living yourself and do not want others to do it either, so don't be surprised if you are left out, when you act like that.

Life is a constant effort. You must breathe, you must move, you must work, else all around you will pass you by. But you must also think things out, find the why and the wherefor, before it gets a tang and a zest to it. And just letting someone else do your thinking for you is not real living.

Nothing is ever stationary, it either goes forward or backward. It either improves or deteriorates, so let us get into the procession, let us step forward with willing feet, not hanging back in fear because life has hurt us a bit. You were not born without hurt to someone, you cannot live without things are hurt and filled so that you may eat. If all the ghosts of all the animals that have been killed for mankind's appetite were to stand around and reproach us for it, how horrible it would be.

Yet we go around with a reproach in our minds because we have been hurt, we pull back from living, we fear we may be wounded again, so we go backward instead of forward. There was a guy who said "his head was bloody but unbowed" and mine has been both bloody and bowed, but I got it up again, I licked my wounds and struggled on, for I knew that somewhere in the future lay something good for me, and I want to get to it.

I find as I get a little older that the big things do not bother me half so much as a lot of little things. I can cope with the larger mishaps, I can brace myself for the struggle, but all the little irritations get under my skin and annoy me intensely.

So then, I decide that if they are intolerable, I will not put up with them, and once you decide that, you find you don't HAVE to put up with them, for you either make a change, or your thought goes out to those who do these things, and they are altered.

So many DO put up with lots of small nagging things when, if they only resolved and kept their resolve, they would be changed. But they fear to make the effort they "Cannot see" how they could be better so they go around a bundle of nerves, with no enjoyment in life at all.

Never forget that if one door closes, another will open. God never leaves us stranded if we make an effort to better ourselves. Emerson says this: "The world is all gates, all opportunities, strings of tension waiting to be struck," so strike out for yourself, breast the stream of living, do not fear so much, but go on with courage and determination and hope, and learn what life really is—a glorious thing.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Beef Tongue a la Gurney.

Boil a large fresh beef tongue in water to cover for two hours—flavor the liquid with 1 bay leaf, 4 cloves, 4 peppercorns, and 2 teaspoons salt. Skin and lay in a roaster upon a layer of vegetables cut into dice—carrots, turnips, celery, potatoes, onions, and small tomatoes left whole. Pour about the tongue some of the water in which it was boiled; cover and cook slowly two more hours or until tender.

Remove tongue to hot platter, surround it with mounds of served vegetables, thicken the gravy with browned flour, and pour over the tongue, sending more of the gravy to the table in a gravy boat. (The liquid left from boiling tongue makes most excellent soup base.)

CRIMSON VELVET FOR PRINCESSES

Daughters Of King And Queen Tickled With Their Part In Things

LONDON, April 13 (C.P.). — Two of the happiest young women in London are the youngest royalties "summoned" to be present at the Coronation in Westminster Abbey on May 12.

Much to their delight, it has been decided that Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose will wear crimson velvet capes made of the material especially woven in England for their mother's train, when she was to appear at the ceremony as Duchess of York.

Princess Margaret Rose has been particularly intrigued with the idea of a cape since she looked on while arrangements were made about the Queen's train of purple velvet. It is to be six yards long and 56 inches wide, lined throughout and bordered with a five-inch band of ermine and heavily embroidered in gold with emblems of the British Empire.

The young Princess watched the fitters and listened carefully. "It will be frightfully heavy," was her comment. Her next words showed a slightly different train of thought, she wanted to know "if it would be much heavier if someone rode on it."

At the Theatres

AT THE REGENT.
"GOLD DIGGERS OF 1937."

The old boy looked like a dried-up prune, but he came to with a bang when the blonde Genevieve went to work on him. That's what happened to the slick Osgood Perkins who does one of the villains in this snappy, vivacious, tuneful, funny production.

They have plenty of pretty girls in this latest edition of 'Gold Diggers,' but they go in also for a lot of laughs. You'll chuckle right along with the rest of the audience when Victor (Wintergreen) Moore arrives on the scene—a daffy old guy who sets with all the sincerity and pluck that a lot of these former stage stars are able to impart to their screen roles. He is J. J. Hobart, the theatrical producer who goes broke by way of a couple of rascally partners, and then comes to life by way of a bunch of feather-head friends.

This 'Gold Diggers' has an opening that introduces—of all things—one of those queer collective guilty-as an insurance salesmen's convention at that. And the whole action of a piece that goes in for fun and romance and dancing and undemand skullduggery and precision, patterns and beautiful choreogr is involved in an insurance policy for the staggering sum of a million dollars.

Dick Powell and Joan Blondell have the center stage in this production. (By the way, Dick and Joan were married during the making of this movie, which possibly accounts for the authenticity of their love-making in the picture). Dick sings some pretty numbers and Joan rolls her eyes in the well-known way.

And the deft-footed Lee Dixon does some smart stepping in this picture.—C.L.M.

White and Silver

Black is very good this spring, especially when combined with white or silver. Mary Carlisle is wearing a two-piece black crepe dress with a tunic piped and collared in white with narrow silver edge. Tiny rhinestone buttons fasten it down the front, and a black crepe sash ties across the back. Mary's hat is black straw with high crown accented by two white feather pompons.

Fashion Service

Beautifully flared cape-like sleeves distinguish this spring dress of sheer crepe.

The belt arrangement is very unusual and youthful. It is slipped through slots at the front, ending in a perky bow at the side.

The collared neckline may be high or in lower vee. Another interesting detail is the pleat at the front of the flared skirt.

After you've finished the spring dress, you'll want to make one in cotton challis print or in bright linen. Tub silks are also charming for it.

It's such an easy dress to sew. The pattern is accompanied by clear step-by-step instructions.

Style No. 3071 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42-inches bust. Size 36 requires 5¼ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 39-inch contrasting.

4 Women Parliamentarians Lay Different Summer Plans

Senator Fallis Coming Home to Husband and Farm--Wilson, Black Trips To Sea, Mexico

MACPHAIL, GARDEN PARTIES

OTTAWA, April 13. — (CP) — Canada's four women parliamentarians plan varied holidays now the session is over, one a seaside sojourn, one a trip to Mexico, two others journeys home.

Senator Cairine Wilson, mother of eight children, says her duties as a mother become increasingly important when the young people come home for the holidays. She will stay here till around the end of June, then go to her summer home at St. Andrew's, N.B., on the Bay of Fundy.

Agnes Macphail, U.F.O.-Labor House member for Grey Bruce, says: "I have six fine new constituents and I intend to spend the summer becoming acquainted with them."

"There are several new towns and villages in her riding.

"It is the sort of thing I love doing, however, and it will be a holiday for me, driving along country roads, stopping to chat here and there and getting acquainted. There will be garden parties and so on, at which I will talk with old friends and get to know new ones."

She plans a journey to Mexico in the fall, travelling west and down the Pacific coast, but, she adds, "there is a lot of work to be finished here before I get away at all."

Senator Iva Fallis is going home to Peterborough, Ont., to spend some time with her husband. Thereafter, she said, her plans are indefinite.

Mrs. George Black Conservative House member for the Yukon, is going to the south-west with her husband, former Speaker of the House, before returning to her home at Dawson.

She and Senator Wilson looked back on the session and recalled some things that amused them. Senator Wilson remembered the day a mouse was sighted in the Upper House. Constable John Phimmester, of the protective force, a big Irishman, was called to chase it. He failed and it was captured by a young woman who pleaded for its life. She won out but two mouse traps were ordered.

Coffee, Doughnuts Fine For Slenderness

NEW ORLEANS, April 13—(AP)—Take the word of Dr. Howard J. Crum, coffee and doughnuts is proper fare for seekers of slenderness. Years of experimenting with reducing diets have proved the time-honored combination to be "most satisfactory," he told the Southern Beauticians Association.

Dr. Crum, plastic surgeon and beauty consultant of New York City, conceded a majority opinion of the diet conscious population would ban coffee and doughnuts from the table as producers of weight but, he added, "This is not so."

"We have tested it," he said.

Home and School Association News

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

The April meeting of Central Home and School Association was held on Monday evening at the school, with a good attendance. Mrs. C. H. McWilliams was in the chair. Business occupied the first part of the meeting. Reports of convenors were heard, as follows: Mrs. F. Skitch, for sick-visiting; Mrs. G. Metcalfe, for membership (reporting that several new members had joined); Mrs. R. Lee, for telephone; Mrs. N. Stanger, Review and pins. A paper on first-aid, which was the subject of last month's health talk by Dr. Murray was read by Mrs. N. Stanger. These meetings are held on the third Wednesday afternoon of each month in Dr. Fraser's office, and more members would be welcome. A letter was read from the Y.W.C.A. requesting the co-operation of the association at the forthcoming pageant. The Salvation Army also sent a request that the association be represented at the meeting on Monday at the Temple.

Mrs. N. Stanger was again appointed as representative to the Local Council of Women. K. S. Wightman was present and reported that a paper collection would be held on Thursday and Friday of this week, and the parents are asked to co-operate with the children to make this a success. On Thursday afternoon the Local Council of Women will hold a tea. The attendance picture went to Mr. Wightman's room.

A pleasing musical program, and a report of the O.E.A. annual convention given by Mrs. McWilliams, occupied the latter part of the meeting. Mrs. McWilliams attended the meetings on Wednesday, the 31st March, when the Rev. Peter Bryce was special speaker. The many highlights of the day's proceedings presented by Mrs. McWilliams proved entertaining and instructive for the parents present.

Mrs. A. H. Radford (playing her own accompaniments on the piano) sang "Love's a Merchant" and "Fiddler Youth," and received great applause.

Mrs. M. McGee read several of her own compositions of poetry, which were well received.

A clever exhibition of free-hand drawing was given by Fred Craig, a pupil of D. Munro. Airplanes, a stream-line train, steamships, and motor cars were among the subjects drawn on the blackboard with chalk by this clever young artist.

GOING METROPOLITAN

Oil Workers' Town is Changing Rapidly Daily.

CALGARY, April 13.— (CP).— Turner Valley oil workers are going metropolitan. To rival "Little Chicago," the name of one cluster of buildings, another hamlet has appeared under the name "Little New York." Scenes change fast at the latter settlement. As to the number of buildings a miner said "Well it depends what time of the day you go there—the town is growing so fast."

Banks On U.S. Court Ruling

In a statement last night Thompson, an organizer for the Committee for Industrial organization, suggested that the supreme court decision in Washington yesterday upholding the Wagner National Labor Relations Act would eventually settle the Oshawa strike.

Thompson said that under the act a union having 51 per cent of a company's employees as members becomes the collective bargaining agency fr all employees. This would make U.A.W.A. the sole bargaining force for General Motors employees in the United States and force a recasting of the agreement recently signed in Detroit, Thompson said.

When the new agreement was signed it would be made to include General Motors of Canada, Thompson declared. He made the statement after a long distance conversation with Homer Martin, international president of the U.A.W.A.

Want 100 P.C. Enrolment.

An effort is being made in Oshawa to sign all employees of General Motors as members of the union. Union heads said the maintenance group signed up yesterday "almost to a man" and that the union previously had only a few members in that department of the plant. Attempts are also being made to sign up employees of the parts department, all of whom went to work yesterday. Union officials claim this drive also is meeting with success.

Union officials also claim public opinion in Oshawa is behind the workers. Thompson announced merchants are donating food and that the union has been promised 200 loaves of bread free every day of the strike. Others are donating meats and cheese to help feed the picketers.

Thompson said the Oshawa local of the U.A.W.A. has not yet appealed to the International organization for funds. He said the strikers still have not spent their last pay and that a week's wages is owing them by General Motors.

"There is no need as yet for financial assistance to be given the union," he said. "But when it is needed it will be there."

On the subject of money Thompson referred to a reported statement of Premier Hepburn that Thompson and Martin were "highly paid professional agitators, making a fat living out of the pay envelopes of our working class."

Thompson offered to sell his bank account for $15 and claimed he is paid only $6 a day five days a week and has a limited expense allowance. He said Martin could make 10 times his present salary in private business and that he, Thompson, had turned down a $10,000 a year job as sales manager because he found more satisfaction in labor organization.

CAMPBELLFORD

REAR-LANE POLES LESS DANGEROUS

New Distribution Used To Supplant Present Bell Telephone System

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, April 13.—The advantages of rear-block distribution as it is being used to supplant the present street distribution by the Bell Telephone Company, formed the subject of an interesting address delivered before the Rotary Club at it luncheon on Monday. The speaker, W. J. Sheridan, right-of-way agent for the company by whom he has been employed for the past thirty years explained that although a Dominion Government charter granted them the right to place their poles on the sides of streets and highways the experience of many years had shown that the upkeep of lines at the rear of building coal less and offered the further advantage of being more readily accessible than lines placed on busy thoroughfares where a maze of Hydro, light and trolley wires made working difficult and often dangerous.

Five Months Work.

Referring to the local situation the speaker pointed out that lines would skirt the river to service the West side of Front street while another line would run mid-way between Front and Rear streets behind the buildings. Provision is also being made for underground cable to be run from Booth and Bridge streets to Tice and Canrobert streets which work is being done in co-operation with the local Water and Light Commission, who plan to lay their conduit in the Telephone Company's excavation in order to expedite the future work of changing over the system completely. Mr. Sheridan estimated that the present work which the company plans to begin very soon would take nearly five months.

He pointed out that he wished to correct an erroneous impression that the Telephone Company was assessed for the poles which were on the streets and that their removal meant a loss of revenue to the corporation, which was not the case since the company is assessed on its gross revenue in the corporation.

At the conclusion of Mr. Sheridan's address nominations for officers of the club were made in participation of the election of officers to be held on the first Monday in May. Messrs. Edgs Dallman, Chas. Davidson, Harold Neale, Jerry Maguire, Earl Bell and Hugh McLaren were the six whose names will appear on the ballot to fill the offices of Presidens, Secretary, and two Directors.

Head Of Rice Lake Free Of Ice Strong Winds Cause Breakup

Trappers Report Muskrat Run Nearly Over After Poor Season

RATS ARE VERY THIN

BAILIEBORO, April 13—The high winds which prevailed on Saturday and most of Sunday drove the ice entirely from the head of Rice Lake. All that remains now is some badly battered sections of ice around the islands at the foot of the lake.

To residents residing on the northern side of the lake practically no damage was wrought by shifting ice. Some shore lines and boat houses were wrecked on Saturday at Brewery and on the south shore where the high winds shoved the ice high on those shores. This season the ice lacked the strength of former years owing to the mild winter and when it first started jamming it soon disappeared.

Poor Trapping Season

The muskrat season in this district has been very disappointing to trappers. Water in the marshes has been very low and is has been extremely difficult to get satisfactory sets. It is generally thought that the run is practically over for this year and the catch has been one of the smallest in several years.

The quality of furs is considered rather poorer than usual as the muskrats in many instances are very thin and consequently the pelts are not of as good quality.

CONCESSIONS ARE SOLUTION

troit other than that the situation in Oshawa is a Canadian situation in another country," he stated.

Definite statements have been made that the agreements made in the United States were never intended to cover Canadian plants too he claimed, since the economic conditions of each country had to govern operations there.

Interference by "professional C.I.O. leaders, who obviously are supplied with ample funds, as evidenced by the fact that most of them are now travelling in luxurious private airplanes," should be resented by all Canadians, Premier Hepburn concluded in his statement.

Still Ready To Help

"I believe we are quite capable of settling our own domestic problems, labor or otherwise," he said. "I still offer my services as mediator between the company and employees and will meet any representative group of Oshawa citizens or General Motors employees, at any time, any place or at any hour, if I can contribute in any way to a settlement which will stop men walking the streets in idleness and place them back in gainful occupation."

He was not perturbed by the "tirade of abuse" to which he had been subjected by those who "are not interested in your welfare in particular, but who are anxious to wax fat by exacting a monthly toll from you pay envelope."

Premier Hepburn said it was not his function to act as mediator between the company and its employees, but since he had been asked to receive a delegation of strikers, he had taken upon himself the responsibility of conveying to the General Motors executive the strikers' grievances.

Mr. Hepburn made clear that General Motors were offering to grant wage increases despite the fact that a recent increase was granted to all employees and that the company's budget for the year had been completed and price schedules announced, which meant that any further increase would have to be absorbed on the company's balance sheet.

REBELS SHATTER LOYALIST CHARGE

militiamen had been forced back across the narrow open space dividing the front lines, more than 200 of their dead lay on the battlefield.

Gen. Jose Miaja's Militianos had battered at Insurgent positions between the Casa de Campo, west of the city, and the Escorial road, to the northwest, yesterday morning.

Their final efforts came late in the afternoon of the fourth day of the government's attempts to crack the Insurgent hold on the western rim of the capital.

Massed tank companies led the assault. The wave of attacks began to break before "bottle squads" of fire throwers whose accurate aim turned the tanks into blazing funeral pyres, disorganizing the infantry.

The militiamen attempted to reform their lines at the Puerta de Hierro but were caught between cross fires of Insurgent batteries in University City and on the west bank of the Manzanares river.

The steady stream of shells scattered the government troops in all directions, some even rushing in their terror toward the Insurgent lines where machine guns mowed them down.

The government has been reported to have developed an asbestos lining for the interior of the tanks as a defence against the flame attack, but the machines used yesterday were apparently not so equipped.

MANY TRUCKERS DRIVE TOO FAST

Regulations Regarding Trucking Outlined By Provincial Inspectors

A number of local and district truck owners and operators were addressed by L. G. Fabian of the Ontario Provincial Police and J. H. Rogers, special inspector of the Department of Highways at a meeting held in Empress Hotel on Monday evening.

The two officials, who are engaged in the district checking up on infringements of the Highway Traffic Act and Public Commercial Vehicle Act, outlined rules and regulations of the Department, particularly as regards equipment, courtesy on the road, gross weights, and speeding.

They said they had to complain of overloading by several truckers and of speeding on the part of the majority of them. Special attention was called to one of the newer regulations which requires trucks to keep 100 feet apart on the highways.

Mr. Fabian said the purpose of the meeting was to call to attention of the truckers and motorists in general some of the more common infringements of the law in regard to motor vehicles with a view to having better cooperation in the future. "It has always been the policy of the Department of Highways to give the public due warning before we start to issue tickets," he said.

Mr. Fabian added that he and his colleague are intending to check up on cars carrying passengers for hire without license to do so. He claims there are unlicensed passenger cars plying for hire between Peterborough-Lakefield-Burleigh Falls and Apsley; between Peterborough-Lindsay; and also east on No. 7 Highway.

CANADIAN YOUTH MUST CARRY ON PIONEER SPIRIT

Three Hundred Boys And Their Fathers Hold Banquet At George Street

E. C. DYSON SPEAKS

A challenge to the youth of Canada to live up to their Canadian heritage was expressed by E. C. Cyril Dyson, member of the Toronto Board of Education and prominent architect, in an address to a gathering of fathers and sons of George Street United Church at supper Monday evening. Canada has pioneered in many fields of progress in recent history and it remains for "present-day Canadian youth to carry on, as declared.

Three hundred boys and their fathers heard the inspirational address which featured a full social program. Rev. M. C. Parr, church pastor, officiated as toastmaster under the chairmanship of A. V. Idlow, chairman of the Program committee.

Mr. Dyson developed his theme from the thought of getting the gold out of the gold ore. Gold is of no use while it is invisible, small grains in gold ore and must be extracted, he said. He suggested in parallel that youth must prove its worth and declared that Canada is looking to its youth to follow in the footsteps of those who pioneered in the north country, and in many other realms of modern progress.

Henry Winslow expressed eloquently a joint toast to the fathers and sons. The response was made by W. H. Hamilton. A. B. Burrows voiced the toast to the ladies. Thanks to the speaker were extended by Homer Berland.

Not the least feature of the program was presentation of awards to the George Street bantam hockey team and the bantam baseball team, Church League series during the past year. Alex Stewart officiated. To Miss Sarah Miller a fine bouquet of flowers was presented in recognition of her kindness in supplying hot biscuits for the past several father and son banquets.

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, of Murray Street Baptist Church was extended a welcome and Stewart Laing, Peterborough's member to the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament, was introduced.

Mrs. W. J. Copp and Mrs. C. H. Fulford were convenors for the banquet.

ARMSTRONGS BUY SEVERAL JERSEYS

Bailieboro Farmers Purchase Herd From S. S. Staples Of Cavan

Reg. Armstrong and Son, farmers in the Bailieboro district, recently purchased a herd of pure bred Jersey cattle from S. S. Staples of Cavan. They have been specializing in the dairy branch of their industry on their modern farm, and as a progressive step they decided to sell their grade Jerseys, replacing them with pure bred, accredited cattle from the Staples herd.

Mr. Armstrong and his son have become members of the Canadian Jersey Breeders' Association, and in future will retail their products under the registered Jersey trade mark. They will sell whole milk in Bailieboro and sweet cream and butter in Peterborough.

The cattle they purchased includes "Oredit River Fern," a four year-old R.O.P. cow which as a two-year-old produced 8,566 pounds of milk and 362 pounds of butter fat, with an average test of 5.51 per cent. While making this record she was exhibited, and was a consistent winner at Toronto, Ottawa, Belleville, Peterborough and local exhibitions.

"Springville Mayflower," a senior yearling heifer, which is a show prospect, "Springville Xenia," senior yearling bull, has been selected a herd sire. Prisoner Remanded Week For Sentence

Electing to be tried by the magistrate, Herbert Foster pleaded guilty in police court this morning to destroying a barn, the property of Florence Ferguson, of Smith township, by naming it, and to a second and more serious charge arising out of the same incidents.

Magistrate Langley remanded him a week for sentence.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., who appeared for the prisoner said that the case was a mental one but not sufficiently advanced to make insanity a defence. He hesitated, he said to make the suggestion to the court, but he felt that the prisoner would be better looked after under the Ontario government than if committed to a Federal penitentiary as there was no provision under the Dominion regulations for the transfer of a mental case from a penitentiary to a hospital for the insane.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, Q.C., outlining the facts of the case said that the conduct of the prisoner had been far from normal.

Magistrate Langley decided to take a week to decide whether to send the man to penitentiary or commit him to the Ontario Reformatory.

Smith Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. And Mrs. William Brown Were Married By Rev. Isaac Tovell

MARRIED ON THIRTEENTH

One of the oldest active farmers in the district, William Brown and his wife the former Elizabeth Lytle received the congratulations of a host of relatives and friends today on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

At their farm home on Langton street, Smith Township the happy couple were the central figures at a buffet supper at which were present their seven sons and two daughters and twelve grandchildren and one great-grandchild, in addition to a number of invited guests.

Recalling the wedding ceremony of fifty years ago, Mr. Brown stated that the Rev. Isaac Tovell who was then pastor of George Street Methodist Church, walked from the parsonage out to a cottage opposite the water works where the ceremony was held. "There were no cars in those days and people thought nothing of walking. They were a lot better off for it too", Mr. Brown believed.

Although he was married on April 13, 1887 a day which he declares is popularly regarded by superstitious people to be unlucky, Mr. Brown said his married life has been a particularly happy one.

He and his wife raised a family of ten children, one of whom is dead. Their sons and daughters who all reside in Smith Township are: Fred, Victor, Ephraim, Jonathan, Klondike Gold, Edith (Mrs. George Benton), Morgan, Flossie, and Sidney.

A son of the late James Brown and Hannah Brunwell, Mr. Brown was born in a log house which still stands about 100-yards from the modern farm home in which he is now living. He is the only survivor of a family of seven.

Despite his advanced age, he will be 86 on October 2 next, Mr. Brown is still an active worker. He owns 300-acres of farm land in Peterborough County and pays taxes also on property within the city. His wife who is ten years his junior will be 72 on October 6 next. She was born at Kirkfield and was a daughter of pioneer English stock.

Mr. Brown who has seen many changes in a lifetime of residence on his present property states that within his own recollection the section of the township in which he lives was regarded by the people of Peterborough as being in the backwoods. It was a very heavily wooded section, and stony also. A quantity of the stone used in construction of Nicholls Hospital was taken off the Brown homestead.

During the day the happy couple received many congratulatory telegrams, while there was a beautiful bouquet of roses telegraphed to them from far away North Dakota.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, April 14

A day of perplexity and doubt is indicated by the contradictory force of major planetary directions. While things may be lively and enterprising enough, events may arise and propositions be offered calling for very wise decisions and shrewd business acumen. These may involve change of plans or possible travel. Moreover, calm judgment and lack of impetuous conduct, disputes and violence, with a firm restraint of the emotions, is important to success.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a lively and probably exciting year, calling for all their shrewd and sagacious business talents, calm judgment and sound decision, free from rancor, impetuosity, violence and antagonism. Refrain from strife, contention and emotional excitement.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, determined and bold in putting over constructive plans. It may lean toward taking big chances, possibly to its detriment. It should be trained in calmness and self-discipline in its emotions and impulses. It may be prone to sidestep the conventional and orthodox. Open and subtle opposition figures in its life.

NAME FRED HILLS PARADE MARSHAL

Already Twenty Floats Have Been Entered In Coronation Day Parade

Fred Hills was named as parade marshal at a meeting of the Parade Committee under chairmanship of John T. Hornsby, which gathered at the Chamber of Commerce on Monday evening in connection with the city's observance of coronation celebrations.

A representative number of merchants and manufacturers accepted an invitation to be present at the meeting and discuss plans in connection with the Coronation Day parade. Already twenty floats have been entered in the parade, and the committee is confident of securing a great many more entries.

It is planned to have the floats representative of outstanding events in national or local civic history, while the parade is also to include ex-servicemen, militia units, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, bands, and representatives of the various other organizations of the city.

Two routes for the parade have been suggested — the first directly south on George street to the Exhibition Grounds, and the other west on Charlotte and south on Rubidge. Decision on this matter was left in the hands of the general committee of which Alderman James Dutton is head.

Power Used In City Tripled Since Hydro Took Over Service

Peterborough's Total Hydro Reserves And Surplus Is Now $749,362

CONSUMERS DOUBLED

Peterborough's total of Hydro reserves and surplus is now, according to the new municipal Hydro report, $749,362 itemized in Provincial Hydro record as follows: Reserve for equity in Provincial Hydro System, $189,039; reserve for depreciation on local plant, $110,230; local sinking fund, $208,448; and operating surplus, $150,206; other reserves, $1,237.

Number of consumers this year is 6,468, as against 3,936 in 1915, average horse-power used in Peterborough last year was 7,194.3 as against 2,689 in 1915, the first year of the Hydro service. Total revenues were last year $339,709 as against $96,015 in 1915. Lighting revenues totalled $308,140 as against $57,434 in 1916; kilowatt hours sold for lighting were 11,509,583, as against 978,032, and plant capital is now valued at $756,516, as compared with $173,330 in 1919.

Last year the average cost per kilowatt-hour for domestic and commercial lighting consumers was 1.80c, while in 1916 the average cost per kilowatt-hour was 5.87c.

The provincial picture of the people's Hydro business is such that at the close of the present fiscal year, October 31, the Commission believes it can again reduce the wholesale rates of power to the municipalities.

This belief is based upon the continuation through the current year of economies effected in Provincial Hydro administration, in bond renewals at lower interest rates, and rearrangement of the power-purchase contracts. These cost outlinements together, enabled the almost universal cut of 12.50 in interim power cost to municipalities on November 1, last year.

The biggest item in present Hydro cost reducing factors is that relating to power purchase. The cost of purchased power for the year 1936 on the Niagara system was $3,110,848 whereas the corresponding cost in 1925, before rearrangement of contracts, was $6,239,968.

While of course, the people of Ontario could never have afforded to use such quantities of electricity at old private power rates, as they have bought from Hydro, the difference between Hydro bills down through the Hydro years and that same quantity electricity at pre-Hydro prices is calculated at about $900,000,000.

NORMIE SMITH BACK IN THE NET FOR WIN TONIGHT

Adams Will Also Use Kelly To Bolster Morale—Patrick Is Smiling

"NO WORRIES AT ALL"

DETROIT, April 13 (CP)—Normie Smith, top-ranking goalie of the National Hockey League, returns to the Detroit Red Wings nets tonight as the Motor City men engage New York Rangers in the fourth game of the best three-of-five series for the Stanley Cup and the world hockey championship now resting in Detroit.

Smith, out with injuries for two games and part of a third in the Ranger-Red Wing series, comes back to the wars along with Pete Kelly, injured in the first New York game, to round out a team of Red Wing "regulars."

Manager Jack Adams, announcing he would not use his two rookies, Goalie Earl Robertson and Johnny Sherf, said they had already done yeoman playoff duty but the greater experience of Smith and Kelly would bolster the morale of a team that can't lose and retain the cup.

Rangers, leading 3-1 in games by virtue of Sunday night's 1-0 win and their victory on home ice in the first cup-round game, appeared optimistic of finishing the series on four matches. Adams, however, differed.

"Tonight is another night," declared Smiling Jack. "We'll even matters and win in a fifth game Thursday."

Can Afford Mistakes.

"We have nothing to worry about," said Lester Patrick, New York manager. "We can afford to make mistakes. They can't. I told the Ranger squad I no longer consider them rookies. They've been in seven play-off games and I'm selling them the idea they're veterans now."

While the Detroiters went through a light skating drill yesterday Patrick ordered his men to rest after a conference on strategy. He said the only casualty was Defenceman Art Coulter who had a gashed cheek, but Lester figured this would not hinder the husky Winnipeger.

Adams dismissed Neil Colville's Sunday night goal that gave Rangers the edge as a "cheap" marker. "We won't give them any opportunity to score such goals," he declared.

"Our defence will play a cautious game, and it's going to be quite a job for those Rangers to get a solid shot at the nets."

Probable line-ups:

Rangers.		Detroit.
	Goal.
Kerr		Smith
	Defence.
Coulter		Goodfellow
Heller		Bowman
	Centre.
Watson		Barry
	Wings.
Murdoch		H. Kilrea
Keeling		Lewis

Rangers subs: Johnson, Pratt, N. Colville, M. Colville, Shibicky, Dillon, Cooper, Patrick Boucher.

Detroit subs: Pettinger, Howe, Bruneteau, W. Kilrea, Kelly, Sherf, Mackie, Sorrell, McDonald, Gallagher.

AUDIENCE PLEASED WITH IRISH PLAY

Lyceum Players Present 'Blarney Stone' To Crowded Downeyville Hall

(Examiner Correspondence.)

DOWNEYVILLE, April 13. — The hall here was crowded Friday evening when the Dramatic Club of the Lyceum, Peterborough, presented their four act play, "The Blarney Stone."

The crowd enjoyed every minute of the play and the Irish music and songs played and sung during the play were well worth hearing. The four acts were filled with entertainment, telling of the ups and downs, joys and sorrows of the O'Linns of Knocksnure and the friends who gather to hear the will of an uncle who leaves his money in a very unusual way.

The splendid acting of Miss Stella Brady as "Mother Machree" (the name of Mrs. Mary O'Linn) who has an old lover return to her home in a jaunting car who represents himself as a salesman from New York City, Timothy McCann, the part ably taken by Jack Rosch.

The part of Brian O'Linn who is the owner of a paper known as "The Blarney Stone" is taken in splendid fashion by Jack Whaley and especially in a duet "Judy" sung by Jack Whaley and Miss Stella Brady. The younger O'Linn brother Peter, who his mother wishes to become a doctor is taken by Fergus O'Brien who takes his part well. Then there is the man of the world, interesting although playing the part of the villain which was taken by Felix Meldon, whose splendid acting was enjoyed by all.

Miss Nora Moher as Kitty Tyrell a cute little lady won the praise of every one in the audience and Miss Josephine Killoran as Hannah Milloy the lady with the crisp voice wanted every thing done with efficiency who was supposed to marry one of the O'Linn boys did splendid acting.

The best part of the play was the acting of Wilfred Lebarr who played the part of Ony Dolan and Larry Collins as Fogarty, the hateful bill collector.

The singing of "Mother Machree" by Miss Stella Brady during the play was splendid as it was the first time the people here had the opportunity of hearing Miss Brady's splendid voice. Solos were also sung by Mr. Priudible, who sang "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "That Dear Irish Mother of Mine."

After the play the cast were entertained at a dainty lunch at home of Rev. Father McFa... The play was enjoyed by all and hope to have the Peterborough ers come again in the near fut...

SPORTS DAY by DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

A GENT named Kingsley once wrote a bit of a stormy ballad, said in part: "Men must work and women must weep, though storms be sudden and waters deep, and the harbor bar be moaning." While the harbor bar is one that we haven't located as yet, we can readily agree with the first line inasmuch as organizing sports is concerned. The boys—that is the men—are busy these Spring evenings holding meetings to line up summer sports, worrying about teams, grounds and finances, and trying to get the various summertime leagues organized. Several meetings this week and three or four more on the books next week. Once the playing seasons begins—when the players and fans come out like debs at a social function—these officers retire into the background. Theirs the work with little credit. As Kingsley concluded: "And the sooner it's over the sooner to sleep, and goodbye to the bar and its moaning."

* * * * * * *

AND SO the Girls' Softball League comes out of hibernation and calls a re-organization meeting for eight bells next Monday eve at Duffus'. It's open to anyone interested and a good attendance is hoped for, not only from the city but from tht district. A lot of important business to be cleaned up at this time to get the loop under way. If Lindsay or Cobourg are interested in entering teams they might send a delegate or two. The annual session of the P.W.S.U.—with which the local circuit has been affiliated the past two seasons—is in Toronto this Sunday afternoon.

* * * * * * *

THE LACROSSERS met last p.m. in Duffus' and made a mighty important decision. They voted unanimously to build a box of their own on the vacant lot opposite the George St. wharf, where the old McDonald lumber yard used to be. They'll get a nominal rental rate from the city by the year and some help as far as making the grounds suitable for erecting a fence and lacrosse box. Of course, this building business will run into some dough but the guys at the meeting decided they had been pushed around so much in recent years on other grounds that it would be much better to build and be done with it. Financial and Building Committees were named.

* * * * * * *

THIS IS a good idea and it looks like the game is in for something of a revival here. They'll have a smart squad, no fooling, and expect to be grouped with Oshawa, Trenton Fliers and one other—maybe a Toronto team—in O.A.L.A. intermediate company. A commercial firm may back the enterprise but, regardless, they're going right ahead with it and phut (with a capital "P") to all and sundry who say it can't be did. You've certainly got to mitt these men who are striving, and have striven, for years to bring lacrosse back to where it once stood. It's a swell game but almost died of ennui for some years. The present executive apparently have a shot or two of adrenalin for the gutted-stick sport and it ought to not only live but grow to a rather robust hunk of the local athletic picture.

* * * * * * *

BALL PLAYERS should take advantage of the gym exercises in the "Y" tonight, tomorrow and Friday eve from seven to eight. The local senior club has arranged for these hours for prospective players to get in good shape this month before the outdoor practises commence. Any player who figures he has a chance of making a berth—and the Petes' senior team has not been a closed corporation for the past several seasons—is invited. We understand quite a few intend to take in these gym drills and knock the winter cobwebs from their muscles while awaiting for a dry diamond and a mellow May afternoon for the actual baseball training. The Petes should be in the proverbial pink this year when the C.O.B.I. schedule starts.

OLDTIME DIAMOND fans here will remember the autumn day when Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians and other big league stars played an exhibition game in Riverside Park for the war veterans. That was back early in the last decade and a huge crowd saw "Spoke" and his buddies put on an entertaining display. Speaker lies near death today after falling 16 feet to a stone walk Sunday when putting up a flower box at his home. And the whole baseball world is pulling for his recovery—he has a fractured skull—as Tris was a popular figure. In 21 years of major loop ball, he batted .344 and was one of the greatest centre fielders of all time. He is ranked with Ty Cobb and Christy Mathewson as one of the game's immortals.

ON THE hockey playoff merry-go-round last p.m., Winnipeg Monarchs yanked out a 6-5 nod over Copper Cliff juniors in Toronto in the second of the five-game Memorial Cup finals to even it up at a game apiece. Next one is tomorrow and some local fans have bought tickets for it. Both tussles have been thrilling overtime affairs. North Bellefford last eve took a 7-5 overtime win from Sudbury to stave off elimination in Allan Cup finals after Sudbury won two. Norvics have their second O.H.A. junior "B" final playoff 'gainst Barrie in Midland tonight and a Toronto win will end the serial. Detroit Red Wings should even the Stanley Cup playoffs with N'Yark Rangers in Detroit this evening.

ASIDE FROM the entry of teams and the election of officers, only two amendments to the Provincial Women's Softball Union are on the books for their annual meeting Sunday in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. One is a call for proportional representation as follows: An organization with 15 members be granted one vote, 16 to 30 members two votes and each additional 100 members over the first 30 be granted one additional vote up to a possible five. This doesn't mean much down in Central or Eastern Ontario. They also recommend closing the Union at a maximum of 20 organizations. Another amendment calls for the distance between bases to be jumped from 45 to 50 feet, but it'll pass. All officers running for office hail from Windsor or Galt. The local secretary, Miss Gladys ... Miss John's Other ... ent Peterborough at the session.

LACROSSE CLUB TO BUILD BOX

Local O. A. L. A. Intermediate Club To Have Playing Field On George Street

A new box lacrosse playing grounds will be built this Spring on the old McDonald property—a vacant lot now—on George St. opposite the George St. wharf. This was definitely decided last night at a meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club in Duffus'. With a good attendance on hand, this important matter of business was pushed through in short order. President Jim Lehane conducted the meeting.

Following the reading of the minutes the various reports regarding playing grounds were read out. Mr. Lehane reported on the Armouries, Doug Miller on the George St. city lot and Pete King on Riverside Park. It was stated that Brock St. rink would not likely be available. After some discussion a motion was passed that the club build a box on the George St. city property—paying a nominal rental fee of $10 a year—this Spring, the box being enclosed by an eight-foot fence.

Committees Formed

Two committees were elected. The Finance Committee will be composed of: Pete King chairman, Jim Lehane, Charlie Carson and Harry Tudhope; the Building Committee consists of: Doug Miller, chairman, Bud Fisher, Frank Buckland, Ira Dundas, Bob Townsley and George Mein. These committees were to hold a private meeting after the general discussion. The matter of finances was discussed but left to the Finance Committee.

Several other matters were dealt with by the gathering. They decided to check with the players regarding a manager, Frank Buckland—after being approached—stating he could not spare the time. It was felt that Oshawa and Trenton Fliers would come into a group and that a fourth team would have to be lined up through the O.A.L.A. The club will ask information regarding the backing of the club by a commercial firm from Toronto. Next meeting will be held next Monday night at eight in Duffus'.

New Manager And New Team Will Carry Montreal Hopes

Much Is Expected Of Rabbit Maranville, The New Manager

MAJOR LEAGUES HELP

MONTREAL, April 13 (CP). — A new manager—and for the most part a new team—will carry the hopes of Montreal Royals in the International Baseball League this season.

The club that finished in the second division last season after winning the pennant the year before has been drastically revised and much is expected of "the Rab," who won a pennant with Elmira in the New York-Pennsylvania League last season, in his first year as a baseball pilot. Rabbit Maranville once managed the Cubs for a short period, but most of his 23 years in the big show were spent as a second-baseman.

Except for the pitching staff, more or less intact, the club will be built around three holdovers, Shortstop Ben Sankey and Outfielders Gus Dugas and Dave Harris. Most of the replacements will come from two major league teams, New York Yankees and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Aided Yankees.

When the Yankees needed outfield replacements badly last fall on the eve of the world series, Royals came to the rescue with the man they wanted in Outfielder Bob Seeds. It was a great break for "Suitcase Bob," but the deal paid dividends for the Royals too. In return they received on option the services of Pitcher Marvin Duke, Outfielder Paul Dunlap and Catcher Norman Kies. Both Duke and Kies are no strangers to Montreal, having been with Royals last season. Dunlap batted around .300 for Binghamton, N.Y., last year, and had almost as good an average the year previous in leagues of lower classification.

Pittsburgh Pirates have turned over two young pitchers in Russ Bauers, a southpaw, and Julian Wasco, following an agreement reached between the two clubs during the winter. Royals are also expecting to get an outfielder from the Pirates, and they hope it will be Jack Dickshot, batting star with Buffalo last season. Pirates have also given Royals First Baseman Bernie Cobb.

Four other players have been obtained by the Royals from other sources. They drafted Third Baseman Joe Benning from Memphis Chicks, and the Royals think they have in him a player who can bring the fans into the park with his stick work as well as his glass-eating ability. As a hobby, Benning eats electric light bulbs.

To the minor league convention here last December, Royals brought Second Baseman Sammy Bell from Albany for cash. Then they signed Catcher Tex Chandler as a free agent and obtained Wally Stephenson, another smart receiver, from the Cubs, on option.

BADMINTON CLUB WINDS UP SEASON

Market Hall Club Holds Tourney To Declare 1937 Champions—To Hold Dance

Market Badminton Club rang down the curtain on the season's play on Saturday night, when champions were determined and awards presented to the winners. Many new players stepped into the ton brackets. Francis Hewitt kept the singles championship in the family when he took the honors won by his brother Bob during the past two years and defeated Jimmy Hall in straight sets.

Mrs. J. D. Hall won the ladies' singles from Miss Lahring Parsons, but Miss Parsons staged a comeback teaming up with Miss Lenore Lyle to defeat Mrs. C. D. Hewett and Mrs. J. D. Hall in the women's doubles. Francis Hewett and his sister, Mrs. J. D. Hall won the mixed doubles from Dr. and Mrs. Howson. Dr. Howson and Francis Hewett were the champs in the men's doubles, but were extended in a bitterly fought series by Don Ross and Henry Toole.

The club finished the year in a splendid financial condition, and the season will wind up with a dance at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club within the next few weeks. Executive officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Mrs. Clair Collins, Miss Lenore Lyle, Donald Ross, Walter Perks, Herbert Bradburn, Dr. A. G. Howson and Henry Toole.

DISTRICT MEETING OF LAWN BOWLERS

Held In Peterborough To Plan Entertainment Of South African Bowlers—Other Matters

Representatives of clubs affiliated with the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association for District No 14 met in Peterborough last evening, and several items of importance were dealt with. George Gimblett of Peterborough, chairman for this district, occupied the chair. The main issue was the matter of entertaining the South African bowlers who will be in Peterborough on June 23. This took considerable time, and each delegate expressed himself as willing to leave the final arrangements in the hands of a local committee. Other matters of importance concerning the district were taken up, and while nothing definite was done with some of them, most of the matters were left to the individual clubs to deal with.

The delegates who attended were: Lindsay, W. Hussey and A. Williams; Oshawa, C. Brownlee and F. Goodman; Whitby, C. Stenhouse; Port Perry, C. Jeffrey and W. Graham; Cannington, W. Cooke and W. Livingstone; Peterborough, B. Chesley and J. D. Fitzpatrick.

DELORO ENTERS SOCCER LEAGUE

Bowmanville Entry Expected—No Reply From Oshawa Received

A large turnout of soccer players and fans were present at the meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association Monday night.

George Brooks and J. Cousins attended the meeting as representatives from the Deloro Football Club. They explained their position relative to the playing of games with Bowmanville and Oshawa, and their recommendation was that the games be played in Peterborough. It is the desire of the Sinsters that the city clubs arrange mid-week games so that they would be an attraction for the Deloro club; also, that a club be compelled to give a guarantee that the Peterborough clubs would fulfill all their league scheduled games.

David Best was the representative for the Canadian General; Harry Clapham for the C.C.F. and Lawrence O'Toole for the Canada Packers; while the official representative from the Quaker Oats was not present but the board expects their entry before the beginning of the season. Bowmanville was not represented but information was given that they were organizing this week. No word was received from Oshawa which entry is wanted to complete a seven-team league.

Deloro made application of game in Deloro on Coronation Day, May 12th, when a special field day will be held and it is expected that players associated with local clubs will make up a team.

The president and secretary were instructed to arrange with last year's groundsman to erect the goal posts on King Edward Park before next Saturday.

12 FAMOUS HOCKEY STARS GO FOR THE 1937 Studebaker IN A BIG WAY

ON March 31st, twelve top flight nationally known players of the National Hockey League bought and took delivery of twelve 1937 Studebakers.

They chose Studebaker in preference to any other 1937 car, just as you will if you make side by side comparisons.

Studebaker unreservedly asserts that the 1937 Dictator is Canada's finest 6-cylinder car . . . and all 9 other sizes, regardless of name, fame or price are invited to contest that statement.

World's only six with non-slam doors that close lightly, tightly and silently . . . world's first six to offer the triple safety of steel-reinforced-by-steel bodies, automatic hill holder and feather-touch hydraulic brakes . . . world's first six to offer the sensational dual economy of the Fram oil cleaner and the gas-saving automatic overdrive.

Follow the lead of these hockey stars—see and drive the Studebaker Dictator and see for yourself—as they did—that nothing less than the Dictator can seriously interest you.

BEAVERS DEFEAT SUDBURY TIGERS IN THIRD GAME

North Battleford Squad Hammer In 2 Goals In Overtime To Make It 7-5

PENALTIES COSTLY

CALGARY, April 13 (C.P.). — North Battleford Beavers defeated Sudbury Tigers 7-5 in overtime here last night to make the game-count 2-1 for Sudbury in their best-of-five Allan Cup hockey series. Tigers won the first two games, 4-1 and 6-2.

With Joe Schwab draped over his shoulders Chamberlain put Tigers back in the lead. Heatie took the puck at a faceoff, and passed to Chamberlain as he hit the defence. Schwab grabbed the right winger after he circled the rearguard, but Chamberlain kept the puck between his feet and lifted it past Davis.

Myles went off for tumbling Hill. Tigers sent four men on, and O'Keefe outraced Hill for a loose puck in the Sudbury end, pulled Teno out, and slid the puck into the inside corner to tie the score.

Score on Second Shot.

On Sudbury's second shot on goal Cholette scored. Grabbing a pass from Regan, he rifled the puck high into the net.

Dewey slid the puck between the Beaver defence and went around but couldn't get his stick on the puck. O'Keefe, hard luck player of the series, tied the count three minutes later. Myles shot a long pass from the blue line and O'Keefe all alone in front of the goal, shoved the puck under Teno.

Penalties Wreak Havoc.

North Battleford had an opportunity again when Hill was ballihaed. Chamberlain followed him seconds after, being given a ten-minute misconduct penalty.

Duchak put North Battleford ahead when he took a pass from O'Keefe at the side of the goal, circled out and slid the puck under Teno.

Burke was penalized for tripping Regan when the rearguard was driving in alone on Davis. Sudbury was awarded a penalty shot on the play and Price beat Davis with an ankle-high shot on the left side.

Tigers had a two-man advantage when McIntyre joined Burke for boarding Hill.

Forty-Nine Entries Drawn For Running Of King's Plate

Classy Field Of Canadian-Breds Assured For Eastern Classic

PAGAN KING FAVORITE

By CHARLES "HORSES" AYRES
Central Press Canadian Turf Writer

TORONTO, April 13. — Palmer Wright secretary of the Ontario Jockey club, has released nominations for this year's King's Plate, which will be run opening day of the spring meeting at Woodbine Park, Saturday, May 22.

The list this year totals 49 . . . which includes the names of the flashiest field of Canadian-breds seen in the history of this old Canadian turf classic.

Heading the list, in number nominated is the Parkwood stable, with five, they being Pagan King, Donoaris, Vicerine, Silver Jubilee and Red Pirate. Though Pagan King only faced the barrier on three occasions, his easy victory in the Coronation Stakes at Woodbine Park last fall, over the best juveniles that could be mustered against him, crowned him king of the two-year-old Canuck-bred division and sent Pagan King into winter quarters as favorite for the King's Plate of 1937.

Next comes the stables of H. R. Bain, J. E. Prowde, Seagram and Thorncliffe Stable each nominating four.

Cease Fire Second

Those nominated by Mr. Bain are Cease Fire, Worth Trying, Slim Salome and Isleworth. The best of the Bain candidates is Cease Fire. This son of Worthmore-Flanders Fields showed a real effort in the Coronation Stakes, when the Bain starter finished a handy second to winner, Pagan King.

The Seagram candidates are Gold Guard, Allskelter, Poverty Struck and Flying Leaves. On last year's form we can't say much about the Seagram racers. They have yet to show King's Plate calibre. Maybe the early spring "prep" for the guineas may show them good enough to be reckoned with by the time King's Plate day rolls around.

The Thorncliffe Stable's starters named are Idle Soldier, Sally Shore, Festive Board and Rural Mail. The latter showing some very good efforts in his first year under colors.

Next in number is H. C. Hatch, nominating three. The trio that will fly the light and dark blue silks of this popular stable are Goldlure, Budron and Goster. Goldlure is the star of the Hatch trio. In fact, this son of Sweepster-Golden Lure is going to make it very interesting for any man's horse during that nine-furlong Plate run. Goldlure's best last year was his victory on opening day of the spring meeting at Woodbine Park, when the Hatch colorbearer beat Pagan King by a head . . . hanging up a new track record for the four furlongs of :47 flat, the old mark being :47 2-5.

The Cosgrave Stable, James G. Fair, R. W. R. Cowie, Leo A. Dorfman, Erindale Stable, Frank Gilbert, Medway Stable and Fred H. Schelke each nominated two.

Mr. Cowie nominated Aldwych and Auld Reekie. The best of these being Aldwych. This sterling daughter of Marine-Chrysobera showed herself a real smart filly when she scampered home a winner in the Grey Stakes that fall. In this juvenile open event, Aldwych showed she can go a distance as the Grey stakes are nine furlongs and seventy yards.

Mr. Fair nominated Tabanin and Neptune; Leo A. Dorfman, Smelter B. and Lumberjoe; Frank Gilbert, Cave Boy and Bagamac; Medway Stable, Signal and Surcharge, and

Detroit First U.S. City To Play Hockey

"They say organized American hockey began in Hancock," Dr. Hay said. "But it wasn't until some members of our 1896 Detroit College of Medicine team came north that hockey got going up here.

"The college had quite a team in those days. Dr. Hay said. We couldn't find any opponents in Detroit—or Michigan, for that matter—so we travelled across the river and played the Canadians at their own game. We met teams from Windsor, Berlin, now Kitchener, and other points."

'PEG MONARCHS SQUARE FINALS WITH REDMEN

Western Juniors Take Offensive And Beat Copper Cliff 6 To 5

WIDE OPEN BATTLE

Winners Come From Behind Three Times To Tie It—Cliff Defence Fails

TORONTO, April 13. — Copper Cliff Redmen gave the lie to the old saying that a good offense is a good defense last night at Maple Leaf Gardens, and Winnipeg Monarchs took up the offensive argument with such good results they emerged as winners by 6 to 5 in the second game of the Memorial Cup finals, and deadlocked the Canadian Junior championship at one game apiece.

While more than 9,000 customers crowded the Carlton Street emporium, and tried as best they could to suppress hearts that took dangerous leaps and bounds as the great spectacle of two kid teams battling for a historic old trophy unfolded itself, Winnipeg supplied the answer to a dramatic sports moment by spurting through like thoroughbreds in a race for the finish wire, to nose out Eastern Canada's foremost junior team.

Eastern Strategy Fails.

It was like all junior finals, wide open to the nth degree and just as exciting. At least three times the Monarchs came from behind to deadlock the score. Then came some questionable strategy which ordered the Copper Cliff hand-picked array to stay close to their own goal and protect a slim margin.

It was there that Winnipeg struck. With all the skating finesse and stick-handling adroitness they possessed they moved into Copper Cliff terrain and bombarded the Northerners' goal until finally a harassed defense crumpled.

The five-man barrier in front of game little Mel Albright couldn't begin to cope with the clever checkerboard close passing and long-passing formations of the 'Pegs. You could sense it in the air.

The setting for this game after Roy Heximer, hero of Copper Cliff's victory in the first meeting of the teams Saturday, had given his team a 4 to 3 lead after two minutes of the third period.

The defensive structure was built up. The Pegs piled into it in workmanlike manner, and at 13.10 of the period, Defenseman Jack Fox trapped a puck inside the Copper Cliff blue line. He whipped it forward and it skimmed the back board. Behind the net, Shewchuk of Copper Cliff reached for it, but missed. Tousle-headed Dick Kowcinak put his stick to the rubber, turned and with a wrist motion flicked the puck out in front of the goal. Johnny McCreedy, momentarily uncovered, slapped the puck past Albright. The score was tied, and the wild-eyed assemblage roared it's acclaim.

Somebody Blundered

From that time on Winnipeg forced the issue. But the game wasn't over yet. Each team played cautiously and no scoring resulted. The second ten minutes was only 34 seconds old when Pat McReavy made the play which enabled Red Hamill, a much-improved red-head who had been playing the game of which he was capable, to backhand the rubber past Perley from ten feet out. It looked to be all over for the doughty Monarchs.

But no, back into their shell went the Copper Cliffians, and with that their doom was sealed. Play burned around, and at 2.31 Alf Pike gave Dick Kowcinak a goal-mouth pass which this worthy converted into the tying score.

Finally the Redmen began to take an interest in offensive moves. Then came the game-winning goal. The same Dick Kowcinak shaved the puck at his own blue line, and together with Jack Fox he skated in on a breakaway with only Defenseman Perry and Goaler Albright to pass. He moved around the slow-moving Perry, and when just outside the crease passed behind to Fox. The latter serenely slammed the puck into the goal behind Albright.

Programme corners and everything went on the ice as the crowd roared its approval. The majority of the crowd, among them the Wembley girls' hockey team, recently trained by Preston girls for the Dominion championship, was pro-Monarchs.

BAER, LEVINSKY TAP GOLD MINE

Both Sign For Bouts In England Against Expected Easy Opposition

LONDON, April 13—(AP)—Maxie Baer and King Levinsky, neither of whom was previously famed for judgment are beginning to look like the two smart boys of pugilism.

At the moment they are jointly about to tap the rich vein of British gold that has been here all along for United States heavyweights to discover.

Baer is due to pocket $22,500 tax exempt for what some observers consider an easy work-out Thursday night against the new British champion, Tommy Farr. Levinsky is believed to be guaranteed another big sum for fighting Irish Jack Doyle, rated a fair crooner, but a poor fighter.

Harringay interests already have sold $50,000 of tickets for Thursday's Baer-Farr fight. Baer has been established at odds of 3 to 1. If he wins he'll draw down the purse next month for battling Walter Neusel, the German heavyweight.

Remember When—

New York Rangers pulled out a 1-0 overtime victory over Maple Leafs at Toronto four years ago tonight to win the Stanley Cup. Leafs carried the play most of the time but couldn't click around the nets. Bill Cook slammed the rubber past Lorne Chabot on a pass from Butch Keeling after 65 minutes of scoreless hockey.

Charles Stuckey, senior member of a London law firm with a questionable reputation, is informed by cable from America that Miss Jacqueline Smith, daughter of one of his few respectable clients, now on the continent with her mother, has inherited $1,500,000 from an American uncle. Colonel Alec Lutman, who has a hold over Stuckey, learns of the inheritance and proposes a scheme to which Stuckey reluctantly agrees. convict, to marry Jacqueline, having The plan calls for Jim Asson, an exthe plan calls for Jim Asson, an exconvict to marry Jacqueline paying her assign her property—before Stuckey informs her of the inheritance—to her new husband. Lutman plans to take three-fifths of the inheritance, Stuckey and Asson each one-fifth. Lutman and Asson go to Cobenzil to cultivate Jacqueline and her mother, stopping at the same hotel where Mrs. Smith finds herself in dire financial straits. Asson, in the role of a wealthy Englishman, Jim, at the end of a week tries to convince Jacqueline she should marry him.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER II

"YOU'D HAVE anything you wanted, Jacqueline, if you married me," Jim Asson argued. "You could live where you like and have what you like and do what you like. I can't say more than that, can I?"

"Can't you? Try, Jim."

He glanced at her with a puzzled expression on his face.

"If there's anything else you want, Jacqueline . . ."

"There is."

"Then you've only to mention it."

She smiled.

"You don't read very much, do you, Jim? Novel, I mean. You can't, or you wouldn't need reminding that when a man asks a girl to marry him' it's usual to tell her that he loves her. It may not be true, but it's polite convention to say, at all events."

"Yes, of course—but I thought—I mean, that goes without saying, Jacqueline. You know I'm frightfully fond of you."

She was shaking her head.

"As a matter of fact, Jim," she said, "it's the one thing in the world that never goes without saying. Still, we'll take it as said." She rose from her chair. "Thanks very much, Jim. It's quite the most original proposal I've ever had."

He stood up, took a cigaret from his case and tapped it on the back of his hand.

"And what's the answer, Jacqueline?"

"I haven't the faintest idea. I've got to work it out—take the minus reasons from the plus reasons—and it's too complicated to do in my head. Let x equal the unknown quantity of affection . . ."

"Hang it, Jacqueline, I've told you I'm frightfully fond . . . ."

"All right, Jim," she smiled. "Don't worry. I'll find the answer all right, and as soon as I've found it, I'll let you know."

"But can't you tell me now?" he persisted.

She shook her head.

"It's pretty rotten, waiting and not knowing and wondering all the time . . ."

"Sorry, Jim, but it can't be helped. There's x and y to be dealth with. I can make a good guess at the value of x, but I've still got to discover the 'why'. I'll tell you as soon as I know myself."

Before he could say any more she turned and hurried away, and Asson, having frowned at her back until she turned the corner, flung himself into his armchair again and savagely struck a match for his cigaret.

And there, a few minutes later, Colonel Lutman found hi.

"Well, my dear James?" he said, smiling affably, "Does one congratulate you?"

Asson gave a shrug.

"I'm hanged if I know."

Lutman raised his eyebrows, and his monocle, as if in protest against his taking such a liberty, slipped from his eye.

"Surely, James," he said, "you can't so soon have forgotten whether a charming you lady is betrothed to you or not?"

"I tell you I don't know," snapped Anson, irritably. "Of all the cold-blooded, calculating, sarcastic little devils!" He made a gesture of impatience. "She wouldn't say yes or no, Lutman. She wants to work it out, she says. She'll tell me as soon as she knows herself."

"H'm!" said Lutman. "It's a pity, but it can't be helped. Time is precious, though, and you must be importunate, James. You must hover around her like a love-sick shadow, melt her heart with your pleading eyes."

"Oh, shut up, Lutman. I'm fed up with the whole outfit."

"And in the interim," continued Lutman imperturbably, holding out his hand, "I will keep the expensive engagement ring in my waistcoat pocket."

Asson glanced up at him, scowling.

"What's the great idea?"

Lutman smiled.

"There is a pawnbroker's establishment in Cobenzil, my dear James," he said, "I noticed it this morning."

"You're a nasty suspicious devil, aren't you?"

Lutman slipped the ring into his waistcoat pocket.

"My dear James," he smiled. "you must try to forgive me. I once lent you a gold cigaret case."

Jacqueline did her best to work out the problem which Jim Asson had set her, but she found it more difficult than she had expected to arrive at a definite answer to it. She considered it from her own point of view. The advantages were obvious: no more pinching and scraping; an end of this constant wandering around Europe; security, a home of her own, an assured income for her mother. Against all that must be set the fact that she no more loved Jim Asson that he loved her. But was it necessary to love him?

For several days she could come to no final decision. Each time that Jim Asson begged for her answer she replied that she was still working it out and he must wait. Why, she asked herself again and again, did Jim want to marry her? She could not get rid of a sneaking sort of feeling that there was something behind it which she did not understand; that, in the list of good reasons why she should marry him, the reason for his wanting her to do so was not included. What that reason might be, however, she could not even guess.

She was sitting on the terrace one afternoon, frowning at the river as disapprovingly as her mother had frowned, when Colonel Lutman seated himself in the chair next to hers.

"And what has the Danube done," he asked, "that a charming young lady should frown on it?"

Jacqueline glanced at him and smiled. She always found Colonel Lutman rather entertaining.

"I was just wondering, Colonel," she said, "whether it's better to be broke to the wide on the banks of the Danube or to have plenty of money on the banks of the Thames."

Lutman nodded.

"A very interesting speculation, Miss Jacqueline. And the conclusion?"

"I'm hanged if I know."

"No?" He smiled. "Experience has taught me that, provided one has plenty in one's pocket, the banks of the Styx, or even the banks of the Thames at Rotherhithe, can be quite a pleasant spot, and that without money it doesn't matter whether one is on the banks of the Danube or the Rhine or the Mississippi or the Nile, since it's equally hell anywhere."

"Money isn't everything, Colonel Lutman."

He smiled indulgently.

"If I may answer one platitude with another, Miss Jacqueline, money may not be everything, but it is the price I everything that's worth anything. Even of the bare necessities of life. One can't even have a bath without money."

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CELLAR

"Karoak! Karump! Karoak!"

Uncle Wiggily, who was being carried away by the high water of the woodland brook, heard these noises soon after he cried for help.

"My goodness!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman when he could get the water out of his mouth so he could speak. "Somebody said they were going to help me, but I never heard noises like that before."

He tried to swim but rabbits aren't very good at that sport. Their fur gets wet and bogs them down. However, Mr. Longears did his best. His rubber boots were full of water and so was one ear.

That was the ear Uncle Wiggily held up straight. It was like a funnel and the water just ran down it as fast as anything. The other ear he bent over and that was what might be called comparatively dry, at least inside.

"Karoak! Karump! Karoak!"

Uncle Wiggily heard the odd noises again.

Not the Rain

"It can't be the rain," he said. "It is coming down in torrents, but it can't be the rain. I wonder who it is?" Then he called again! "Help! Help! Help!"

"We are going to help you, Uncle Wiggily!" croaked a jolly voice.

"That's why we paddled after you in our boat!" laughed another voice. "Kroak! Karump! Karoop!"

Then Uncle Wiggily saw Bully and Bawley Notail, the two frog boys, coming along behind him as he floated down the brook which was in high water because of the April showers.

"Oh, I'm so glad to see you!" said Uncle Wiggily who was beginning to fear he would drown if not soon taken from the brook.

"Hold fast!" croaked Bully. "Karoak!"

"Climb into our boat!" croaked Bawley. "Karoop!"

Uncle Wiggily took hold of the edge of a large, wooden washtub in which stood the two frog boys. One had a washboard for a paddle and the other a clothes pole. When the waters began to rise they had gone down in the laundry to get the tub for a boat.

"Oh, I'm so glad you happened to come along to save me!" panted Uncle Wiggily as he plopped over the side of the boat. "I never saw the brook so high. It's a regular flood!"

Shivers Their Timbers

As he spoke he bent down the ear he had been holding up straight and the rain that had run down it, as in a funnel, ran out into the washtub boat.

"Ahoy!" croaked Bully.

"Avast and belay!" croaked Bawley.

"Oh, I'm so sorry!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Never mind," laughed Bully. "Water never yet hurt a frog."

Uncle Wiggily took off his rubber boots. They, too, were full of water but he emptied them over the side of the tub. Then he used one boot with which to bail out the water that had run from his ear and Bully and Bawley paddled him safely to his hollow stump bungalow.

"Oh, I'm so glad you're back!" said Mrs. Longears.

"So am I!" cried Nurse Jane. "Because something very queer is happening in your cellar, Uncle Wiggily. You had better go down and look."

"What do you mean—something queer in my cellar, Nurse Jane?"

"Don't ask me! Just go look!" cried the muskrat lady. "Oh, dear!"

Uncle Wiggily started down cellar and something very funny happened I'll tell you about it tomorrow in the story of Uncle Wiggily taking a ride.

But please ask the baked apple not to try to talk like a Swiss cheese just because it has a hole through the middle.

Mrs. S. L. Terrill Re-Elected President Presbyterial W.M.S.

Woodlee Woman Again Heads Organization—Encouraging Reports Are Given

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, April 13. — The eleventh annual meeting of the W.M.S. of the Cobourg Presbyterial was held in Port Hope United Church last week.

The morning session opened with the president, Mrs. S. L. Terrill of Wooler, presiding. On the platform with Mrs. Terrill were Mrs. S. J. Gray, Garden Hill, first vice-president, and Mrs. H. B. Neal, Campbellford, 2nd vice-president. After the opening exercises and a short comment by the president the report of the executive meeting held the preceding night was presented by Mrs. J. J. Way, Wooler.

Reports of the western sectional meeting were presented by Mrs. S. J. Gray of Garden Hill and of the eastern sectional by Mrs. H. B. Neal, Campbellford. A similar service was conducted by Mrs. J. B. Reynolds and Mrs. W. E. Lewis of Welcome. The subject of Mrs. Lewis' short address was "Christ's Last Prayer."

"Glory of the Year" was the name of a very interesting report presented by Mrs. A. Armstrong of Hilton. Mrs. Armstrong had compiled the reports of the Presbyterial secretaries and she handled the work well, not a dull moment was experienced during the recital of the various activities of each. Outstanding items in this report were: Increase in attendance at all meetings, decrease in membership of 22 by death; less than one-half of auxiliaries use "Kingdom of God" movement cards; all auxiliaries reported co-operation with bands and circles; study book in use in nearly all auxiliaries; 22 auxiliaries observed Day of Prayer; 31 bales valued at $1,200 were shipped to various stations; 66 associate members raised $80.65; strangers' secretaries made 400 more calls than during previous year.

Young People Active

Mrs. Floyd Ketcheson of Frankford reported the activities of the young people's societies in the Presbyterial. The Frankford Circle won this banner presented for highest attainment in all departments of the work. Mrs. A. Tompkins of Brighton read a report of Mission and Baby Bands. The Mission Band banner was won by the Frankford Band. At this time Mrs. A. J. Moore, president of Port Hope Auxiliary spoke cordial words of welcome to the delegates and Mrs. H. B. Neal of Campbellford then responded.

A quiet half-hour was conducted by Mrs. J. J. David of Baltimore Auxiliary. Mrs. David's talk centred around the thought that God has chosen a special work for each of His followers.

Luncheon was served by the ladies of the local auxiliary from tables centred with daffodils and jonquils, yellow and green bands down the centre of each table, and green serviettes. Following lunch Mayor Bennet extended greetings and welcome. Rev. D. M. Smith, president of Cobourg Presbytery brought greetings from the Presbytery. Among outstanding statements in Mr. Smith's talk were: "We are revealed by the things that disturb us, also by the things that do not disturb us." He threw out a challenge to W.M.S. members to better acquaint their men folk with the work of the Society.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session opened at 1.45. An In Memoriam service was conducted by Mrs. Ray Bird and Mrs. Artie Tompkins of Brighton and the names of the departed read by Mrs. J. J. Way of Wooler. Mrs. H. L. Pindall of Smithfield presented the treasurer's report. It showed receipts from: auxiliaries, $3210.53; evening auxiliaries, $6.-202.04; Circles, $432.21; Mission Bands, $560.35; Baby Bands, $19.02. Sent to Branch treasurer, $7,368.46.

Mrs. W. J. Jibb, Camborne, secretary of Christian stewardship and finance reported 9 auxiliaries, 2 evening auxiliaries and 3 circles as reaching their financial objective. She reported the majority of societies had asked for allocation based on number of paid annual members. She urged that the spiritual side of the work be stressed first, and the financial side will follow naturally.

The gathering broke up into group conferences, and the findings of each group were presented when the various groups again met one half-hour later, and a short period was devoted to discussion on the findings of each group. At this time, Mrs. G. McClelland and Miss Bernice Jibb, Camborne, accompanied at the piano by their mother, Mrs. W. J. Jibb, sang as a duet, "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds."

Against Liquor Traffic

The resolutions committee brought in a resolution registering the continued opposition against the liquor traffic. Mrs. J. Garland of Cobourg came on the platform and introduced the evening speaker, Miss Marian Coon of Chunsking, China. The offering was collected and the dedicatory prayer offered by Mrs. A. Nicol of Roseneath.

The report of the nominating committee was read, and the officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. S. L. Terrill, Wooler; 1st vice-president, Mrs. J. B. Reynolds, Port Hope; and vice-president, Mrs. H. B. Neal, Campbellford; recording secretary, Mrs. J. J. Way, Wooler; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Nill, Roseneath; treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Evening session opened at 7.30 with the Port Hope auxiliary conducting the worship service. The evening feature was an address by Miss Marion Coon, of West China, who held the close attention of her audience as she told of conditions, and of the activities of christian workers in that area. A pageant, "The Two Masters" was presented by a Port Hope organization, and the United Church choir favored the gathering with an anthem.

Collecting the offering was in charge of the Garden Hill C.G.I.T. and the dedicatory prayer was offered by Mrs. Hubert McGeachel of Brighton. Following the report of the courtesy committee, a hymn was sung and the benediction pronounced.

Mrs. Thomas Graham occupied the chair in the absence of the former president, Mrs. Eric McLean, who has moved from the community. The roll-call was answered by the payment of membership fees and a goodly number made generous responses.

Gardiner, secretary, stated the local branch of eighteen members had held twelve regular meetings, one family night, also an evening spent in progressive crokinole. Mrs. Ira Lowe reported that twenty-three sick and shut-in residents of the community had been remembered with fruit or flowers by the Sick Committee. In the correspondence several letters of appreciation were read for fruit sent during illness. YOUNG'S POINT

CHEESE FACTORY HAS RUN 48 YEARS

Annual Spring Meeting Of Young's Point Organization Elects Officers

(Examiner Correspondence.)

YOUNG'S POINT, April 13.—On Friday afternoon the annual Spring meeting of the Young's Point cheese factory was held in the factory. The meeting proved to be very enthusiastic in spite of an attendance somewhat below average. William Lane occupied the chair and Victor Young acted as secretary for the meeting. Bernal Harvey was elected president for the coming season and the directors appointed were Arthur Duggan Victor Young and Ernest Harvey.

W. J. Moore of Peterborough dairy instructor for the County of Peterborough addressed the meeting and stressed the farmers "getting behind their cheese factory and staying there." He said: "I was called to a meeting where forty-five former patrons had gathered and wanted their factory re-opened, which they had allowed to be closed. They had learned their big mistake."

James Carroll also spoke and said: "It's up to every patron to get busy and procure one more patron and get our factory back to its former basis."

Thompson Braden, salesman and treasurer, of Lakefield, was present at the meeting.

Andrew Wilson who has owned and operated Young's Point cheese factory for forty-two years is the oldest cheese maker in the Peterborough district, having come to the village from Lakefield when he was married. Built the present factory and it has never missed operating one season since 1895.

Mr. Wilson remarked, when interviewed, "I have some of my first patrons now sending milk, but the majority are not bringing in one-half the milk their father's did, and the prosperous farmer today is the one who has kept on his hard." Mr. Wilson also owns the cheese factory at Selwyn operated by his son, Roy Wilson.

With the Boy Scouts

The Scouters Club will meet on Wednesday, April 14, in the Armouries. Time, 7.30 sharp. All officers are urged to attend. Let our slogan be "Better Scouting."

The Cub Leaders' course successfully started last Tuesday; will continue next Thursday at Sacred Heart headquarters. Time, 8 p.m. sharp. Field Secretary Edgar Jones has set aside at least one day for attending this course, and I feel that the Cub leaders will give him a surprise in progress. So prepare for Tuesday, April 27—the day of his visit.

The Patrol Leaders' Conference at Port Hope on Friday and Saturday next, April 16 and 17, promises to go over good. Field Secretary Edgar Jones will be on hand. Mr. Ketchum of Trinity School will speak at Friday's banquet, while Major Burwash will give an illustrated talk on Saturday, on his travels and explorations.

All leaders, troop committeemen and those interested in Scouting are invited to Saturday's banquet, 6.15, at St. Mark's, Port Hope. Let's all go that can.

Why not a patrol leaders' training course and conference in our own city? Let us wake up and get going. The patrol leaders are future rovers and scout leaders. They need training and encouragement. They will help us, if we help them by showing our interest in their work.

What about that badge secretary; are we going to have one?

At St. James' Chalmers Gillespie was presented with his second class badge and 1st year service star, whilst Edgar Roberts got his 1st year star.

St. Paul's Troop wishes to thank A. O. Phillips for ambulance badge instruction. The following boys passed: R. Ferguson, R. Hartshorn, A. McKnight, R. Watson and C. Rudd, also D. Forde and G. Hartshorn passed their second class first aid.

D. Pfeit and R. Jackson completed tests for handyman's badge. These are the first handymen in the troop. Bob Ferguson will represent St. Paul's at the Port Hope conference.

Several boys are working on pathfinder's badge.

Miss Ruth Farr is now a registered leader with the St. George's cub pack, whilst Patrol Leader Ron Cynane is cub instructor.

Mr. Bill Lyburn was visitor at St. Paul's cub meeting where several good games were enjoyed and arrangements made for a hike on April 24.

Our Amy Bull, leader of St. Andrew's, reports good progress. Akela gave flag instruction and led in games, while in special test, Allan Johnson passed his knots. Alex Richardson and Jack Carter passed ball throwing.

Art. Winslow is representing St. John's at the Port Hope Conference.

George Brooks, late of 1st Willowdale Troop, Toronto, King Scout has been attached to All Saints' troop as assistant scout master. Mr. Howe gave the troop a pep talk on uniform-dress up for the Coronation. Assistant District Commissioner T. Wright paid the troop a visit.

St. John's Mothers' Auxiliary will meet in the parish hall at 3 p.m. on Friday and the cub tamborre committee will meet in the parlor. St. John's parish hall at 8.30 p.m. Friday, April 16.

The Scout Leader holds several good articles this month. One good item for our commissioners to study closely. Another for every leader to think about. We quote:—

"We seem to be looking at the movement from the Scouters' point of view, and not the boys' point of view, and in his interest. We seem to spend too much time worrying about adults' ideas of how certain things should be done. Forgetting that if it were not for the boys we wouldn't have any movement at all. We should become better acquainted with the boys' way of looking at things."

And that goes for us all from Commissioners down to

Yours truly, "The Skipper."

124 COMMITTEES BEEN ORGANIZED

Building Industry Is Viewing Much Help From Improvement Plan

Largely through the agency of the advisory committee for Ontario, 124 local Home Improvement Loan committees have been organized in this province, and it is expected that some others will be formed.

This information was given the Examiner to-day by John E. Jones, of Toronto, representative of the provincial committee in this district. Mr. Jones visited Hastings and Campbellford this afternoon, and expressed the opinion that the work of organizing local groups would likely be wound up this week.

"Reports reaching Toronto have all been very encouraging," Mr. Jones said. "The building industry in this province has never before received so much help, extending into towns and villages, to promote work. Some branches are more active in making use of all this publicity and organization, but from some reports it seems that builders have not stirred themselves as much as was expected of them."

ATTEMPT DERAIL TRAIN

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., April 13.—(CP)—For the third time in the past few weeks an unsuccessful attempt was made over the week-end to wreck a train by placing an obstruction on the tracks.

An eastbound Canadian Pacific Railway freight train struck a pile of ties yesterday, but the locomotive remained on the rails. In the other cases ties were placed on the tracks of the Canadian National Railways.

A mitten and small footprints found near the ties yesterday led police to blame young boys.

PLOUGHING STARTS IN HASTINGS AREA

Farmers Are Very Optimistic About Prosperity For Fall Grains

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, April 13.—The farmers are most anxious for fine weather as there is a shortage of feed and many young cattle will soon have to be put into the pasture fields.

Messrs. J. Gorman and R. Williamson of Percy Township are among the first to commence plowing, having turned the first sods the latter part of the week.

The roads are excellent for this time of the year, very few of the roads being impassable for cars at any time during the winter. As there was very little frost in the ground they were never in a better condition than they are this year.

Those who have tapped report a poor run of sap. About one half the quantity expected being gathered as yet.

The farmers are very optimistic about their fall grains and with warm weather and not two heavy frosts they are looking forward to good returns as they have so far withstood the winter months with ice and rain and little snow.

HEPBURN OUSTS CROLL, ROEBUCK FROM CABINET

Calls Resignations Without Consulting Either of Ministers

Split Comes On Disagreement Over Handling Of Oshawa Strike

"NO TURNING BACK"

Will Take Labor Portfolio Himself—Leduc To Act Attorney-General

TORONTO, April 14. —(CP) — Premier Mitchell Hepburn today dictated a letter calling for the resignations of Labor Minister David Croll and Attorney General Arthur Roebuck.

The Premier, calling on the Labor Minister and Attorney General to step out because of their apparent disagreement with him on his stand against Committee for Industrial Organization's activity in the Oshawa General Motors strike, told his secretary to have the letter typed at once. He said he would not confer with Croll or Roebuck before the demand for their resignations was presented.

"There can be no turning back as far as I am concerned" said the Premier.

He said he has not decided on permanent appointments to fill the vacated portfolios. In the meantime he will administer the Labor Department, with Hon. Paul Leduc, Minister of Mines, as Acting Attorney General.

The Premier's Letter

"My Dear Colleague:

"It is with deep regret that I find myself in a position where it is necessary to ask your resignation as a members of the present administration. It is quite clear to me and all concerned that you are not in accord with the policy of the Government in fighting against the inroads of the Lewis organization and Communism in general.

"To my way of thinking Ontario faces one of the greatest economic crises, and for that reason there must be solidarity and unanimity within our ranks.

"Needless to say, the decision I have arrived at is one that is causing me both grief and unhappiness, but I am determined to carry out the policy that I believe to be in the best interests of the people I was elected to serve.

"I deeply appreciate your loyalty up to this point and shall always remember our close and in-

Attlee Moves Censure Vote In Commons

Charges Greatest Maritime Country In World Has Run Up White Flag

OVER BILBAO INCIDENT

LONDON, April 14 (CP)—Clement Attlee, Opposition leader, moving a vote of censure against the Government in the House of Commons this afternoon, said British policy in respect to foodships bound for Bilbao was "acquiescence in a grave breach of international law" and "a surrender of the rights of this country."

The Government has refused to extend naval protection within the three-mile limit of Spanish territorial waters to British merchantmen attempting to enter Bilbao through the insurgent blockade.

Pablo Azcarte Y. Flores, the Spanish Ambassador, listened intently in the diplomatic gallery as the Labor leader presented a motion that "This House taking note of the statement of the Prime Minister on the (Bilbao) situation, deplores the failure of His Majesty's Government to give protection to merchant ships of their lawful occasions (sic)."

He charged the Government was partial to General Francisco Franco, the insurgent leader, and that "to support France is to encourage Mussolini in his aggression."

"The hopes of France depend on starving women and children," Attlee declared, adding:

"The greatest maritime country in the world has run up the white flag!"

Sir John Simon, Home Secretary, replying for the Government, declared the Cabinet had adopted a firm policy of refraining strictly "from all interference, whether direct or indirect, in the internal affairs of Spain."

Keeping a Great Fleet.

Attlee insisted a British ship on lawful business had been turned back from Bilbao by a "rebel" warship. The government kept a great fleet for the express purpose of protecting British shipping. "Are we

500 OSHAWA VETS OBJECT TO STAND TAKEN BY PREMIER

Also Protest Toronto Comrades Being Recruited As Special Strike Police

KAISER RAPS EFFICIENCY

OSHAWA, Ont., April 14 (CP)— A resolution of protest against Premier Mitchell Hepburn's attitude in the Oshawa General Motors strike was approved today when more than 1,000 men and women gathered in Memorial Park, where war veterans attended services in memory of the fallen.

The veterans, members of the United Automobile Workers of America, which called the strike at the General Motors of Canada plant here, paraded through Oshawa streets, 500 of them waving Union Jacks, shouting and singing "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" and "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall."

At the memorial service the members of the Canadian Legion and the throng present joined in "God Save the King." Hugh Thompson, organizer for John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization, whose presence in Ontario brought opposition from Mr. Hepburn and General Motors, joined in the anthems.

Object To Police Recruiting.

Veterans objected to their comrades being recruited as special police in case of disturbances on the Oshawa strike front. It was reported yesterday from Toronto veterans were joining police reserves, sought by Premier Hepburn in case of emergency.

The resolution unanimously passed by the veterans said:

"Five hundred ex-service men, veterans of the Great War, who are members of Oshawa Local 222 of the International Union, United Automobile Workers of America, affiliated with the committee for industrial organization, under the leadership of John L. Lewis, hereby vigorously protest against your enlistment of veterans of the Great War for possible use against old comrades who are now peacefully fighting for their rights as Labor men and free citizens

EIGHT GENERALS HUGHES' FUNERAL

Military Funeral For Major-General Garnet Hughes Held In Toronto

TORONTO, April 14—(CP). — Military funeral of Major General Garnet Hughes was held to-day with eight generals as pallbearers. After a short service the body was taken to Lindsay, Ont., in the Peterborough district, where General Hughes will be buried beside his father, General Sir Sam Hughes, Canada's wartime Minister of Defence.

Officers and men of the Royal Canadian Regiment led the long cortege. Beside the casket, mounted on a gun carriage, marched the generals. They were: Major General Robert Rennie, Major General C. F. Constantine, Major General Cawthra-Elliot, Brigadier General W. H. P. Elkins, Brigadier General C. R. Mitchell and Brigadier General D. C. Draper.

Immediately following the casket was a charger with an empty saddle and with boots reversed in the stirrup-irons. The infantry marched with guns reversed. The military service was conducted by Major the Rev. Canon Baynes-Reed.

General Chan Sees War This Summer

HOLLYWOOD, April 14—(A.P.). —The man Chinese know as General Chan turned his face to-day toward Europe and predicted war.

"It's coming this summer," said Bert Hall.

"Mussolini and his Italian legions will see France through in Spain. When the last snows have melted, Hitler will start the Germans marching on the Russian Ukraine."

Hall has been doing screen plays, dashing them off in longhand with the careless ease that he used to fly a fighting plane in the Lafayette escadrille.

"They can't stop the war from coming. It will show, for one thing, that the Russian army's power is greatly exaggerated," he said.

Last Minute News Flashes

OSHAWA, Ont.—General Motors of Canada officials are willing to attend negotiations if decision is made to call the Dominion Labor Department into the Oshawa strike situation but they are taking no steps toward seeking the Department's intervention.

LONDON.—Mrs. Wallis Simpson greenhir will be free to marry the Duke of Windsor either May 3 or May 10, a prominent legal authority told the Associated Press today, providing no last-minute intervention is filed.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Three men held up a branch of the National Bank of Grand Rapids at Ball Street and Division Avenue this morning and escaped with a sum bank officials tentatively placed at $20,000.

Ottawa Has No Power To Intervene

Unable To Act In Oshawa Unless Both Firm And Strikers Ask It

NO COMPANY REQUEST

Mayor Hall Appeals To Rogers — Union Hint Of Federal-Provincial Dispute Denied

OTTAWA, April 14—(CP).—Dominion Government intervention in the Oshawa motor strike appeared no nearer to-day than at any time since the dispute began. Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, followed developments with close interest, but declined to amplify his statement of last night to the effect the conciliation service of his department would be available if it could assist in effecting a satisfactory settlement.

So far no intimation has come to the department indicating the General Motors Corporation desired the intervention of the Federal conciliation officers. Last night, Mayor Alex Hall of Oshawa asked Mr. Rogers to intervene, but failing a request from both parties to the dispute, strikers and company, the Dominion has no authority under law to intervene.

Suggestion of Ed. Hall an official of the United Automobile Workers' Union at Detroit that a dispute between Federal and Provincial officials was all that prevented an end to the strike caused surprise here.

Officials know of no dispute with the Ontario authorities and throughout the strike it has been recognized the provincial government is primarily concerned.

The Mayor early in the evening announced a 10 p.m. deadline for General Motors to agree or disagree with a request for Federal intervention. No statement came from the company.

Wires Federal Minister.

The Mayor despatched a telegram to Hon. Norman Rogers, Federal Minister of Labor, in which Hall said he outlined the circumstances to the Minister and requested him to enter the dispute as mediator.

Union leaders previously had announced their agreement with the proposal, and Mayor Hall said he made the move on his own responsibility, realizing that "all parties to the dispute are losing and firms across Canada are suffering from the strike."

At the same time, in reference to the gathering of reinforcements of police for the emergency force held at Toronto, the Mayor said Oshawa continued quiet and that the city police had sent no reports to Toronto.

He described Premier Hepburn as "attempting to build up a red bogey which would allow him to send troops into Oshawa." Of the Premier's statement that Toronto Communists were reported appearing on the strike scene, Mayor Hall promised they would "get short shrift here." He indicated police might

NO RIDING CHANGES

TORONTO, April 14 (C.P.). — Resignations of Hon. David Croll, Minister of Municipal Affairs, Welfare and Labor, and Attorney-General Arthur Roebuck, from the Ontario Cabinet do not mean by-elections will be held.

Premier Hepburn may appoint any member of the Legislature to a portfolio in the Cabinet and the appointed Minister may assume his duties without facing a by-election.

Resignations of Mr. Roebuck and Mr. Croll as members of the Cabinet do not bring their resignations as members for Toronto-Bellwoods and Windsor-Walkerville respectively.

GLASGOW, April 14.—(CP)—The Clydeside, experiencing one of its busiest eras in shipbuilding history, today faced a complete tie-up for one day on Friday as the result of a labor dispute.

Officials of the Clyde and district committee of the Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering unions announced the one-day stoppage due to a statement by the Engineering and Shipbuilding Employers' Association that would not negotiate a current strike until those affected return to work.

The strike concerned is that of 13,000 apprentices who walked out several weeks ago, seeking wage increases and improved working conditions.

Union officers said every shipbuilding and engineering shop in the Clydeside area would be shut

Police Barge In On Hobo Party

CHATHAM, Ont., April 14—(CP). —Searching for three boys reported missing in Windsor, city police found themselves the uninvited guests of a hobo party last night. They detected three girls and three men climbing into a box car on the Canadian National Railway tracks. Martha Wayne, 20, and Percy Holmes, both of Windsor, were captured. The others got away.

Dressed in sweater and trousers, Miss Wayne appeared in police court to-day charged with trespassing on railway property. She could not remember her parents. She said she did use to go to church, had worked as a domestic, but of recent months had "gone hoboing." She and her companions were remanded a week.

Calls For Walkout Monday Unless Settlement With G.M.C. Before

CANADIANS SACRIFICING

Will Advise Oshawans To Abandon Union Idea If Request Is Refused

OSHAWA, Ont., April 14.—(CP)— Youthful Mayor Alex Hall today demanded members of the United Automobile Workers of America go out on strike in support of General Motors strikers here unless an agreement is negotiated before the end of the week. Failing such support, the mayor said he would advise all Canadian workmen next Monday night to abandon recognition of the union idea.

Prominent in the strike picture since the walkout last Thursday, the mayor sent an "ultimatum" to Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers by telegraph and then despatched a letter to the union head.

"I cannot bear to see Canadian workmen losing while American workmen are gaining," the mayor informed Martin. "Such conduct negatives the strength of any international union."

The Mayor's Ultimatum

The telegram reads: "The Oshawa strike going into second week. Negotiations deadlocked on international union issue. Oshawa workmen lost time during January strikes in the United States through lack of parts. Now losing full time. Men striking for recognition international union. Prairies Start Sowing Wheat Excellent Prospects In Sight

Rainfall General With Drought Areas Receiving Moisture

SOME DUST IN ALBERTA

WINNIPEG, April 14 (CP). — Farmers from Winnipeg to the foothills prepared today to seed the prairie soil and begin their perennial battle with the weather, Reports of wheat seeding came from widely scattered points.

With wheat prices ranging from the $1.40 mark on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, farmers kept a wary eye on the weather and speculated on top and sub-soil moisture as they prepared to go on the land again.

Last year wheat yield in Western Canada was 216,000,000 bushels, with Rainfall and heavy snowfalls in many sections of Manitoba and forecast of rains in Saskatchewan lent an optimistic touch to the wheat scene while dust storms in Southern Alberta caused soil-drifting damage.

Topsoil and some sub-soil moisture was provided by week-end rains in Manitoba and reports indicated many districts have enough moisture for germination.

In the Brandon district two inches of rain fell Monday, adding to abundant moisture left by nine inches of snow last week. The pre-

Police Efforts Be Directed Toward Suppressing Influx Of Criminals

BIG TRAFFIC PROBLEM

LONDON, April 14. —(AP)— If you're coming to the Coronation you'd better be on your toes in a good many ways. Thirty thousand policemen will be on hand to help guard your pocketbook, but they can't do the impossible.

Police efforts are directed to suppressing the influx of criminals, petty thieves and confidence men.

Court Admits Statement By Dying Youth

Accusation, Dictated In Hospital, Names Prisoner John Miller As Slayer

TROUBLE IN FAMILY

PEMBROKE, Ont., April 14.—(CP)—Trial of John Miller on a charge of murdering his brother-in-law continued today after a statement ascribed to the dead youth and naming Miller as his slayer had been admitted as evidence.

The 22-year-old Eganville youth heard Mr. Justice Aimilie Greene admit a statement allegedly dictated by Gregory Tracey as he lay dying in a hospital here, saying: "John Miller, my brother-in-law, shot me. My sister is married to him. They were not getting along very well."

According to evidence Tracey, suffering from fatal gunshot wounds in the abdomen, told Dr. J. H. Galligan, Pembroke surgeon, before he went to the operating room for an emergency operation, that Miller had shot him.

Dr. James Reeves of Eganville told the court he had been attending Mrs. Miller for an illness during the weeks prior to the shooting which occurred in a store at Eganville last January 22.

He had recommended she stay in bed and have complete rest. He said he had told her husband, the accused, what he had prescribed and Miller had not raised objection.

Dr. Reeves admitted Mrs. Miller had complained to him about the way her husband was treating her while she was under the doctor's care.

Sister Tells Her Story.

Mary Tracey, sister of Gregory, said about 13 days before the shooting Miller came to the Tracey home and asked her to come to his home and look after Mrs. Miller.

By mutual consent, she said, she was to sleep with her sister.

The night of the shooting when it was time to retire, Miller proposed sleeping with his wife, and Miss Tracey said she objected.

After a brief argument, she left for her own home, where she told her family what had happened.

Her father and two brothers, John and Gregory, then went to the Miller home to bring Mrs. Miller home.

TEACHERS BALK AT CHURCH ORDER

British Union Resent Being Compelled To Accompany Pupils To Service

PORTSMOUTH, England, April 14—(CP)—Members of the British National Union of Teachers object to being compelled to go to church.

At its annual conference here, the union endorsed the refusal of Blackpool teachers to comply with the request of the local education committee, that they attend religious services with their pupils.

R. J. Patten, union president, said Blackpool Education Committee had adopted a scheme of religious instruction for schools, providing that council school children attend church or chapel on six chosen days during the year. Teachers were asked to attend the services "in order to worship with their pupils."

Blackpool teachers refused to take their pupils to Holy Week services this year, and monitors went with the children instead.

USE BLOW-TORCHES TORTURE NEGROES

Mob Finally Shoots One, Burns Other To Death For Killing Storekeeper

DUCK HILL, Miss., April 14 (UP)—Two young negroes, charged with murdering a white storekeeper, were slain by a Mississippi mob yesterday after being tortured with white-hot blow-torches.

Operating from a school bus, the mob of more than 300 white men chained their victims to a tree while they tortured them with fire.

The negroes were Roosevelt Townes, 25, and Bootjack McDaniel, alias Hubbard, 26. They were accused of murdering George S. Windham, white operator of a nearby crossroads grocery store, last Dec. 30.

The flaming blow-torch first was applied to McDaniel.

Screaming for mercy, he admitted aiding Townes in the murder-robbery, but claimed the other negro fired the shots which killed the white storekeeper.

Still screaming from his burns, McDaniel was shot to death by a hail of pistol bullets from the mobsmen.

Townes struggled against the chains which bound him to the tree as his companion was shot to death. Then the mob turned their blow-torches to him. As the flames licked against his body, the negro repeated the confession he allegedly made to officers after his capture in Memphis recently. Finally, almost unconscious after the ordeal, the negro slumped in his chains. The mob piled brush around the tree, poured gasoline over the wood, drenched his body and ignited it. He was burned to death.

A third negro, Shorty Dorroh, also seized by the mob, was beaten severely but was not tortured. He finally was released and given orders to "get out of this state."

The mob descended on near-by Winona, Miss., the county seat, shortly after the two negroes were taken there for arraignment. They had been sequestered in the "mob-proof" Hinds County Jail at Jackson, Miss., following their capture and alleged confessions.

As Sheriff E. E. Wright and two deputies sought to take the pair to the county jail after the arraignment at the Court House, the mob surrounded the peace officers. Wright pleaded with the mob not to molest his prisoners, but the men overpowered the negroes and tossed them into a bus parked near by.

Greeting Ras Tafari as a Royal Emissary

WHEN the Duke and Duchess of York returned from their honeymoon to set up residence in Richmond Park, it was to begin an even more strenuous existence than either had known before. Welcomed into the royal family as one of its own, the duchess accepted her new station with grace and charm, while for the duke the ever-broadening sphere of his duties made more and more calls upon his time and strength.

He became the second unofficial ambassador of the realm, taking part of the burden from the shoulders of his father the King and the Prince of Wales. Not that this job of representing the throne of England was new to Albert, for as early as 1919 he had been present in place of his father at the re-entry into Brussels of the king of the Belgians. Not only Belgium, but Serbia, Roumania and many another European state saw the likeable prince of England in those post-war years, and to his mind, trained to observe and analyse and remember, a valuable understanding of European political and diplomatic thought must have imparted. It was an education, albeit an arduous one, that stands him in good stead now.

Our picture presents the duke at one of these official ceremonies, a scene that bears an ironical tinge now, more than ten years later. The duke is greeting Ras Tafari, regent-ambassador from independent state of Ethiopia, when that dignitary visited Britain in 1924. Ras Tafari, regent of his country then, was soon to be crowned a king as Haili Sclassie, Conquering Lion of Judah and to set his throne, as Emperor of Ethiopia, in Addis Ababa.

But Ras Tafari lives in England now, an exile, and the country he so proudly represented in this scene is ruled by its Italian conquerors. And Albert, extending as Duke of York, his country's welcome to the visitor from the free African domain, is king and emperor. Thus has King George VI watched history made.

MADRID SHELLED BY ANTI-AIRCRAFT

New Rebel Quick-Firing Trick Gives Populace Fresh Scare

MADRID, April 14 (AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco's gunners tested a new wrinkle in artillery warfare today while the government's own shellfire barred urgently needed supplies from his beleaguered University City garrison.

Artillerymen camped on the capital's outskirts turned smalled calibred anti-aircraft guns on the city and gave Madrid's harried populace a demonstration of rapid-fire land bombardment.

Several casualties were reported from such an attack yesterday when some 25 shells were planted in the city.

Madrilenos, accustomed to the noise of regular projectiles, were mystified at first by the strange, new whistling sound with which the smaller shells passed overhead. Experts examined fragments and decided they came from anti-aircraft batteries.

Franco's forces, seeking to shatter the nearly-closed ring about 3,000 of their number in University City, the "model" suburb on the northwest, hurled tanks and infantry against Gen. Jose Miaja's men during the night.

After a pitched battle of more than an hour, the sounds of which reverberated through Madrid, Miaja announced he had held his gains between Casa De Campo, the park section to the west, and University City.

There was a gap of about 700 yards to be closed along the Manzanares River before the University City force could be isolated completely from the Casa De Campo section.

E. F. Reid, Peterborough, As Grand Master, Addresses 78th Annual Session

OTTAWA, April 14 (CP)—More than 1,000 delegates to conventions of three Orange organizations were quartered in this capital to-day as the 78th annual meeting of Loyal Orange Grand Lodge, Province of Ontario East, opened.

About 800 delegates of that organization assembled to register for the two-day sessions and hear the address of E. F. Reid of Peterborough, Grand Master. They will spend the rest of the day in committee meetings, reporting to the full assembly to-morrow.

Almost 500 women opened a meeting last night of the Provincial Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association of Ontario East, and will hold business sessions to-day. Last night saw conferring of degrees by teams from Ottawa and nearby Burritt's Rapids.

At the same time the Provincial Grand Lodge, Orange Young Britons, opened its 19th annual meeting with Grand Master J. L. Morrow of Russell presiding. This organization also will start serious work to-day.

Tweed's 'Babe In The Woods' Found After All-Day Search

3-Year-Old Geraldine Courneyea Separated From Brothers Playing In Bush

NEIGHBORS AID HUNT

(Examiner Correspondence)

TWEED, April 14. — Geraldine Courneyea, three-year-old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Joseph D. Courneyea of the French Settlement, about three miles north of the village of Tweed, was lost in the woods near her home for the greater part of Monday, before being found by a search party which was recruited by Constable J. C. Hayes of Tweed, from residents of the village and neighbors of the parents. The child appeared none the worse for her experience.

It appears that the youngster, in company with two brothers, ages 5 and 6, had gone into the sugar bush, a short distance from their home to gather sap. About 9.30 in the morning little Geraldine became separated from her brothers in their play, and wandered about until she became hopelessly lost. Meanwhile, her brothers, becoming tired and hungry, and supposing their sister to have gone home, themselves returned to the house, only to find that Geraldine had not come home.

The alarmed parents hastened to the woods, searching here and there without success. Word was sent to nearby neighbors who readily responded to their plea, but still no trace of the little girl could be found.

Neighbors Aid Hunt

Finally Constable J. C. Hayes of Tweed was advised of the situation. He quickly enlisted the aid of a number of men from the village, while the now-thoroughly-alarmed neighborhood turned out to a man. A search party, fifty strong, began a systematic search of the woods. Their efforts were finally rewarded about the middle of the afternoon when one of the posse heard a faint cry coming from a nearby fence corner about a quarter of a mile from her home. The tiny child was soon restored to her parents.

From the appearance of the little tot's face, it was apparent that she had cried herself to sleep and failed to hear the calling of the searchers. She appeared to be none the worse for her adventure as a "Babe in the Woods," as she was warmly clad and the day had been fine.

Smith Home Destroyed

The home of Alfred Smith, transport owner, of the village of Bloomfield, Ont., lies to-day a heap of smouldering ruins as a result of a fire late Monday afternoon which totally destroyed the house and contents.

Fanned by a strong wind, the flames which started in the interior of the house from an unknown cause, made such headway that salvage of the home and its contents was impossible. Smith, who was sawing wood in the bush at the time was not aware of the fire until he saw flames, and attempting to enter he discovered the doors had been locked by members of his family who had left to spend the afternoon with friends.

Villagers rushed to the scene and battered down doors, but terrific heat and clouds of smoke prevented any efforts of saving the house and its effects. It is not ascertained whether the loss was covered by insurance.

11 BUILDINGS BURN ON FARM AT PUCE

Spark From Blazing Corn Stubble Starts $10,000 Inferno

PUCE, Ont., April 14 (CP). — Piles of blackened ruins to-day marked spots where 11 buildings on the farm of Fred Cote, Maidstone Township, had stood, for the most part, 68 years. Fire, fanned by a 30-mile wind, swept the buildings, including the homestead farmhouse, yesterday.

A horse and three calves were burned to death in the inferno, believed started when a spark from some corn stubble being burned in a field 400 yards distant from the buildings landed in a hay stack near a barn. Flames spread from stack to barn and then to other buildings.

Only a rake from an implement shed and a few pieces of furniture from the house were saved.

Cote estimated his loss at between $10,000 and $15,000. Besides the buildings, 2,000 bushels of corn, 400 bushels of oats, house furnishings, and all farming implements, were destroyed.

Several neighbors rushed to the farm shortly after the fire started, but they were faced by a complete circle of flaming buildings and the terrific heat made it impossible for them to save anything.

The Tecumseh Fire Department responded but by the time they had covered the six miles from the town to the farm, all buildings had been destroyed.

So strong was the wind that it carried sparks from the Cote farmhouse to a barn situated on another farm a quarter of a mile away, belonging to Howard Conerbeare, who operates the farm for F. B. Pohl, Detroit race horse owner and breeder. Conerbeare extinguished the flames before [illegible] other buildings.

Sparks were also carried by the wind several hundred yards down the West Price River road, and started numerous grass fires and ignited fence posts.

STOLE INSTRUMENTS

NEW WATERFORD, N.S. (C.P.). —A New Waterford magistrate sentenced a youth to two years in the penitentiary for stealing an instrument case from a physician's automobile. The youth pleaded guilty, but said he couldn't remember where he had hidden the case. Police found it in an old building.

of Canada, in the strike at the Oshawa plant of General Motors of Canada, Limited."

Dr. Kaiser's Attitude

"We are supposed to oppose all these men concerning themselves in the strike who happened to come here from the United States," said Dr. T. E. Kaiser, former Conservative member of parliament for Ontario County, who addressed the veterans.

"I have this observation to make: So far as the citizens of Oshawa are concerned the first invasion of Yankeeism into this city was in the nature of what has been called efficiency.

"It was an American poison which says a man should not have a job after 45 years of age, and I oppose it. It is that phase of Americanism I oppose, and oppose strongly.

"Where that poison grows and spreads there is nearly always close by an antidote and it seems that the so-called American labor agitators are that antidote. I am not going to oppose their being here until their job is finished.

"I am not afraid of all the people of this province being Bolshevists as is the Premier. We are all loyal British subjects loyal to the King. If we can eradicate some of the wrongs of industrial efficiency we have done some great good."

Industrial Democracy

Thompson told the gathering many of the veterans' comrades gave their lives for democracy.

"It is up to the Premier of this province of Ontario to do his part also to keep the democracy you fought for," Thompson said.

"We demand industrial democracy no matter what any politician thinks of it," he said. "We demand the right of free men to live as they want to live.

"This meeting here is a lesson to anyone who tries to tear down democratic institutions by dictatorial methods in order to stop workers from having anyone they wish to represent them. It is the duty of all good Canadians to fight for industrial democracy."

Rev. J. V. McNally, United Church minister declared during the war the soldiers were "asked to take a three-fold oath to God, King and Country."

"The oath is none the less virile in peace time" he said.

"Our task is still to defend the Empire. Let no one say that veterans are lawless or lacking in obedience to the King the country or its laws."

ing view of the procession!

Then there was that spry, ingenious soul who promised to "cure red noses" for about 25 cents.

Those who stubbed their toes on that one received a neatly-typed answer which playfully read: "Drink more; it will turn blue."

Two powerful bay geldings, Vigour and Ure, ordinarily earning their hay and oats by pulling a dray, have been hired to pull the 3¼-ton coach of Captain Fitzroy, Speaker of the House of Commons, in the Coronation procession. They will wear enough spangles and gilt to satisfy any horse.

FARMER INJURED

Suffers Broken Pelvis When Team Bolts on Campbellford Street.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14. — Percy Parr, Percy Township farmer, is to-day suffering a broken pelvis as the result of being thrown from a wagon when his team of horses bolted on Bridge Street on Tuesday afternoon. Becoming alarmed the team reared up and dashed up the street, glancing a gasoline pump and grazing the side of a parked car. Trailing the broken lines the animals ran for two blocks before being brought to a halt. The rearing of the horses threw Mr. Parr from the wagon box, and the heavy wheels passed over his body. He will be confined to bed with his injuries for at least four weeks, his physician stated.

HEPBURN RULE FULL OF JOLTS

Demand For Two Ministers' Resignations Continues Trend Of Hectic House Session

EXPULSION OF MEMBER

TORONTO, April 14.— (CP). — Premier Hepburn's call for resignation of two cabinet ministers today was a reverberating after-shock to a series of disturbances that traced jagged records across the political seismograph during the Legislative session which closed in March.

While none had any bearing on the other, or on to-days developments, the session was one of stresses and strains in the Legislative strata.

Expulsion of Dr. A. D. Roberts of Sault Ste. Marie from the Liberal party was one upheaval. Charges by the Premier against the Sault member are still to be probed.

Epithets were tossed about the Chamber when the Premier announced repeal of the school tax legislation and shut off debate. Leopold Macaulay, York South Conservative was ejected from the Chamber for defying the Speaker.

A lesser blow up was sudden adjournment of a night sitting at the Premier's request when Hon. Peter Heenan, his Minister of Lands and Forests, launched a verbal attack on Conservative Leader George Henry and refused to obey the Speaker.

ASKS U.S. UNIONS GO OUT ON STRIKE

tional union is not playing the game with them."

Hall Speaks Plainly.

Text of Mayor Hall's letter follows:

"Following my telegram of this morning, I beg to respond you that the Oshawa strike is now going into its second week. Government intervention has failed to reach a settlement. Three hundred feeder plants in Canada are out of work. Oshawa workmen are losing wages, Oshawa citizens are losing business. The matter cannot continue indefinitely and there may as well be a showdown now as any time.

"The matter could be settled within half an hour's time except for the point that the General Motors will not recognize the international union. If the international union will recognize the men, then it may be that they have reasons for insisting upon recognition. The sole point of recognition, however, involves international united action. To date such has not been forthcoming. Not only are General Motors cars not being sold in Canada, but we are losing our export trade. My duty is clear cut to me. I must protect the interests of my fellow citizens.

"Unless an agreement is negotiated between the General Motors and the union in Oshawa before the end of this week, I am demanding that the members of your union in the United States go out on strike. I cannot bear to see Canadian workmen losing, while American workmen are gaining. Such conduct negatives the strength of any international union.

Fooled and Hoodwinked.

"Unless the agreement is signed so that these men can start to work on Monday morning, I expect the General Motors plants in the United States to close on Monday. Failing this I am calling a mass meeting of all citizens of Oshawa, and laying all the cards on the table. I shall tell them that they are being fooled and hoodwinked, and that the International Union is not playing the game with them. This is not said in any antagonistic sense, but in order to force a showdown. Further negotiations will merely delay the issue.

"All of the powers at my command will be called in to advise the men for their own interest and I am confident that the reasons that I will produce in such an event will be sufficiently sound to convince the men. Please consider that this issue is now at a head.

"I am forwarding copies of this letter to Mr. H. J. Carmichael and to Mr. Hugh Thompson.

"Yours very truly,

"Mayor Alex. C. Hall."

Union Undecided.

DETROIT, April 14.—(AP).—Officials of the United Automobile Workers' Union here would not say at once to-day what action they would take on the "ultimatum" of Mayor Alex Hall of Oshawa, Ont., who asked that a General Motors strike be called in the United States unless a strike in Oshawa is settled soon.

Ed Hall, vice-president of the U. A.W.A., said the Mayor's telegram had not been received yet and commented:

"Mayor Hall apparently has some authority and recognition. His demand should be taken up also with General Motors."

150 Out of 2 Other Plants

OSHAWA, April 14.—(CP)—About 350 employees of three Oshawa plants have been laid off because of the General Motors strike involving 3,700 men. The companies were ordered by General Motors to quit making parts.

W. E. Phillips Company has 120 on the payroll now compared with 435 previously. Ontario Steel Products Limited has cut its force from 60 to 30. Skinner Company, normally employing 115 has laid off 30.

May Hit 1,000 In Windsor.

WINDSOR, April 14.—(CP)—Curtailed production in General Motors of Canada plants following the Oshawa strike may affect about 1,000 workers here.

Five hundred workers were forced to leave their jobs when the Oshawa plant closed as there was no outlet then for motors made here. With the further curtailed production of parts, 400 men may now lose employment in Windsor. Some 300 may be laid off at the Walker Metal Products factory, where iron castings are made for General Motors cars.

Eighteen were laid off at the Kelsey wheel factory yesterday.

Hours To Be Reduced.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 14. —(CP).—Hours at McKinnon Industries, General Motors subsidiary, will be cut and will affect 600 employees, W. A. Wecker, general manager, announced to-day following orders from General Motors, Oshawa, to suspend manufacture of their products.

John Conroy, general manager of Conroy Manufacturing Co., reported between 35 and 40 men at his plant would be laid off as a result of the order which means a 70 per cent curtailment of production at the Conroy plant.

Mr. Wecker said curtailment would be kept to a minimum. Quite a back log of unfilled service orders will provide a considerable amount of work.

Products for companies other than General Motors will also help in maintaining employment.

Officials of Thompson Products and Hayes Steel, Ltd., which also make General Motors parts, said efforts are being made to re-arrange production to keep men at work.

RELIEF BEEN GIVEN STRIKERS IN PAST

an invitation to accept a portfolio; it happens that I have clung to them through these three years and that now the test is come I am guided by this higher loyalty.

For instance, I have never swerved from a conviction that the working people have a right to form their associations for the purpose of collective bargaining; that they have the privilege of joining the lawful union of their own choice; that if they, in their wisdom and in their knowledge of the conditions under which they work, consider that they should make the final resort to a strike, then that too is their right; and having struck, that they shall not be molested if they picket peacefully and within the law. These I have considered are the rights which our law ensures to them and which Liberalism through the years has upheld.

Greatest Strike Breaker

I have never considered it my duty as Minister of Public Welfare to refuse relief to strikers and so have my department become the greatest strike breaker of all. As I have seen it, my responsibility has not been to judge whether the strike is right or wrong; my function has been that of mediator and conciliator, my duty to effect amicable settlement and so restore production in the industry. Thousands of working men and women in the province of Ontario have come to look to me as their protector and their champion. I feel that I cannot now fail them. If the impression gets abroad that the government is anti-Labor, anti-worker or anti-union, all the very splendid social legislation produced by this government will become of no value — and industrial peace which I have tried so hard and, until last week successfully, to establish, will vanish from our province.

I think I may say without boasting that those policies have earned the respect of both employers and employees in this province. Certainly when I leave—as I must in the face of your pronouncement and my convictions — I shall have the certain knowledge that no word of valid criticism ever has been uttered against the administration of the difficult departments entrusted to my care.

I gave you my unswerving loyalty in return for yours.

Offended By Policy

So much for my general principles. You will see that they were offended in your policy toward the strike at the General Motors plant in Oshawa. You quarrelled with the right of these workers to join the union of their choice. That it was a union sponsored by the Committee for Industrial Organization was incidental to the fact that these thirty-seven hundred men and women had decided that they wished to exercise their liberty to affiliate with that organization. You based your attack upon a conviction that the

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food won't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks purple.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no mineral or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 19c.

ATTLEE MOVES CENSURE VOTE

to protect our ships or acquiesce?" he asked.

The Labor leader asserted the government's "stepping down has caused amazement through the world." By its action the government has approved the laying of mines about Bilbao, although International law prohibited such mine laying.

"Would the British government have stood this threat if it had been made by the Spanish government instead of by General Franco?" Attlee asked. "We would have sent the Hood down to put what for?" (H.M.S. Hood, largest warship afloat, is lying off Bilbao).

He did not know why Britain kept a navy. Was Britain to stand by and help murder another free people as in Ethiopia? Referring to Sir Samuel Hoare, he asked that the House remember "The First Lord of the Admiralty is the man who trailed the honor of this country in the dust—he has a special habit of being friendly with pirates."

(Attlee was apparently referring to the Hoare-Laval plan to end the Ethiopian war which resulted in Hoare's resignation as Foreign Secretary).

C.I.O. should not be permitted to invade Canada, when you must have known that agreements had already been signed by the C.I.O. with the Coulter Manufacturing Company of Oshawa, and the Goodrich Tire Co. of Kitchener. Indeed, there are to-day and have been for many months, some ten thousand workers in the province of Ontario who are members of unions affiliated with the C.I.O.—and most of these ten thousand enjoy the protection afforded by our own industrial standards act.

Certainly I have never heard until you made it, any suggestion of an alliance between the Lewis unions and the Communists. You must be aware of my consistent opposition to Communism or any other form of dictatorship.

Law Abiding Citizens

These thirty-seven hundred people in Oshawa are decent, law abiding and hard working citizens of Ontario. They believe that they have so great a grievance against their employers that they are justified in using their final effective weapon—the strike. Are they right or wrong in this? I submit to you that it is not for you or for me to sit in judgment upon that point. They are acting within their rights as citizens of Canada and the Empire. Should, as you suggested, "The whole force of the Provincial Government be thrown behind General Motors?" "In my opinion they can well look after themselves."

And I would impress upon you further, that they employed the methods of peaceful picketing, that they attempted no violence, nor have done so at any time since they left the factory.

No Arrests Made

As you know, not one arrest has been made for any offence on the part of the strikers. Should the Government then have treated them as criminals, calling in the police of city, province, and Dominion, to combat a violence that never has eventuated?

Understand me; so long as you announced your antagonism to the sit-down strike and your determination to preserve law and order, and combat all subversive forces, I was fully and completely in accord with your views. I think I demonstrated that clearly in my attitude toward revolt and Communism in such instances as the Crowland relief strike, the relief disorders in York and East York Townships, and the recent strike at the Empire Cotton Mills in Welland, where compete order was preserved. Had you confined yourself to these considerations, then never would there have been the necessity of this letter. But to my way of thinking you have gone beyond this, have passed the borders of Liberalism, and have entered the perilous realm of I know not what. If the issue were only Communism, you know I would have stayed with you to the end.

From the first I have asked for only two concessions in the matter of the General Motors strike: Recognition of the local union, which then could make whatever affiliations it considered best, so long as it was joining a lawful group; and second, that there be no withholding of relief from the strikers in the event that need arose.

When the original difficulties started and when General Motors refused to meet its employees of Local 222, I summoned both sides to my office and obtained the voluntary withdrawal of Mr. Hugh Thompson, the C.I.O. organizer, with whom the company was refusing to treat. I further requested and seemingly received the agreement of General Motors to deal with their employees, who were members of Local 222. Negotiations were proceeding favorably, indeed peace seemed certain, when suddenly General Motors announced a definite refusal to recognize the local union. In withdrawing finally from this scene, I would urge this upon you: That you advise the company to recognize this local. Thereafter it is the local's privilege to affiliate with any lawful group.

I regret that I have been led to the necessity of passing an opinion upon your policy; of taking upon myself the responsibility of saying whether it is right or wrong. I appreciate that that is presumption on my part; I had intended merely to say that I had disagreed with it. You know my origins; I have always been with, and one of, the workers, and I have neither the desire nor the ability to swing at this late date to the other side. In my official capacity I have travelled the middle of the road, but now that you have put the extreme alternative to me, my place is marching with the workers rather than riding with General Motors. At this late date I cannot oppose unionism and the workers and labour as a whole.

Therefore, and regretfully, I tender to you my resignation as Minister of Public Welfare, Labour and Municipal Affairs. You have received my full support in the past, and will continue to do so on those fiscal and hydro policies which you have handled so ably—no one better than myself knows the conscientious labour you have expended on them to make them a boon to this province. It is only on matters of social policy that I feel I must follow my own course, remain the reform Liberal I always have been.

Even in this hour of our differences at this time when I am disagreeing wholeheartedly with you, I cannot but admire the courage and honesty with which you are following the path which you believe right. It is that same fearlessness and determination which have given to the province so many wise and generally hopeful decisions since you first became Prime Minister.

Finally, I would like to reciprocate your hope that this severance of governmental relations will in no way mar the personal friendship which began between us long before the present government took office; which has continued uninterruptedly during the years of our administration, and which I firmly hope will survive for all time to come. You will, I trust, realize my sincerity when I refer to the "higher loyalty."

Yours Sincerely,

DAVE CROLL.

Put Out to Die

When things are not going right in China it seems difficult to get the ear of the world. An Associated Press despatch from Chungking says 2,102 bodies of famine victims had been picked up on the streets of that city during the month of March. Parents put their children out in the streets and leave them there because they have nothing to feed them. And conditions are growing worse as there is famine in the land. As things become worse it means that more children will starve to death and so will many of the adults.

We don't know if the world could be moved today to do anything about it. China has not a great army and a great navy and a great fleet of bombing planes, so China does not receive much attention.

Other nations are spending their millions and their billions for war machinery, and a great many people seem to be dipping rather deep in their pockets to pay for a good time for themselves.

So the children who get put out on the streets in that city in China will have to die. And die in a world which claims to have so many Christian nations in it.

Because They Want To

"I'll have to go back to the office tonight and catch up with my work." That statement was made by a Peterborough gentleman who has been out securing funds for the Y.M.C.A. in the annual financial campaign. And yet he was quite willing to have it that way. He hadn't been forced into the work he was doing; rather was he in it because he wanted to do something about it. That is probably the reason why the Y.M.C.A. gets along and keeps growing. There are so many people who want to do something to help it, and right there you have the finest motive in the world—wanting to do something. Not being dragged out to do it or persuaded to take part, but responding to a wholesome desire.

We believe that feeling is pretty general when it comes to the Y.M.C.A. Parents of boys of all ages want the place to continue; they feel quite easy if they know the boys are at the Y. The number of men, youths and boys, even little fellows, who congregate in the Y. during the year would make an impressive total, and they all seem to feel there's a place for them there and that they are welcome. That is why they go and keep on going.

The Hour for Closing

The ruling of the Ontario Liquor Control Board that municipalities name the hour at which beverage rooms shall close in the evening is not meeting with approval in a number of places. In Stratford the matter was presented to Council and the outcome was a unanimous vote to say this was a matter which the Government should settle.

In Kitchener the City Council when faced with the same question refused to take any action on the suggestion that the municipality name an hour between 10 o'clock and midnight when closing should take place.

The feeling seems to be that the Government itself should take the initiative and name the hours so there would be uniformity throughout the province. The Government regulates the hours during which the liquor stores operate and the contention is the same policy should be followed with beverage rooms. But if the municipalities all said 11 o'clock should be the closing time that would produce the desired uniformity.

One Way to Decrease Wages

Another move is being made in the Legislature of Winnipeg to make it possible to take more money away from the people. The newest proposal is to permit City Councils to impose an occupancy tax up to 10 per cent. of the rental of the property occupied. We take that to mean if a man were paying $25 per month for a house it would be necessary for him to pay $2.50 to the city for the privilege of paying rent or to help swell the funds in the city treasury.

Just how long this sort of business is going to be tolerated we do not know. We seem to have been stewed in the belief that the one test for greatness in administration is the ability to think of new means for taking money from the people. The majority of our governing bodies have become obsessed with the same idea.

Every time a government puts on a new tax it means that the wages or earnings of the individual have been decreased to that extent. There may be some people who through the nature of the business can proceed with the recovery of extra taxation, but the average man is in no position to do such a thing. He must stand still and deliver, knowing that some government has that much more money and he has that much less.

A man who is paying rent is actually the tax-payer on the premises he occupies, and his rent is a continuous outlay. He has to pay it whether he is earning money all the time or not. He has to pay it regardless of the condition of his own business or trade. To put a blanket increase of ten per cent. on that outlay as is now proposed in the bill before the Manitoba Legislature is making another addition to the already too-great powers of our governing bodies to force revenue from the people. The ability of the people to pay is ignored, and there is no specific reason given why they should pay. It looks like another dull dictum that they must pay.

Agree Or Resign

There is this much to be said for Premier Hepburn—it is easy to understand what he says. Whether one agrees with what he says or not there is nothing about his statements which requires interpretation. Mr. Hepburn said at the outset he had no use for Hugh Thompson and the C.I.O. he represented when he came to organize automobile workers in Oshawa. When Mr. Thompson went to Queen's Park with a committee of strikers Mr. Hepburn did not change his view. He refused to permit him to enter his office nor would he go out and see him. Mr. Thompson was left sitting alone sitting on a bench outside until the committee came out.

Premier Hepburn has since stated there must be solidarity in his cabinet regarding the stand he has taken in dealing with relief and other matters at Oshawa. He says plainly he will insist upon it, and if his cabinet ministers do not agree with him then they can resign. That too is easy to understand.

Mr. Hepburn says he called in every cabinet minister who was in town and discussed the Oshawa situation, and he announces there was not a dissenting voice. But all the cabinet ministers were not present. Hon. David Croll, Minister of Labor and Welfare, was not there, nor was Hon. Arthur Roebuck, the Attorney-General, and Dr. L. J. Simpson, Minister of Education is out of the country on a vacation. If the Premier found the ministers present during the conference on Oshawa in agreement with his views, then they can all be left out of the cabinet solidarity issue. As they offered no word of dissension it can be taken as a fact that they agreed with him and are not affected by this most recent statement.

The two men who were not present were Hon. David Croll and Hon. Arthur Roebuck, so it is fair to assume that it is to these gentlemen that Mr. Hepburn refers when he says there must be solidarity in the cabinet otherwise there must be resignation from it. To use a phrase of rather common calibre, the Premier has put Hon. David Croll and Hon. Arthur Roebuck "on the spot." He virtually says they must agree with him regarding something which was decided upon at a conference which they did not attend or leave the cabinet. We do not believe that is an extreme or unfair interpretation to place upon his statement. And Hon. David Croll is generally regarded as the strongest man in the provincial cabinet. Having taken such a clear-cut and definite stand regarding his opposition to the C.I.O. in Ontario Mr. Hepburn cannot retreat. He will fight the battle on the Oshawa line first. He will undoubtedly have to fight another in his own cabinet and within his own caucus afterward.

No Sense of Decency

The Manchester Guardian is authority for the statement that Germany has placed guns along the Czechoslovakian frontier which have a range of 87 miles, and they are so situated that it would be possible to bomb the capital city of Praha without ever entering the territory of Czechoslovakia.

When Czechoslovakia came into existence following the world war it was a poor piece of draftmanship which was used in marking its borders. It is long in its east-to-west dimension, probably 700 miles, but in many sections it seems as narrow as it is long. It is hedged in by Germany and Poland, and by Rumania, Hungary and Austria, and it is made up of territory which formerly belonged to the empire of Austria or the kingdom of Hungary. There is a formidable frontier line to defend, and there is a tremendous pressure from outside influences to try and dominate the new country.

The idea of Germany placing guns of 87-mile range along the frontier is not an act of defence of German frontier at all. It is an act of premeditated invasion. It is quite possible that such guns could bombard Praha (which in our country is more frequently referred to as Prague) and do it effectively, for Praha is not more than 50 miles removed from the German frontier. There are not more than 12,000,000 people in Czechoslovakia, and the capital city of Praha is rich in history, and the degree of skill which its people exhibit in the fabrication of metal goods, of textiles and of shoes is nothing short of amazing. A number of Canadian newspaper editors visited that city a few years ago and they were called upon to completely revise former ideas of the people and their standing. At a dinner given by the city of Praha and the foreign department of the government there must have been an attendance of 180. In the after-dinner exchange of speeches the English language was spoken entirely and the interpreter, who is always present on such occasions, had nothing to do. Inquiry brought the information that all those present understood English. Further inquiry added the statement that the business and diplomatic world found it necessary to speak the language of the the Czechs and Slovaks which is different, English, French, German, Italian and Spanish. It is there the Apostle's clock is located, and the apostles appear in turn as each hour is reached. Age and evidence of strange construction is written all over the place, and one can readily have the sensation of being in a foreign city in Praha. The fact that Germany has guns trained on that great old place is out of keeping with any feeling of justice or international decency. The people there could not harm Germany even if they desired to do so.

The Union Jack

Each event brings with it its own points of discussion. In Toronto it has been decided that about one-half of the flags flown at the city hall on Coronation Day shall be the red ensign commonly referred to as the Canadian flag, and the remainder shall be Union Jacks.

The truth is Canada has no distinctive flag. We use and regard the Union Jack as our emblem, and we can see no good reason why it should not be continued. Certainly it should be the flag of the Coronation.

It has been with the people of this country through their lives, and nothing has been done in its name to cause us to turn from it.

If we are going to use any other flag it will mean that the Union Jack will have to come down. We believe it should stay up.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Evidently Premier Hepburn is of the opinion that the initials C.I.O. stand for "Can't Invade Ontario."

Government employees in a German province have been ordered to get married or to give up their jobs. No women's societies have so far entered a protest against the decree.

Hon. Chas. Dunning says the door has not been closed to Alberta. But he will have to admit that the welcome on the mat has not been dusted off for some time.

Premier Baldwin has warned the British people to keep away from both communism and fascism. We would be inclined to predict they would be the last folk on earth to adopt either system.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review complains that an officer of the O.E.A. used the words "We have came." Of course the man was wrong. He should have said "We have camed."

A German writer says that British Dominions must admit aliens to their open spaces and the motion will probably be seconded by the transportation companies.

Canada's military contingent to the Coronation will demonstrate that no matter what else the Canadian militia may lack there is no scarcity of senior officers.

A contemporary voices some mild criticism because Hugh Thompson, United Automobile Workers' organizer, wears spats. Worse than that he doesn't go out of his way to dodge them either.

Haliburton has decided not to allow cows to wander on the main street because they tie up traffic. The Northern village had better be careful it does not get so citified that tourists will not recognize the place.

It is doubtful if there has previously been a finish to a hockey game comparable with the manner in which the team from Copper Cliff wound up their session with the Winnipeg team. When there was but two minutes and 21 seconds of play remaining in the third period, and with three goals against them, the Redmen from Copper Cliff evened the score and forced the game into overtime, and then fired the shot that won.

LAZY

(By A. R. K.)

¶ Kind friends will stop me now and then, to have a little talk with them, their plans are fresh and new; when it comes on this time of year, they all move up to highest gear, on what they're going to do.

¶ My Neighbor A was showing me, where he was going to plant a tree, and where he'd grow some flowers; he paced off squares around his lot, and waved his hands and arms a lot, 'twould take him many hours.

¶ And Neighbor B has got a scheme, he read it in a magazine, he'll beautify his lawn; he'll have it slope from there to here, 'twill take him best part of a year, and he will rise at dawn.

¶ And I met Neighbor C today, the stuff he bought would fill a dray, he was in haste to go; he'll miss good weather he's afraid, and so he bought himself a spade, likewise a rake and hoe.

¶ And Neighbor D has bought his seed, for plants he's bought new-fangled feed, and poison for the grubs; he's also got a pile of roots, he bought a pair of working boots, he'll also plant some shrubs.

¶ And all these men have notions new, of all the things they're going to do, they urge great things on me; I like to putter round a bit, but when it's hot I like to sit—beneath my basswood tree.

As Parliament Neared the End

Parliamentary Debates, April 27

Mr. T. L. CHURCH (Broadview): Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of privilege, in view of the answer of the Prime Minister (Mr. Mackenzie King) which does not answer my question at all. This house—

Some hon. MEMBERS: Order.

Mr. SPEAKER: I do not think there is any question of privilege involved.

Mr. CHURCH: I understand—

Some hon. MEMBERS: Order.

Mr. CHURCH: I shall have to ask for a recorded division on the motion to go into supply.

SEES LITTLE HOPE

Mr. MacNEILL: I am suggesting that the imperial ex-service man in Canada, who is suffering disability, is at a very special disadvantage at this time. That is particularly so because the channel of negotiations with respect to his needs is in effect blocked. The administration of British pensions in Canada is in a highly unsatisfactory state.

Mr. POWER: Is that the fault of this parliament?

Mr. MacNEILL: I am not suggesting that it is, but I am suggesting that I believe it is quite proper for an organization of ex-service men to bring this matter to the attention of the Canadian parliament and, having knowledge of all the circumstances, we might properly through the regular channels advance their plea to the British authorities.

Mr. POWER: I have done that.

Mr. MACKENIE (Vancouver): That has been done.

Mr. MacNEIL: I suggest that further conferences will be necessary. I do not know to what extent the minister has had the opportunity to confer with the British ministry in this regard.

Mr. POWER: I personally saw the British ministry, and they told me that they were no longer responsible for these men.

Mr. MacNEIL: The minister has conferred with the ministry; I am asking him to continue those negotiations. An imperial conference will be held—

Mr. POWERS: I shall be very glad to do so, but I do not think I will get anywhere.

DROPPED HIS PENSION

Mr. BENNETT: My memory is that the voice of the minister was not raised in support of the proposal.

Mr. POWER: The minister's voice was not raised because he was in rather a difficult position. He himself was drawing a pension of $62 a month and considered himself still quite capable of carrying on his duties as a member of parliament and drawing therefor the sum of $4,000 a year.

Mr. BENNETT: And he is now a minister of the crown.

Mr. POWER: Unfortunately, as a minister of the crown, to such an extent was he subject to outside influences that he abandoned that pension, of which he was very proud when he returned from overseas, and for the abandonment of which he sees no justification to-day.

Mr. BENNETT: Hear, hear.

Mr. POWER: It was only to meet the so-called public clamour of those who say that if you are disabled to some extent you should not hold such a position.

FIRING EX-SOLDIERS

Mr. MacNEIL: May I refer again to the recommendation of the veterans' assistance commission:

That in order to set an example to private business firms, the government agree not to dismiss any ex-service man, except for misdemeanour, inability to perform duties in a satisfactory manner, or upon reaching the age limit for retirement.

Mr. POWER: Will the hon. member add, political partisanship?

Mr. HEAPS: "Misdemeanour" includes that.

Mr. MacNEIL: I agree that any act of partisan activity is a misdemeanour, and a dismissal might be justified. But no misdemeanour was proved in these cases, and I am citing these four cases to illustrate the necessity of implementing this recommendation.

Mr. SINCLAIR: How was it that during the term of the last government returned soldiers were dismissed in Prince Edward Island? Does the hon. member know that?

Mr. DOUGLAS: Two wrongs do not make a right.

Mr. SINCLAIR: Returned soldiers were dismissed down there on the charge of a member, just the same as in this case.

Mr. BENNETT: Only that in the one case they were justified and in the other they were not.

Mr. SINCLAIR: They were not justified in the other case.

Mr. Bennett: These men denied it under oath.

Mr. SINCLAIR: The right hon. gentleman's government did not give the other men a chance.

Mr. BENNETT: They had a chance and did not deny the charge. They had the same chance as these men.

HOW TIMES CHANGE.

(Jackson, Minn., Pilot)

It wasn't many years back that the dependent aged were few in number. The families were larger and when the old folks really were in need of assistance, their children came forward and supplied their wants. Now the scene seems to have entirely changed, and while families yearly are becoming smaller, the increase in dependents is growing by leaps and bounds, with a headlong rush for charity that promises to bankrupt our nation. Self respect seems to be rapidly fading from the picture of a half century ago.

GROWING ROSES

Editor Examiner,

Sir: I hope you will grant this letter space in your very much up-to-the-minute paper. A remark passed by one of your prominent citizens, gave me the idea. He said he was always sorry for all of us who were nursery stock representatives at this time of the year. So many people begin complaining about their plants that did not grew last season that the nursery where they bought them must have sent them bad stock, and of course we hear all about it on the spring trip around the country. Now rose bushes seem to be the worst offender in this section, so I would like to give a few brief hints on rose planting and after care.

Preparation of rose beds—Roses are heavy feeders and require rich loam. In preparing bed, dig up the ground to a depth of 18 inches and replace about one-third of the bulk of the soil with well rotted cow manure or one fourth horse manure. Prepare the bed two weeks in advance, prune before planting, but two or three stems with four or five buds should be left after completed, cut away all broken or bruised branches.

Cultivate the top inch or two of the soil on rose bed every week after planting and water thoroughly, if the weather is dry.

Much of this labor can be eliminated if the beds are covered with a two-inch mulch of grass, or well rotted stable manure. My final advice is a trowelful of bone meal, another of sheep manure worked about each plant twice a year. Follow the above advice, then Peterboro will grow real roses which will be profuse blooming plants, and your writer will get more sleep.

HAS AN INVENTION

Editor Examiner,

Sir: The following appeared in a recent issue of the Toronto Star:

Special lawn mowers are now used to cut and trim grass growing along the boundaries of gardens. What is needed is a cheap attachment for an ordinary lawn mower, so that this work may be done efficiently without investing ten dollars in a special machine. If such an attachment could be sold for $3.00, the inventor would receive at least $35,000 for his contribution to the work of the home gardener.

In this connection I think the following is interesting:

J. R. Kennedy, a resident of Cobourg for many years, and prominent associate of a lumbering concern in the Province and furniture manufacturer in United States, has invented an attachment that can be applied to any lawn mower which will trim any narrow passage around bushes or next to cement walk, which eliminates the large scissors.

In his possession he has patent papers dated November 6th, 1936, which he claims can be sold for a little over a dollar, and will fit any machine on the market. "I never did like bending down to cut the long grass on the lawn," he remarked, "and have been using the invention for over a year."

The attachment consists of a twelve-inch piece of steel in a circular shape with a small roller at the back that has a small snap screw that is attached to the lawn mower just above the four-inch heavy wheel in front.

He stated that he has not much time to market the article, owing to pressure of other business, "in fact, I intend going up past Peterborough next week to buy some beechnut and walnut wood that is in great demand at present, more particularly the beechnut which is used extensively in trim work in the various houses around Salamanca and Jamestown. At any rate, I have the invention and perhaps I can make use of it some day."

SCOTIA.

The Way of the Transgressor.

(From the Chatham News.)

BRITISH justice declares that when a law-breaker is released from serving a prison term, the debt is paid, the slate is wiped clean, and that man is entitled to a fair chance to make good, along the straight and narrow path. We introduce character-moulding influences in our prisons, aiming to reform the criminal as well as punish him, and we are told that we are making progress in this respect—that many a man leaves the prison doors thoroughly reformed; sometimes long before his prescribed term has been served.

But how does it work out in actual practice?

There is the case of the Niagara Falls man who was sentenced to the Reformatory as a result of a motor car accident. While he was serving his 18-month term his mother died, and his home was broken up. With no work available in his Home Town, he went to London where he heard there was a demand for farm labor. He was turned down on every hand for work, food and shelter. There seemed to be no place where an ex-convict could fit in. Even religious organizations seemed to be quite uninterested in him. At the employment office he asked for something to eat and was sent to the Relief Department. Only in the police station apparently, could he get even shelter for the night.

Those are the particulars we learn from a London dispatch. There may be other information not disclosed, but enough seems to be revealed to prove that the paroled man has a hard time getting along after he leaves the penal institution.

Of course there may be many other men in the same position—men who have never been sentenced to jails or prisons—but these men do get a chance when work is available. It seems to us, if we are to reduce crime in this country, men who have gone wrong but who have paid the penalty for their crimes, should be given at least an even break to make good, when they find themselves free again.

Canada's Good Bread.

(From the St. Thomas Times-Journal.)

WITH wheat selling in the pit at Winnipeg for around $1.30 a bushel, with the probability that it may go higher, another cent on the price of bread seems inevitable. A dispatch from London states that bread has been rising in price there steadily, being now 19 cents per quarten loaf and will soon be 20. The item also says that the millers and those who handle the wheat and make the bread have proportionately got more out of the increased price of wheat than the farmers.

Be that as it may, we in Canada can be proud of our standard of bread and should not begrudge the higher price we pay here, remembering that it is "the staff of life." Not many Canadians realize it but ours is the best bread in the world. The British quartern loaf is four pounds, therefore, it costs about five cents a pound. The Canadian loaf is a pound and a half and costs nine or ten cents according to where it has to be delivered. The cheaper British bread is made from flour, yeast, salt, malt and water. The Canadian loaf is made from flour, milk powder, sugar and shortening. The Canadian loaf is not "watered," and the flour is of a superior grade than the British baker uses, the latter only putting in a small proportion of No. 1 Northern hard wheat. The Canadian loaf is not only far more nutritious, but more tasty.

Proof of this latter fact was supplied recently by the Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, who, on his return from a visit to the British Isles a month or two ago, told Parliament that he almost went without bread over there because it was so inferior to what he had been accustomed to all his life; he was glad to "fill up" on bread when he got back to Canada. Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said almost the same thing not long before that.

So if the baker has to whack an extra cent on the price shortly, bear in mind that the Canadian loaf is a valuable food well worth the extra cost.

Boring for oil has been started near Edinburgh, Scotland.

THE FIRST SLEEPER.

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

THIS interesting contention is made by the Canadian National Railways Magazine that Canada was the birthplace of the sleeping-car, the first coach of that description having been built in 1859 at the Brantford works of the then Buffalo and Lake Huron Railway Company for use by King Edward VII during his tour of Canada as Prince of Wales, in the succeeding year.

Considerable information relating to this pioneer "sleeper" has been gathered by the magazine which, indeed, produces a picture of it. It seems that when the order was placed for a special car to accommodate the Prince and his suite, the idea was evolved of incorporating sleeping bunks in the coach. Such was the interest in this experiment that people came from far and near to witness it in the course of construction. Among them was George M. Pullman, who was then associated with the construction of railway stations in Western Ontario. Pullman took a great interest in the sleeping arrangements of the coach and in the same year took out his first patent in the United States. This eventually led to the development of the great Pullman Company, which soon assumed control of the sleeping-car industry on this continent.

THEY WON'T BORROW.

(Detroit Free Press)

STRANGE as it may seem there are still people in this country who resent the attempt of the government to lend them money. A delegation from the Amish, Mennonite and Dunkard communities in Lancaster Co., Pa., went into a federal court last week and protested against a proposed PWA loan of $60,200 for a consolidated school. They pointed out that it is against their religious beliefs to accept loans.

CALLS RESIGNATION NO CONSULTATION

timate associations, both in politics and in a social way, and I am unhappy indeed that we have arrived at the parting of the ways on a matter of policy.

"There is nothing personal in this matter, and I hope that in the future I shall always enjoy your friendship as I have in the past."

Both Mr. Roebuck and Mr. Croll declined to comment on this development, but indicated that after they had had opportunity to give deliberate consideration to the situation, they would issue statements outlining their views.

TORONTO, April 14.—(CP)— Attorney General Arthur Roebuck whose resignation as Ontario cabinet minister was asked for today by Premier Mitchell Hepburn, declared he had nothing to say when questioned.

The Attorney General arrived at Queen's Park shortly before 11 o'clock. The letter from the Premier asking for his resignation with that of Hon. David A. Croll, Labor Minister, was on the Attorney General's desk. However, apparently he heard of the situation before reaching government offices.

"Well, I suppose you are expecting something different from my usual 'I have nothing to say' this morning," said the Attorney General. "Well, it's the same. I have nothing to say."

Mr. Roebuck then entered his office where work seemed suspended, his staff standing in whispering groups.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 14—(CP)—Unsteadiness feature wheat trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day before a final buring spurt sent prices over the previous close for the second time.

At the close wheat future were ¼ to 1¼ cents higher, with May at $1.41¾, July $1.37¾, and October $1.32¾ to ⅞.

Selling principally from southern holders, forced the market into stop-loss orders. Offerings were light an dtrading generally narrow.

Firmness in overseas markets failed to impart bullishness as brokers were hesitant in view of favorable weather forecasts in the United States wheat areas.

St. John's W. A.

The usual monthly meeting was held in the drawing-room of the Parish House of the St. John's W.A. Evening Branch, with Miss Stout presiding. The devotional exercises were taken by the Rev. Robertson, who also gave an inspiring address, the theme being "The Bread of Life." The monthly report of the Toronto Board meeting sent by Mrs. Ross was read by the president. Several members are hoping to attend the annual convention in May, held in Toronto for one day.

Mrs. J. Cridland was guest speaker for the evening, and spoke on the study book for the W.A. The speaker dealt chiefly with three of the governing powers: Belgium, France and Britain, also advances in education in modern Africa. The members thoroughly enjoyed her talk and found it extremely interesting. Business having been dispensed with, the meeting closed with prayer. Miss Clements and her committee served dainty refreshments.

CHURCH BANQUET UNDER DISCUSSION

Plans Made For Mother-Daughter Gathering By X.L. Mission Circle

"Jesus and the Joy of Service" was the theme of the inspiring worship service which opened the meeting of the X.L. Mission Circle on Tuesday night. Mrs. R. Rowe, Chamberlain Street, was hostess to the members and the program was led by the president, Jessie Martin. After the first hymn, prayer for the Circle's adopted missionaries, Miss Robertson and Miss Reid, was offered by Connie Wagar, while Zetta Wood read the Scripture lesson, which also emphasized the idea of service.

A responsive service of prayer followed and Geneva Sedgewick sang a beautiful and appropriate solo, "Lead Me to Calvary." The brief business session dealt with details of the mother and daughter banquet and arrangements were made for the Circle's share in this annual event. Tentative plans were made regarding a visit from Miss Elizabeth Read, missionary on furlough from Africa, as well as for a Mother's Day service. The study for the evening was arranged in a paper by the honorary president, Mrs. E. J. Wagar, and read by Mrs. R. Kitchen. Dealing with various phases of the work in Africa, the study was made more personal and the problems most vital to those at the home base. A challenge and an appeal to each Circle member closed this interesting study period.

The president led in the closing prayer and benediction and the usual social hour followed. Dainty refreshments were served by the committee which included Mrs. S. Rowe, Mrs. R. Kitchen, and Jean Meeks. On behalf of those present, Mrs. F. Elliott voiced the appreciation for the hospitality enjoyed.

Old Potatoes Are Best When Greased And Baked

May Be Soaked For Half An Hour In Cold Water If Seem Withered

ROYAL DATE LOAF

Menu Hint

Sausage and Liver Loaf
Baked Potatoes Scalloped Cabbage
Green Onions and Lettuce
Royal Date Loaf Tea or Coffee

Old potatoes often lose their best at this time of year when baked. They may be soaked for half an hour in cold water if they seem withered, then scrubbed thoroughly, rubbed all over with bacon fat, and baked until done. For scalloped cabbage, cut the cabbage rather fine, arrange in buttered baking dish, and pour over it hot milk well seasoned with butter, salt and pepper. Top with crumbs and bake until brown.

Today's Recipes.

SAUSAGE AND LIVER LOAF—One pound ground pan-broiled liver, one pound bulk pork sausage; 1½ cups bread crumbs, one cup milk, one tablespoon finely minced onion, two tablespoons ketchup, two tablespoons prepared horseradish, one egg, slightly beaten. Cook the liver for a few minutes in hot water. Grind, and combine with bulk pork sausage. Add bread crumbs and seasoning, moisten with milk and beaten egg. Pack into a greased loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one and a half hours.

ROYAL DATE LOAF—One cup boiling water, one pound stoned and cut dates, three-fourths cup brown sugar, two tablespoons shortening, one square melted chocolate, one egg, two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one and three-fourths cups flour, three-fourth cup chopped pecans. Pour boiling water over dates. Cream sugar and shortening, add chocolate and beaten egg. Mix well and add dates and water. Sift baking powder, salt and flour together. Add gradually, with pecans. Bake in greased loaf pan in slow oven one and a fourth hours.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Hurry-up Meal.

When spring housecleaning requires every minute of the day, or when the shopping excursion lasts longer than is expected and you must plan a quick and easy meal, how about a mixed grill, with lamb chops, little link sausages and bacon? This can be prepared on short order, and it makes so delightful a meal that your family won't mind shopping or housecleaning days.

Lamb chops for broiling should be cut thick, at least one inch. Thoroughly preheat the broiling oven. Place the chops on the broiler rack far enough from the source of heat that by the time one side is browned they will be about half done. Season with salt and pepper; turn and allow to finish cooking on the second side.

When the lamb chops are half done, add the little link sausages and bacon slices to the grill. Turn these during cooking.

Sweater Washing Fine Art

Your smart pull-overs and cardigans, not to mention those Tyrolean mittens and that gay knitted scarf, will wash as soft and fluffy as when new if you put a little glycerine in the last rinsing water when you are getting ready to put them away for the summer.

The idea is really just a simplified homely application of a secret that laundry experts know and that traces back to the extensive use of glycerine in various process of the manufacture of woolen materials and yarns, for softening and to add smoothness.

There's nothing difficult about the glycerine rinse. Wash the sweater or other knitted article as usual. Then to the last rinse add about a teaspoonful of glycerine for each pint of water. Roll the garment in a towel for a little while to remove excess moisture, then spread it out flat, shape it to size and let it dry.

As it dries, the water will evaporate and a very small glycerine content will remain in the yarn insuring that lovely soft feeling and appearance which adds so much to the attractiveness of knitwear.

The glycerine will also help to preserve the original fresh brightness and clarity of the colors, and prevent the dullest faded look that frequently-washed knitwear sometimes acquires.

Coronation Gown

Even Shirley Temple has gone for the coronation of England's new king and queen in her latest frock. It is a dark colored print with crowns and things in the design and white accents. A most becoming thing for the little star.

JOY OF SERVICE IS AUXILIARY THEME

Elizabeth Parker Society Meets In Ladies' Parlor Of Trinity Church

"The Joy of Service" formed the theme of a very interesting meeting of the Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary of Trinity United Church, which was held on Monday evening in the Ladies' Parlor. Mrs. Greta Giles read a short poem in honor of the new missionaries who are entering into service this year and read in prayer on their behalf. Two Scripture passages dealing with service were read by Miss Edith Preston. A prayer by Mrs. A. B. Brown, who presided throughout the evening, brought the worship service to a close.

Mrs. Ross Williamson sang in her usual delightful manner, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer." Piano accompaniment was played by Mrs. H. V. Dobson. Miss Myrtle Sargent very capably dealt with various criticisms of missionary work in her remarks on the study topic for the month. Miss Sargent read a letter from a missionary who had met and overcome many such obstacles in her own work.

It was decided to hold a cooking school early in October. Arrangements were left in the hands of Mrs. C. L. Upper. Two letters of appreciation for flowers were read.

A social hour was enjoyed at the close of the meeting when several visitors and new members were welcomed. Mrs. R. Brown poured tea at a table covered with a lace cloth and centered by a low green bowl of daffodils and iris. An interesting feature of this part of the evening was the presentation of the flowers to Miss Helen Bannister in recognition of seven years' perfect attendance. Arrangements for the evening were in charge of Misses Greta Giles, Ethel Rehill, M. Sargent, and Mesdames O. J. Fallen and H. Gray.

DIDN'T SAY YES, DIVORCE IS ASKED

Balkan Marriage May Be Invalid Because Priest Missed Question

BELGRADE, April 14.—(CP).—A bride who did not say "yes" at the altar may find herself husbandless as a result. Because the priest who performed the marriage ceremony omitted to ask the young bride of Milenko Zhivkovich, 22, of Zajechar, if she accepted Milenko as her husband, the bridegroom is now seeking divorce on the grounds their marriage was illegal.

Hundreds of witnesses who attended marriage ceremony are prepared to corroborate the bridegroom's statement. He sought the divorce after only 10 days of married life. Legal authorities say the omission of the priest's question and the bride's "yes" renders the marriage invalid.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors, Conducted by Roberta.

I HAD a hat. It was not all a hat. Part of the brim was gone; Yet still I wore it on.—Mrs. Hemans.

And Hood tells us:
The Quaker loves an ample brim
A hat that bows to no salaam;
And dear the beaver is to him
As if it never made a dam.
Dear Friends:
Well, as I have been telling you all the thrilling details about making a dress, I may as well tell you my adventures in crocheting a hat. The new magazines had just come, and my friend and I were looking at some lovely hat patterns that came from Vienna, so she pounced on one and asked me if I could make one for her to use when playing golf?

So I said sure, quite positively and confidentially. And we sent for the leaflets. I bought the material and found that follow directions as I liked, it would not go together. The first time it was finished and I tried it on, we shrieked with laughter.

So I ravelled it down again, and tried once more putting in bits from my own store of knowledge. I had done everything from baby bonnets to bedspreads, curtains, tablecloths, etc. so I was not going to let a little thing like a golf cap beat me. But it did.

I pulled it apart five times, and each time felt confident that this time it would be alright, but it beat me at the finish, and the worst of it was it was hard to do, intricate and very tedious. And I have come to the conclusion that whoever sent them out simply made a stab at the directions, for never under the sun would it have come out right.

However, I went ahead on my own, determined my friend would not be disappointed in her hat, and now she has a lovely one she can wear, and I have the satisfaction of getting it done.

I hate anything to beat me, don't you? I dislike intensely working at something and then get failure at the end. That is why I think we become so irritated when we have struggled with something vital in our lives, and see all the effort go to waste.

That is why also, there is so much unhappiness when we try to turn someone we love from the things that are going to hurt them badly, then realize that all our striving is in vain. You may unravel the tangles they get into time and time again, and after all, failure is a bitter pill to swallow.

But what I never will be able to understand is, why are they so short-sighted? After a few tangles, after a lot of trouble and unhappiness for themselves as well as you, why can't they do with their lives as I did with the hat, get a new pattern for life, so that it will be able to be worn, and so that there will be some pleasure in it for all concerned.
